GARLIC BIFKIN!

I'm writing about your fridge magnets: they're well funny, and I've been driving my flatmates nuts fiddling with them. But what the hell is a bifkin when it's at home? Nobody I've asked has any idea. From the rest of the magnets, I'm guessing it's something fairly dirty.

Jason Ruben, Glasgow

Sharp lad. Bifkin (noun): the small, moist piece of skin to be found between the testicles and the anus. It's also known as 'a 'Tisny', a 'Taint', or, if you're American, a 'Choda'. And you thought there wasn't a name for that bit, didn't you?

LOVELY RITA

Would it be worth considering sending the newsagents (or Rita's shop) in Coronation Street a new issue of PlayStation Plus. For a number of weeks they've had the October issue on the shelves. It's well annoying, everytime I see it! I reckon when Rita comes backyou should get the new issue in there!

Trev Garston

And the Battersbys are still thumbing through a dog-eared copy from March last year. It's a crying shame.

RUGGER, WOT?

Did you ever wonder why there are so many footy games on PlayStation and only ONE rugby game? Fair enough, Jonah Lomu Rugby was good in its day but I'm sure all the people who bought it are bored by now. There must be hundreds of footy games and I don't see much of a difference between them.

Rugby is growing more popular in the world and it should on the PlayStation too. You'll probably tell me that footy is the biggest sport in the world, but surely it doesn't deserve this puny number of games compared to rugby?

Kevin Fagan, Drogheda, Ireland

In March this year, you'll be able to get Rugby 2000. And we reckon two rugby games is quite enough to keep the world's public school-boys happy.

THRILLER KILLER CHILLER

I made the mistake of buying that banned beat 'em up Thrill Kill off the internet – for 80 quid! It plays really rubbish, the graphics aren't all that, and the much-hyped violence was actually a bit of a damp squib. The death moves are far too limited. Some of them are well funny, but to be honest, I expected more from a game billed as the most evil videogame ever created. Can you reccommend me anything else that's really horrific to try out?

▲ Thrill Kill: pretty rubbish

MS, Lincs

Next month, fans of pure horror can check out the hideous Teletubbies PlayStation game, where you help the freaky little gimps play with musical clouds, brew 'Tubby tustard' and hide slices of Tubby Toast from the 'ickle 'Noo-Noo'. Jesus.

▲ Eddie in tracksuit terror!

ERROR! ERROR!

I was reading your guide to PlayStation 2 and on page 7 there's a glitch in the picture of Eddy fighting Hwoarang. Look at Eddy's left heel. There's a hole through the bottom of his flares. I hope this will only be present in the picture and not in the game. I have enclosed the page with the picture. Could I have something for spotting this?

David Roberts
Co Durham

Errr, that's the little loop on Eddy's trackie bottoms that goes under his feet. Sure, you can have a little something for spotting it. How's about a poison dagger in the eye?

● Kirsten Cloke: a sexy lady

LARA AT THE FLICKS

Lara was best represented by Rhona Mitra. However, since she's well out of favour I would put forward Kirsten Cloke of Space: Above and Beyond, and Millennium. See attached.

Rogue Strife, email bloke

Come on guys! Zeta-Jones? Are you suggesting she has boob job first? Bullock ditto. How about someone who has all the statistics to match Lara? Try Jeri Ryan, alias Seven of Nine in Star Trek: Voyager. Is the suit spray on or what? Ta

Peter

Jeri's intergalactic rack stuffed into a crop-top? Mmm. But she's a Yank. That won't do.

NUMBERS!

I think all the people who complain about the change from percentages need to go and give their anoraks a wash. What precisely is the difference between a game that gets 68% and one that gets 72%? Saying 7 out of 10 makes a lot more sense, and you can instantly tell which games are classics.

Malcom Tain
Stockport

You are 100% right, Malcolm. No, make that 98.5%

I reckon the one and only Adrianne Bra-bulger from the November issue should be Lara Croft in the new film. My mates think the same but are too lazy to mail you!

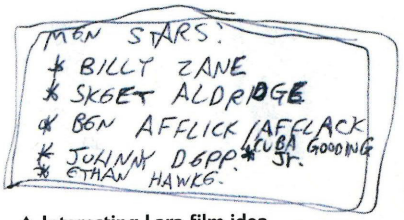

Brian Sheehy, Dublin,Ireland

Batberger... Bra-bulger. Nice.

Kelly Brook, no question. She's no rocket scientist, but that chest...

John Exton, Nuneaton

You're right, she really would fill Lara's role (and crop top) rather amply.

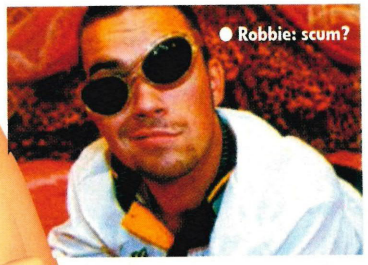

▲ Interesting Lara film idea from AJ here, but Johnny Depp doesn't have the chest. Jean-Claude Van Damme, maybe?

FIFA IS NOT THE ONLY FRUIT

I'll get straight into it. I own Fifa 99 and I thought it was the greatest football game on the PlayStation, and I couldn't understand why you said it was rubbish compared to ISS. Then one of my mates bought ISS Pro 98 and said it was much better than FIFA, but I wouldn't believe him. After a while I had a go on it and realised to my shock it was at least 20 times better than any FIFA game.

Eric G

The new one, ISS Evolution, is even better. And, unlike FIFA, it doesn't have a soundtrack by ponce popster Robbie Williams

● Robbie: scum?

HALF ALIVE, HALF DEAD

I've heard Half-Life (The top class first-person shooter on the PC) is going to come out on the PlayStation. Is this true? Thanks.

Ian Littlefair

PS. Rob Waugh in his Quake 2 review should shut his mouth. I happen to enjoy a bit of Metallica now and then.

Nope, Half-Life isn't coming to PlayStation. But we've heard that Unreal, another top-drawer PC shooter, is on its way.

PS. If you listen to funny-smelling longhairs like Metallica, then you're clearly out where the buses don't run

GAME GIRLS: THE TRUTH

I read in your October issue the bit about whether PlayStation girls were dogs: I've got two things to say. First, some of the birds you had in there were top quality. Second, my girlfriend's well tasty and she's shithot at games too. Any more gits write in saying PlayStation girls are ugly and I'll happily come round and break their heads.

T, Fraserborough

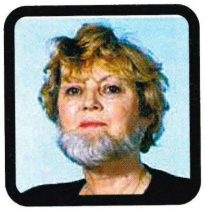

We've worked it out. PlayStation girls are ALL sexy chicks that'll pump up your peter as fast as they'll beat you at Ridge Racer 4. And PlayStation 2 girls will all look like Claudia Schiffer, smell like fresh fruit and go like rabbits. Sadly, Dreamcast girls are another story...

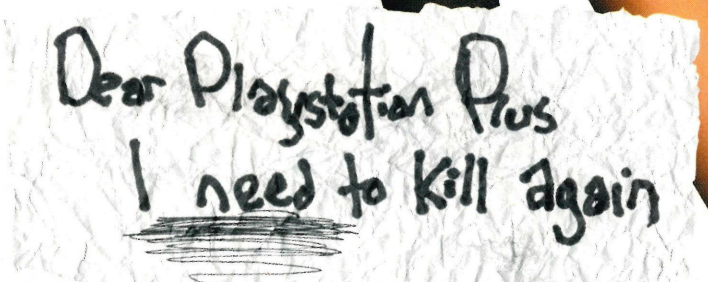

Olga (47) likes playing Sonic Adventure and eating compost

Bertha (128) likes Sega Rally 2 and using weasel's blood as lipstick

Winifred (2ft4in) likes Trickstyle and bathing in pools of phlegm

PURE MADNESS FROM THE POSTBAG

Bits are funny, like hitting the big loony and the giant penis that eats the leg.

Andrew Kelly

I have been stuck to page 114 for several weeks!

Sebastian, Swindon

Fine, gnaw onto my neck if you will, but I know that if this trend continues...

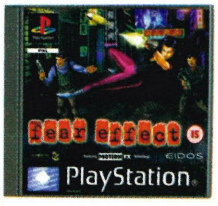

AJ, Plymouth

PlayStation 2 looks rubbish: it just looks like a big box of dog biscuits!

FEAR EFF

Killer zombies, demon whores and the bride of Satan disguised as a schoolgirl. Load up your hand cannons: Lucifer needs to be taught a lesson and tonight you're playing teacher

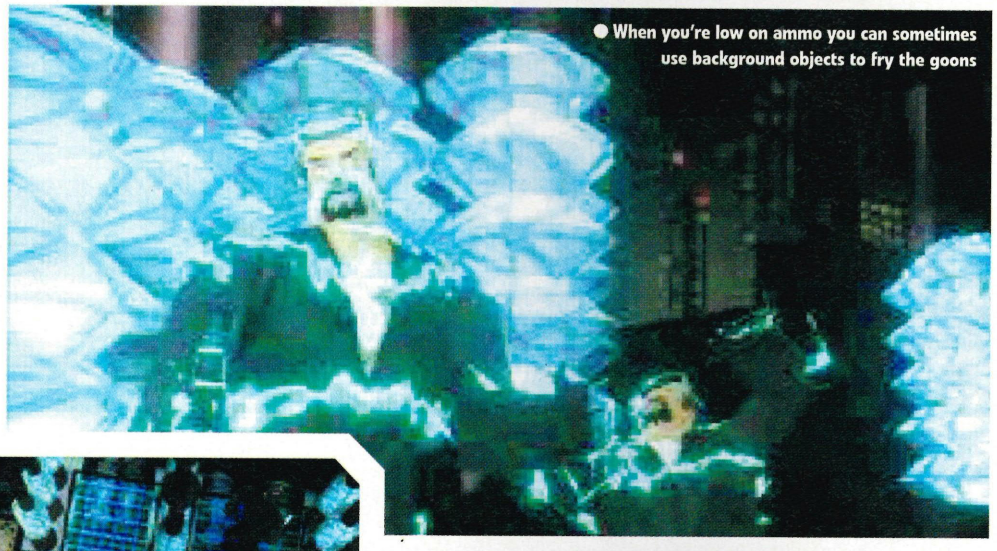

ECT

Fear Effect is a Manga-tinged adventure stuffed with Resident Evil-style pistols 'n' puzzles action, but with a load more variety in the gameplay. It's so big it's spread over four CDs, with the action taking in brothels in Hong Kong, heavily-defended Triad bases, cursed villages and finally the heart of Hell itself.

You control a team of three mercenaries; Hana, Deke and Glas. They've teamed up to do a job for a Hong Kong businessman: find a missing kid, Wee Ming Lam. Hana's heading into a block of flats to meet the businessman who's hired her when she realises something's wrong. Suddenly, she's surrounded by pistol-wielding goons.

Hana goes in guns blazing, but it's no use. When she's captured by the thugs, control automatically switches to Glas who's got to head in there and rescue his buddy.

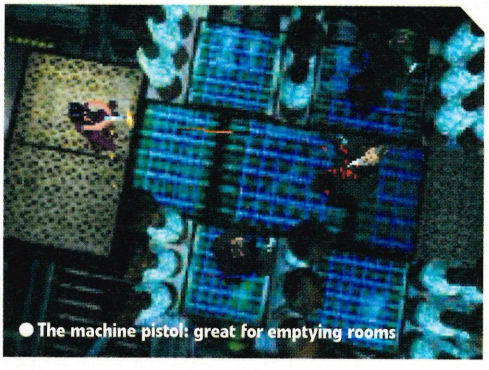

And so the story unfolds, the action flicking between the three mercenaries as they dive deeper into this gripping mix of bullets and brain-bending puzzles, all laced with Chinese black magic.

● When you're low on ammo you can sometimes use background objects to fry the goons

● The backgrounds throughout the game look awesome

● The machine pistol: great for emptying rooms

IT LOOKS MO

FEAR EFFECT HAS A REAL CINE

▲ Avoid the cracks in the glass floor to get across

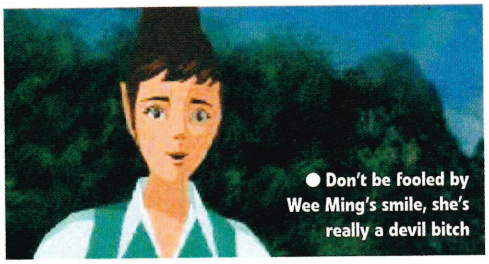

● Ouch! There are some jaw-dropping explosions of gore

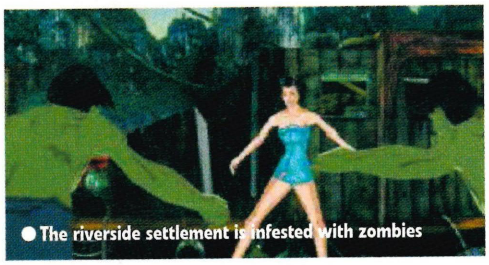

● Hana's a lovely lady, but she's tough as nails

FROM HONG KONG TO HELL

Fear Effect has a blockbuster story. Wee Ming Lam, daughter of a powerful Chinese businessman, has disappeared and you're in control of the team of three mercenaries hired to find her. Naturally you're in it for the cash, but even the hefty pay-off didn't prepare you for the nightmare ahead. The plot's riddled with confusing twists, double-crosses and freaky Chinese myths that'll make your blood run cold. The longer you play, the more dark and disturbing this game gets. And none of the characters are exactly what they seem.

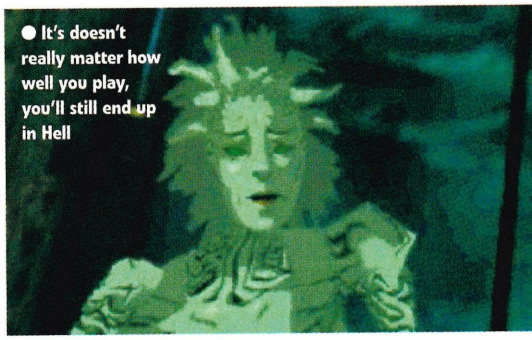

● Don't be fooled by Wee Ming's smile, she's really a devil bitch

● The riverside settlement is infested with zombies

● Inside Madam Chen's brothel, Hana slips into something more comfortable

● It's doesn't really matter how well you play, you'll still end up in Hell

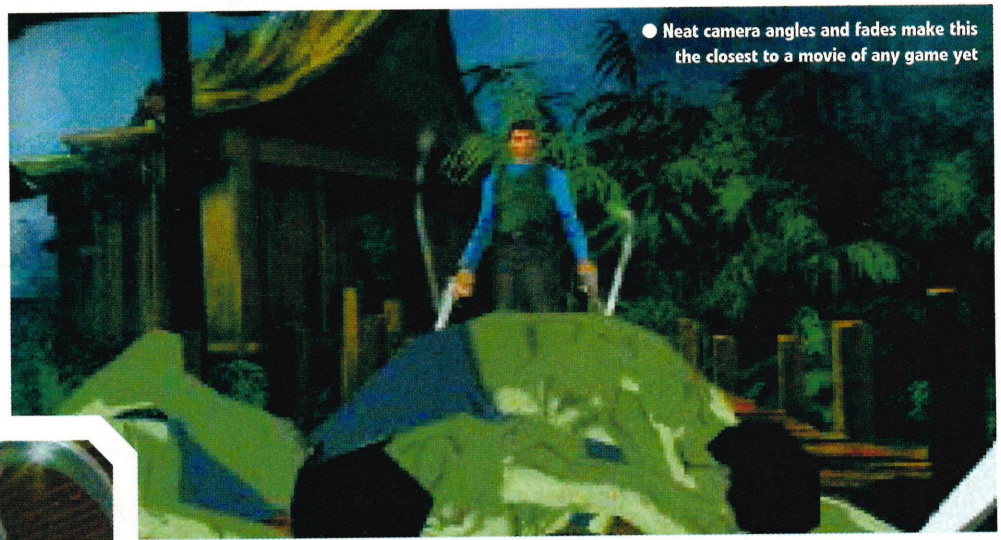

RE LIKE A MOVIE THAN A GAME

ATIC FEEL: IT CUTS SEAMLESSLY BETWEEN VIDEO CLIPS AND IN-GAME ACTION

This game is stuffed with explosive action sequences and the storyline packs a real punch, too. But that's not the only thing Fear Effect shares with Hollywood movies.

The story sequences in games like Resident Evil don't fit neatly into the game, because they look so different from the in-game stuff. Here everything blends seamlessly into one, so you always feel involved. When the game cuts from a video sequence into the gameplay, there's no difference in the graphics. The camera just swings round, and suddenly you're in the action.

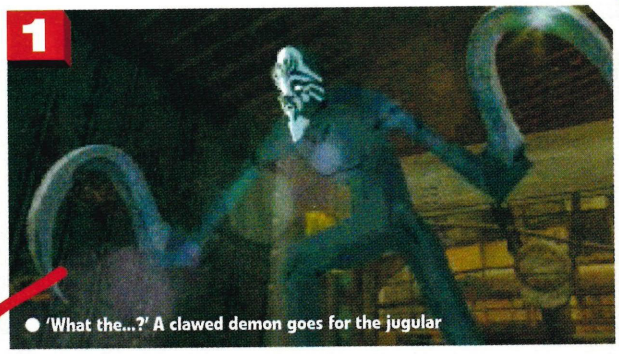

Cinema-style camera angles and cuts add to the big-screen feel. One minute you're guiding Hana through a village settlement, the next you've switched to Deke and you're being peppered with bullets. You hardly get time to take a breath, let alone draw your gun and take aim. Luckily, there's loads of save points.

● Neat camera angles and fades make this the closest to a movie of any game yet

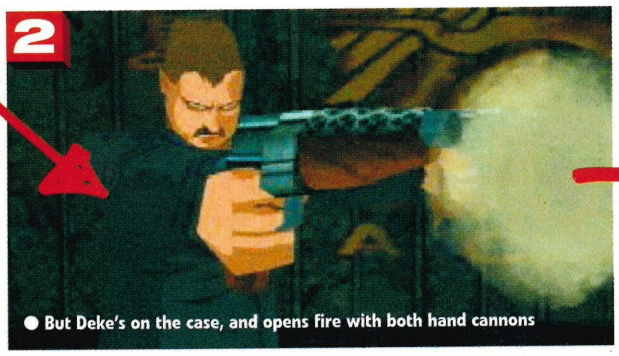

'IT'S RIDDLED WITH PLOT-TWISTS AND DARK CHINESE MYTHS THAT'LL MAKE YOUR BLOOD RUN COLD'

● 'What the...?' A clawed demon goes for the jugular

● But Deke's on the case, and opens fire with both hand cannons

● Blam! The Spirit World sucker goes down with fist-sized holes in its chest

▲ When you're about to be engulfed in a ball of flame, the best option is to run, FAST!

CONTROLLING YOUR CHARACTER

If you've played Res Evil you know what to expect here. The action is viewed from set angles, and the camera switches as you wander around the place. You can walk and run, duck and sneak, and commando roll to dodge shots. When you choose your gun or use an object, you cycle through your inventory without ever leaving the action, so everything's fast and seamless.

If there's something you can use or pick up, it'll appear at the top of the screen when you get close. And if you're packing a piece and a bad guy walks onto the screen, a target appears so you know you're locked on. It really is simple stuff, and because it's easy to tell if you can use an item, you won't waste hours walking around, constantly tapping the 'use' button in case you've missed something.

▲ Commando roll to dodge fire, then duck out of the roll and start blasting

ACTION SEQUENCES STRAIGHT OU

IF YOU WANT CLASS ACTION SCENES YOU'VE COME TO THE RIGHT PLACE

Big explosions, chase sequences and awesome firefights. Fear Effects is filled to bursting with gorgeous action sequences you'll want to show off to your mates. And if you can't wait 'til the game hits the shops, check out some of these babies...

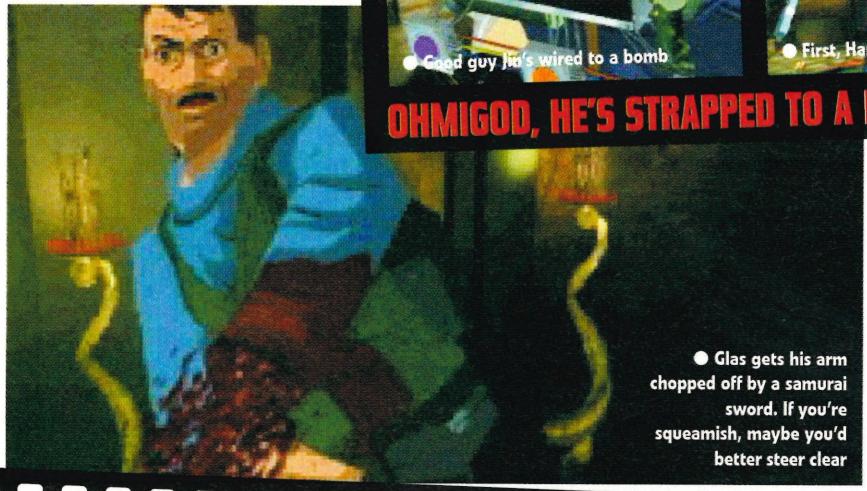

● Good guy Jin's wired to a bomb

● First, Hana has to ice some evil goons

● She lets rip, then turns to the bomb

OHMIGOD, HE'S STRAPPED TO A BOMB!

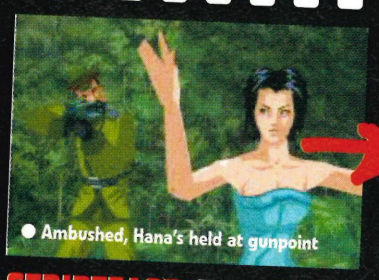

● Glas gets his arm chopped off by a samurai sword. If you're squeamish, maybe you'd better steer clear

● Hana's being held at gunpoint

● Glas leaps into the room, guns

SURPRISE!

● Ambushed, Hana's held at gunpoint

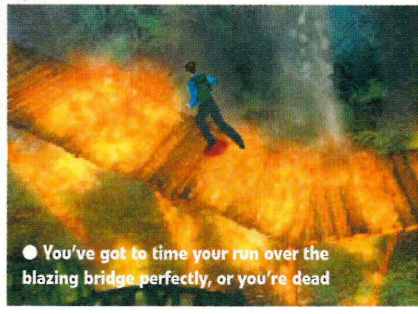

● Hana drops the towel. Jeepers

● Deke throttles the leching grunt

STRIPTEASE

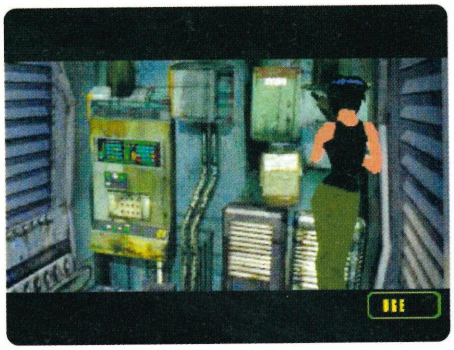

● You've got to time your run over the blazing bridge perfectly, or you're dead

PUZZLES

There's an even mix of Krypton Factor-style mind benders and the usual use-the-key-on-the-door puzzles. You've really got to use your noodle to solve some of these brain busters, but thankfully you're often given clues before you get stuck in.

Know your primary colours? You'll be sorted when it comes to solving the bomb puzzle at the beginning of the game. But be warned, the puzzles get harder, and you've got to be fast as well as smart if you're going to live.

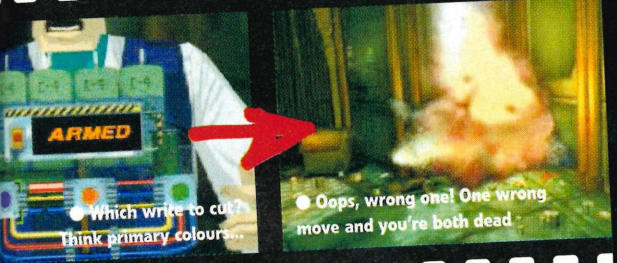

▲ If you're stuck, look around. There's often some clues

● The backgrounds are beautiful. That's why it takes up four CDs

FOUR CDS' WORTH OF FEAR

Fear Effect spans four discs, from Hong Kong to Hell. But the game itself isn't much bigger than Metal Gear Solid. The reason it takes up so much plastic is because the backgrounds are all animated: flames burn in the background, cars drive past. The lush moving backgrounds mean the action blends with the scenery loads better than in the Res Evil games.

OF SCHWARZENEGGER FLICKS!

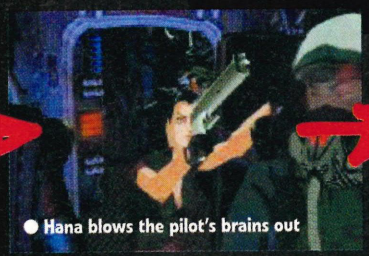

● Which wire to cut? Think primary colours...

● Oops, wrong one! One wrong move and you're both dead

● A chopper appears. Hana lets rip

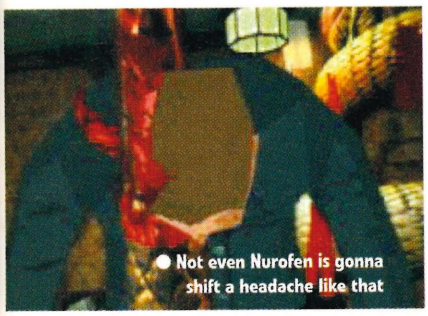

● Hana blows the pilot's brains out

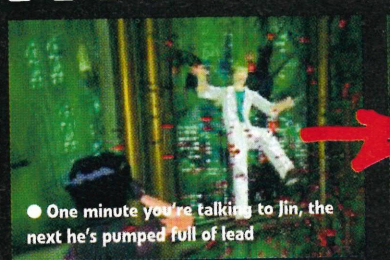

● They both jump for the chopper

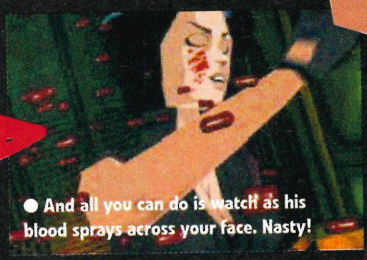

● It's not just the cutscenes that look cool. Every firefight's a jaw-dropping visual treat

● Not even Nurofen is gonna shift a headache like that

● One minute you're talking to Jin, the next he's pumped full of lead

● And all you can do is watch as his blood sprays across your face. Nasty!

BLOWN AWAY!

PAYBACK TIME

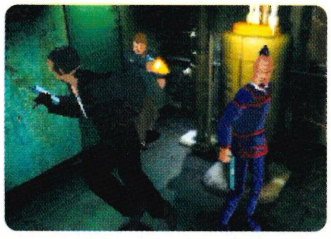

You won't make it off the first CD unless you're tooled up with some serious hand guns. Luckily there's plenty of hardware lying around, all you've got to do is slap in an ammo clip and squeeze the trigger.

1 PISTOL

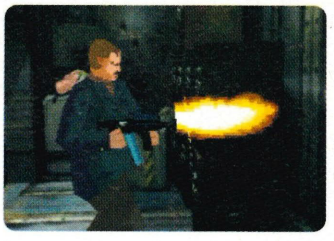

This basic pistol's all you've got for most of the game so respect it. Takes about five or six shots to down a bad guy, although it's a lot easier when you're packing two of 'em, John Woo-stylee

2 MACHINE PISTOL

Awesome Uzi-style automatic that rips through the enemy. Best for taking out three or four thugs in a spray of bullets. For awesome destructive power, tool up with two at once, but watch out, these babies eat ammo

3 ASSAULT RIFLE

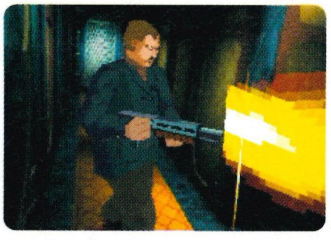

Mow down anything with this rapid-fire death dealer. You'll burn shitloads of ammo but when you're outnumbered five to one, there is no alternative. You can pick up an improved machine gun with a bigger ammo clip

4 HAND CANNON

Deke's pistol only holds three shots at a time but this compact cannon sure does pack a punch. Whip out two at a time for double firepower. Up close, these wide-barrelled beasts will tear pretty much anything apart

5 SHOTGUN

Fires a wide spray of buckshot so it's great for targetting two or more bad guys at once. It's well powerful, so this is the gun you should choose when you're up against the game's many ultra-tough boss characters

6 KNIFE

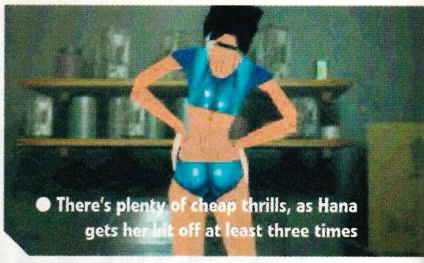

All three characters have hand-to-hand weapons, which is cool because ammo's often in short supply. Hana carries a knife, Deke uses a brass knuckle-duster and Glas whacks his enemies with a truncheon-like Smackjack

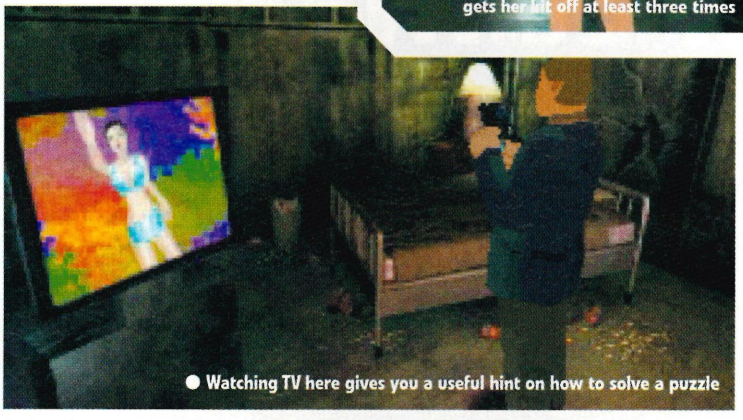

● The cutscenes are really well scripted

● Can't find the key? Use explosives instead!

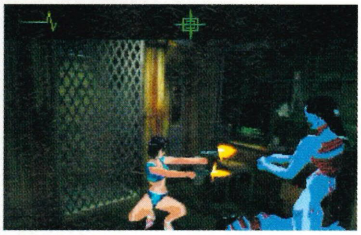

● There's plenty of cheap thrills, as Hana gets her kit off at least three times

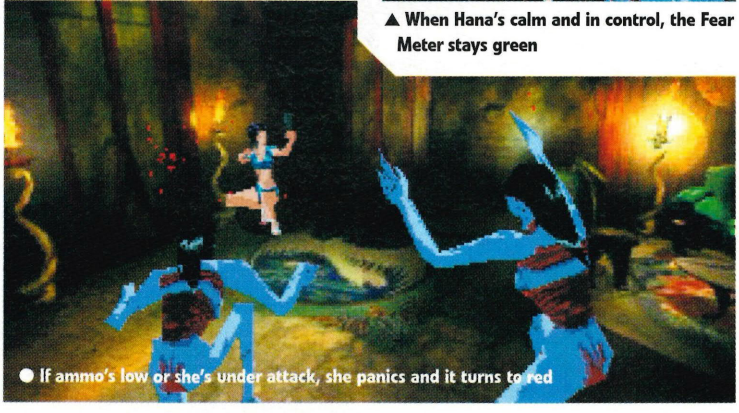

● Watching TV here gives you a useful hint on how to solve a puzzle

FEEL THE FEAR

This is where Fear Effect is different from stuff like Tomb Raider and Res Evil. Rather than an energy bar which empties every time you take a hit, your character's condition is determined by fear. When they're calm, the Fear Meter stays green. Take a hit, or stumble into the middle of a gunfight with bullets flying in every direction, your guy starts to panic and the bar switches to red. Take another hit when your heart meter's jumping like a hyperactive acrobat and you're dead meat. You've got to play it cool to stay calm, sneaking up behind the bad guys rather than running in guns blazing. Staying cool is a matter of keeping out of the firing line. Any time you do something good like solve a puzzle or beat a baddie, your Fear reduces. Tense stuff.

▲ When Hana's calm and in control, the Fear Meter stays green

● If ammo's low or she's under attack, she panics and it turns to red

BIG, TOOLED-UP AND DEADLY

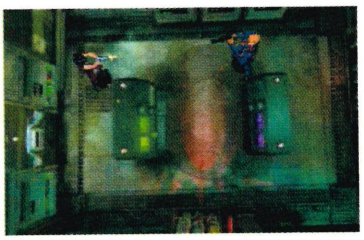

YOU'VE KILLED THE GUARDS. YOU'VE SOLVED THE PUZZLES. NOW DIE!

You've just rattled through two ammo clips taking out guards, your Fear Meter's going through the roof and you've only got a handful of bullets left. And suddenly you've got to take on an absolutely enormous bullet-spitting boss character.

Defeating these gits is initially a case of trial and error. Stand your ground, spitting out lead death and you'll be dead before you hit the ground. You've got to try different tactics. The first bloke you fight carries a hefty machine-gun, and if you hang around for too long he'll blow you to bits. Staying in cover is the key to success, waiting for him to shoot his load before commando rolling into the open and firing off a couple of shots, then tumbling back out of the way.

Choosing the right weapon is essential too. When Glas is attacked by a helicopter gunship you immediately grab your biggest gun and pump off a couple of rounds, which bounce harmlessly off its armour. Instead, switch to the pistol and fire at the flags flapping in the background. Get it right and a flag will be sucked into the chopper's engines, causing them to cut out and send the gunship spiralling earthwards.

Brute force is hardly ever the answer: this game's sassy enough to keep you guessing, even in the thick of combat. Just stay frosty.

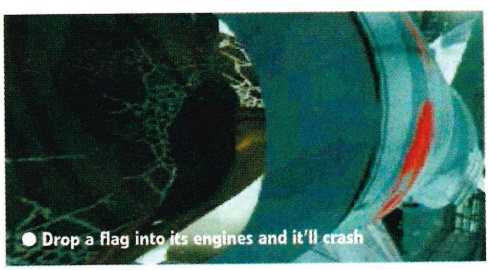

▲ Hide behind the central computers while he fires, then duck out and shoot

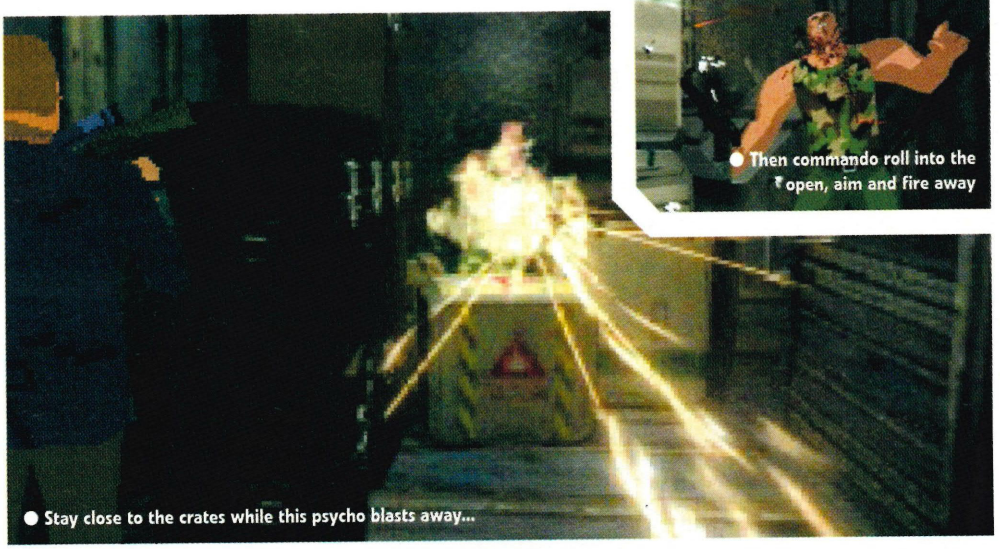

● Your puny pistols are no match for the chopper's guns

● Then commando roll into the open, aim and fire away

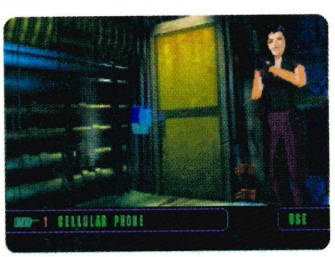

● Drop a flag into its engines and it'll crash

● Stay close to the crates while this psycho blasts away...

SAVE ME!

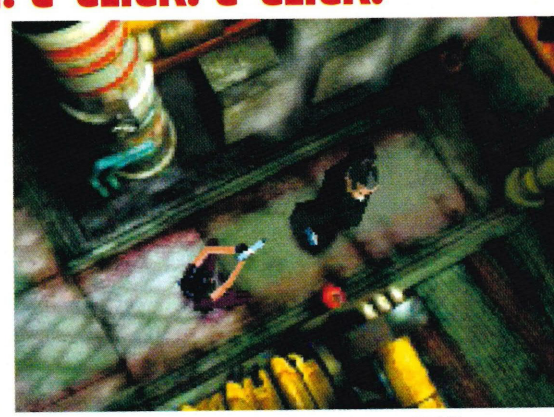

Unless you save your game frequently you'll get frustrated with Fear Effect. It's all too easy to cop it during a firefight, and unless you've saved recently you'll have to play through loads of the game again. You can save four games on each memory card, by finding a save position in the game and contacting HQ using your mobile. Save whenever you can.

▲ Find save points, then phone HQ

BLAM! BLAM! C-CLICK! C-CLICK!

Running low on ammo is a regular occurrence during your adventure. There's not much point in switching to a hand-to-hand weapon either, especially if the enemy's packing a machine pistol. Conserve ammo by sneaking up behind enemies or taking them out with a single bullet. Watch out when you make it to Hell, too. Whenever you wipe out a bad guy they drop paper ammo. This may seem pointless, but if you burn it in a sacred flame you're awarded the real thing.

▲ When your target shows red you can get a one-hit kill

LIKE THIS? TRY THESE

Resident Evil 3: Nemesis - cool ultra-violent 3D zombie adventure

Metal Gear Solid - awesomely stealthy spy adventure. It rocks

PLUS RECKONS

Fear Effect boasts supermodel looks and more action than a Hollywood blockbuster, held together by a clever storyline which will genuinely shock and surprise you. It's pretty short, considering the fact it comes on four CDs, but for the twelve or so hours it lasts, games don't come more intense than this. Alex

SOUTH PARK RALLY

▲ There are loads of 'funny' bonuses

▲ Grab the Mad Cow antidote to win

▲ Saddam Hussein appears. Funny?

Foul-mouthed kids go karting, dodging pools of puke and chucking prostitutes at one another. Weird, but where's the fun?

The joke's wearing thin now. The South Park kids used to be well funny, but now they're bloody everywhere does anyone really care if Cartman's gonna kick ass or Kenny's dead?

If you're one of the few who still gives a toss, check out South Park Rally. There are eight racers to choose from, plus a load of hidden characters, and the idea's to steam around a handful of cartoon-y tracks.

The winner's not always the first racer to cross the line, though. Some of the levels are deathmatch arenas where the last kid left is the winner, or you have to stop other racers from stealing the Mad Cow disease antidote, otherwise Kyle and company are dead meat.

It's off-the-wall stuff, but the gags are samey and the laughs short-lived. When your kart's invaded by a storm of bodiless Saddam Husseins, you can't help but smirk. But by the third race you'll be cursing the dumb thing.

▲ The characters look OK but the backgrounds aren't great

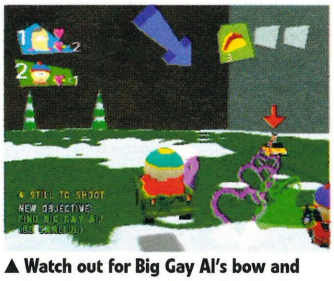

COMEDY KARTING

HOW TO COME OUT TOP IN SP RALLY

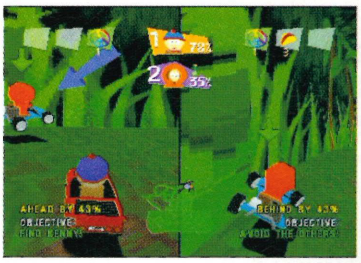

South Park Rally isn't just another Crash Team Racing. There's much more to this than race fast, finish first. There's a lot more variety. The problem is sometime's it gets too complicated to enjoy. Racing around a track is simple and, with the comedy weapons included here, it could've been fun. But when you're desperately trying to chase the driver with Big Gay Al's bow and arrow (don't ask), all the time being bombarded by water bombs and chased by dogs which stop your kart on the spot, it just gets really, really frustrating. The scenery is also badly designed, so you end up stuck between objects, losing precious seconds trying to wriggle out again. Not fun.

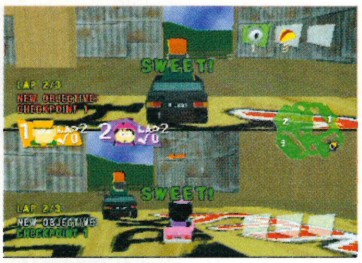

▲ On the second race you must first find the trophy, then finish the race

▲ Watch out for Big Gay Al's bow and arrow of love

▲ Crap controls plague the two-player game

▲ Even the basic race mode isn't fun

SOUTH PARP MORE LIKE

You race using the same game modes on the same tracks in multiplayer so it's not much better. The only saving grace is there are no computer cars who are constantly on your ass, but it's still not much fun. The controls are fiddly, and the levels are crud, and half the time it seems people win the match by pure luck. Even the deathmatch levels aren't much fun: it just feels clunky and random. Ugh.

PLUS RECKONS

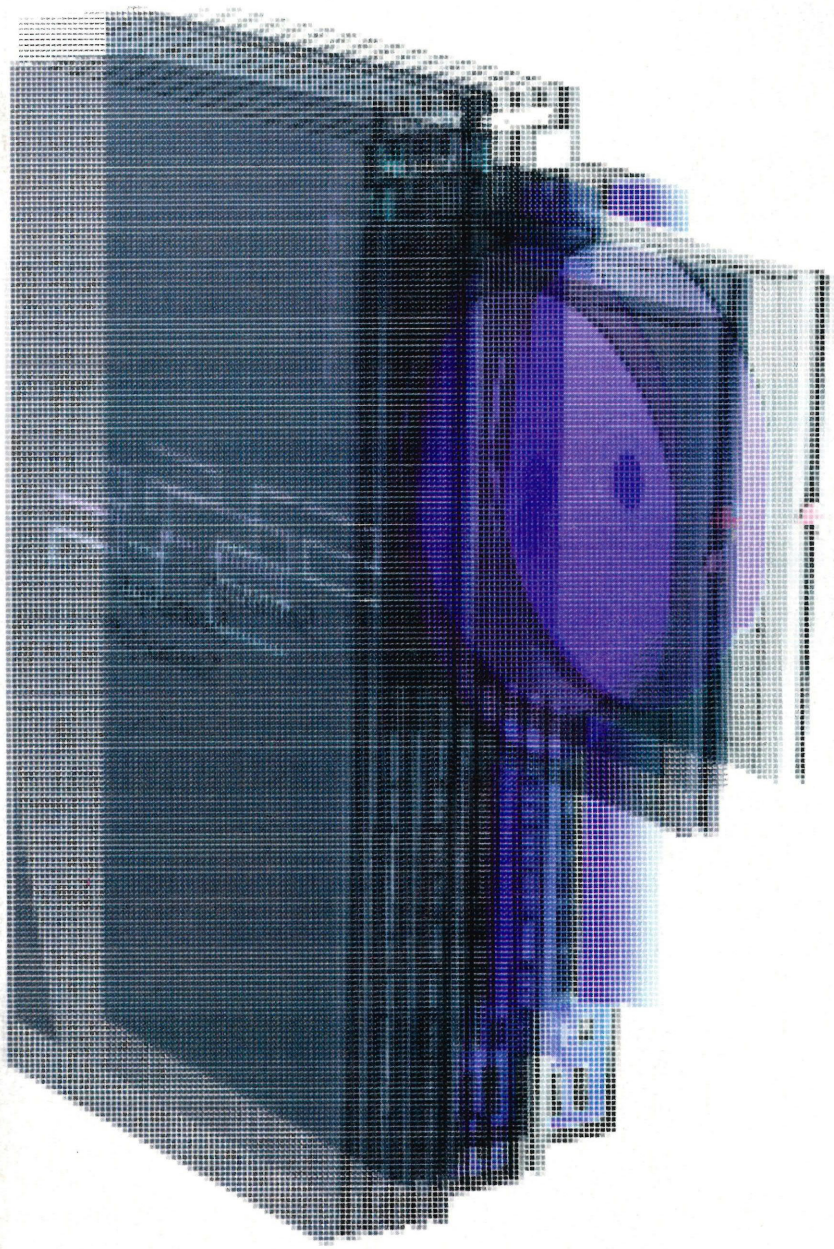

The controls are fiddly and the tracks poorly designed, so you spend more time trying to get back on course rather than having fun. Nice idea, tossy game. Alex

● Look out for shortcuts like this

● Kill each mini boss to earn a token

● Any closer and you'll be able to tell the colour of his jock

● These guys deflect all laser fire, so use discs or your spin attack against them

It looks like the latest Toy Story movie is going to be even better than the first. And as the mountains of merchandise appear, you'll be able to sup tea from your Woody mug, wearing your Woody jim-jams, all while playing the game.

But forget the all the other pointless cash-in stuff, because the game is about the only thing worth bothering with. And considering it's aimed at the 'younger generation' of gamers, it's actually quite a tough little cookie.

It's kinda like a cartooned-up Tomb Raider, as Buzz legs it around sweet looking levels, knocking off the bad toys. But Toy Story 2 is more platform action than raiding tombs, with Buzz boasting some sweet moves and top power-ups to make life as an Intergalatic Space Ranger that bit easier.

One word of warning though: playing the game before you see the film could spoil it for you, as there are loads of sequences from the movie in between the action. Our advice is to see the film first, then play at being Buzz yourself.

KINKY BOOTS

Buzz is the coolest toy in the store, so naturally he's got all the gizmos that put him top of a kid's Christmas list. He's got a disk launcher and his awesome wrist cannon, but he can also get extra stuff from Mr Potato Head. Y'see, Potato Head keeps losing bits of his body, and if Buzz manages to return the missing limbs he gets a handy stack of bonuses.

You need some of these bonuses, such as the rocket boots and grappling hook, to collect all five pizza tokens scattered on each level. But because you don't get all the gear at the beginning of the game, you'll have to back-track to previous levels to get every last token.

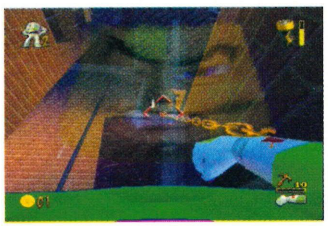

▲ Get the cosmic shield and you'll be temporarily protected against acid

▲ You need the disk launcher to kill off the boss in the construction plant

▲ When it comes to racing and leaping long gaps, the power boots are essential

▲ Reach high places by shooting the grappling hook onto the red targets

● X Marks the spot. Bouncing on the car boot springs you to otherwise unreachable parts of the level

● Use the spin to deflect enemies shots back at them

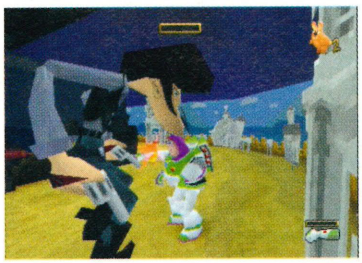

BUZZ MOVES IN MYSTERIOUS WAYS

Running, jumping and shooting are all standard videogame moves, but Buzz has a couple of extra tricks to make Woody's rescue that bit easier. The double jump is essential for leaping giant gaps, but getting the timing right is a bit tricky. Buzz also has a power stomp, used mostly for pushing switches and pinging yourself on springs. Just look for the arrows pointing into the ground, slam your butt on 'em and then sit back and enjoy the spectacular results.

▲ Buzz's wings come in handy on more than one occasion. 'Got to get up on that shelf!'

PICK UP SOME EASY TOKENS

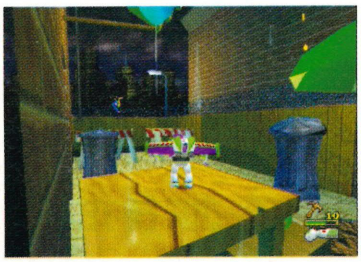

▲ Pistols at dawn. Kill the bandit for a token

Each stage in Toy Story 2 has five Pizza Planet Tokens littered around, and you have to complete different tasks to get them all. Hamm, the chubby pig, always wants fifty coins for his token, while Bo Peep won't give up her coins 'til you bring all her sheep back.

Additionally, on every stage there's a time challenge set by one of the characters. Slinky, the stretchy pooch, gives you 30 seconds to find some bones. Succeed in the time limit and you exit the level, picking up a sweet bonus item at the same time. Class, huh?

▲ Be quick to stop yourself sinking

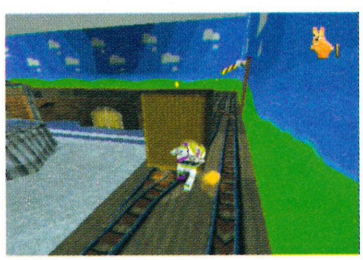

▲ Use the fan to blow yourself to a token

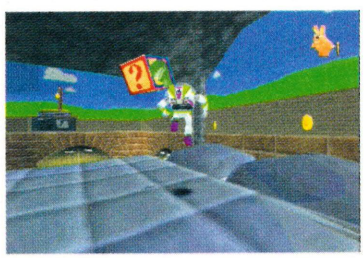

IT WON'T TAX YOUR BRAIN

Don't expect any Mensa-level brain-busters in Toy Story – there aren't any. Instead, you're faced with problems anyone with an ounce of common sense could work out.

But executing them is the tough bit. You'll need precision jumping skills and totally mastery of the double jump if you're going to get anywhere. Better get practising then.

▲ Blocks that need pushing have a green hand sign above them

▲ The '?' blocks give you hints about a particular puzzle. Headbutt them for the clue

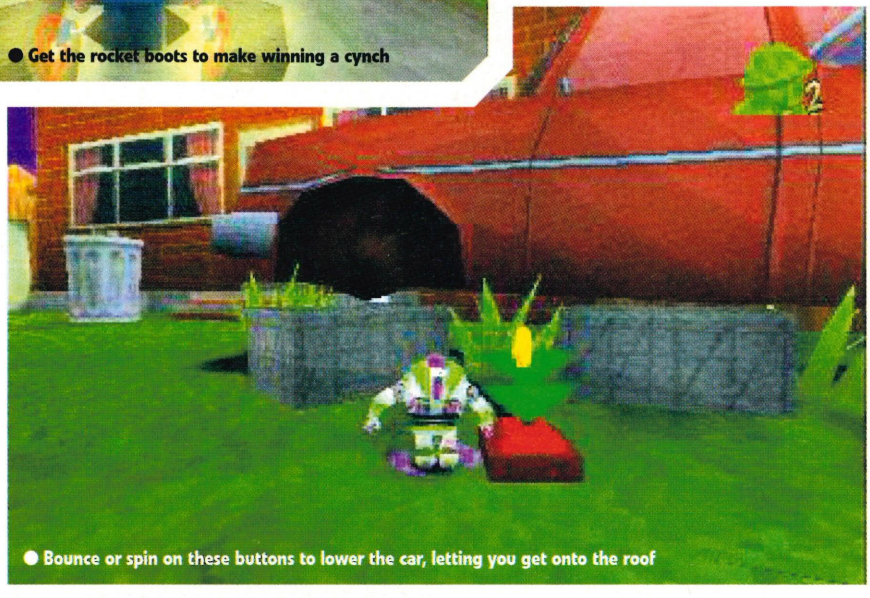

● Get the rocket boots to make winning a cynch

▲ See the red target? No grappling hook, no progress. Sorry

▲ Treading on the acid kills you unless you've got the shield

● Bounce or spin on these buttons to lower the car, letting you get onto the roof

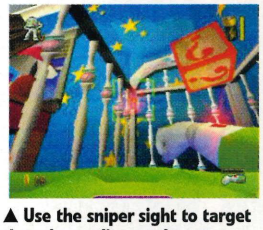

COME BACK LATER

You don't have to collect every last token to progress, but you do need 40 of them to get onto the final level. Obviously the first level is a pushover, and you should have no problems getting all five tokens. But later in the game things get considerably tougher, and you'll have to return to levels to make sure you've got enough of the precious coins to make it all the way through to the end.

You'll need to use power-ups to get many of the hard-to-get tokens, to give you the extra jumping height or bit of speed to get them

TAKE AIM, AND BOOM!

Buzz has a cool sniper mode in addition to his standard laser fire, accessed using L1. You zoom in to view the action from inside Buzz's helmet, and a big target appears to help you aim. Now every time you tap R1, it'll automatically homes in on any enemies in the area. You can also lock on to the big bosses' weak spots, making them a damnsight easier to kill.

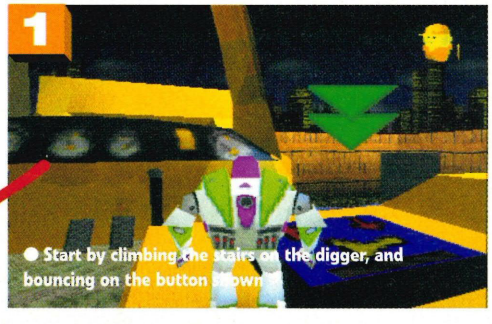

▲ Use the sniper sight to target the release clips on the cot

THE CONSTRUCTION SITE – VITAL CLUES

● Start by climbing the stairs on the digger, and bouncing on the button shown

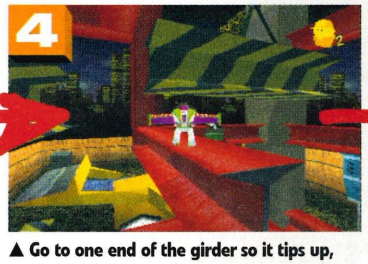

Once of the best levels in the game is the Construction Site. It's not an especially wide level, but it towers up for miles, making each jump up more important than the last. Fall down and you end up with an almighty climb back to the top. Here's a quick guide to getting onto the tower. The last couple of pointers apply for the higher reaches of the level. There are a couple of switches that need to be activated too and look out for the red hot screws bouncing around. Got it?

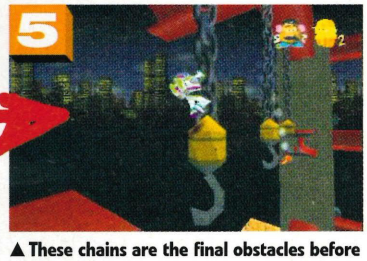

▲ Quickly jump to the front of the truck and climb onto the shovel bit to reach this ledge

▲ Wait for the platform to come close and, while avoiding the screws, jump on

▲ Go to one end of the girder so it tips up, making your next jump easier

PLUS RECKONS

Toy Story 2 isn't just another cash-in movie licence like The Phantom Menace. It's fun to play and looks kinda cute, but once you've gone through the game and collected most of the tokens, there's not much else to do. Great for a short-term fix, but if you want something more substantial, look elsewhere. Steve K

COOL BOARDERS 4

More rad speak and references to powder from people in baggy pants. Anyone getting board of snowboarding games? Boom boom

▲ Some stunts look the business

● Smacking the other 'boarders is cool

● The half pipe is the nuts. Get enough speed and you'll grab muchos airtime. Dude

There's no doubt snowboarding is one of the hippest sports around. But that ain't no excuse for wheeling out yet another sequel to a series that's been going downhill since Cool Boarders 2.

This latest version includes real-life pros for the first time, as well as their sponsors and the proper makes of board. Even their appearance is spot-on, to make the game more authentic than before.

Unfortunately this means they all have ridiculous names like Noah Salasnek and Jimmy Halopoff but hey, that's life.

Being the fourth in the series obviously means there's some pedigree on show here: graphically it's not bad, and the trick system is still sweet.

But we can't help thinking it's a cash-cow that's been milked to death. If you've got Cool Boarders 2, which is still the best of the lot and only £20, you're gonna be majorly disappointed with this. The addition of pro boarders and tighter graphics is fair enough, but worthy of a new release? We don't think so.

▲ Don't come near me, I'm well piste off and you're likely to get a damn good slappin'

MULTIPLAYER MODES ALL ROUND

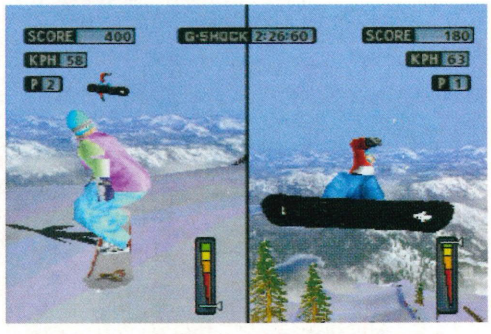

PLENTY OF TWO AND FOUR-PLAYER OPTIONS RESCUE THIS FROM UTTER TEDIUM

Going solo down the slopes, the trees whizzing past, is kinda cool, but racing against three mates is even better. Every mode of Cool Boarders 4 can be played by four human players.

But what's really cool is you can whack your mates with a sharp left hook as you skim down the slopes. Time it right and you can land one just as they reach a jump, so they tumble into knee deep powder, leaving you to slide off into the distance. Problem is you can only have two players racing simultaneously, and not all four at once. Shame.

▲ Get anywhere near the trees, and you're in trouble

▲ Flash gits pull tricks out just to annoy the hell out of you

FOLLOW THE LEADER

One of the best tips when you start playing is to not bother about the computer beating you – just follow him to learn the basics. When the other players jump, you jump. It sounds obvious, but the computer nearly always takes a near path through the trees, and will always jump to avoid the powder. Keep an eye out, that's all.

▲ If you miss a gate, you get docked points

CREATE A SNOWBOARDER

You don't have to use the pro snowboarders if you don't fancy it, because you can create your own dope dude. There are limitations to this though, as there are only six body sizes and a few costumes. But on the plus side you can increase the body shape and girth to make some right fat knackers. Top this off by tinkering with the colour schemes and you can get some well weird dudes and dudettes.

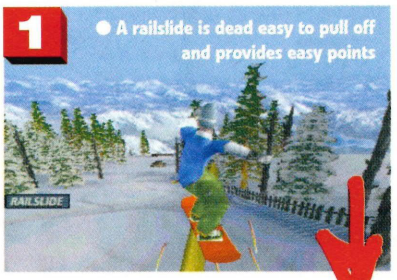

▲ This is the skinny runt. Sneeze and he falls over like a matchstick

▲ And this is Jenny Craig, getting a major lard-arse makeover

TRICKS OF THE TRADE

PULLING STUNTS IS THE BEST WAY TO PLAY

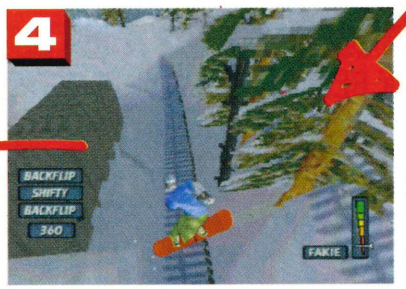

Some of the game modes are all about speed and shaving seconds off your time as you race against other snowboarders. That's fun for a while but the best game modes involve trick moves – half-pipe and slope style for instance. Half-pipe needs no explanation, but the slope style is simply a wicked run filled with ramps, houses, pipes, and bits of wood which you can use to pull out sweet tricks to get points from. L2 and R2 buttons spin you like a helicopter rotor blade once you're airborne, ◉ makes them do overhead flips, and ▣ or ⊗ grabs the board. Keep that in mind and with a bit of practice you could be putting together a mega-point run like this.

▲ Check out the airtime. A fakie backflip and the trick counter puts the points through the roof

▲ Finish off with a good old simple 360° for just about the ultimate routine. Beat that

▲ A 360° double shifty backflip. May have a stupid name but is healthy for your score

Cool Boarders 2 - the best of the series. Makes 3 and 4 seem pointless

PLUS RECKONS

Snowboarding is brilliant when you're actually doing it, but four Cool Boarders later and the PlayStation run has been well worn now. The lack of new stuff means there's about as much need for this game as there is for a new strain of the 'flu. Cool Boarders 2 is still the only one in the series worth bothering with. Steve K

TINY TANKS

Find out why tanks and comedy mix about as well as peach schnapps and Guinness

First impressions of this game would be something along the lines of 'tank game. Loads of guns, explosions and death.' Sounds fair enough to us.

Then you play it and the title screen blasts out the kind of music that welcomes you into the Early Learning Centre. Watch one of the awful intros and it gets worse. The tank called Tiny (like, ha ha) comes up with one 'gag' after another and get this, swears only to have it bleeped out. And it gets less funny from here on in. Jesus.

▲ Overheat the mountain to blow it up

▲ Watch for enemy tanks appearing

▲ One tank, fully powered up. Two rear cannons are very handy

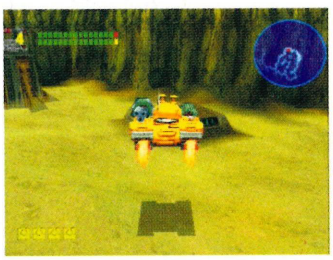

TANK TRICKS

PUTTING YOUR GYMNASTIC TANK THROUGH ITS PACES

Tiny isn't any ordinary tank. Far from it. The fact it talks and swears is a testament to that. But the moves Tiny can pull off are a class above your average Sherman. Press either the L1 or R1 buttons and you'll hop a small distance either side of you – useful for dodging attacks. Double tap either of those buttons and you'll barrel roll to the left or right which can get you out of tight situations instantly. There's even a jump button which, when pressed twice, gives you a weird rocket jump using twin jets of fire which shoot out of the bottom of your tank.

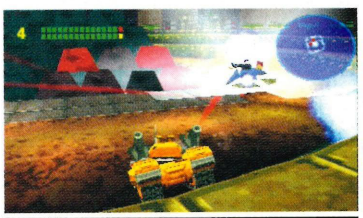

▲ Barrel rolls are useful in boss fights

STEAL EXTRA WEAPONS

Each time you kill a boss they'll drop a whole load of booty for you to gobble up. At the very least they'll drop one of the guns they were using so you can start to beef up Tiny with some real fire power. You can add more power to your guns by holding select during the game and fiddling about with the configuration. Sadly, no matter how many guns you get, the combat's limp, repetitive and drab.

▲ Cane weak enemies with homers

▲ Kill the boss, then wear its hat

PLUS RECKONS

It's good fun for the first level, OK for the second and becomes boring after that. And Tiny's 'gags' will make you wince in pain time after time. Steve K

EAGLE ONE HARRIER ATTACK

Four top-of-the-range fighter aircraft. Hundreds of weapons. One objective: destroy everything that moves!

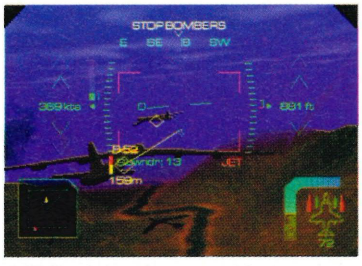

● Use big bombs to cane ground forces

Being a fighter pilot is a cool job. You get fly faster than the speed of sound, play around with big guns and cause explosions that make the Millennium fireworks look like a backyard Bonfire Night display.

But over-detailed flight sim games have got themselves a bit of a bad reputation. Real-life air aces are Raybans-wearing super studs who get the ladies moist. Computer flight sim buffs are spooky, number-crunching loner types who smell of piss.

But Eagle One: Harrier Attack isn't as nerdy as the traditional flight sim. You're still in charge of a multi-million pound aircraft, but most of the realism has been stripped away. You won't be blown out of the sky with a single shot, and landing's a whole lot easier here. This goes all out to capture the adrenalin of high-velocity air combat, but you don't need to know the wingspan of an F-16 to play.

▲ Night missions are extra tricky

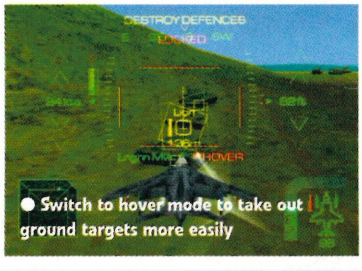

● The A-10 Warthog is a tip-top tank-buster

ELIMINATE ALL BOGEYS

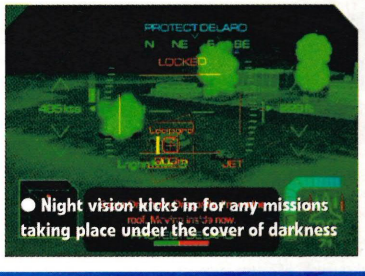

You're dispatched on death-defying missions against swarms of ground targets and skies full of enemy aircraft. Most of the time you're flying solo against the enemy, tackling objectives varying from simple seek-and-destroy fragfests to protecting friendly units as they weave through enemy lines. As well as constant pressure from the enemy, some of the 25 missions are set against the clock, so you've got to be fast as well as accurate.

● Switch to hover mode to take out ground targets more easily

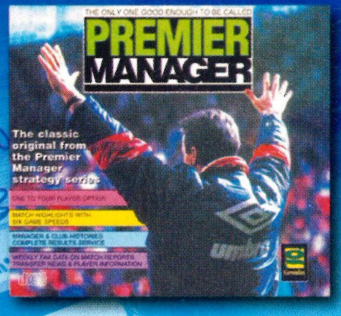

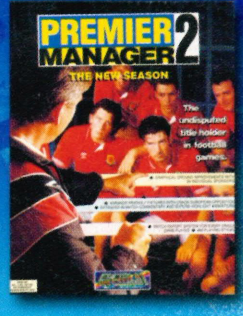

● Helicopters are slow and are therefore easier to track than enemy fighters

● Night vision kicks in for any missions taking place under the cover of darkness

ONE MANAGEMENT GAME HAS LEAD

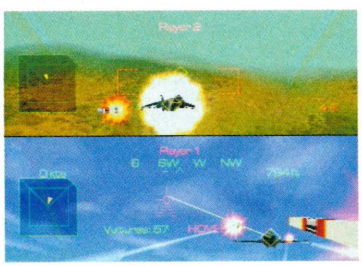

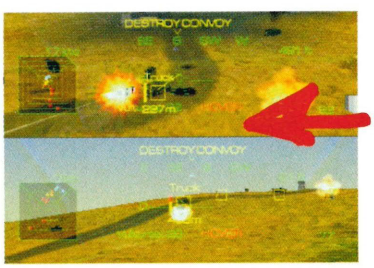

● Hit the ground and your plane doesn't take too much damage

'GO EASY ON THE REALISM'

Eagle One is an arcade flight sim, so you spend more time blasting bad guys than worrying about airbrakes and flaps. Your plane can take severe punishment before it drops from the sky, but then so do some of the enemy aircraft.

Tracking them isn't too difficult, but for some reason your Sidewinder missiles tend to miss most of the time, even if you've got a lock on. To kill your enemies for sure, it's best to stick to cannon fire, but it's really slow. And when you've only got a few seconds to down that bogey, it can be incredibly annoying.

▲ The deathmatch is BORING. You just end up flying round in circles

▲ The co-operative mode is more fun, but there aren't enough missions

'GIMME AN F-16'

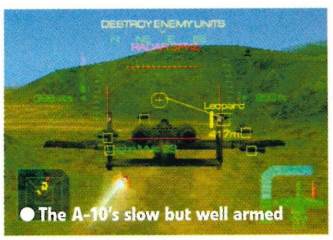

THE FOUR AIRCRAFT ON OFFER

The basic jet's the Harrier, which you fly for most of the missions. It's pretty good at taking out both air and ground targets, especially because it can hover on the spot and pick off enemies with ease. You also get to fly the F-16 which is best suited to dogfights, and the A-10 tank buster which is great for nuking armoured vehicles. The other plane you fly, a rescue chopper, is slow and unarmed. Gulp.

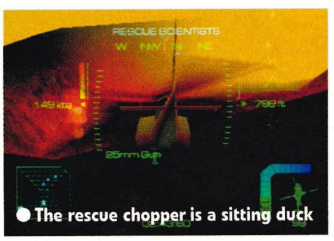

● Land on the X to swop aircraft

● The Harrier is the best all-rounder

● The A-10's slow but well armed

● The rescue chopper is a sitting duck

MULTIPLAYER MEDIOCRITY

Plug in two pads and go head-to-head against a mate in any of the four aircraft, or team up to tackle one of the four co-operative missions. The deathmatch is tedious, mainly because the air-to-air missiles are pretty useless so you have to resort to cannons. This is well dull, especially if your opponent chooses to roll and jink constantly. One kill every 10 minutes, if you're lucky. The co-operative mode is pretty good, but there are only four missions. If you could've tackled all the one-player missions with a mate it would've been class. As it is, it's over far too quickly.

LIKE THIS? TRY THESE

Ace Combat 3 - better looking than Eagle One, and it plays just as well

Colony Wars: Vengeance - superb dogfighting action in the depths of space

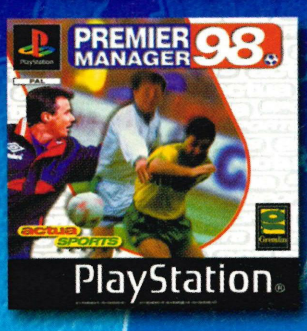

PLUS RECKONS

Not as sharp or instantly accessible as Ace Combat 3, but Eagle One is still a sweet one-player flight sim, packed with loads of variety and missions. Forget the two-player though - the deathmatch is tedious and four co-operative missions just isn't enough. There should have been a couple more planes to try out, too. Alex

VIGILANTE 8 SECOND OFFENCE

Cross Quake 2 with Demolition Derby and you get this car-crunching motor mash-up

Take a bunch of sociopathic killers, stick them inside some bizarre vehicles, give them a few flesh-ripping weapons, and you've got the makings of Vigilante 8: 2nd Offence.

This driving game's less about racing everyone around, and more about razing everything to the ground.

Much like the original V8, the game is basically a series of deathmatches between a load of tooled-up motors fought out across locations in the US. You can play one-off battles or a campaign where extra elements such as attacking or defending buildings get thrown into the wreckage-strewn mix. The characters are all stark raving psychos from the 1970s, all with their own vehicles and trademark special weapons The amount of power-ups is a plus point, with a huge arsenal of car-to-car ordinance to pick up and use. The special weapons are particularly class, and when Astronaut Bob-O gets you with his flailing grabber, it hurts.

It's all a good laugh, and there's not much else on PlayStation like this, apart from the original.

But the cars' handling is a bit jerky, making aiming difficult, and there's not a massive amount of new stuff in here to set this apart from the first V8. Still, cars and guns are a potent mixture.

But this scenery fights back. You'll get flung about by wind tunnels, picked up by whirlwinds, and covered by molten metal in the factory. Worst of all, massive sharks and 'gators try their damndest to get their jaws round your bonnet should you take a dip in the water.

● Use the ski lift to climb mountains

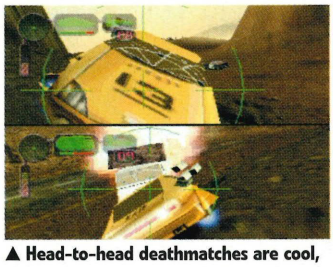

● Astronaut Bob-O is one tough bastard

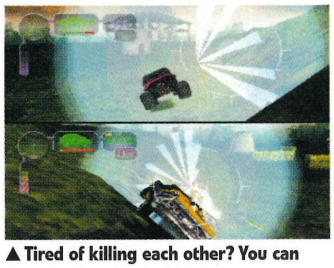

TWO PLAYER

BELIEVE US, KILLING YOUR FRIENDS HAS NEVER BEEN SO MUCH FUN

As ever, the chance to roast a mate is a welcome addition and V8: SO doesn't disappoint. The two-player options in Second Offence are class. You can get it on in a straight head-to-head duel, fight one-off co-operative battles against the computer, or work together in quest mode.

▲ Head-to-head deathmatches are cool, but they can go on a bit too long

▲ Tired of killing each other? You can work together in co-operative mode

Full-on enemy ass-fragging in outer space, and it's mighty tasty

This deep-space blaster has got all the massive, epic space battles that made Star Wars cool. It's got everything the awful, plodding game of the Phantom Menace didn't have.

And believe us, fat-faced goon Anakin Skywalker isn't going to take out the baddies here by accidentally firing off his proton torpedoes: it's all down to you. It isn't going to be easy.

You play Valdemar, a free-wheeling, Han Solo-wannabe space merc. You head out into a war zone to get cash any way you can. You can choose missions, so one day you'll be flying below radar in pursuit of an Empiret war criminal's shuttle craft, then the next you'll be teaming up with the same Empiret bad boys to target an orbital strike on a rebel base. If it pays, that's good enough for you.

What that means in the game is an awesome variety of missions. You'll zoom through huge fleets of cool-looking spacecraft, take on vast space stations on your own, guard convoys from enemy attack and take part in massive space battles involving hundreds of ships. And it always plays fast, feels frantic and looks great. Make no mistake, this game looks hot and plays sweet.

● Bag yourself new weapons and ships by earning dosh

● As the game unfolds, new plot elements rear their heads

● The plot's a massive epic spanning two galaxies

SPACE IS THE PLACE

The way the action unfolds is way cool. Each mission puts you straight into the front line of frenzied space conflict. To start with, you join battles just for the cash: you check out the missions and size up the respective paycheques, then choose which mission suits you best.

Winning earns you cash. You can use it to buy new, speedier spaceships, to upgrade your shields, buy new weapons or fit cunning gizmos like flares that distract incoming missiles.

Completing certain missions means plot developments that open up whole new sets of missions, and as you get further into the game, you not only get sucked into a new conflict, but also start to develop loyalties that have nothing to do with earning hard cash. If you thought Colony Wars: Vengeance was an epic, think again. It's a tiddler next to this 50-mission heavyweight.

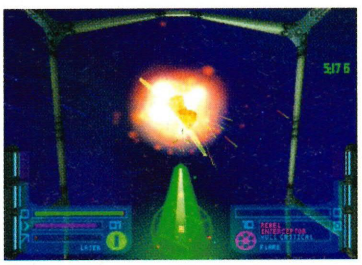

● Take out massive battle stations turret by turret

KILL EVERYTHING YOU SEE!

What sets this apart from the average shoot 'em up is the variety. You face off against your enemies in canyons on planets guarded by automated defence systems. You take on massive battle stations which you have to grind down, laser turret by laser turret, 'til you finally blow out the hull. You face huge squadrons of nippy fighters in the gravity wells made by solar anomalies.

And the objectives keep changing: one mission you're on guard duty, the next one you have to infiltrate a heavily-defended rebel base. And as the game unfolds, the battles get bigger and bigger until you're involved in massive space shootouts involving armadas of fighters, deadly battle stations and the awesome killing technology of the mysterious Red Sun.

▲ Pull off cool dogfighting moves at speed

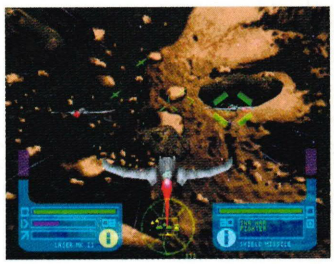

▲ Do a barrel roll to avoid incoming missiles

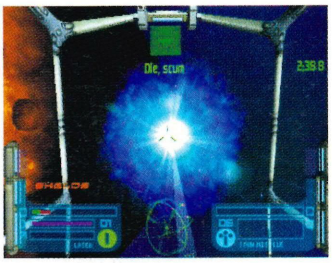

● The cargo stompers take about five minutes of pounding before they go down

KLINGON WARBIRD DECLOAKING!

This doesn't miss a trick when it comes to making you sweat. On every mission your shields will get gradually pounded down, then you have to survive the last few minutes on a wing and a prayer. The action's non-stop. Just when you think you're OK, the radio crackles into life to say enemy spaceships are decloaking next to you, or a squadron of tanks are just about to roll over the next rise. The adrenalin level never drops.

▲ Asteroids will tear a hole in your hull

▲ Death is swift once your shields go

▲ Tanks are a penny annoyance

▲ 'Empiret ships decloaking!' Ulp..

RED SUN HAS GOT IT ALL

This is incredibly sharp to look at, and the planet missions look particularly fine – loads better than the foggy crap you got in Vengeance. Controlling your craft is really easy and, unlike in previous Colony Wars games, you don't have to fiddle around using two separate lasers to take out spaceships' shields and hulls.

If the idea of 3D dogfights in space sounds a bit head-frying, don't worry. There's a cool radar system here to make swooping in for the kill that bit easier: it works well, so it's always simple to keep track of where you and your enemies are. Every effort's been made to make this easy to get into and smooth to play.

▲ The radar makes things a lot easier

● Detect where enemies are using the radar at the centre of the screen

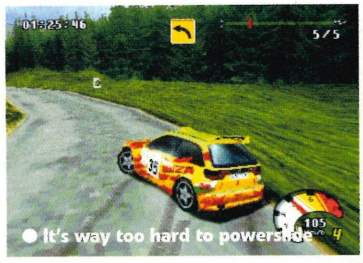

● The symphonic soundtrack really adds Star Wars atmos

Rally Championship's the official game of the British Rally Championship, so it boasts a staggering 700 miles of real track to get to grips with, along with an awesome selection of growling off-road supercars to check out. And it goes like shit off a supersonic shovel.

A nice touch here is how you get to play this two ways. You can play it either as an arcade racer where you're trying to edge past other cars to rack up a first place, or as a 'proper' rally championship where it's you against the clock.

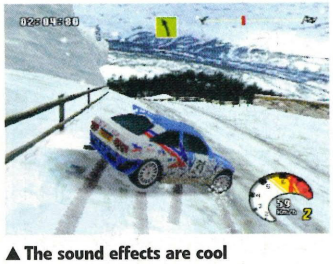

Sadly, it's way too difficult to pull off powerslides. And without powerslides, rallying isn't much fun. When you wrench the back end of the car out and try to opposite lock into the bend, your car tends to stick to the track or just go the wrong way. And a lot of the time it feels like your car is too wide for the track, so it's difficult to skid round the bends at snazzy angles. Plus, going onto the verge doesn't slow you that much, so there's not much point in doing nifty skids. It's easier to go in a straight line, so you might as well just do that. Oh dear.

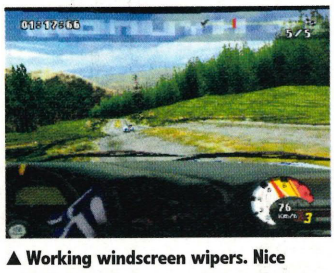

● The cars and tracks all look good

CHECK OUT THESE NICE TOUCHES

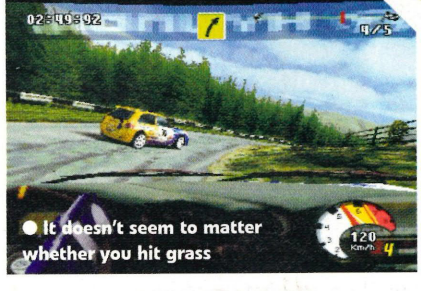

Apart from the handling problems, this is a peach. The graphics are solid and the bends come at you at enormous speeds, especially on the in-car view. The sound effects are awesome, too. Clip a tree at 90 miles an hour and it really sounds like a big rally car banging into a hunk of wood. Take your motor head on into something really solid like a wall, and you'll hear the impact, then your back bumper will fall off with a sickening clunk. The way the mud and snow sticks to your car as you cane it round the courses is cool, too. It's just a pity the handling lets it down.

▲ This really shifts at an impressive pace

▲ The sound effects are cool

▲ Working windscreen wipers. Nice

▲ Skidding covers your motor in snow

● It doesn't seem to matter whether you hit grass

▲ A 'real' rally track? We think not

PLUS RECKONS

Looks good, moves fast and there's some great tracks in there. But the handling isn't all it could have been, and in one-player the difficulty level is way too high. Rob

It's third time unlucky for Lara in TR3: it's still a cool game, but it's the weakest of the Tomb Raiders

Tomb Raider 1 was a stone classic, no question. But by the time of Tomb Raider 3, two years later, the formula had become a bit tired, washed out and predictable.

Tomb 3 boasted a mix of ultra-violent action and enormous, lever-pulling puzzles, but it just lacked some of the spark of the first Tomb Raider. The levels didn't seem to hang together as well, and there weren't any 'Oh my God, what is that?' moments, like when the T-Rex lurches out in Tomb 1.

Still, it's absolutely bloody enormous, and the classic Tomb Raider gameplay doesn't let up. The game plods a bit, but there are loads of levels to get through and it'll take you bloody weeks to do it. If you're mad for Tomb Raider games, this is a brilliant buy. But unless you know you'll go nuts for 20 levels of shimmying along ledges, doing hyperspeed gymnastics round your enemies and searching frantically for sequences of hidden levers, then be wary.

THRASHER: SKATE AND DESTROY

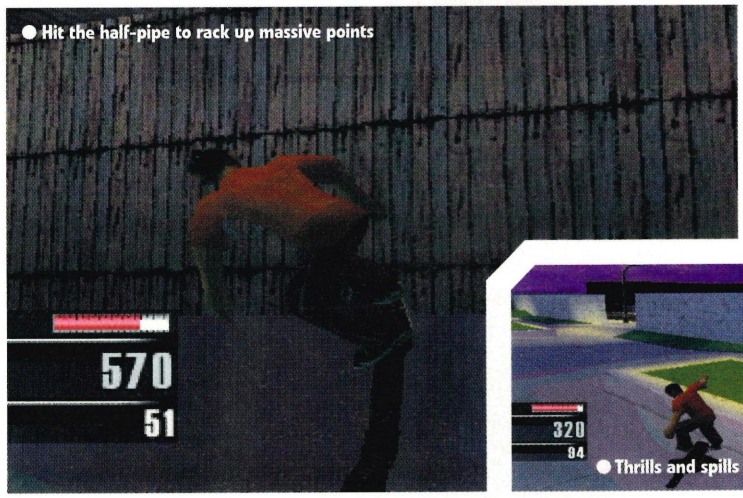

£34.99 ● OUT NOW ● 1-2 PLAYERS JOYPAD, MEMORY CARD, DUAL SHOCK PAD

A cool-ish tricks system fails to rescue this substandard skate 'em up

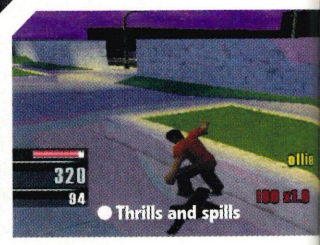

Thrasher: Skate and Destroy is a frantic skateboarding effort where you flip, spin and grind your way through open arenas to rack up points. Doing big combination tricks will send your score rocketing, but pulling off tricks is pretty hard, much harder than your average snow/skateboarding game.

It's satisfying to get the tricks right, simply because it's a challenge. And it's quite cool because there's no set way to approach the levels: unlike most other 'boarding efforts, you really are just plonked down in a car park and left to it. Unfortunately, that's where the good things about Thrasher end. The animation's lousy, the characters look like total muppets, and all the levels look pretty rough and ready, too. Next to the super-sharp graphics and slick moves of Tony Hawk's Skateboarding, this is dump. If you're mad into skateboarding, maybe rent this. Otherwise, don't give it a second glance.

● Hit the half-pipe to rack up massive points

● Thrills and spills

● The video sequences set the scene nicely. Shame the game's so dull

GRANDIA

£34.99 ● OUT NOW ● 1 PLAYER JOYPAD, MEMORY CARD, DUAL SHOCK PAD

Little people with big eyes cast spells, explore, and talk. For a very long time

Grandia is a long-winded, text-heavy RPG. It's very boring. In fact, it's so damn boring that all copies of it should be sealed inside an iron ball and fired into the sun.

It's standard RPG nonsense, with a big cast of improbably cute characters and a spell system more complicated than contract bridge. There are some cool things about Grandia: the game world is huge, and there's loads of little sub-quests to get involved with, plus the magic system's kind of cool once you've got to grips with it. But the fact is, Grandia looks really, really old, and the script is badly-written and terminally long-winded. This is like Final Fantasy VIII without the neat eye-candy of the spell effects and without the tear-jerking cutscenes. Unless you've got a deep liking for page after page of statistics and stilted, piss-poor conversations that go on for days, give Grandia the dodge.

● Blue hair is very popular in Grandia

▲ The game world looks OK... ish

▲ There's quite a few little sub-games to try out. A lot of them are pretty tedious, though

My car is my life

Having the keys to a thousand motors is almost impossible in real life, but put the time in on Gran Turismo 2 and you could have a garage full of the most desirable motors in the world in just a few hours. From understated but stylish city runners, to sports cars guaranteed to attract the ladies, every motor you could ever want is here. Each car is modelled very closely on its real-life counterpart, and the looks, handling, acceleration and sounds are so spot-on it's almost like driving the real thing. Here are the motors you need to drive.

CITY RUNNERS

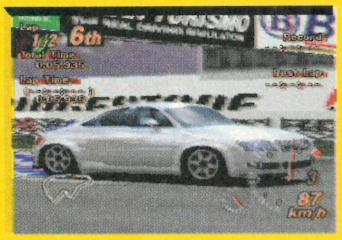

These are the cars you see every day, the motors that pack enough punch to tear through 30mph zones but don't stick out like a sore thumb in traffic. Starting with only a million credits in GT Mode, you will have to go for one of these as your first car. They are ideal on circuits littered with tight bends and few straights.

▲ the VW Golf sits on the road superbly, taking corners with ease. There's some serious oomph under the bonnet, especially in this 2.3 Litre version. Get this car in North City

▲ The original hippy motor is propelled into 21st century chic with this long-awaited new model. This baby is pretty fast and handles well, and it's yours for the taking in North City

▲ The Audi TT's performance easily matches its style. It's very fast, and although it's a bit shaky on the steering at high speed, it's still a beauty to drive. Find this car for sale in North City

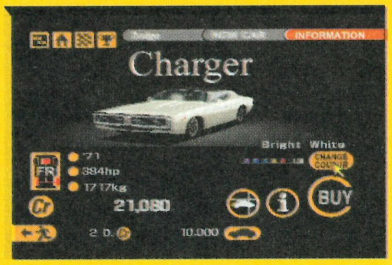

▲ The Mini boasts superb handling so it literally sticks to the ground. Problem is, it accelerates slower than a milk van. Soup it up and it's worth checking out though. Buy it in North City

CLASSIC CARS

There are loads of classic muscle cars to play around with. They're revered for their meaty engines and these snorting monsters fairly eat tarmac. This kind of pedigree doesn't come cheap though.

▲ The Chevrolet Camaro: looks beautiful and is sweet to drive too

▲ Like the Camaro, the Charger has a monster engine under the bonnet

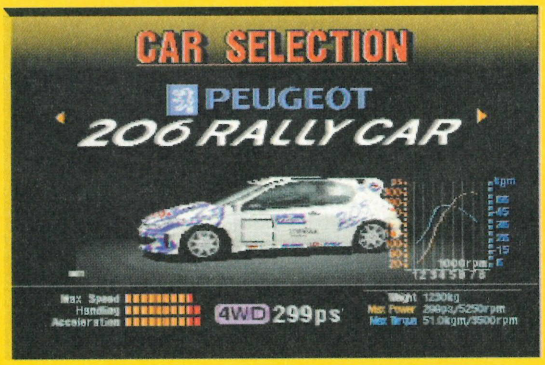

▲ The Plymouth Barracuda is extremely heavy, although its hefty V12 engine gives out enough power to push this giant to extreme speed. Great fun to drive

RALLY CARS

These resilient motors are versions of city runner cars that have been adapted for use on dirt courses. A modified Rally car will be the second car you buy – just putting dirt tyres on your normal car isn't good enough. It's worth spending that bit extra to get a better car too.

▲ The Lancer Evolution Rally is highly tuned, and has much better suspension than the road version

▲ After passing the Standard and International Licenses, get this car in Arcade Mode when you choose the Dirt Trial races

SPORTS CARS

Here's where the daydreaming begins! In real life you've only got one of these babies if you're filthy reach, but in GT2 are the meat-and-veg to racing. When you've pushed you city runner to the limit, save cash and splash out on one of these luxury motors. Once you've got a few wins under your belt you should have enough cash.

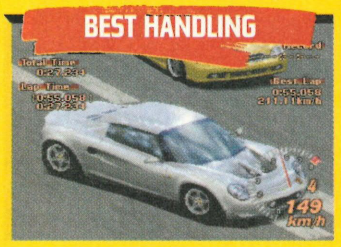

▲ The DB7 Coupe is Aston Martin's fastest production sports car. It costs top dollar, but it will outrun most other cars in a straight line. The handling is pretty much spot on too

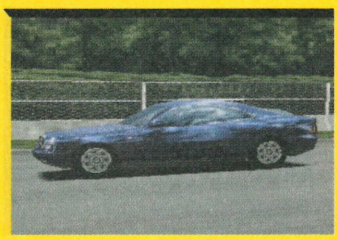

▲ BMW's 840ci combines the ultimate in style with a totally awesome four-litre engine. It costs 10 million credits though, so you'll need to win a few races before you've got the cash to buy one

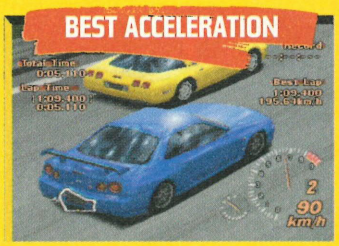

▲ The Jaguar XKR has a body shape resembling one of the classic American muscle cars. Jaguar is tantalising a whole new market with this new, awesome pumped-up model

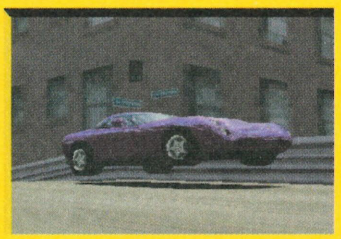

▲ The sweet Lotus Elise Sport 190 is exceptionally light, so its top speed and acceleration are up there with the best of them. It's low too, so its sticks to the corners. A dream choice

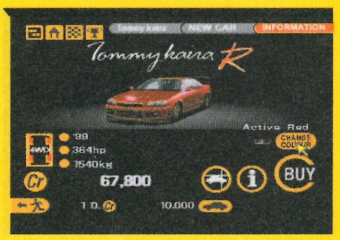

▲ The Mercedes CLK 320 Sports offers a smooth ride, so you won't fly all over the place if you hit a bump at the wrong angle. The acceleration is naff though, so you're left standing at the start

▲ The Nissan Skyline was one of the best motors in the first GT, and it still kicks ass here. You'll literally zoom past the competition in this monster, and it handles like a dream too

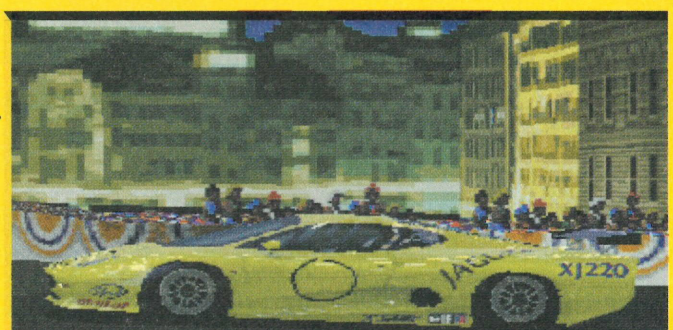

▲ The TVR Tuscan Speed 6 is a high-speed beast which will out-perform most other roadsters in a straight line. It needs taming around some of the tigher corners, though

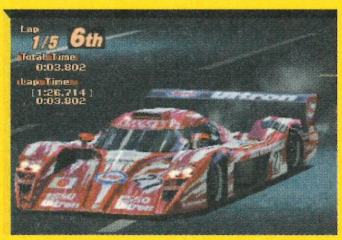

▲ The Tommy Kaira R is a complete rebuild of Nissan's R33 Skyline. It incorporates a new chassis, interior and body parts, and so out-performs its production model counterpart. It's not cheap though

GT RACING CARS

Each prestige car manufacturer produces racing versions of their top of the range selection. They cost an absolute fortune and you'll need to prove yourself as a top-notch driverm but with one of these in your garage, there aren't many trophies a competent driver can't win. Do yourself a favour, start saving now.

● Based on the latest XJS from Jaguar, this car has been tuned for high speed tarmac racing. It boasts more forgiving suspension than the GT One, but as a result isn't as quick off the mark. Overtake on bends if you're using this Jag

● Look at that meaty spoiler! With 591 bhp, the GT One has acceleration which'll make your eyes water! The stiff racing suspension means the chassis is little more than six inches off the ground, so heavy braking will result in the front underside 'bouncing' along the ground. Add a Level 4 Turbine Kit to up the HP to 975!

● The Dodge Viper: very fast, but a real bitch on those tigher corners

GT Mode: The lowdown

▲ Go to the Garage to upgrade your car. The Machine Shop offers a wide selection of custom parts and engine modifications, which can be put to the test in the machine test area

This is the second disc of the game, the one you're going to be getting your teeth into most. It's like a drivers' RPG, where you start with bugger all money and have to pass licenses before purchasing your first car, which is usually a second-hand banger. Then it's on to countless races to rack up some serious prize money. And the better you get, the more races you win, earning yourself wads of cash which you can use to buy bigger and better cars. And if you've only got enough to customise, go to the Garage to soup up your motors before pushing your modified monster to the limit in the Machine Test.

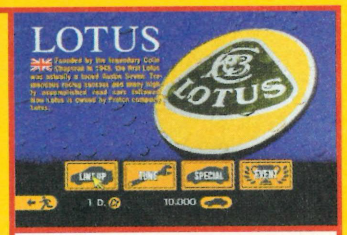

▲ Earn a Licence first, to become competent enough to compete and also open up all tracks. Get golds in the A, B and International Licence tests for new cars in arcade mode

▲ Some races are for money, others are for random prize cars. You have to be good in different driving styles to really get anywhere in Racing Mode, so keep practising your powerslides

▲ Your home town in Gran Turismo 2 GT Mode has every dealership, as well as places to pass tests and enter races. You'll come to know it very well

▲ Your first car must be fast off the mark, with a high top end and responsive turning. And all for less than a million credits. Our advice is to try the second-hand market first

Where to find your dream car

EVERY CAR MANUFACTURER WORTH ITS SALT IS IN HERE. IF THERE'S A DREAM CAR YOU ALWAYS WANTED TO DRIVE, OR YOU JUST WANT TO SPLASH OUT ON SOMETHING SPECIAL, GOT FOR IT. HERE'S WHERE TO GET ALL THE TOP MOTORS

▲ View and buy cars built by UK and German companies like Aston Martin, Audi, BMW, Jaguar, Lister, Lotus, Mercedes-Benz, Mini/MG, Opel, RUF, TVR and VW

▲ View and buy cars from the following Japanese car manufacturers. Daihatsu, Honda, Mazda, Mitsubishi, Nissan, Subaru, Suzuki, Tommy Kaira and Toyota

▲ Buy cars from the following US car manufacturers. Chevrolet, Dodge, Ford, Plymouth, Shelby and Vector

▲ Splash out on motors built by Italian and French companies like Alfa Romeo, Citroen, Fiat, Lancia, Peugeot, Renault and Venturi

Standard & International Licences

To gain a licence you'll have to reach at least the bronze place time limit in each of its separate ten tests. There are two types of Standard Licence and three types of International. Pass all of these and get to try the fiendishly difficult Super Licence. Pass this to gain an Event Synthesiser, and get all gold passes to unlock every Arcade mode car.

CARS YOU GAIN

Before you start banging your controller against the TV screen, these cars can only be obtained by gaining Gold awards on every test.

LICENCE	CAR YOU GAIN
B LICENCE	SPOON HONDA S2000
A LICENCE	DODGE CONCEPT CAR
INTERNATIONAL C	MITSUBISHI GTO LM
INTERNATIONAL B	HONDA CR-X LM
INTERNATIONAL A	MITSUBISHI FTO LM
SUPER LICENCE	TOYOTA TS020 '99

CARS YOU USE

To fully exercise your skills, the Standard and International Licence tests will sometimes give you exactly the same test, but with a different car. This is to make you learn the different strengths and weaknesses of each car model, and how to exploit them to the full.

■ BRAKING: You'll go from the very slow accelerating Toyota Yaris (67HP) to the stupidly fast Nissan Skyline GTR V-Spec.

■ CORNERS: You get cars of different speeds and handling to test the grip and sliding around curves. Watch the demo for help.

■ MULTIPLE CORNERS: You have to worry about taking the fastest route over two bends, without sliding off the tarmac.

BRAKING

The art of braking is just as important as getting off to the best start. Slam on the anchors in the wrong place and your car will spin uncontrollably. Brake too late and you'll fly off the circuit, but slow down too late and you'll lose precious seconds. Learn the stopping distances for different powered cars.

▲ The early tests in A and B Licences introduce you to get used to braking, using different powered cars for different stopping distances. Stop on the finishing grid to pass

▲ At first you'll have a frustrating time braking too late, thinking your car has insane stopping distances. Slam on the brakes just before the 900 metre sign for best results

MULTIPLE CORNERING

The trick to getting through multiple corner tests easily is look at the demonstration first. It'll show you when to brake, how fast to drive and when to turn. Do the same as the Demo car and you're pretty much there. Doing it fast enough to get the Gold award should then just be a matter of time

▲ When you first tackle a multiple corner test, take it slow to see where you can squeeze more out of the corners. Then gradually up the speed to get the gold award

▲ Take the first corner wide, braking before cutting across the apex of the bend and going wide again, which will set you up for the second corner a lot better

CORNERING

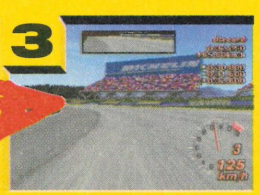

If you've played the first GT then you'll know the bounce-off-wall-to-get-round-the-corner trick. It doesn't work here though, because as soon as all four wheels leave the track, you've failed the test.

▲ Brake severely just before the bend starts, not during it...

▲ Induce a sidewards skid to get around the bend quickly...

▲ Controlled skids, or powerslides, are essential

TURNING WHILE DRIVING

One of the tests places you on a short, oval track and demands you do two laps in a certain time, without sliding off the track. This is to test your ability to induce skids. Use rapid taps rather than a constant push of the accelerator, followed by opposite steering to make you go round the track side-on, in a powerslide

▲ Brake hard and turn early, so you're almost driving sideways. Then hold opposite lock to slide round the corner

Super Licence

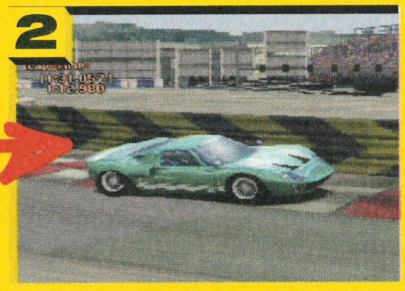

At the very start you're not even eligible to see the Super Licence on the Test Menu screen. However, pass the three International Licences and they're opened. They are much tougher than any of the other tests, often taken place over an entire lap of a track, but pass and you're awarded the Event Synthesiser, allowing you to customise races.

CORNERING

After passing the International Licences you should be adept at taking corners. But to get through the Super Licence you must develop these advanced techniques to guarantee success.

▲ Bear in mind that a Rear Wheel Drive (MR) car is better when turning into a bend, and a Front Wheel Drive car (FF) sits on the road a whole lot better out of a bend

▲ RWD car are therefore easier to swing into a corner but are tough to straighten up. In a FWD motor, be more cautious going into a bend, but hit the gas as soon as you start to straighten up

MULTIPLE CORNERING

Virtually every multiple corner test in Super License mode is on a track full of tight bend which you must take perfectly to pass. This can get frustrating, especially if you spin out on the last bend.

▲ Learn to powerslide from one direction to the next, instantly. This is essential for cruising around chicanes

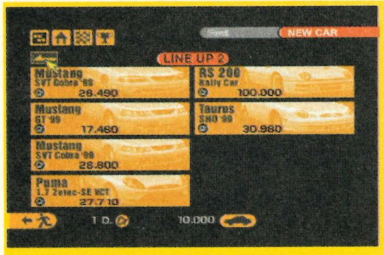

▲ Do this by flooring it for a second out of the first bend, then double tap the brakes and opposite lock the steering

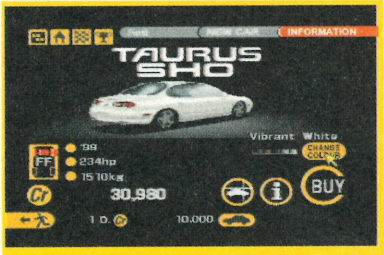

▲ The car will then skid in the opposite direction. When the back-end slides out in the other direction, turn the wheels the other way to counter the skid and end up facing out of the corner. Perfect

Your first car

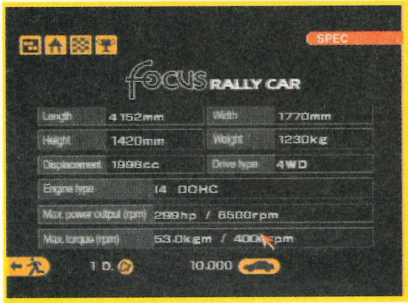

After going through all the Licence tests you'll have some idea of which car best suits your driving style. Do you prefer the tight turning ratio of a rear-wheel drive car, or the pulling power of a front-wheel drive car. Whatever, you haven't got much cash to get your first motor. Use these tips to choose wisely.

▲ When buying your first car, forget about brand new motors. You can get a car that performs just as well from the second-hand market, and they're loads cheaper too

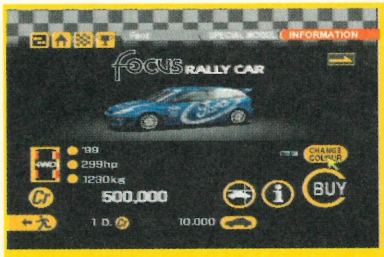

▲ Brake horse power probably doesn't mean that much to you, but check out the performance graphs on the info panel to get a better idea of top speed and acceleration

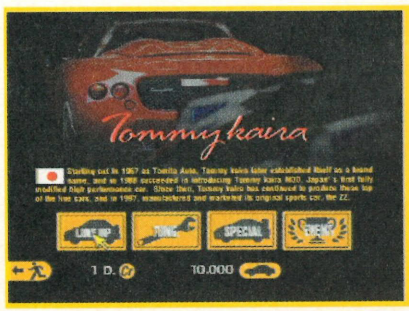

● Put simply, the bigger the engine, the faster the car. In most cases this means the more expensive it'll be, but there are exceptions. A two-litre BMW will cost more than a Ford with the same size engine. Look for cars by Honda, Vauxhall and Ford

▲ Be careful when choosing your car based on the above statistics. Some cars might be really fast but may have shite acceleration, and vice versa

▲ The Horse Power (HP) is the car's sheer brute force. Compare HPs to see which car has more oomph. Weight is also something to bear in mind, too

● It's best to spend as close to your million credits on your first car as possible, rather than saving some to tweak it. That way you'll get a better starting engine. Once you've used the car in a couple of races and won yourself some money, buy mods

Car Modification

There's no point souping up your car without taking it out for a few test races first. You won't know which parts of your car need improving unless you've pushed it to the limit, so check it out first and spend your money wisely. It's also wise to save cash by not making modifications unless completely necessary, instead getting the money together to buy a brand new motor. Decent modifications don't come cheap, so to actually make a real difference you'll have to fork out the price of another car, which is ridiculous

HOW YOUR CAR WORKS

Know how an engine works and it's a lot easier to work out which parts to modify to best improve your car's performance.

The Yanks believe that you can't beat cubes, so their solution to max power is to boost the cubic capacity of an engine from, say 1,200cc to 1,800cc. On this side of the pond, we're a bit smarter. You can re-shape camshafts that open an engine's valves. That will give you a new spread of power. Opening out the carburettors and fitting a high-flow air filter can make a motor pull better. Our tip is to experiment

The gearbox is a complex bit of kit but absolutely crucial to success on certain circuits. A tight, windy circuit may need a low ratio gearbox which means lots of gearchanges. But it can deliver too much wheelspin on dirt tracks. A high ratio 'box will often mean more space between gears and fewer gearchanges. This is handy for high-speed rings but you can find the engine may bog down in tight corners

CAR PARTS

Go for Racing Standard parts. Obviously seeing a long list of parts with a star rating will get really boring and, at the end of the day, it's pointless. All you need to know is that, generally the more expensive a part the better it is. Here are brief explanations of how each car part will affect your performance

▲ Muffler: improves through-flow of exhaust. Brakes: Duh, you stop faster. Engine Performance Chip: acts as a central brain, regulating air/fuel ratio and timing, thus upping performance

▲ Drivetrain: everything that transmits power from the engine to the wheels can be modded for maximum performance. Gears, clutches and driveshafts can be lightened or altered

▲ Flywheel: the main wheel that connects the drivetrain to the gear cogs. The lighter the wheel, the higher the engine revs which increases acceleration slightly. Can affect power output though

▲ Tune up: Optimises the timing (the 'rhythm' of the engine) as well as fuel and air mixtures for best performance. Different tuner companies tune cars in different ways, so don't just go for the cheapest one

▲ Drivetrain clutch: the clutch is the mechanism that moves the flywheel from one gear cog to another. The best clutches ensure the quickest, smoothest gear change possible

▲ Propeller Shaft: this specialised component links the engine block to the wheels, and is a heavy part of the car. Get a Carbon driveshaft reduce weight and increase accleration

CAR PARTS CONTINUED

▲ Tyres: get at least three sets of tyres before you even start improving essential aspects like acceleration and top speed. Go for Soft or Super Soft racing tyres for dry, tarmac surfaces, Real Life tyres are best wet or hard/soft mixed surfaces, and Dirt Racing tyres are essential if you're racing on a dirt track

▲ Turbo: Stage 1, 2 and 3 turbos are all pretty much the same, with little noticeable difference in performance. Only a Stage 4 turbo will make a considerable difference

▲ Suspension: the tighter the suspension, the better the handling on harder surfaces. Loosen up the suspension when driving on off-road circuits to maximise grip

▲ Two Way Limited Slip Differential: this baby is dead complex, but what it basically does is improve handling. However, you must be a skilled driver to get the most from this mod

▲ Engine balancing: the whole engine and crankshaft is taken apart, analysed and honed. As a result, engine friction is reduced so performance is slightly improved

● Want to know how to powerslide? Turn to page 49 then

Machine Test

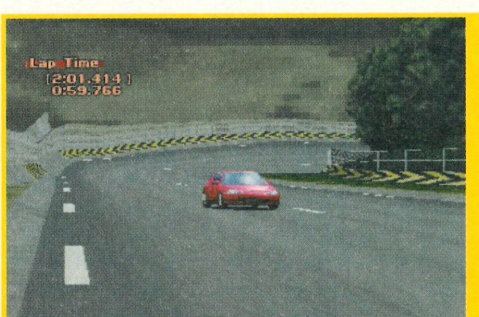

Go to the machine test before AND after you make alterations to your car, otherwise you won't notice the difference. You can switch between part in the Settings Menu, so you can directly compare the performance of each mod. To get the most out of any custom part you need to fine-tune the set-up rather than simply bolting the new bit on, otherwise you could be lowering the performance rather than increasing it.

▲ The 400-metre straight is designed to test the 0-60mph acceleration of your car. Monitor how fast you're going when you cross the finish line to see how quick off the mark your car is

▲ The 1000-metre straight is obviously longer, allowing you to test the performance of the higher gears in your car. Also use this test to see how efficiently and quickly your brakes are working

● The High Speed Ring is an oval course designed to test the handling and top speed of a car. See how fast you can go on this constant bend and how well you can control powersliding with the suspension and set-up you are currently using

Driving Tactics

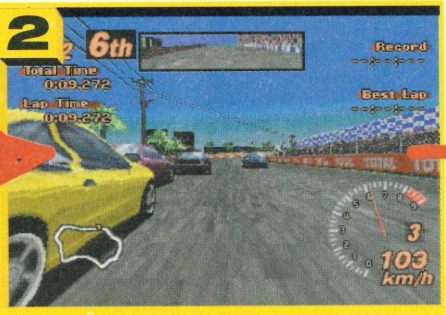

You've completed the Licences, you've splashed out on your first car and you've modified your motor so it's ready to roll. However, there are some simple tricks and tactics to further improve your chances of success before you've even gone head-to-head out on the tarmac. Check these out for the shortcut to first place.

AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION

It seems a simple choice, manual or automatic gears, but there's a lot of advantages and disadvantages to consider before making your choice.

▲ Gears change up or down as soon as the RPM reaches a certain point. Just press the accelerator or brake and everything's done for you. You can change gear ratios to improve acceleration or top speed

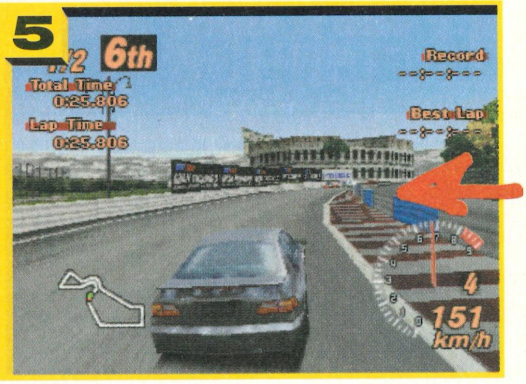

▲ Auto gears is ideal for beginners as it's one less thing to worry about in the middle of a race. You can focus on taking the corners correctly rather than having to worry about the rev counter

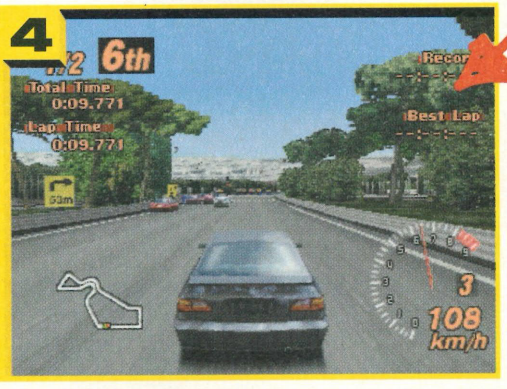

▲ If you're not clued up about when to change gears to maximise speed, it's all to easy to slip into the wrong gear at the wrong time, which will really slow your motor down

● As the gears automatically change when the rev counter reaches a certain point, you can't hold off for a split-second to squeeze a little more acceleration out of the engine. This means most manual drivers will be faster off the starting line

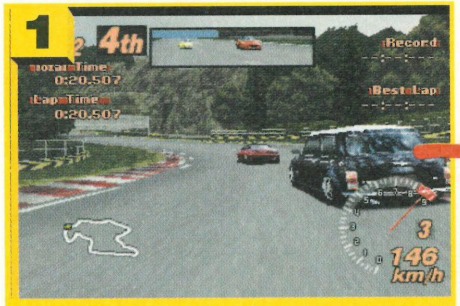

● If you change through the gears too early your car will 'pink', acclerating really slowly, or jerking forward as the gears struggle to power the wheels. Using automatic gears prevents this, but then you can't 'gear down' to reduce your speed

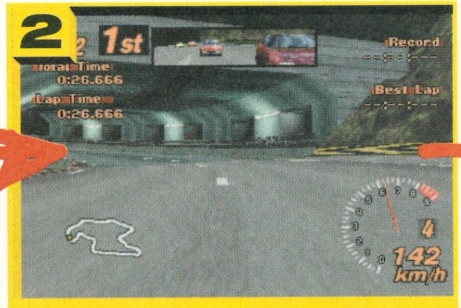

MANUAL TRANSMISSION

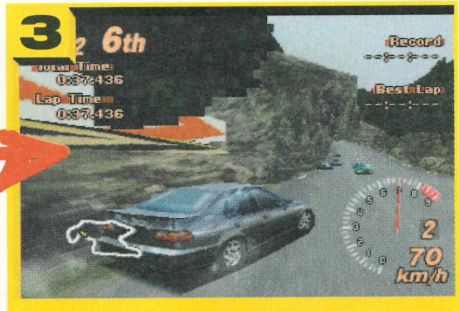

This really sorts the men from the boys, and with a bit of practice gets better performance from your motor. Don't bother if you've only just got your licences though.

▲ When using manual transmission, don't change up when the revs hit about 6,000. Instead hold off for a bit and let the needle go right to the end of the red before switching up a gear

▲ You won't harm the car if you're careful, and you'll notice a slight improvement in terms of acceleration. This is great for twisty-turny tracks, and also some of the special events

▲ Use manual gears also for 'kickdowns' – you purposefully change down a gear between 3 and 5,000 revs, to give you a faster rate of acceleration from a lower, more powerful gear

Cornering

Taking a corner skilfully in the licence test is one thing, but when there are other racers battling for first place it gets a whole lot harder. However, other motors can be used to your advantage if you're careful. Just gently nudge the car in front as you go round a corner. It'll help you to brake and corner, and if you're lucky, they'll spin out.

IN-RACE CORNERING

▲ The computer cars in Go Race mode are intelligent to a certain extent, but they're not that bright. A lot of the time it looks as if they purposefully swerve in front of your car, blocking your path...

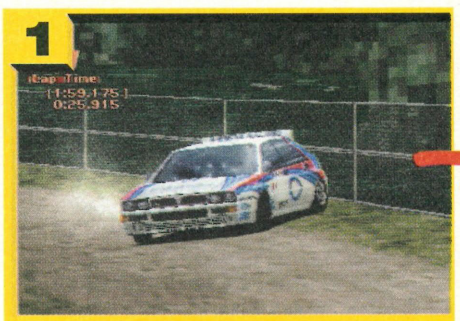

▲ But really they are only sticking to the race line. You can take advantage of this by staying on the inside of the track and then 'resting' your car on theirs as your enter the curve

▲ They'll do all the hard work, turning round the bend, while you ride around with ease. And because they're not that bright, they won't brake suddenly to avoid your cheating tactic

OFFROAD CORNERING

▲ Driving on the loose gravel surface of the offroad circuits is tough. Your car is twitchy and has little grip when cornering, so you've got to over-compensate when taking those difficult hairpins

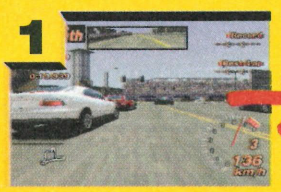

▲ At speeds above 60mph, the slightest tap of the brake while turning will send your motor spiralling out of control. Therefore you should brake BEFORE a bend, not during it

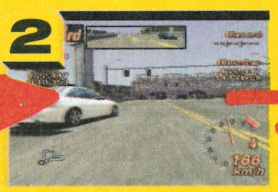

▲ It's possible to control difficult skids, by tapping the accelerator to prevent the back end from spinning out. You must control adjust the steering too, to make sure you steer straight out of the corner

Braking

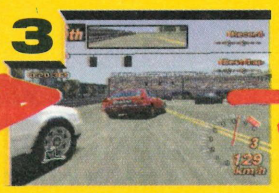

You can't race well without using your brakes, even on the easiest circuit. Using them in the right place, and as little as possible, and expect to rack up wicked lap times

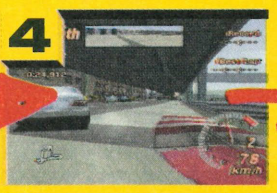

▲ Look at other cars' brake lights. When they flash on, ease off the accelerator

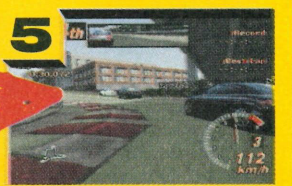

▲ A split second after you pass them, slam on your brakes and start the turn

▲ When exiting a corner the computer cars always take the outside lane

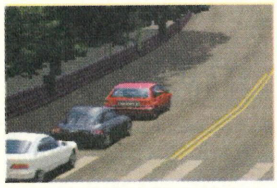

▲ There's no room for you then, so you'll have to carefully ease up the inside

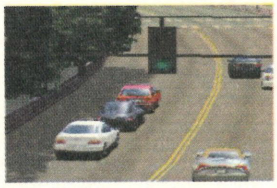

▲ Don't be scared to tap the brake a little more than usual to tighten your turning circle

Slipstreaming

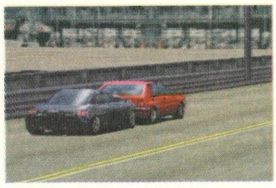

It's possible to overtake powerful racing cars, even if you're driving a clapped-out banger. You just need to know how ▲ Slipstreaming is the perfect way to overtake a more powerful car. Basically it works like this: you tuck yourself in behind the car in front, therefore reducing the drag on your motor

▲ Without the wind to slow your motor down, you're able to go slightly faster. However, the car in front is still battling against drag, so you've got the advantage, albeit only slight

▲ Bolting on extras like spoilers and wings also help, as they smooth the airflow over your car and create downforce, which 'pushes' your car towards the track to increase traction

▲ Overtaking when slipstreaming is all down to timing. Stay tucked behind the guy in front until you exit a corner and have a long straight in front. Power down on the accelerator...

▲ Then, at the last second, nip out and overtake. Get it right and your car will have a slight speed advantage, allowing you to glide past and get the best position on the next corner

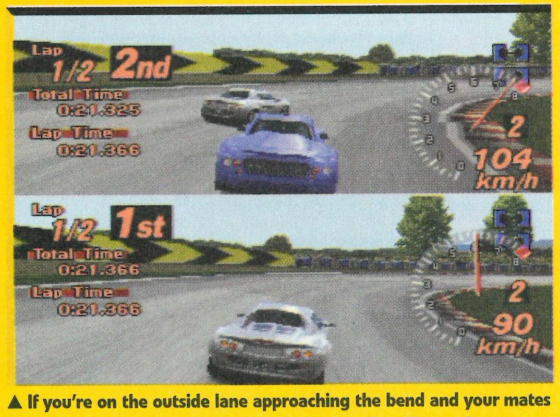

Two-player tactics

Race against a mate is a lot different from battling it out against a computer car. They can react to any tricks your try, and can also play just as dirty. But stay one step ahead by using these cool two-player tips and you should have no problems taking the chequered flag. Just make sure your mate doesn't read this lot as well!

RUINING THEIR BEND

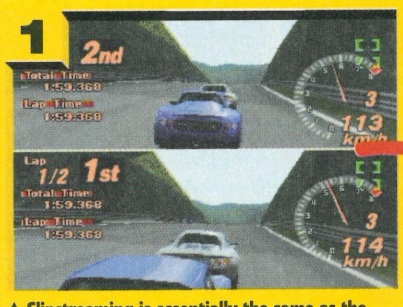

▲ When you're behind you're mate when approaching a bend, when they start their turn, gently nudge the inside back of their motor. They'll oversteer to counter your ram, and spin out!

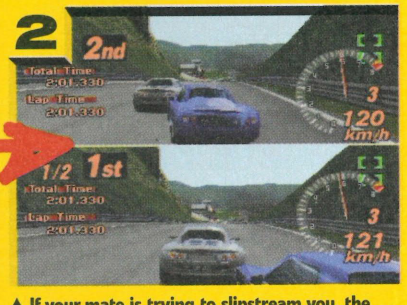

▲ If you're on the outside lane approaching the bend and your mates trying the trick above, double tap the brakes. They'll overshoot, allowing you to squeeze on the inside and take the lead

SLIPSTREAMING YOUR MATE

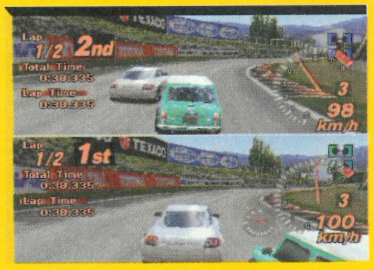

▲ Slipstreaming is essentially the same as the one player, but you've got to be more subtle. Only make your move if you think the straight ahead is long enough to overtake

▲ If your mate is trying to slipstream you, the easiest way to spoil his trick is by weaving. This will prevent him from easily sliding past, and will also reduce their speed boost from slipstreaming

BRAKE TO WIN

▲ Late braking is an essential way to make up precious seconds. If you're trailing your mate, wait until the last second to brake, then use your opponent's car to 'buffer' your speed and help you round the corner

ANTICIPATE

▲ Knowing the tracks is the best ammo you can have in two-player. It's important to stay on the racing line as much as possible, so keep thinking about what corner's coming up next, and you should stay ahead

Go Race!

You've passed all the licences so all the Go Race modes have been unlocked. However, to get the most out of the game you need to know where it's easiest to earn your money, and how to get the best cars fast. The big money is in the Special Event races and the dirt trials, but you need a lot of cash before you can seriously compete in these races.

▲ Stick to the National races first, as they are by far the easiest. Providing you've got a half-decent car you shouldn't have too many problems winning. Stick these out for the first 20 races and you'll earn wads of cash

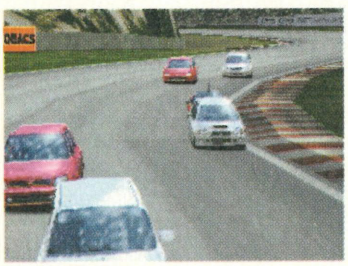

▲ Progress to the Special Events Mode and the competition gets much tougher. If you're coming to the end of a race and it looks like you're going to lose, pause and restart. You make more money in less races this way

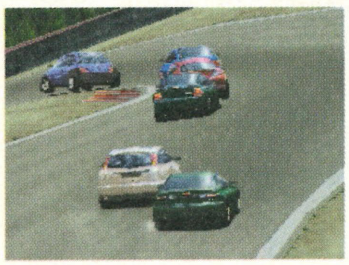

▲ The dirt trial rallies are the hardest. As you're racing against the clock rather than another car, you must always compare your laps times with the ghost car's. If you're trailing by too much, pause and restart

GT League

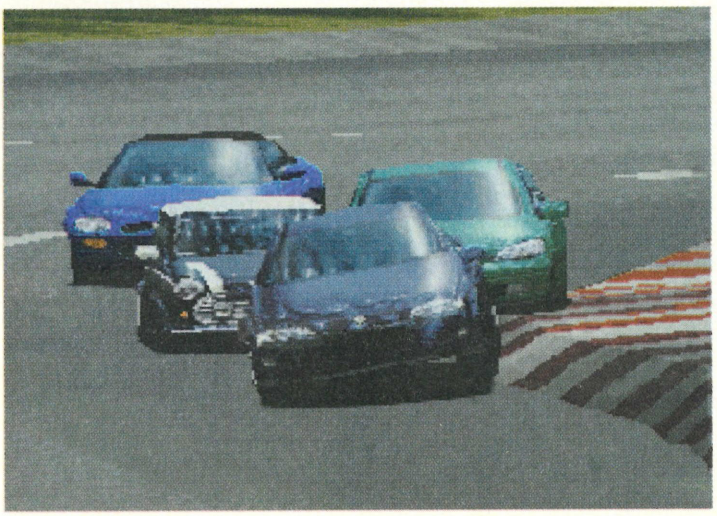

As soon as you have your first car, race through the Japan Nationals, or any other track you can win easily, as many times as you can bear. This is the best tip for gaining cash fast.

▲ Japan Nationals: Midfield Raceway. By far the easiest track, because there aren't any challenging bends and other cars aren't that fast. Race here and you get 400,000 credits for every win

▲ US Nationals: Laguna Seca. Again, quite an easy track. But you're up against classic American muscle cars which are pretty fast, especially the Shelby Series 1 in the final race

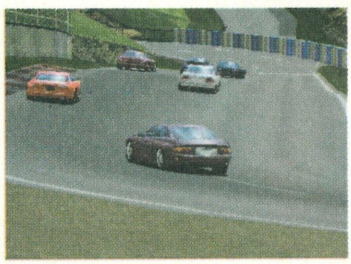

▲ UK Nationals: Trial Mountain. The hardest 'Nationals' race, because wicked corners appear out of nowhere. Thankfully the track is pretty wide, so there is room for correcting slight mistakes if you make them

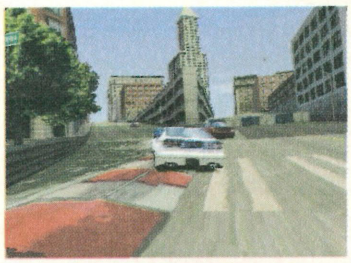

GT LEAGUE PRIZES

Win these GT League championships or tracks within them to get the prize cars. You can then also use the car in Arcade mode. If it reads NA after a track, the car you win depends on what car you drive, how many times you have won or lost, and your final time.

.	Laguna Seca .	Drag 180SX
World League	Laguna SecaT	Castrol Mugen NSX GT
.	Apricot Hill .	R390 LM '99
.	Rome Circuit .	Calsonic GT-R

▲ Euro League: Apricot Hill, Grand Valley and Rome Circuit. The Rome Circuit is the final and by far the most difficult track here. Be prepared for several 90 degree bends as well as the two hairpins

▲ Pacific League: Midfield Raceway, Seattle Circuit and Laguna Seca. Race well on the first track to get pole position on the next circuit, and you're set up nicely to win the final two races

● World League: Laguna Seca, Apricot Hill and Rome Circuit. It's the hardest, so unless you've got a beast of a car you won't have a chance of winning. Mistakes mean certain failure too, and one crash will see your chance of first place fly out the window

Special Event

Here's where the instant GT Mode rewards come in. Once you have a good car (possibly your third motor, your first luxury purchase), enter the instant prize races to get a new motor every time you win. And if you don't want it, sell it for megabucks and save up for something you do want to race in. It's easy when you know how

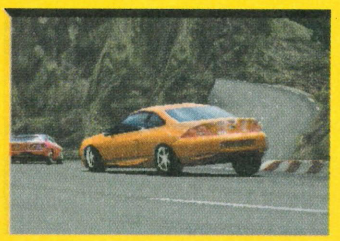

SPECIAL EVENT PRIZES

If it reads N/A after a track, the car you win depends on the car you used, how many times you have won and lost, and your final time. Aim your sights high to get the good cars, and if you don't want it, sell it on.

Dirt Event

One thing to remember. All the cars you get by winning in this mode depend on the car you're driving, and also your performance during the race. The dirt tracks are the hardest bit in the game and you will need to practice A LOT to get good at these runs. Since you're racing with the best of 'em you can't afford to make mistakes. If you do, you're out. Keep practicing your powerslides, turning early into the bend and accelerating hard to exit straight out of the corner, and you might just take first place.

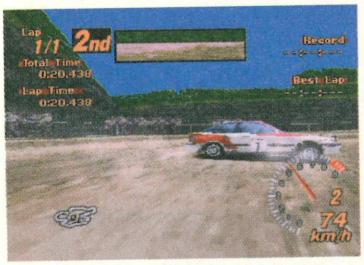

▲ Green Forest Roadway: against Vauxhall Astra Sri 2.0i 16V, Ford Escort Rally then Ford Focus Rally

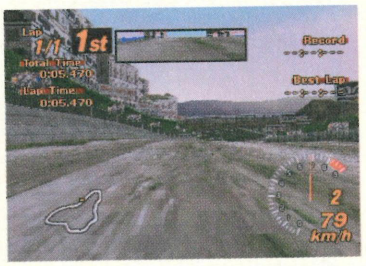

▲ Smokey Mountain South: against Lancia Storia, Lancia Delta Integrale then Lancia Delta. Watch out for the two 90° bends

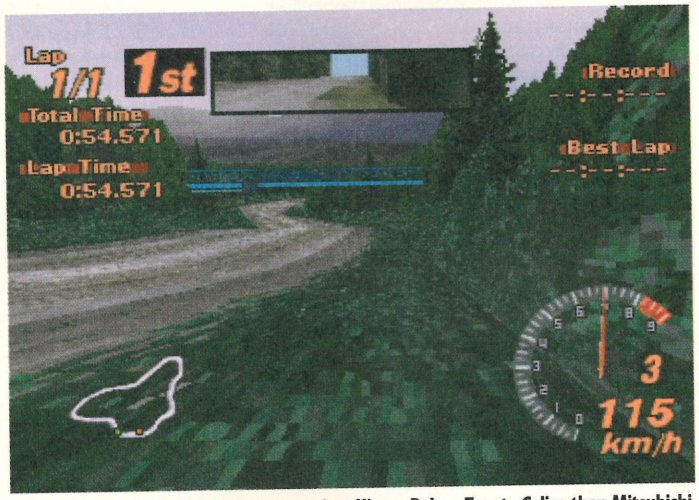

▲ Pikes Peak Hillclimb: against Toyota Altezza Rally, Cultus Pikes Peak then Escudo Pikes Peak. Use a fast car that can powerslide well and you'll be sorted

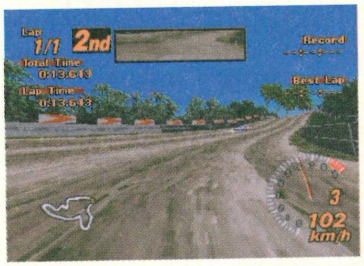

▲ Tahiti Maze: against Toyota Celica, Toyota Celica Rally then Mitsubishi Lancer Rally. You'll only win if your car is dead powerful

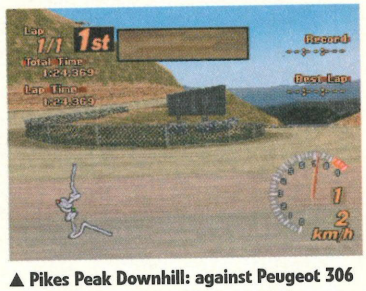

▲ Smokey Mountain North: against Citroen Saxo, Renault Megane Coupe then Subaru Impreza Rally. A wide track, so it's forgiving

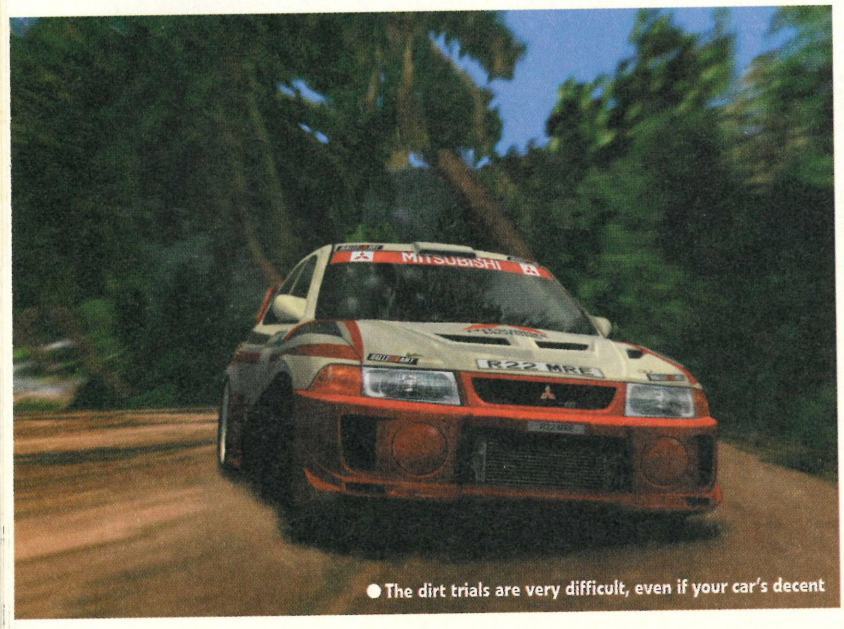

▲ Smokey Mountain North reverse: against Nissan Pulsar, Toyota Celica then Mitsubishi Lancer Rally. Wide tracks plagued by bumps, so it's easy to spin out

▲ Tahiti Dirt Route 3: against Nissan Pulsar, Lancia Stratos then Toyota Corolla Rally. Another easy track

▲ Pikes Peak Downhill: against Peugeot 306 S16, Lancia Stratos then Mitsubishi Lancer EVO IV GSR. A very tight, twisting course

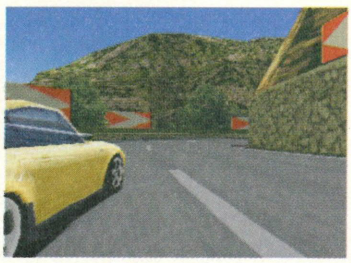

● The dirt trials are very difficult, even if your car's decent

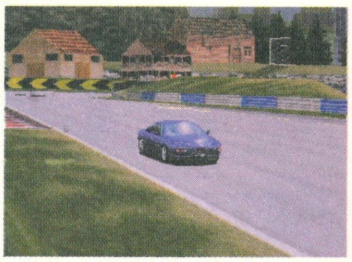

▲ Tahiti Dirt Route 3 Reverse: Against Familia, Subaru Impreza Rally then Vauxhall Tigra Ice Race. As this track is in reverse, the naughty 180° hairpin is just near the first checkpoint, so be very aware in the opening stages of racing

Endurance

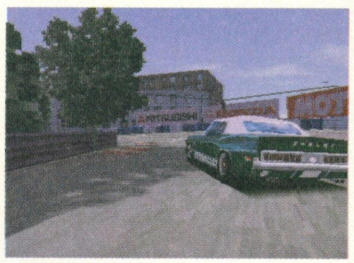

To even have a chance to get anywhere on the Endurance series of races, you'll need a very resilient car. You want to make as few pit stops as possible, and even then they should be at the last possible moment. Even though you are doing thirty plus laps, time is still against you. Also, go for a car with very responsive steering. When you're race-weary, you'll want a car that'll get you out of trouble as quickly as possible. Don't even think about entering these races unless you know the track concerned VERY well.

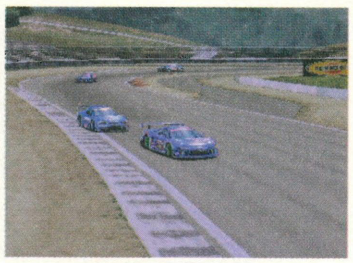

▲ Grand Valley 690 HP Class (60 Laps). A long race that pushes both you skills and your car to the limit. Keep a constant eye on your tyres – when they start to deteriorate, nip into the pits

▲ Apricot Hill 591HP Class (50 Laps). It's a really long race but the track isn't too difficult, so you won't have to struggle around hairpins for two hours. However, it's easy to spin out if you don't concentrate

▲ Seattle Circuit 591HP Class (40 Laps). You really have to stick with it for the whole 40 laps, otherwise you'll trash your car on some of the tight turns. Get ahead early and keep your position

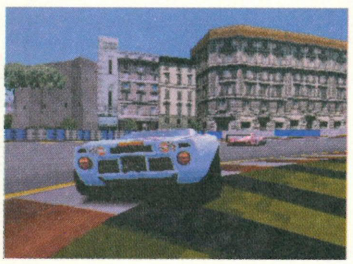

▲ Laguna Seca (Any HP, 90 Laps). It's very easy to spin out here. Because it's a really long race, you're best off using a car that's easy to handle and capable of producing consistently high speeds

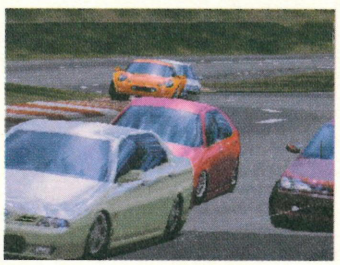

ENDURANCE EVENT PRIZES

To take part in and win a half hour plus race takes some guts and determination. But the rewards are worth it. Win races in this mode and have the chance to get your greasy mitts on the classic Ford Escort Rally as well as Toyota's superb Rally conversions

THAT'S NOT IT!

Gran Turismo 2 is no ordinary racing game. As there are so many cars you'll be building on your car collection for months to come, and it'll be ages before you win every race in all modes. And because there are so many hidden secrets, you have to keep improving lap times to unlock new cars and other extras.

▲ Have you gained first place on every different Cup, Championship and League in Go Race mode? There's loads of races to try out: it'll take weeks to win every single one, but keep trying and you'll get there in the end

▲ After doing that you'll want to tie up any loose ends in your dream car collection. Get all the GT, Sports, Rally, four-wheel drive and city runner cars you could ever possibly want, by earning top dollar and splashing out

Q+A

Got a PlayStation problem? We'll sort it!

DINO CRISIS

I am stuck on Dino Crisis. I'm in the room where you have to use the BI and BII cards and solve the puzzle. I need to enter a code but I have no idea what it is. Please help because I can't continue without the code. Can you help me?
I Pacey

plus Certainly can. The code for the door is STABILIZER.

CRASH BANDICOOT

I know it's an old game, but how do I get the two keys in the Lights Out and Boulder Dash levels? Please answer this as I'll be waiting anxiously!
Luke Rawlinson

plus Wait no longer Luke, your prayers have been answered. To find the Boulder Dash key and open up the Island 2 bonus level, simply find every box on the level.

To find the key on the Lights Out level you have to first locate the Yellow Gem. Activate it in the usual manner and the key to the strangely-named Fumbling In The Dark bonus level is yours. Sorted.

THE PHANTOM MENACE

I'm stuck on Star Wars: The Phantom Menace. After finishing the Swamp level, where I can find Jar Jar Binks after you see Boss Nass.
Mark Stafford

plus Follow these simple steps and you should have no problem locating the irritating Jar Jar. Once you've talked to Boss Nass, talk to Qui-Gon. When you leave the room go left into the next room. Take the energy balls you'll find

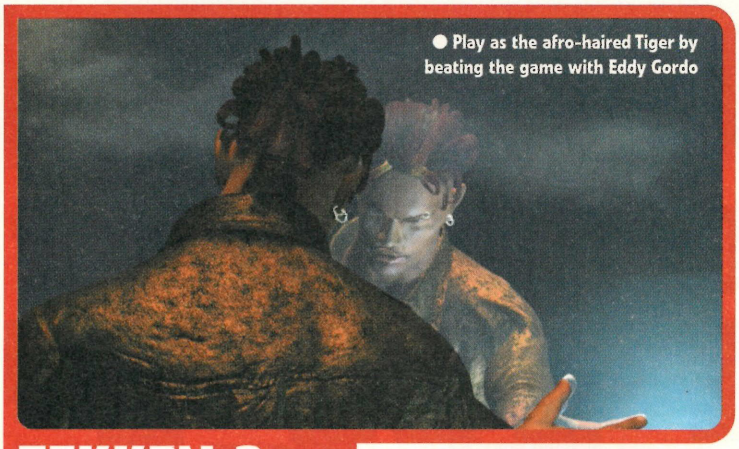

RESIDENT EVIL 2

● Kill the zombie in the yellow jacket to get the special key

In Resident Evil 2, where is the special key located (the one for the cupboard in the dark room)?
Scott Omen

plus To obtain the secret key and open the spooky drawer, you must make your way to the Police Station without picking up anything. You'll come across a zombie in a yellow jacket, before the steps near the bridge. He's really hard to kill so you might want to enter the Police Station first before you tackle him to stock up on ammo. When you do manage to waste him, you'll find the special key on his slimey undead carcass. Sweet.

● Play as the afro-haired Tiger by beating the game with Eddy Gordo

TEKKEN 3

My friend has heard you can turn Eddie into a bloke called Tiger in Tekken 3. If you know how to do it please tell me because we've got five quid on it.
James Horan

plus Give your friend a fiver because he's correct. If you want to play as Tiger you have to beat the game with 17 characters including Eddy Gordo. When you've done this, highlight Eddy Gordo on the character select screen, press ST and you'll be able to play as Tiger.

RAINBOW SIX

Are there any cheats for Rainbow Six?
Michael Lown

There certainly are Michael. To unlock all the doors on a mission, pause the game then hold down L1 and △ and press △ ✕ ○ □ and △. This should make icing the terrorists that bit easier.

FINAL FANTASY VII

Any tips on beating Saviour Sephiroth in FFVII? Keep up the good work!
Jake McMillan

plus We'll do our best to keep it up Jake. Saviour Sephiroth is a bit of a nightmare to beat, but if you stick to these rock-solid battle tactics you can't go far wrong.

Firstly you should cast Wall on your party, then DeBarrier to get rid of Sephiroth's Wall. Then you should use Mime to break down his resistance as well as summoning Bahomet and as many powerful spells as you can manage to cast.

When he starts rising in the air he's winding himself up to cast Super Nova, so make sure you're prepared to restore your party's health back to full using Megalixirs.

Make sure your HP is above 1500 and you should just be able to withstand Sephiroth's onslaught. Keep trying and don't let the twisted punk grind you down.

there. Leave the room, go straight past the aquarium and into the next room. To the right of the entrance you should find a small button.

Press it and the room will start to move. When it stops you'll be prevented from leaving the room by two guards. Qui-Gon will advise you not to kill the guards. Follow Qui-Gon's advice and take the peaceful way out, using the Force Push or one of the energy balls you picked up earlier.

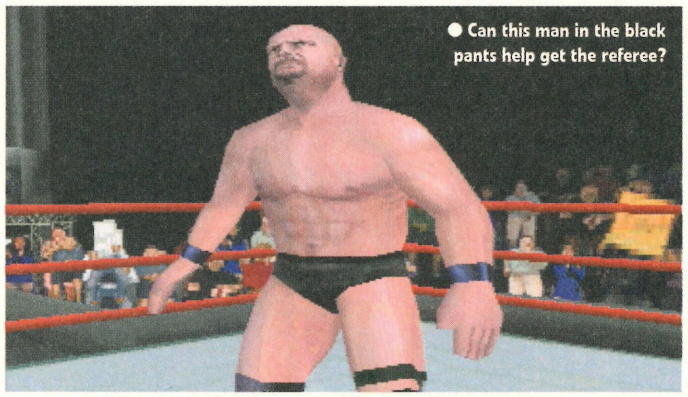

Once you've managed to pass the guards, advance down the long hallway ahead and then turn left. You should come to a room with a black carpet. At this point Jar Jar will call out to you for help. He's in the lift to the right which is inaccessible. If you try to approach the lift, it will leave.

You'll need a key pass to join Jar Jar, and can only get one by talking to the guard in the room. If you've been rushing around killing his fellow guards he won't be too happy with you, which is why Qui-Gon advised against using violence. Take the pass and get in the lift with Jar Jar if you're sure you really want to.

WWF ATTITUDE

Is there an easy way of getting all the secret stuff in WWF Attitude?
Rico Nes

plus Try these Action Replay codes out for size. They should sort you out with pretty much everything you need.

● Can this man in the black pants help get the referee?

ABE'S ODDYSEE

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

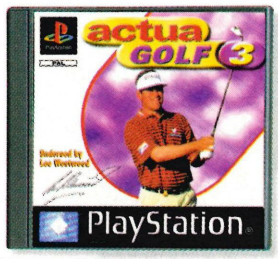

A great alien platform adventure game, with puzzles that get harder as you go through the game. Loads of laughs and character voices.

ABE'S EXODDUS

PRICE £29.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

Better puzzles than Oddysee and hours of laughs, especially when you get the poor old slaves to start slapping each other. Excellent stuff.

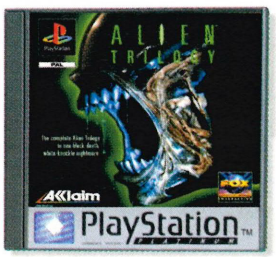

ACTUA GOLF 3

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-8 | 9

The best golf game and easily the most innovative when used with the Dual Shock pad. All the real golfers are here. A class multiplayer game too.

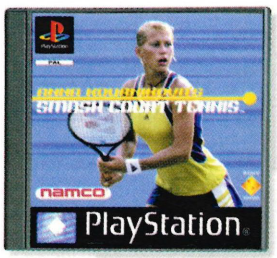

ALIEN TRILOGY

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 7

Doom-style first-person blast 'em up. Boasts big-ass weapons to collect and tons of acid-spitting aliens to blow to shreds. Graphics look a bit blocky.

ANNA KOURNIKOVA'S SMASH COURT TENNIS

PRICE £34.99 | PLAYERS 1-4 | 9

The greatest tennis game to hit PlayStation. It's playable in one-player, but it's best with three mates. Cute cartoony graphics are the icing on the cake.

APE ESCAPE

PRICE £34.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

Only compatible with the Dual Shock pad, but if you've got one and you're into cutesy platform games, this has got fun and challenge by the bucketload.

NEW

'HIT THE AFTERBURNERS. IT'S TIME TO DELIVER DEATH FROM ABOVE'

ACE COMBAT 3

£5 OFF

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Hands down the best flight sim around. Moves as quick as a tracer round, looks cooler than a stealth bomber, and delivers more destruction than a Tomahawk missile. There are plenty of missions, and the enemy pilots won't give you an easy ride which means you'll keep coming back. Controls take some getting used to though.

APOCALYPSE

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 8

Amazingly, Bruce Willis saves the world again in this wise-cracking, great-playing blaster. A bit on the samey side but loads more fun with the Dual Shock.

BLOODY ROAR 2

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Tekken 3 with teeth. Transform yourself into a slavering beast and smash mates to a bloody pulp. Rammed with great graphics and cool combos.

BRIAN LARA CRICKET

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

Get the hang of its tricky control system and you'll be playing the best cricket game on your PlayStation's. It's great in two-player, too.

BROKEN SWORD

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 8

A point-and-click adventure with rock-solid puzzles and neat graphics. Superb fun, but it can be frustrating as hell unless you're dead patient.

BROKEN SWORD 2

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

Compared to the original, this has touched-up graphics, a new plot and new environments. But it's still got the toughest puzzles in any 'Station point-and-click adventure.

BUST-A-GROOVE

PRICE £34.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Dancing game where you get to choose your dancer, hit the floor and pull off some slick moves in the ultimate boogie battle.

BUST-A-MOVE 2

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

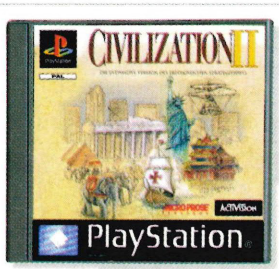

Aim your bubble gun to burst the coloured bubbles at the top of the screen. This is a gripping game and it's addictive as hell.

CHAMPIONSHIP MOTOCROSS

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Cane huge, snorting dirt blasters around the globe in the most realistic motorbike racer on the Playstation's, no question.

CIVILISATION 2

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 8

An awesome God game like Sim City. You start in the Stone Age and progress through the years building up your civilisation.

COLIN MCRAE RALLY

Mr Mcrae may have faded over the years but the rally game with his name on it is still the best. Looks cool, plays great.

COMMAND AND CONQUER: RED ALERT

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

Lovingly build up your army and then unleash it on your foe in a frenzy of real-time strategy. Great two-player link-up lifts it above the competition.

COLONY WARS VENGEANCE

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

A Colony Wars sequel with loads of new missions, set both in deep space and on planet surfaces. Best when you play with a Dual Shock.

CRASH BANDICOOT 2

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

A damn good platformer that looks very cool. Boasts loads of variety and tons of secrets and hidden extras. Addictive platform action for only £20.

CRASH BANDICOOT 3

PRICE £34.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

Better graphics and greater variation than Crash 2, this looks nice and is great fun to play. Shame it's so short – you'll finish it in a day or two.

CRASH TEAM RACING

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 4 | 8

Classic kart action from Crash and the gang. Blast your mates off the tracks as up to four players skid, jump and powerslide round the courses.

COOL BOARDERS 2

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

An easy-to-use trick system makes this the snowboard game to own. In minutes it'll have you pulling off Backside Mistys to order. OK, the graphics could be a lot smoother but ignore that and you'll have no complaints. Two player mode's smart, too.

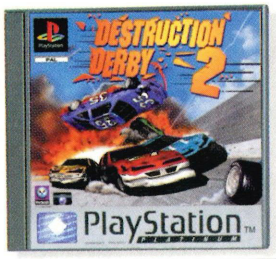

'LEARN THE WAYS OF THE INDY NOSEBONE AND HIT THE SLOPES'

DEAD OR ALIVE

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

A very fast beat 'em up with sharp graphics, gut-punching action and sweet combos. Better still, all the girls have enormous hooters. This game's seductive.

DESTRUCTION DERBY 2

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

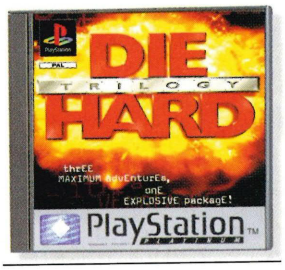

The crash 'n' dash driving game gets a graphics refit. It's a great laugh mashing your motor in one-player, and the two-player's fun as well.

DEVIL DICE

PRICE £34.99 | PLAYERS 1-4 | 8

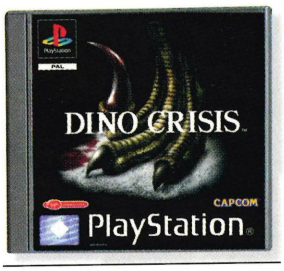

An addictive though brain-taxing puzzler where you, as a demon, have to turn dice to get them to match. The four-player option is a blinder, too.

DIE HARD TRILOGY

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

Bruce Willis is back for action in this great 'three games for the price of one' deal. The second bit is best played with a lightgun, but not the G-Con45.

DINO CRISIS

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

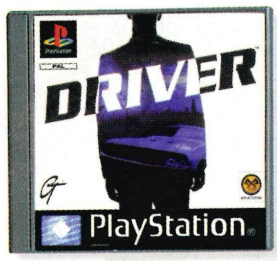

Resident Evil meets Jurassic Park in this puzzle-packed suspense adventure. Visually it rocks, but its the T-Rex battles that will really make your sphincter loosen.

DOOM

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

The game that made you love shotguns, this is the original shoot 'em up in blood-streaked corridors. This really excels with a two-player link-up.

DRIVER

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

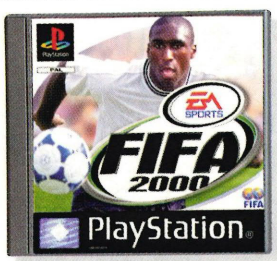

A stunning Starsky and Hutch era driving game. Imagine Grand Theft Auto crossed with Gran Turismo, with funky 70s music. Awesome.

DUKE NUKEM: TIME TO KILL

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Tomb Raider meets Doom in a violent corridor shoot 'em up boasting fast action and tons of bad guys to target practice on.

FIFA 2000

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-8 | 7

Latest version with the teams, leagues and players from the current footy season. It's fast but far too easy to score.

FINAL DOOM

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Rock-hard sequel to the classic first-person blaster, with 30 new levels. Great on link-up but strictly for the hardcore.

FINAL FANTASY 7

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

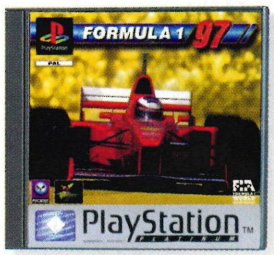

A huge game with a cool plot, great characters and battles. Put aside six months to play it. At £20, it's serious value for money.

FINAL FANTASY 8

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

Sprawling role-playing blockbuster that plods at first but give it time and you'll be hooked for months.

FORMULA 1 97

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

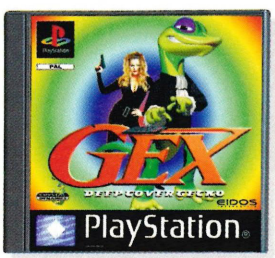

All the genuine drivers, teams and motors from the '97 season. Hot graphics and slick play are a plus. Big let down is the clunky two player mode, though.

G- POLICE 2

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 8

Pilot kick-ass vehicles in this futuristic cop game. Controls take some getting used to, but stick with it and much crim fragging action will ensue.

GEX 3D

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 8

Great graphics set this apart from most other platformers. The levels are varied, but it takes time to get used to the controls and the camera isn't perfect.

GRAND THEFT AUTO 2

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 8

Rammed with better looks, crime and immorality, GTA2 supersedes the original with a vengeance. Marred only by repetitive missions.

GRAN TURISMO 2

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 10

You'll probably never see a better racing game on your PlayStation's. The range of cars to choose from would make Jeremy Clarkson's mind boggle.

'TOTAL RACING HITS THE PLAYSTATION'

Wheels spin, cars get splattered with mud, and light pings off your bonnet as you whip your motor into a frenzy of on and off road racing.

GRAN TURISMO

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

The daddy of all driving games. It's hyper-real, it's brimming with motors, has a cool rock soundtrack and is absolutely rammed with tuning options.

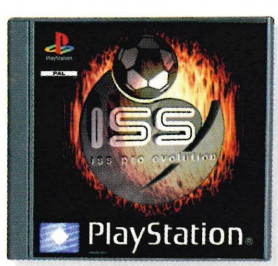

INTERNATIONAL TRACK & FIELD 2

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-4 | 9

Classic no-brainer finger tapping madness. The formula may not have changed since Daley Thompson got his gold medal but it still delivers some of the best multiplayer laughs around. Looks great, plenty of events, but will give you blisters and sucks in one player.

'GOLD MEDAL CLASS ATHLETICS BUTTON BASH-A-THON'

ISS PRO EVOLUTION

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-4 | 9

This is simply the best football game ever released. Loads of tricks, easy to pick-up-and-play, and super slick movement. Silly player names are the only fault.

KULA WORLD

PRICE £34.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Bizarre puzzle game where you guide a beachball round loads of weird psychedelic levels. Find the key, then escape. Numbingly simple but addictive.

LEGACY OF KAIN: SOUL REAVER

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

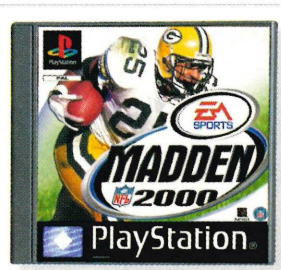

Skewer zombies and slay vampires in this monster Tomb Raider-style adventure that looks superb and plays brilliantly.

LMA MANAGER

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

MADDEN NFL 2000

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-4 | 8

Smart American football game that's simple to pick up and play, but boasts enough moves to keep you coming back.

MEDIEVIL

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 8

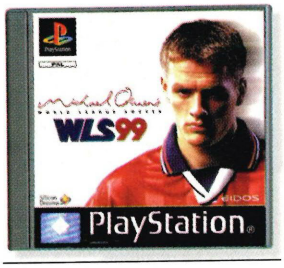

Nightmare Before Xmas-style cartoon adventure stacked with neat puzzles, camp characters, and cranium-fizzing graphics. A surprising hit and great at £20.

METAL GEAR SOLID

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

Glacially cool James Bond-style spy adventure with incredible graphics, a movie plot and spectacular action sequences. It's a shame it's over far too soon.

MICHAEL OWEN'S WLS 99

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Though a bit of a bitch to master, WLS does have probably the most moves to pull off in any 'Station footy game. Boasts all the proper league teams and players too.

MICRO MACHINES V3

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1-4 | 9

Race mini motors across table tops in one of the most addictive games around. Get three mates and a multitap, and you're guaranteed a top night in.

Updated version of last year's dance music game. There are 3,500 samples to mix into your own tunes, and you can even sample from your own CDs.

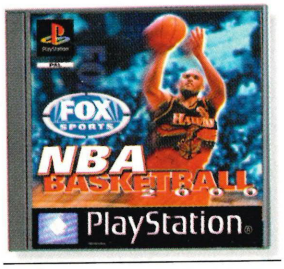

MOTORHEAD

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Ridge Racer-style handling and mind-blowing speeds make this sci fi sports-car racer a blast to play. The graphics are kind of basic, but you won't even notice 'cos you'll be so working so hard to keep your hulking metal monster from skidding off at an enormous speed . An absolute beezer in two-player, too.

'CANE HUGE SCI FI SPORTSCARS AT MIND-MELTING SPEED'

NEED FOR SPEED 3

TOMB RAIDER 2

PRICE £19.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

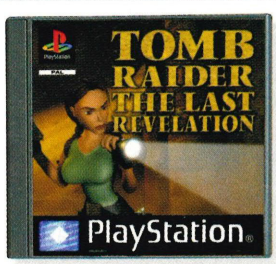

Rock-solid sequel which favours non-stop gunfights over difficult puzzles. More frustrating than 1 but takes longer to finish.

TOMB RAIDER 3

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 9

The worst Tomb Raider, but a class act still. More variety over 1 and 2 but little else. Still kicks other games into touch though.

TOMB RAIDER 4

PRICE £39.99 | PLAYERS 1 | 10

Welcome return to the brain-teasing puzzle-filled Egyptian tombs of the original classic. Top graphics give a tense atmos.

THERE'S ONLY ROOM FOR ABSOLUTE TOP-DOLLAR TITLES IN THE ESSENTIAL 101. AND WHEN TOP NEW GAMES COME ALONG, THAT MEANS OLD GAMES GO BYE-BYE.

'IT'S NON-STOP ROAD RAGE AS CARS WITH GUNS FIGHT ON THE FREEWAY'

TWISTED METAL WORLD TOUR

● PRICE £19.99 | ● PLAYERS 1-2 | 7

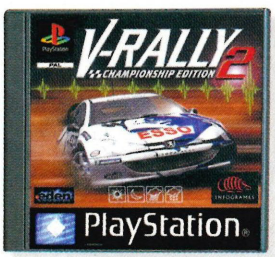

Climb into tooled motors and charge around battle arenas blasting other cars into charred smoking hulks. It looks a bit old these days, but the gameplay's fresh, and the two-player's cool.

UM JAMMER LAMMY

● PRICE £39.99 | ● PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Parrapa sequel where the raps of the original are replaced by guitar licks. The tap-in-time-with-music bit stays the same, but now there's a neat two-player jam.

V-RALLY 2

● PRICE £39.99 | ● PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

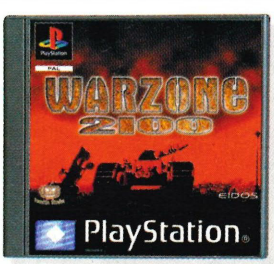

A dirt-drenched, mud-spattered off-road racer with loads of cars, stacks of tracks and solid gameplay. A top night in with three mates and a multitap.

VIGILANTE 8

● PRICE £39.99 | ● PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

Cars with huge guns fight it out in bizarre battle arenas. Blast away in the best driving shooter around that offers many laughs in two player deathmatch mode.

WARZONE 2100

● PRICE £39.99 | ● PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

A real-time war strategy game with lots of levels and plenty of challenge. Build up your army by mining resources and developing tanks, then launch an all-out attack.

WIP3OUT

● PRICE £39.99 | ● PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

Very similar to its predecessor, although the tracks are better and it's slightly faster than before. The graphics are great, but its cool soundtrack is wicked.

WIPEOUT 2097

● PRICE £19.99 | ● PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

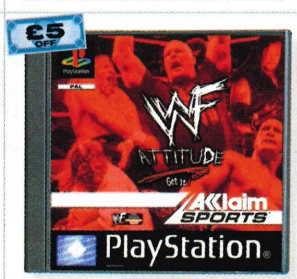

Super-fast anti-gravity racer that streaks through sci-fi cities to a kick-ass soundtrack. Link-up mode makes it a top late-nighter.

WORMS

● PRICE £19.99 | ● PLAYERS 1-2 | 8

Get four of you together and unleash some great weapons and even better laughs. But pointless in one-player mode.

WWF ATTITUDE

● PRICE £39.99 | ● PLAYERS 1-2 | 9

The best wrestling game you can own. All the wrestlers and moves you need to launch the perfect grapple-fest.

ACE COMBAT 2

Like when the jet engine made the Spitfire obsolete, Ace Combat 3 has dropped a big bomb on the shelf life of its baby brother. This once state-of-the-art PlayStation sim now looks old and tired next to the supersonic looks and gameplay of Ace Combat 3. Adios!

▲ Ace Combat 2: showing its age

INTERNATIONAL TRACK & FIELD

Again we have a one-time classic kicked into touch by its successor. Track & Field 2 is better in just about every department. The graphics are loads lusher, there are loads more events, and there's more variety in the challenges. T&F2 is a bit more pricey, but it's pure quality.

▲ Track and Field 1: needs walking stick

PANDEMONIUM

When it first came out, Pandemonium was a really entertaining semi-3D platformer full of kaleidoscopic colours and nifty spells. Now, sadly, time has taken it's toll: the graphics look a bit lumpy, it's a bit basic, and the lack of choice in which direction to take just annoys. Out!

▲ Pandemonium 1: old and tired

RAILROAD TYCOON 2

Whoever came up with this one deserves to be held upside down by their heels and shaken till their brain trickles out their ears and some more useful organ flops down out of their torso to take its place. This is dull, plug-ugly and mind-bogglingly boring.

DISCWORLD NOIR

If you've ever had any doubt that Terry Pratchett deserves to be shot like a dog, a quick play at Discworld Noir should leave no doubt in your mind. Based on Pratchett's unfunny Discworld books, Noir is one of the most tedious games ever. No lie.

ARMY MEN AIR ATTACK

Nuclear Strike-style chopper shoot'em up starring those little green plastic soldiers you had when you were a kid. It looks basic and plays dull, and everybody has these over-cheerful Yank voices that set your teeth on edge. Gaaaaah.

FROM SOMEONE WHO LIVES IN KENT.

DEAR PLAYSTATION PLUS,

FOOTBALL GAMES, THEY PISS ME OFF! WHY? BECAUSE THEY ALL LOOK THE SAME! "OHH YEAH THEY MIGHT HAVE A DIFFERENT NAME BUT APART FROM THAT I THINK THEY ARE ALOAD OF SHIT!!"

I'v ONLY FOUND FOOTBALL GAMES ENJOYABLE WHEN YOUR PISSED OR YOUR WITH ALOAD OF MATES WHO ARE ALSO SHIT FACED.

THEY ARE A RIP OFF DON'T BUY THEM, UNLESS YOUR A MINDLESS GEEK WITH NO IMAGINATION AND HAS A SMALL DICK!

YOU COULDN'T SAY ISS PRO 98 IS BETTER THAN META GEAR SOLID OR RESIDENT EVIL 2. UNLESS YOU HAVE A SMALL MIND!

ANYWAY I THINK YOUR MAG IS TOTALLY COOL, DON'T [redacted] IT UP!

Dear Playstation Plus,

This is to the dickhead from Leeds who wrote in to Essential 101 in the January issue slagging off American sports fans. I am a fan of British Ice Hockey and am a proud owner of NHL 2000, and Madden 2000. WHAT THE FECK ARE YOU ON???? If you stopped doing Jar Jar Binks and sitting on your fat arse eating pies you might like them. Why were you so disappointed anyway was it coz Iznogoud had sold out at shits R us? Or was it just because you're a [redacted]

Hello,

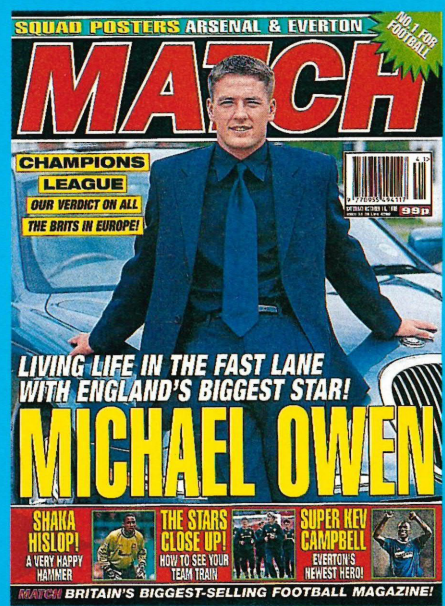

I read a few PlayStation mags and a lot of people keep going on about whether games should be scored out of ten or given a percentage. Your Essential 101 just makes so much more sense than a huge list of precentages because I know that if a game is in there, it must be good enough to buy. What the hell's the difference between 91% and 92% anyway? I just want to know if a game's good or shite.
So stick this in your mag

Cheers.

THINKING OF GETTING AN IMPORTED JAP PLAYSTATION 2? HERE'S HOW TO AVOID THE PITFALLS AND GET YOUR PS2 UP AND RUNNING, WITHOUT BREAKING THE BANK

The Japanese launch of PlayStation 2 is the most important event in videogame history. But grabbing yourself a slice of the action isn't without its risks.

You could end up forking out a small country's defence budget for your console, or end up with a worthless hunk of smoking, charred plastic sitting in your front room.

You've got to be careful when you choose the place to buy your PS2 from, and be willing to wait a couple of days for the price to drop a bit. Then you've got to make sure to follow a series of sensible steps as you set up your PS2.

Japanese consoles take a different power supply, and if you plug them into the mains without a converter they blow up. And without the right wires for your TV, it's a no-go

Buying an import PS2 is a minefield, but if you follow our guide to what kit to get and how to use it, you're in business.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

CHECK YOUR TELEVISION

To run Japanese games, you need an NTSC compatible TV. NTSC is the format Japanese and US tellies work on. European TVs use PAL format, but some TVs can deal with both NTSC and PAL signals. The only way you can check this is to write down the model number of your TV and call the manufacturer to ask them. If your TV isn't NTSC compatible, then your PS2 ain't gonna work. If your TV is Sony and relatively new, it should be OK.

GET THE RIGHT LEADS

You need to make sure you've got the right leads to hook it up to your lovely new PS2. There are two cables that will work: you can use the RGB cable from your current PlayStation (pictured right), or you can use an S-Video cable. Which one you need depends on your TV.

If your TV's got a SCART socket, then you can use the RGB cable. A lot of more modern TVs have got the S-Video connection instead. If it's got both, choose RGB for the best picture. But if your telly's only got an old-style round RF socket, you need to buy a newer one. If you've got a new Sony TV and an RGB cable from your PlayStation 1, connecting it up should be no problem.

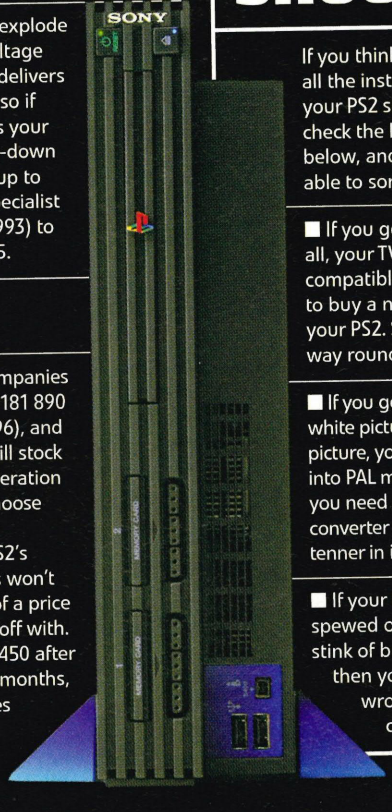

TIME TO POWER UP

You need to make sure you don't explode your PS2 by putting the wrong voltage through its circuits. UK electricity delivers too much power for Japanese kit, so if you plug it straight into the mains your PS2 will blow up. You need a step-down converter that delivers 100v and up to 30W. Get onto a local electrical specialist (such as Ryness – Tel. 0207 278 8993) to get one. It should cost around £15.

BUY THE PS2

There are umpteen mail order companies such as Euro-Asia technologies (0181 890 3900) and Cybernet (0181 789 7196), and also import shops, all of whom will stock PS2s on the day. The main consideration here is price. Shop around and choose your moment well.

For the first week or so after PS2's Japanese launch, import consoles won't be cheap. Importers are talking of a price between £500 and £600 to start off with. This should level out at around £450 after a few weeks. After around three months, expect to pay £250. Import games should range from £40 to £60.

WAIT, AND WATCH THE PRICE PLUMMET

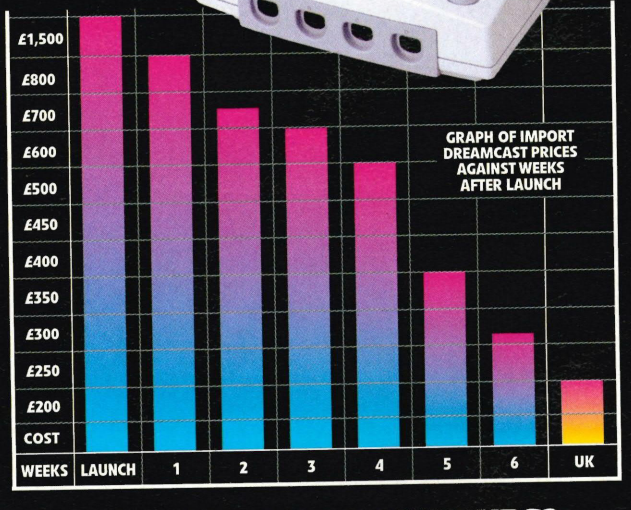

Another factor to take into account is timing.You might buy an import PS2 one day, only for the price to drop by £100 the next. It's impossible to predict what'll happen but check out what happened to the price of import Dreamcasts in the weeks after launch to give yourself an idea of just how fast the price can drop.

TROUBLE SHOOTING

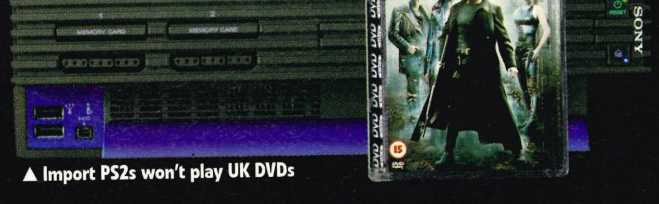

If you think you've followed all the instructions, but your PS2 still doesn't work, check the list of problems below, and you should be able to sort it.

- If you get no picture at all, your TV isn't NTSC compatible and you need to buy a new one to use your PS2. Sadly, there's no way round this.
- If you get a black and white picture or a rolling picture, your TV is 'locked' into PAL mode. Not to worry, you need a PAL/NTSC converter you can get for a tenner in import shops.
- If your PS2 crackled, then spewed out sparks and a stink of burning plastic, then you've chosen the wrong power converter. Oops.

CAN I USE UK GAMES AND DVDS?

The bad news is that an import PS2 won't be able to play UK DVDs. One day, someone is likely to make a chip to allowing it to play UK DVDs, but it could be years away and quite costly. The really bad news is your imported PS2 will probably never be able to play UK games. But import games usually come out before UK ones, so it's not a problem, really.

PLAYSTATION HE

ON SATURDAY MARCH 4TH, ONE MILLION PLAYSTATION 2s WILL HIT JAPANESE SHOPS. THIS IS JUST THE BEGINNING

One week from when this magazine hits the newsstands, PlayStation2 will be born. It's a console that packs the graphics punch of a £2,000 PC into a sleek, black £300 box that sits under your telly. It's a DVD. It's a high-end stereo. It will even be able to call you on your mobile to give you updates on the online games you're playing.

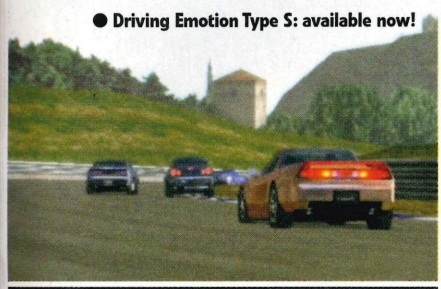

This machine is capable of creating entire 3D worlds without even breaking sweat. It's can show you storms where every drop of water moves correctly. It can create enormous battles where you see every sword-thrust and hear every scream of agony. Graphically, it's as powerful as any home computer available on Earth.

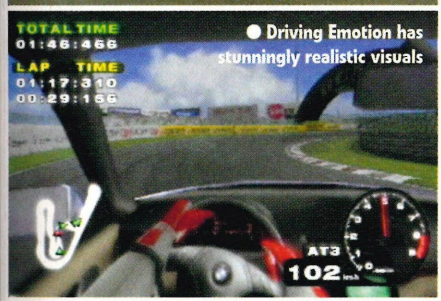

The games you see here look amazing, but they only hint at the awesome power of this machine. PlayStation games from five years ago look old and dated now. And that's what the launch games are, just tasters, just the tip of the iceberg.

By the British launch date, shakily set at September 24, you'll be playing games that will blow these ones out of the water in terms of visuals and gameplay. We can't wait. We bet you can't either.

UP

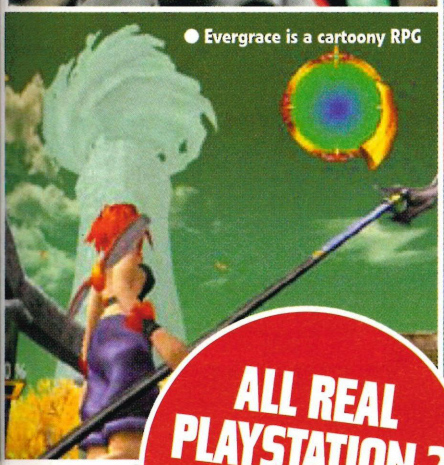

● The Bouncer's a high-adrenalin adventure with a dark storyline and loads of kung fu

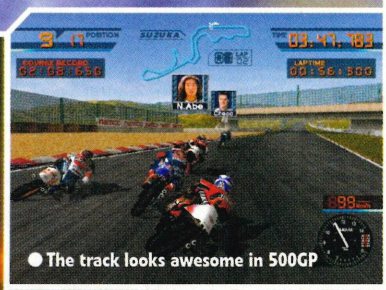

● Driving Emotion Type S: available now!

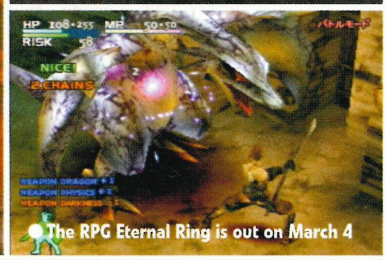

● Driving Emotion has stunningly realistic visuals

● Robot battle game Armoured Core 2 will feature a cool four-player mode

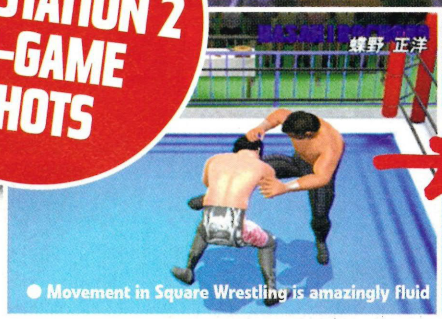

● Evergrace is a cartoony RPG

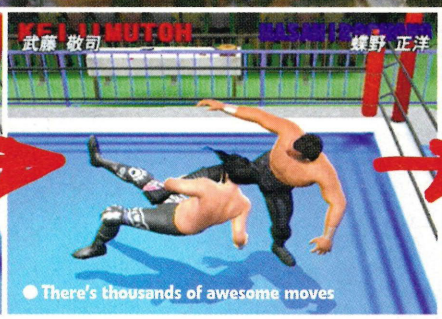

● The track looks awesome in 500GP

● The RPG Eternal Ring is out on March 4

ALL REAL PLAYSTATION 2 IN-GAME SHOTS

2:

● Movement in Square Wrestling is amazingly fluid

● There's thousands of awesome moves

● The characters look really smooth and solid

RE AT LAST!

'MR SMITH, IT'S YOUR PLAYSTATION ON LINE ONE'

How PlayStation2 will interact with your mobile, your camera and your MiniDisc player

Within the next couple of years, you're going to be able to interact with your PlayStation 2 using a mobile phone. Technology' s already in development to allow you to receive updates about on-going games by phone.

You'll be walking round the grocers when your PS2 calls to tell you your base is being overrun in your fave strategy game. You'll be able to call back and tell your PS2 to make your soldiers regroup or counter-attack. You'll look a bit of a twat, mind, but it's still amazing.

The PS2 will also allow you to copy downloaded MP3 files onto an MP3 player or a Sony Memory Stick, which is a tiny, pen-sized device capable of storing and replaying masses of data. You'll even be able to load up images off your digital camera into your PS2, or use it to edit your holiday vid. By 2001 there'll be an add-on allowing you to 'tape' TV programmes onto recordable CDs using your PS2.

There's more. Immersion Ltd is developing peripherals that allow you to 'feel' games: they're working on a pad that changes texture according to what kind of powdery snow you go over in your favourite snowboarding game. Weird.

● The flame effects are absolutely spot-on

ETERNAL RING

This massive, DVD-based RPG should launch in late March. It's got awesome spell effects, a huge cast of weird characters, an epic plot and a game world bigger than any you've ever explored.

● The world of Eternal Ring is massive. DVD discs will allow games to be loads bigger

● Primal Image: raunchy

VIRTUAL LADIES

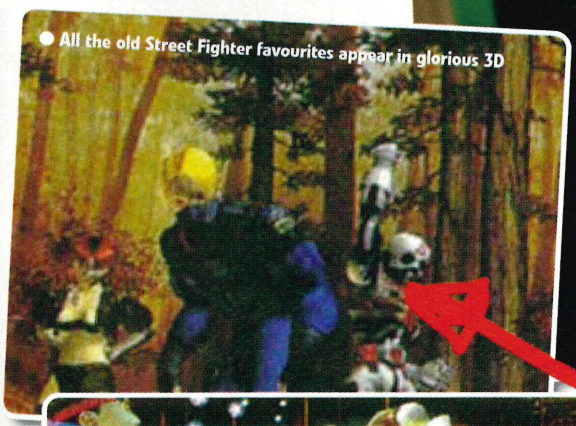

Primal Image is a weird 'lady simulator' where you take control of various Oriental hotties and even create your own sexy ladies. Expect to see more raunchy PS2 games as time goes on: this is the first console that has the graphics power to really get the ol' Pink Panther stirring. We'll give you all the X-rated news as it comes in.

FINAL FANTASIES

Final Fantasy 11 is going to be an entire online world, with thousands of people playing using linked PS2s. Each player can choose who he is, and decide his own destiny. Together, the players will create their own world. How awesome is that?

● Choose your destiny in a free-roaming online fantasy world

● All the old Street Fighter favourites appear in glorious 3D

STREET FIGHTER EX PLUS 3

Street Fighter Ex Plus 3 looks absolutely stunning, and boasts an awesome new four-player mode. A four-way multitap's going to be available with PS2 at launch, and there are loads of cool multiplayer titles in development.

● Sleek graphics and blistering moves make SFEX3 a winner

DEATHMATCH ACTION!

Unreal Tournament and Quake 3 are already wowing PC owners with their ultra-violent multiplayer deathmatch action. But come autumn next year, you won't need a £2,000 PC to join in the fun: both UT and Quake 3 are already in development for PS2.

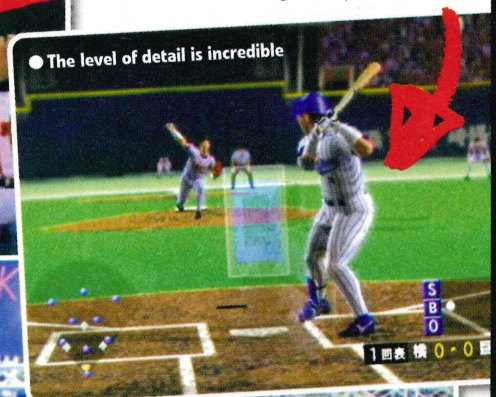

● Quake 3: coming your way soon

● The player animations are stunning

SQUARE BASEBALL

We know baseball isn't the most inspiring game on earth, but the animation in this is the shape of things to come. On the move, they honestly look like real people. With versions of ISS and FIFA in the pipeline for PS2, the future looks bright for sports fans.

● The level of detail is incredible

WE'LL BE THERE!

In next month's magazine, we'll have in-depth coverage of all the launch games. We'll have a PS2 in the office, and we'll give you the lowdown on what it can do. We'll also give you on-the-spot reports of what new games and add-ons were on show at the PlayStation Festival in Tokyo on February 20th. Don't miss out.

LAUNCH GAMES

There's some pretty weird stuff in among the launch titles. Billiards? TWO mahjong games? And Gran Turismo 2000, Tekken Tag Tournament and Jikkyou World Soccer (ISS with bells on) have all slipped, so they'll launch later in April instead. Dang. Still, Ridge Racer 5 looks awesome, as does Samurai strategy effort Kessen. Here's the line-up that'll hit the shops on the same day as PS2 launches.

■ KESSEN
Sword-wielding samurai on horseback fight huge real-time battles in medieval Japan

■ A-TRAIN 6
Weird train sim where you pilot choo-choos round a virtual Tokyo

■ KAKINOKI SHOOGI
Japanese chess, basically. Why is this being released?

■ KANEKYUU BILLIARD MASTER 0
Billiards. It looks great, but it's still just plain old billiards

■ AMERICAN PINBALL
Does exactly what it says on the tin. Looks sharp

■ RIDGE RACER V
Absolutely blinding to look at, and dripping with the trademark Ridge Racer gameplay

■ ETERNAL RING
Huge epic, role-player with lush visuals and gripping plot

■ STEPPING STAGE
Hyperactive dancing game featuring the music of Britney Spears

■ MAHJONG TAIKAI
Mahjong action. It's a big gambling game over in Japan, and it's well popular

■ DRUM MANIA
Play the drums in time to berserk Japanese pop. Mania indeed

■ FANTAVISION
A weird light show-type affair. Eye candy, but not much else

■ DRIVING EMOTION TYPE-S
Super-sharp driving sim with a huge number of cars to try out

■ STREET MAHJONG TRANCE
We don't know why it's got Trance in the title: it's just more mahjong

HANDS OFF OUR LARA

THAT NIKE AD: HERE'S ALL PLUS HOW TO WIN PRIZES

Thanks to the electronic miracle of freeze-frame video, we bring you a millisecond-by-millisecond breakdown of that moment from the new Nike ad, plus loads of other red-hot stills. We particularly rate the bit where the raging dino bites down on Pete Sampras's head.

Once you've finished gawping at the geezer copping a crafty feel of Lara's bangers, here's how to win yourself the new Nike trainers he wears, along with tons of other cool prizes.

If you rate your skills at the games shown in the ad – footy, basketball, 'boarding and racing – head down to the Niketown store in Oxford Circus. They're holding an all-comers-welcome game competition at noon on weekends or 4pm weekdays, and it's free to enter.

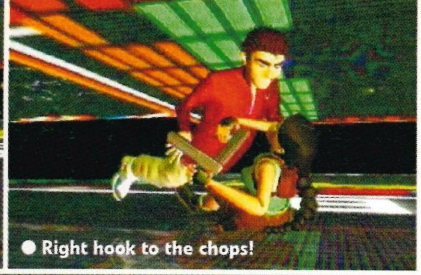

The players with the top skills on FA Premier League Stars, NBA Live 2000, Gran Turismo 2 and Cool Boarders 4 can win new Nike XT2 trainers worth £80, or other Nike booty. You can even win the chance to get motion-captured and projected onto the walls of Niketown with Michael Jordan's head stuck on your body. But hurry, though, 'cos the competition's only going on 'til the 27th February.

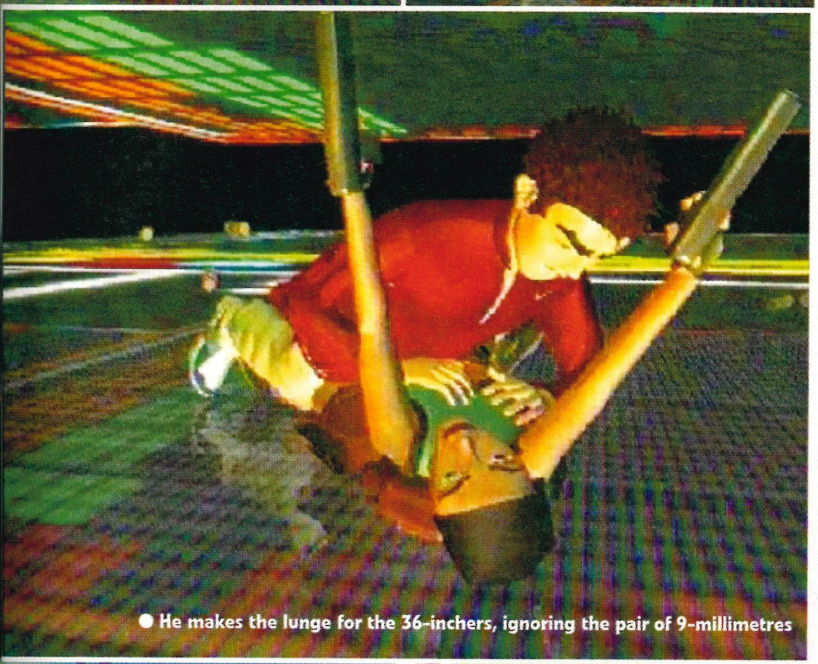

● Michael Jordan nicks the ball, then gets hit by a shrinking ray

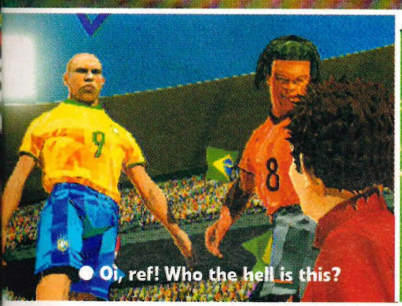

● Don't mess with this lady

● Right hook to the chops!

● He makes the lunge for the 36-inchers, ignoring the pair of 9-millimetres

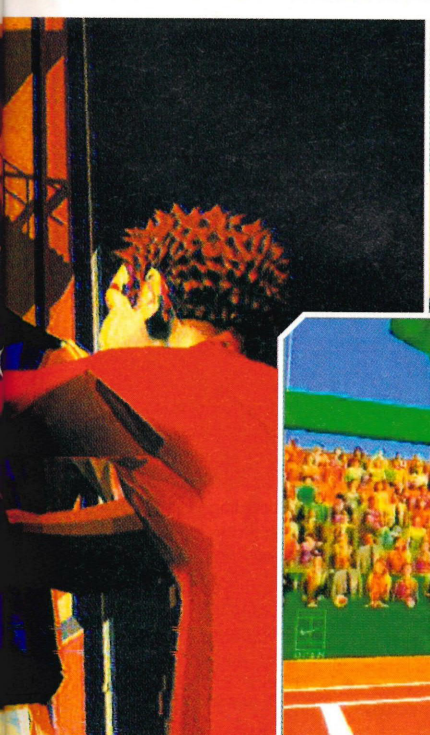

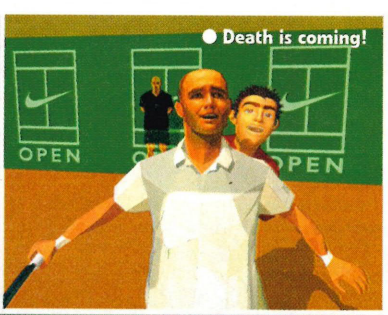

● Oi, ref! Who the hell is this?

● Looks a hell of a lot like ISS

THE CRUCIAL MOMENTS, DOWN AT NIKETOWN

● Death is coming!

Get three games for the price of one in the long-awaited sequel to Die Hard Trilogy

There's three whole games in Die Hard Trilogy: a 3D shoot 'em up, a lightgun shooter and a car chase game. They're all fast, furious and flavoured with arcade stupidity, and since it's three games for £35 you'd be mad to turn your nose up at this.

There's not much in here you'll recognise from the films, though. In the 3D shooter you attack a man in an electric chair with a 500 volt stun gun, and in the car chase you run over cows in a souped-up sportscar. And Bruce wears a dickie suit instead of a vest. But the games all play pretty sweet, especially the lightgun blaster. Review next issue.

Take on this year's Premiership in mega-detailed style in two hardcore new management sims

> PREMIER MANAGER 2000

VS

> PLAYER MANAGER 2000

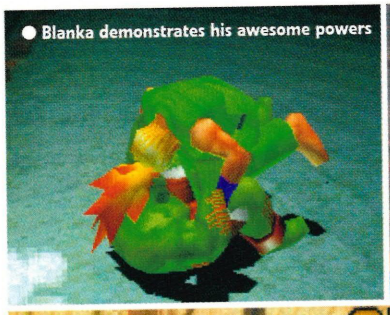

Up 'til now, LMA Manager has been the only management game with this season's teams and players.

But now it's got two rivals, Premier Manager 2000 and Player Manager 2000, and both of them are packed with such intense detail they're going to make LMA feel lightweight in comparison.

Premier Manager 2000, released next month, boasts five entire leagues' worth of teams. It's got all the players, easy-to-use transfer rosters, and it's so detailed you even get money from TV sponsorship deals. Unlike previous PM games, you can also change tactics mid-match. Sweet.

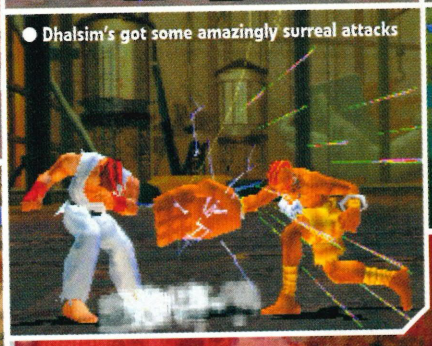

The other new contender is Player Manager 2000. There's five leagues, and the level of detail in terms of player performances verges on the insane: if you transfer a player from Spain to, say, Newcastle, he won't perform as well as he should until he adjusts to the cold.

● Blanka demonstrates his awesome powers

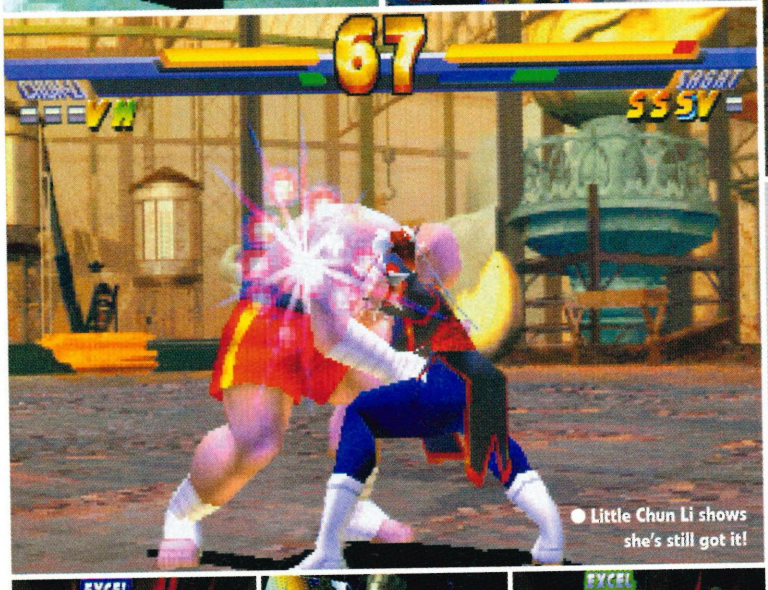

● Old fave Guile goes down to the new girl

● Baseball fiend Cracker Jack gets tripped up

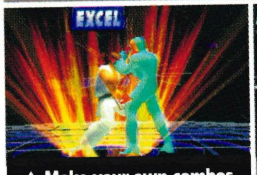

● The lighting effects are jaw-dropping

● Dhalsim's got some amazingly surreal attacks

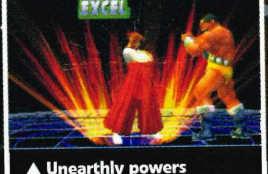

● Ken leaps to avoid the fireball

● Little Chun Li shows she's still got it!

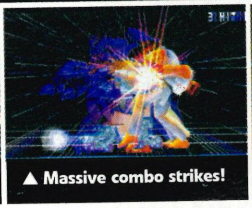

● Every new Street Fighter means bigger, better looks – and bigger, better attacks!

▲ Make your own combos

▲ Surreal special attacks

▲ Unearthly powers

▲ Bonus level. Sweet

▲ Massive combo strikes!

> STREET FIGHTER EX PLUS ALPHA 2

OUT MAY

Ryu and the gang bash into the next century with a 3D Street Fighter that'll rock your world

Tekken 3 looks the business, but real fighting game fiends have always sworn by the Street Fighter lot, thanks to the trademark finely-tuned SF gameplay. And Street Fighter Ex Plus Alpha 2 is the best one you'll ever see on PlayStation. This is the distilled essence of nine years of top-notch Street Fighter games, and it rocks.

From simple fireballs ('Hado-KEN!') up to ultra-tricky Meteor Combo Super Attack strikes, this combo-heavy fighter has got more ways to hurt people than any fighting game you've ever played. You can even create your own combos using special Excel commands to unleash your favourite flurries of kicks and punches in sequence. If you're tired of Tekken and looking for more meaty beaty 3D fighting thrills, look no further than this little beauty.

There's loads of classic Street Fighter characters in here, including Ryu, Chun Li and M Bison, plus favourites from the first SF Ex Plus, like Doctrine Dark and Skullomania. There's also two new fighters, bringing the total to 22 playable characters, all with distinct fighting styles and their own specials and combos. On the move, this looks easily as good as Tekken 3, and the in-depth gameplay should mean it has a much longer shelf life.

MEET MR METEOR!

It's the special attacks that really make this something, er, special. There's about three different levels of combo you can work up to, finishing with attacks so deadly your opponent might as well go off and put on a brew as you turn him into mincemeat punch by agonising punch.

But building up to one of these king-sized thirty-hit Meteor Combos takes the reflexes of a puma. You can only do it once you've maxed out a Super Combo gauge, which you fill by successfully pulling off lesser moves, and even then you've got to get the knuckle-knotting button sequence spot-on, at extremely high speed.

In SF EX2, raw beat 'em up skill rules. All the super attacks can be blocked or, if you're good enough, turned back on the guy who's doing them. You just need to know the right counter-move, and have the skills to pull it off in time.

This plays fast and fluid, and if you're tired of fighting games where random bashing buttons brings results – Soul Blade, anyone? – you can rest assured SF EX Plus 2 is the ultimate test of joypad wizardry. And that's a guarantee.

Here's a Super Meteor Combo we made earlier. Fill your gauge, do two complete rotations on the pad, and sit back to watch.

● Do two piledrivers, then punch

● The ex-commie thug flips him over...

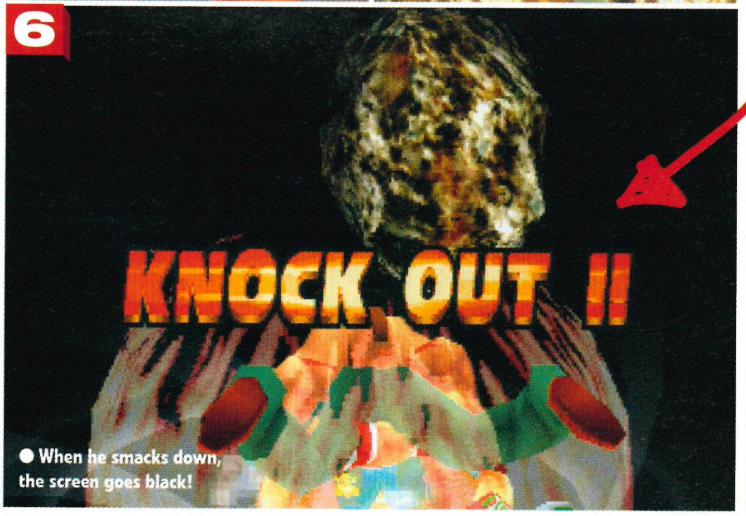

● Zangief grabs on from behind

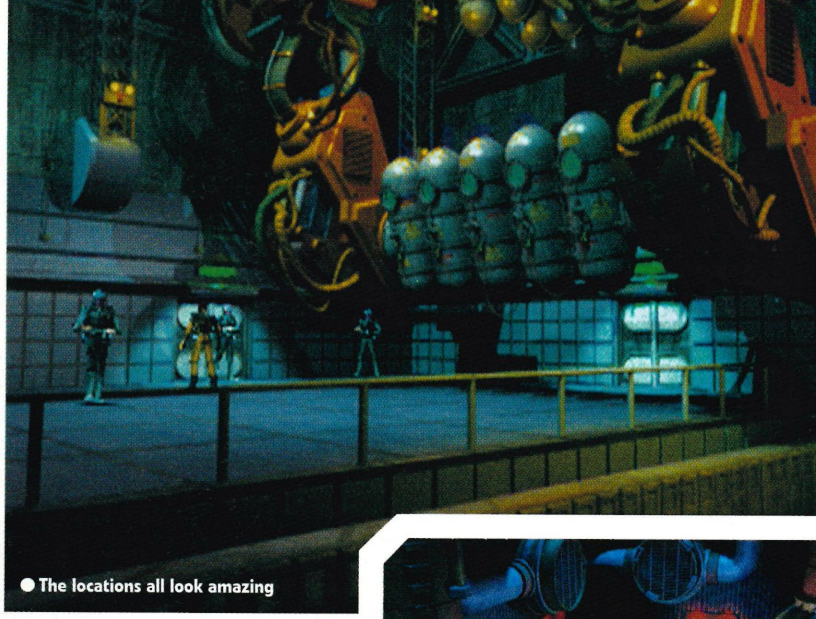

● He lifts him up off the ground...

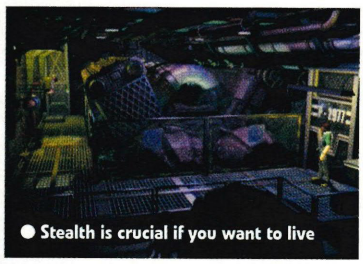

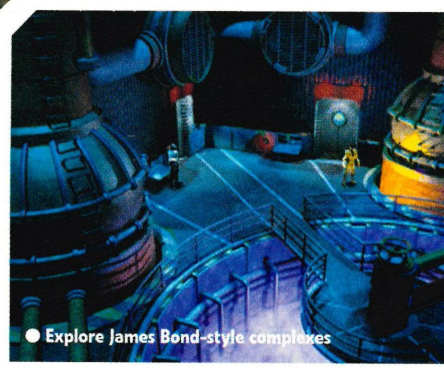

● Then the rabid Russkie leaps skywards

● When he smacks down, the screen goes black!

● The locations all look amazing

● Stealth is crucial if you want to live

● Explore James Bond-style complexes

HE SHOOTS! HE KILLS!

> IN COLD BLOOD

OUT MAY

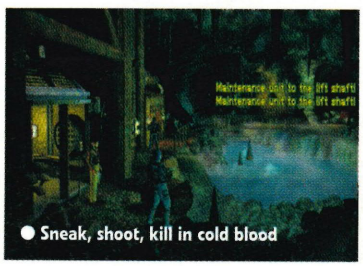

Metal Gear Solid gets a dose of The Fear in this supercharged spy thriller

In hyper-tense stealth actioner In Cold Blood you'll find yourself trapping enemies with motion detectors. You'll hack computer networks. You'll desperately watch other characters' facial tics for hints on who you can trust.

You play John Cord, a suave British spy who has to unravel a high-tech web of intrigue in Russia. But as the action unfolds through flashbacks, tense stealth action and edgy cutscenes, you realise you can't even trust your own MI6 bosses. And because there are proper Hollywood scriptwriters on plot duties, so it's convincing stuff.

The gameplay flicks effortlessly between chilling plot sequences, ultra-stealthy shoot 'em up action where you can set traps using electromagnetic mines, and tense sequences where you hack into communications systems and computer networks.

You're up against intelligent enemies, too. As you sneak through snowbound industrial complexes, any action can bring goons down on you like a ton of bricks. Log into the wrong terminal and the alarm starts wailing. The guards can even see your shadow. Feel the fear when this two-disc chiller comes out in May.

● Sneak, shoot, kill in cold blood

● This looks like a Metal Gear-beater

For the first time ever, you get to play THIS year's F1 season as it unfolds

How up-to-date can a PlayStation game get? Melbourne's opener of the 2000 F1 season kicks off on March 12. A fortnight later, PlayStation's equivalent launches. This is the first time ever on PlayStation you'll be able to get your teeth into this year's F1 season right from the off.

Since this is bang up-to-date, you'll pilot all the new motors you'll see rucking up tarmac on the telly. That includes Irvine's all-new Jaguar R1, Wurz's revamped Benetton, Frentzen's fresh Jordan and Schuey's Ferrari. And for once, you'll really notice the difference between the different gas-guzzlers on offer. Sweet.

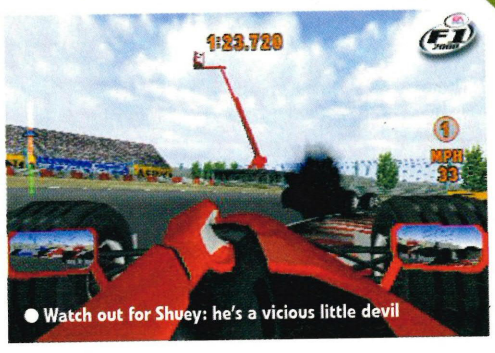

For those of us who don't eat, sleep and breathe F1, they've made tweaking your motor easy to understand and easy to use. Anytime mid-practice, you can skip out, twiddle with your ride height, downforce and other geeky gobbledegook, then skip back into the practice and actually FEEL how the tweaks have affected your car out there on the track.

For the real petrolheads, there's a mind-numbing range of statistics in here, but you don't need to dirty your hands with 'telemetry' and 'fuel intake ratios' unless you really fancy it.

One of the real kick-ass features on here is how the computer cars perform. Drivers behave exactly like their real-life counterparts. They even suffer car failures. And you'd be wise to watch your back if you try to pass cheating Hun rat Schumacher on a straight. This plays smoothly, and as you can see it looks great. Let's face it, who'd want to play last year's season when you could be rewriting history at the same time as it happens?

● Realistic crash damage means you have to be careful on the bends

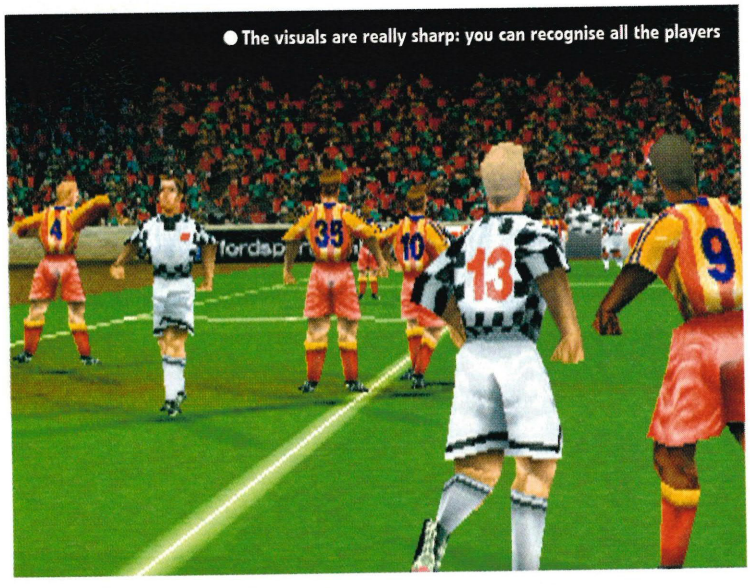

● Watch out for Shuey: he's a vicious little devil

● The cars all look spot-on

● Customisable starting grids

ALL THE TEAMS, ALL THE ACTION!

● The visuals are really sharp: you can recognise all the players

Get hands-on with the cream of Europe's footballing talent in UEFA Champions' League 2000

OUT APR

UEFA Champions' League lets you play all the fixtures from this year's Champions' League. But if turning the league table on its head or putting Arsenal back into the running doesn't appeal, then you can play one-offs between the top 32 clubs in Europe today. It has all the players, all the teams, all the stadiums. It's even got the right logos on the shirts.

And it's got another ace up its sleeve. Once you've tired of righting wrongs in this year's Champions' League, you can journey back into history and play any final from the League's 30-year history, from old-time matches with players in funny shorts right up to last year's nail-biting climax between Manchester United and Bayern Munich.

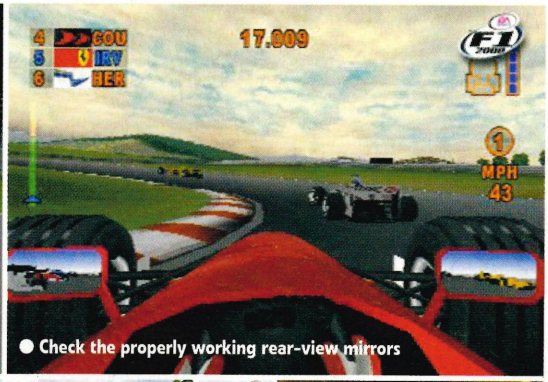

Play-wise, this is slick, with a massive range of easy-to-use moves at your fingertips and fluid play that rockets up and down the pitch. Neat goal celebrations and TV-style stats, presentation and camera angles are the icing on the cake: playing this really will feel like you're rewriting the Champions' League as you'd watch it on the telly.

There's a lot of nifty touches here, too ranging from cool player positioning which allows for fluid plays, to increased player intelligence which means that your players won't stand there like lemons when you hoof a ball down the channel for them to run on to.

● Race against this year's best

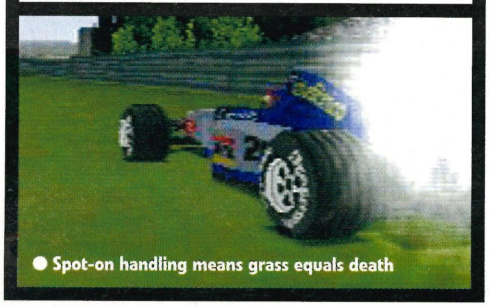

THREE WAY CLASH!

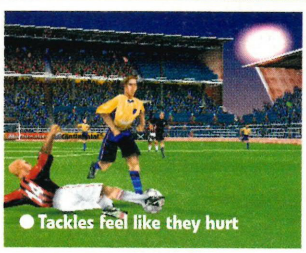

This isn't an update of F1 99. It's by a different bunch of people, so the visual style's a bit different, and it doesn't have F1 99's annoying spin outs when you brake on a bend.

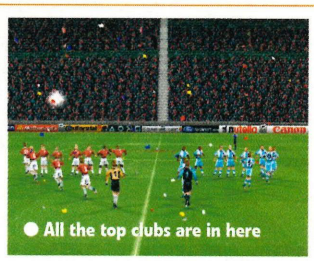

The F1 Association has given official licences to three games this year: F1 World Grand Prix, F1 99 and F1 2000. If you're wondering which one to put your wedge behind, we'd say you can count Official F1 out of the running because of it's over-detailed approach. It's a straight-up race between the tried-and-tested thrills of F1 99 and this one, and the up-to-date races here give this a big boost as it roars off the grid. Review next issue.

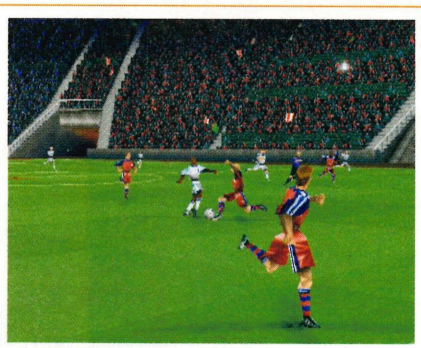

COOL STUFF!

- Full field of cars in two-player mode
- Starting grids you can customise
- Car sounds affected by your view
- Rear-view mirrors that work
- Pit-crew-to-car radio communication
- Damage will affect car's performance unless you pit
- Intelligent computer cars

● Spot-on handling means grass equals death

● Tackles feel like they hurt

● All the top clubs are in here

▲ TV-style camera angles get your pulse pumping

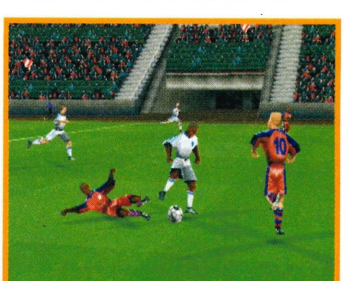

▲ All the stadiums are spot-on

CHECK THIS OUT!

● In the box, everybody keeps their eyes on the ball, just like real pros should. Players will even follow a long ball as it sails down from midfield

● Aerial action! Players leap like salmon whenever the ball's up in the air. All-new motion capture means movement's super-smooth

● Shoulder-to-shoulder duels in the box showcase the game's super-real movement: the players really feel like they weigh something

● The tackles in here look awesome, but you'll have to be careful of beady-eyed refs just gagging to show you a flash of yellow

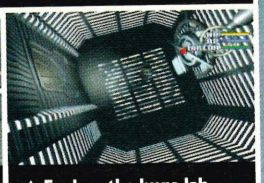

▲ You can use your psychic powers to make enemies go up in flames. Nasty

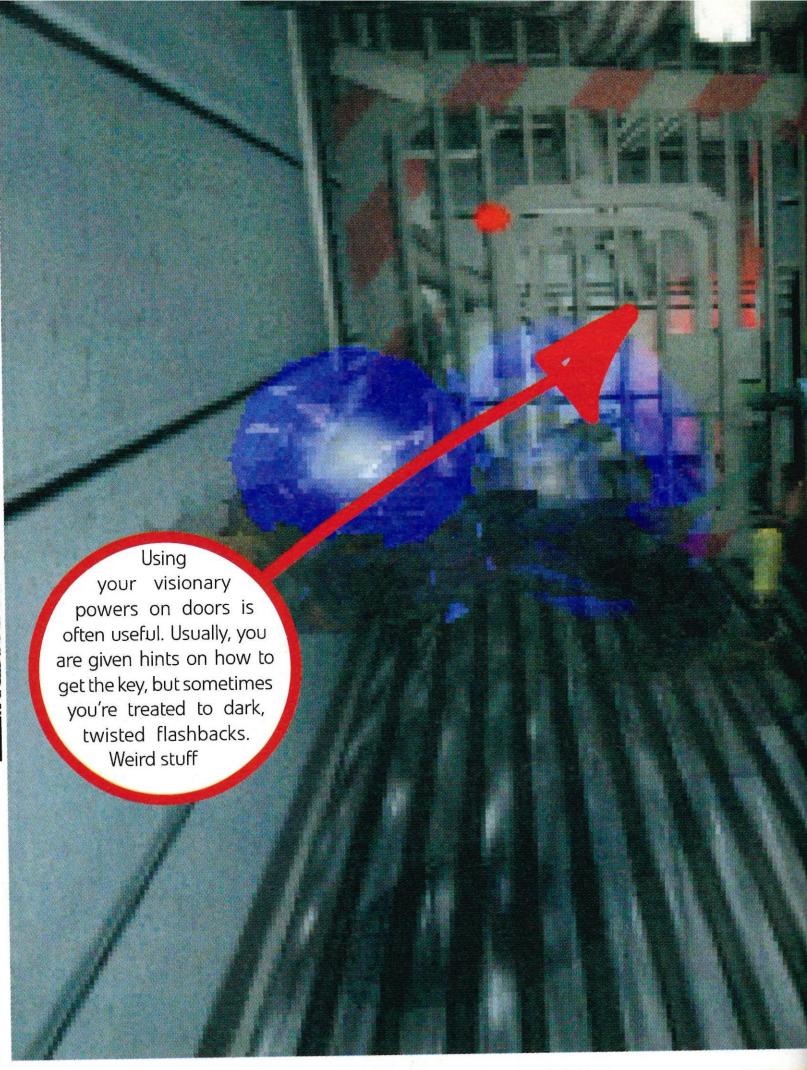

▲ Use psychic pulses

▲ Instant death

▲ Explore the huge lab

Using your visionary powers on doors is often useful. Usually, you are given hints on how to get the key, but sometimes you're treated to dark, twisted flashbacks. Weird stuff

WHEN CHEMICALS A

> GALERIANS

OUT APR

Burn people to death in a drug-induced frenzy in Galerians. This makes Res 2 look like Teletubbies

Galerians is a horror adventure where you play a 14-year-old kid who eats narcotics like Vanessa Feltz eats lardy cakes.

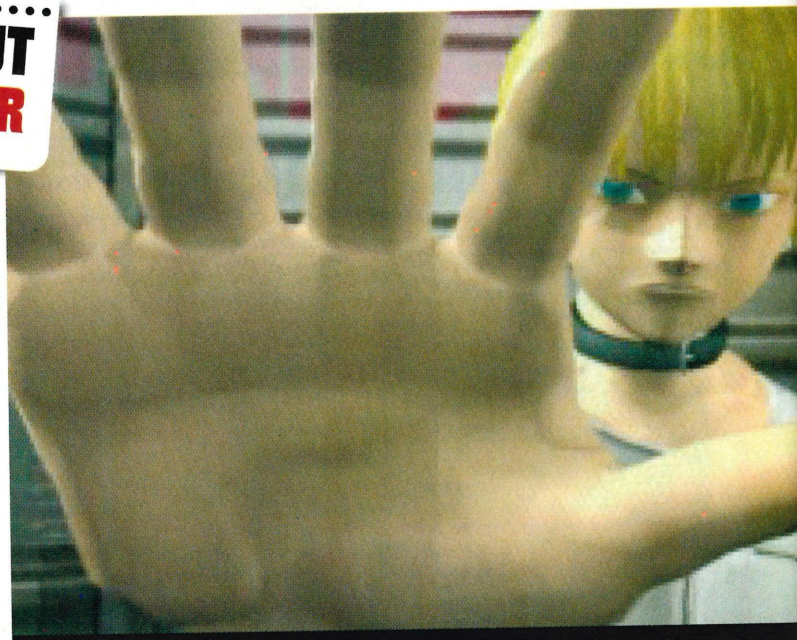

You're Rion, a teenage psychic, trapped in a lab where you've been a victim of horrible experiments, and the only things that can give you the strength to escape are fistfuls and fistfuls of 'special medicine'.

This game takes a new approach to scaring the crap out of you. No zombies here, just whitewashed labs and helpless victims with their heads fizzing from overdoses of drugs. It's all about a sinister near-future experiment conducted by a computer who's a few chips short of a Happy Meal, and it's scary as hell.

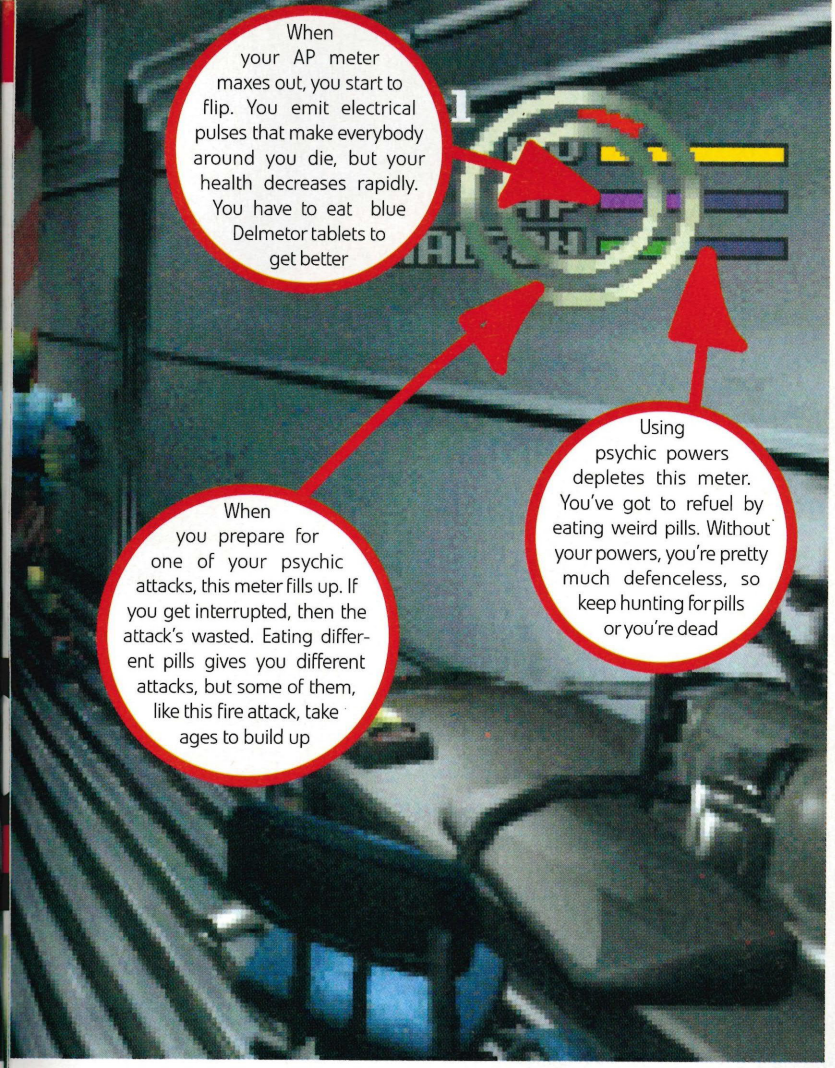

Rion has to escape from the laboratory where he wakes up, shackled to a table with needles in him. You face scientists, robots, mindless slaves and evil psychics as you wander the gleaming corridors, and the only thing you've got to help you are your psychic powers, which you need drugs to maintain.

By pressing △ in-game, you'll plug straight into a terrifying world of psychic visions. You get hints on how to solve puzzles, but you also see flashes of horrible, twisted scenes, including flashbacks of your mother being tortured to death by the computer's drug-stunned slaves.

Rion can blast people off their feet with psychic waves, and even flame-crisp them just by looking at them. But he needs to eat pills to do it. And if he uses his psychic powers too much, his brain fries. The only thing that calms him down are – you guessed it – more pills. But are there enough pill-bottles to keep Rion's brain from cooking itself as he escapes the lab? There's only one way to find out: buy this three-disc monster when it hits in April.

▲ Don't let Rion's baby face fool you. This killer junkie is not to be messed with

TTACK!

▲ Rion: helpless addict

▲ Your parents: pushing up daisies

▲ The computer: bonkers

THE MAIN MAN

This is the central character, Rion. You find out that he's been used by a mad computer as a human lab rat in experiments designed to increase his psychic powers. The computer didn't reckon on you getting powerful enough to break free.

THE VICTIMS

As you go through the game, you'll find out your parents were murdered by the computer your father designed. You have to return to the house where they died to unravel what happened. Facing your past is not a pleasant experience.

THE MAD COMPUTER

The computer is an unseen presence in the game. It uses human slaves and scientists to achieve its goal. It's hyper-intelligent, but that doesn't stop it being mad enough to believe it is God. All through the game you'll see computer terminals buzzing with its hideous, evil intelligence.

We've checked all of these up with the publishers: but be warned, games do slip off their dates. These aren't 100% definite. If a game you're looking for isn't on there, don't despair: it just means they haven't decided on an exact date yet. We'll always give you the most up-to-date and accurate info there is, guaranteed.

STONE COLD STEVE AUSTIN IS A PUSSY!

> ECW WRESTLING

OUT MAR

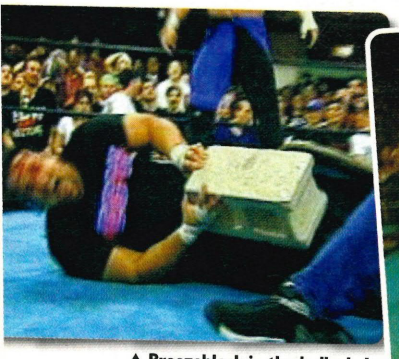

ECW makes WWF look like wrestling for ladyboys. Be warned, this game hurts!

ECW Hardcore Revolution features crowds that scream 'We want blood!' as you mangle another wrestler against ropes made out of barbed wire. Wrestlers attack each other with kendo sticks, hammers, cheese graters and stop signs. They bleed.

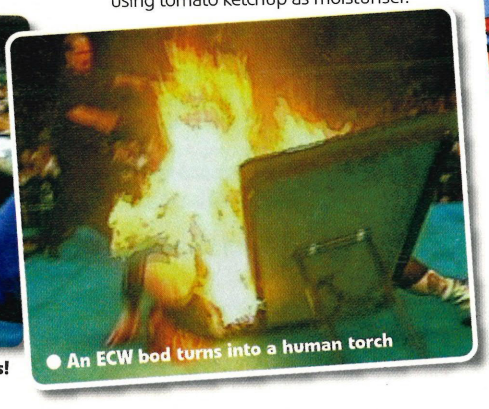

And they constantly use language that'd turn your Gran Persil white. This is the most in-your-face wrestling game you will ever play, and that's a guarantee.

ECW's the only wrestling championship where the wrestlers really bleed, break bones and pop joints. This game's the only wrestling game ever to achieve a 15 rating.

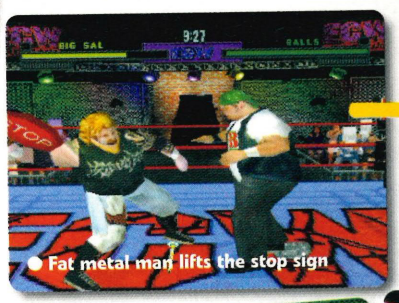

You won't have heard of a lot of the wrestlers on here, since ECW isn't on cable over here yet, but rest assured that Sabu 'the Innovator of Violence' makes the Rock look like an utter ponce. As you take the 64 ECW wrestlers through 18 different modes of one-off match, or right through a whole season of in-your-face action, rest assured every match will feature bloodshed that'll make the fighters look like they've been using tomato ketchup as moisturiser.

▲ Breezeblock in the bollocks!

● An ECW bod turns into a human torch

● Fat metal man lifts the stop sign

● Green hair man gets battered

● Check out his smashed face. Sweet

● Blood spurts as the green man falls

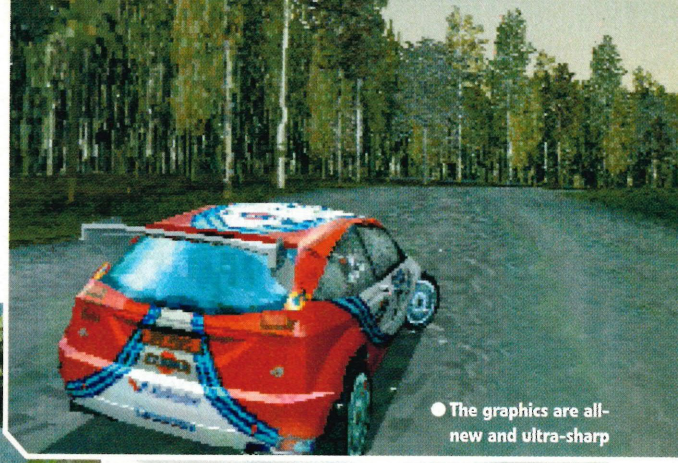

I'M TELLING YOU, HE'S A BAD MOTHERF@!KER!

The atmos in ECW is like a mad, foul-mouthed circus. The wrestlers swear like sailors. So do the commentators. Even the audience chip in.

Wrestlers cuss like gangsta rappers as they corner their opponents in some filthy backstage area or twat them into the front row of the audience. As a four-man deathmatch builds up to its bloody climax, the audience will be screaming for blood, the wrestlers will be spilling claret constantly and the commentator will be going apeshit over the top . Just keep the volume low if your auntie's around.

● Flames spit from the exhaust when you step on the gas. Awesome

● The graphics are all-new and ultra-sharp

● McRae's Focus screams into the bends

GRIND GRAVEL, MAUL MUD

> COLIN MCRAE RALLY 2

OUT APR

Attack the toughest roads known to mankind in Colin McRae Rally 2, the most brutal rally game you'll ever play

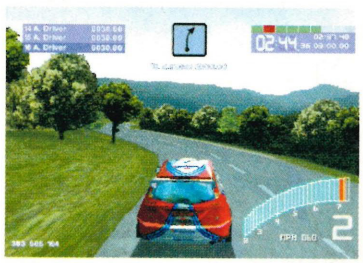

We've had a play on an early version of Colin McRae Rally 2, and it's tons better than the original. It's got quality tracks, superb powerslide-heavy handling and all-new super-sharp graphics.

It's got an awesome selection of the roughest of today's 4WD monsters, and you even see flames pump out of their exhaust pipes as you step on the gas.

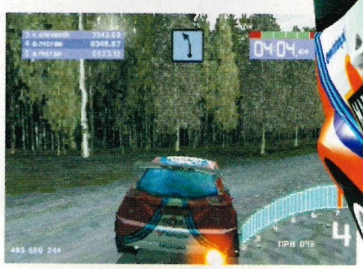

There's a huge number of tracks on here, all custom-designed to keep the adrenalin level set to 'danger'. You crunch on gravel, coast across mud and skid helplessly on black ice as you cane your motor round hair-raisingly tight bends in eight different international locations. If you thought the dirt tracks in Gran Turismo 2 were Rallying Lite, Colin McRae 2 is really going to be where it's at.

This is so in-depth it's even got weather forecasts: a little bloke will tell you what the weather's going to do before you head out to race, so you can choose tires, tune your engine and get your suspension just right. But, just like in real life, the in-game Michael Fishes don't always get it right.

What's cool here is it feel's like a 'simulation', with every little bump in the road transmitting itself up into your steering and your Dual Shock, but it's still easy to pull off cool moves and slick powerslides. The realism still hits home though: hitting trees can wreck your car's handling, and if you clip the scenery too much, bits of your motor can even crumple and fall off.

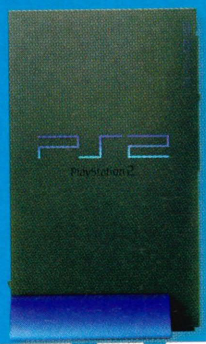

▲ The handling is particularly fine

▲ Use powerslides to coast round bends

ROTTEN TO THE GORE!

> RESIDENT EVIL: SURVIVOR

OUT APR

Get inside the head of a killer with Survivor, the game where Resident Evil goes first-person

Imagine a Resident Evil game where the zombies lurch straight at the screen, rotting arms flailing out for the kill. A Resident Evil game where you can really aim your shots, but where you can never see what's sneaking up behind you. This is Resident Evil: Survivor, the white-knuckle first-person shooter that's going to round off the Resident Evil series on PlayStation.

Survivor's a lightgun shooting game, but it plays pretty well without a lightgun. How so? See, you have to move and shoot, so it plays smooth using the analogue sticks of the Dual Shock. But play it using a G-Con 45 to move and shoot, and it's extra cool. Once you've got into it, it plays like an ultra-fast Resident Evil, and since you're looking the zombie menace straight in the face, it's a lot more intense.

You fight through dockyards, cinemas and hospitals, solving puzzles, finding guns, but mostly just killing everything you see. The zombies just keep on coming: every room's packed with them. But rotting corpses with glowing red eyes are just some of the old friends welcoming you to Survivor with open jaws. Elastic-muscled Lickers, red-eyed devil dogs, venom-spitting spiders and even The Tyrant are all in here, eager to make you die.

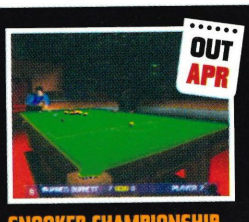

But if you're expecting to recognise bits of Raccoon City from previous Res games, think again. This is set in another city where Umbrella has unleashed its deadly virus. Your helicopter crashes into this zombie-infested hell. Your memory's gone after the crash, and you don't even know where you are. You're in for one hell of a day.

● Even using a Dual Shock to aim, this is a high-adrenalin experience

HOW IT WORKS

If you want to use a lightgun with Survivor, you've GOT to have the Namco G-Con 45. Any other gun, even if it's 'G-Con compatible', won't work very well. This is the first lightgun game where you can move freely around. Use the buttons on the sides of the gun to turn, and shoot off screen to move around. With a Dual Shock, it works like this:

You use the analogue stick to move your crosshair around in shoot mode, and to move yourself around in normal mode. Movement's really smooth, but it's sometimes annoying you can't strafe around corners

⊗ is shoot when you're in aim mode, or action/pick up when you're moving around

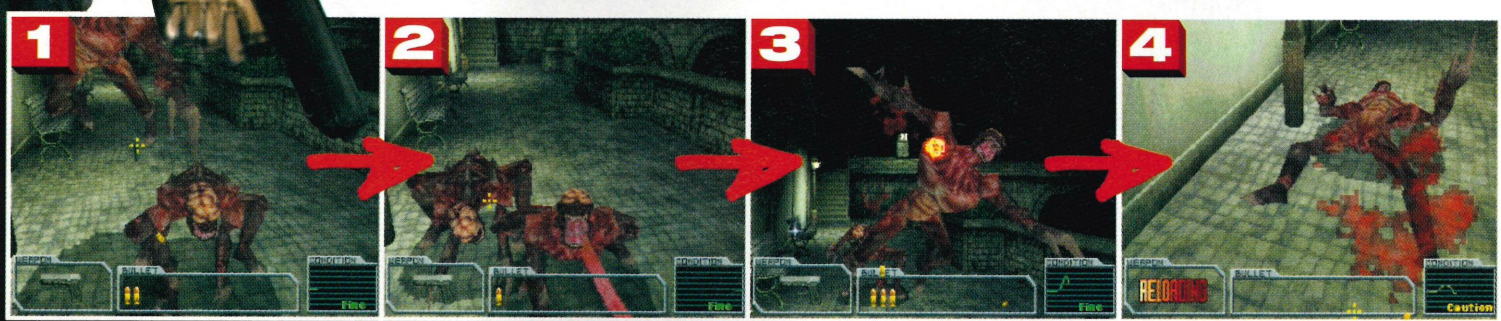

START brings up a standard Resident Evil menu, allowing you to store items and choose guns

R1 flicks you between 'move' and 'shoot' modes. It's easy to get used to flicking at speed

◉ makes you run. There's so many zombies here you'll rarely slow down, believe us

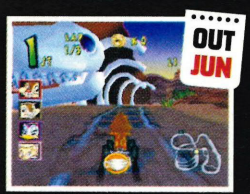

▲ Two Lickers leap towards you

▲ Their long tongues snake out at you

▲ They move fast and take loads of shots

▲ Keep blasting away and they'll go down

WALT DISNEY MAGICAL WORLD RACING

Mickey, Goofy and the gang go karting crazy in this knockabout comedy racer in the style of Crash Team Racing

DUKES OF HAZZARD

Daisy Duke, Boss Hogg and blow-dried brothers Beau and Luke team up for some stunts-a-popping 70s race action. Cheesy, but could be cool

NIGHTMARE CREATURES 2

More hyper-speed kung fu fighting in the dark streets of Victorian London as a new plague of zombies threatens civilisation as we know it

SPACE STATION SILICON VALLEY

A weird microchip thing floats around possessing creatures like killer sheep and helicopter rabbits. Odd

SYPHON FILTER 2

High-adrenalin spy sequel where super-soldier Gabe Logan takes on the world, armed with an impressive number of seriously big guns

RONALDO SOCCER

Sweet footy sim where the entire Brazil squad have been motion-captured to keep the action super-realistic. Plays like a Samba version of ISS. Sweet
