BASIC CONTROLS

The intricate battle system of Pokémon Mystery Dungeon has dozens of functions, but a series of helpful button combinations will allow you to access most options without having to wade through a lot of menus. Study up before your quest begins!

Starting a Game, Saving, and Continuing

After you choose to begin a new game you'll receive a short personality test that determines which Pokémon you will become. You may then choose a partner who, after a brief tutorial dungeon, will show you to your new home and team base. Approach the bed at any time to save your game. There is also a quicksave option in dungeons.

Using the Stylus

- Touch a destination to have your leader walk to that spot.
- Touch an item to have your leader pick it up.
- Touch the stylus to the leader and hold it there to change the direction it faces.
- Tap an enemy once to attack or twice to use the leader's set move.
- Tap your leader twice to have it run in the direction it is facing.
- Tap any menu item to select it. Tap outside of the menu to cancel a selection.

If you tap a spot on the ground, your leader will automatically move to that spot. Press and hold the stylus on your leader to change its facing direction.

The tabs at the bottom of the screen allow you to throw your set item or open the Moves, Items, or Team menu with a single tap.

Tap an adjacent enemy with your stylus to use your basic attack against that enemy. Tap it twice to use your set move instead.

WHO ARE YOU?

If you answer the quiz questions honestly, you'll be assigned the Pokémon that best matches your nature. Not happy with that one? Use the answer list here to get your favorite!

Choosing a Character

At the beginning of the game, you'll be asked nine of over 50 possible questions. Each answer affects your score in 13 personality types. At the end, the personality type that has the highest score determines which of the 16 hero Pokémon you will become. (You will then be allowed to choose one of the remaining Pokémon to be your partner.)

If you want to be a specific Pokémon, check the chart to the right to see what personality type you need to pretend to be when you take the quiz. This is an important decision, so consider your answers carefully!

Boy or Girl?

Pokémon of different genders have different personality types, so the same answers will result in different Pokémon for each gender. Only girls can get Eevee, Chikorita, and Skitty, while only boys can get Meowth, Machop, and Cyndaquil.

Personality Type

The Quiz Questions

To get a specific Pokémon, look up the questions you're asked, and choose whichever answer matches that Pokémon's nature. For example, to get Skitty, choose answers that give you points for the Hasty type, and pick Girl at the end of the quiz. The questions you're asked are random, so you may have to restart several times before you're asked questions with possible Hasty answers.

#1 YOU APPEAR TO BE ... DOCILE♂ / CALM♀

BULBASAUUR

TYPE: GRS-PSN

Ability: Overgrow
Terrain Ability: Ground

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Bulbasaur

Grass-types can have a tough time with the many Fire-, Ice-, Flying-, and Poison-type Pokémon in the first half of the game. Fortunately, Bulbasaur excels at dishing out heavy Special Attack damage and can use Poisonpowder and Sleep Powder to great effect against bosses.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Growl + Vine Whip NRM + GRS
Weaken your foes' Attack score and follow up with a vicious Grass-type attack.

Razor Leaf + Sleep Powder GRS + GRS
Razor Leaf targets a distant foe while Sleep Powder keeps nearby enemies at bay.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Pikachu
Type: ELC

Choose a strong partner who can take on Ice-, Fire-, and Flying-type bosses while Bulbasaur hangs back and uses ranged attacks. Electric-type Pikachu or any Water-type will do nicely.

Squirtle
Type: WTR

AVAILABLE PARTNERS
Charmander
Cyndaquil
Mudkip
Pikachu
Squirtle
Torchic
Totodile

Rescue-Team Base

This is what your team base will look like when it's completed (see pages 77-78).

Friend Area

BEAU PLAINS—This Friend Area will be given to Bulbasaur heroes and partners.

#4 YOU APPEAR TO BE ... HARDY♂/BRAVE♀

CHARMANDER

TYPE: FIRE

Ability: Blaze
Terrain Ability: Magma

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Charmander

Charmander hits the ground running, learning great attacks like Ember and Metal Claw early. After that, you'll need to rely on TMs to learn any new offensive moves before Level 31. The ability to cross lava terrain is a plus.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Scratch + Growl NRM + NRM
Link up this simple attack-and-defend combo as soon as the Link Shop opens.

Metal Claw + Rage STL + NRM
This is a great boss combo that ensures your Attack score rises significantly every turn.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Chikorita
Type: GRS

The Ground- and Rock-type foes in Magma Cavern will be trouble for Charmander. Pick a Water- or Grass-type partner who can shatter them easily.

Mudkip
Type: WTR

AVAILABLE PARTNERS
Bulbasaur
Chikorita
Mudkip
Pikachu
Squirtle
Totodile
Treecko

Rescue-Team Base

This is what your team base will look like when it's completed (see pages 77-78).

Friend Area

MT. CLEFT—This Friend Area will be given to Charmander heroes and partners.

#7 YOU APPEAR TO BE ... JOLLY♂/RELAXED♀

SQUIRTLE

TYPE: WTR

 Ability: Torrent
 Terrain Ability: Water

HP	▶▶▶▶▶	Special Attack	▶▶▶▶▶
Attack	▶▶▶▶▶	Special Defense	▶▶▶▶▶
Defense	▶▶▶▶▶	Size	▬▬▬▬▬

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Squirtle

Squirtle has great Defense and Special Defense scores and several Defense-boosting moves, making it a fairly safe choice. Lots of good Water-type moves combine well with Rain Dance later in the game, and the ability to cross water terrain is very valuable.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Tail Whip + Tackle NRM + NRM
 Lower your target's Defense before swinging with this basic attack move.

Bubble + Withdraw WTR + WTR
 Hit bosses from afar with Bubble while boosting your Defense for when they reach you.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Bulbasaur
 Type: GRG-PSN

Squirtle is vulnerable to Grass-types, so a Fire-type partner is the obvious choice. Also consider Bulbasaur, who can fight Grass with Poison and is better against enemy Water-types.

Charmander
 Type: FIRE

AVAILABLE PARTNERS
 Bulbasaur
 Charmander
 Chikorita
 Cyndaquil
 Pikachu
 Torchic
 Treecko

Rescue-Team Base

This is what your team base will look like when it's completed (see pages 77-78).

Friend Area

TURTLESHELL POND—This Friend Area will be given to Squirtle heroes and partners.

PIKACHU

TYPE: ELC

Ability: Static
Terrain Ability: Ground

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Pikachu

Pikachu doesn't have many direct attacks, but its versatile list of moves includes Quick Attack and several attacks that can paralyze foes. Pikachu doesn't have a lot of HP or great Defense scores, but as a rare Electric-type starter, it doesn't have many bad matchups to worry about.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Quick Attack + Growl NRM + NRM
Link ranged moves together for best results.

Thunder Wave + Thundershock ELC + ELC
This combo gives you two chances to paralyze a foe. Use it to immobilize bosses while your friends dish out damage.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Pikachu can choose from among nine partners. Aim for a versatile partner whose abilities combine well with Pikachu's.

Bulbasaur
Type: GRS-PSN

AVAILABLE PARTNERS

- Bulbasaur
- Charmander
- Chikorita
- Cyndaquil
- Mudkip
- Squirtle
- Torchic
- Totodile
- Treecko

Chikorita
Type: GRS

Rescue-Team Base

This is what your team base will look like when it's completed (see pages 77-78).

Friend Area

ENERGETIC FOREST—This Friend Area will be given to Pikachu heroes and partners.

#52 YOU APPEAR TO BE... QUIRKY♂

MEOWTH

TYPE: NRMAbility: Pickup
Terrain Ability: Ground

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Meowth

Meowth has solid stats, and its mostly Normal- or Dark-type moves should be useful in any situation. As a bonus, the Pickup ability and Pay Day move will produce extra loot. Seek out TMs like Shadow Ball, Toxic, or Thunderbolt to improve Meowth's move diversity.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Scratch + Bite NRM + DRK
If this double hit doesn't KO its target, the Bite cringe effect may make it lose its turn.

Screech + Pay Day NRM + NRM
Lower your target's Defense so you can get the KO with Poké-producing Pay Day.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Totodile
Type: WTR

Meowth has 10 partner choices, but you should consider only Water- or Grass-types who can help defeat Rock-type foes.

AVAILABLE PARTNERS

Bulbasaur
Charmander
Chikorita
Cyndaquil
Mudkip
Pikachu
Squirtle
Torchic
Totodile
Treecko

Treecko
Type: GRS

Rescue-Team Base

Friend Area

ENERGETIC FOREST—This Friend Area will be given to Meowth heroes and partners.

PSYDUCK

TYPE: WTR

Ability: Damp/Cloud Nine
Terrain Ability: Water

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Psyduck

Psyduck has good offensive stats, can cross water terrain, and comes with two great abilities that protect the party from certain traps and bad weather. On the other hand, Psyduck has poor HP and Defense scores and is hampered by a shortage of attack moves.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Tail Whip + Scratch NRM + NRM
This is a simple combo that lowers a foe's Defense right before the attack connects.

Confusion + Screech WTR + NRM
If this combo doesn't confuse its target, it will at least leave it damaged and weakened.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Charmander
Type: FIRE

Choose a partner that excels at offense to compensate for Psyduck's shortage of damage-dealing attack moves. Any of the three Fire-types should fit that bill.

Torchic
Type: FIRE

What to expect as Machop

Machop's mighty Attack scores and Fighting-type moves will make most battles a breeze, especially with the exceptional Guts ability doubling your Attack whenever you have a status condition. However, the game's many Flying-type bosses will give Machop fits.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Focus Energy + Karate Chop NRM + FTG
 Few foes can survive a critical hit from a deadly Machop Karate Chop.

Low Kick + Seismic Toss FTG + FTG
 If Low Kick fizzles against a foe with no feet, at least Seismic Toss is a sure bet.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Pikachu
Type: ELC

Pikachu is the best choice to help Machop beat Flying-types, but Water- or Fire-types also make decent partners.

CUBONE

TYPE: GRD

Ability: Rock Head/Lightningrod
Terrain Ability: Ground

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Cubone

It takes a while for Cubone to learn any good attacks (the first comes at Level 9), but when it does, look out! Cubone gets incredibly powerful moves, from cringe-inducing Bone Club and Headbutt to Bonemerang (at Level 25), a long-range, high-power move that hits twice.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Tail Whip + Bone Club NRM + GRD

Lower your target's Defense before you swing with a mighty physical attack.

Focus Energy + Bonemerang NRM + GRD

This ruthless combo can KO bosses before they even reach you.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

As a Ground-type, Cubone has a lot of vulnerabilities. Choose a resilient partner who can protect you.

What to expect as Eevee

Eevee has a weak selection of moves, and can use only a few TMs. It can evolve into one of a number of great Pokémon later in the game, though, so Eevee fans and experienced players may enjoy it. But beginners who get Eevee as a starter may want to take a second try.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Tail Whip + Tackle NRM + NRM
 Lower your foe's Defense and strike.

Helping Hand + Baton Pass NRM + NRM
 Helping Hand gives a great stat boost to all of your allies, then Baton Pass swaps your positions to put them on the front line.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Bulbasaur
 Type: GRS-PSN

Eevee has good Defense and HP scores, so choose an offense-oriented partner to round out your party.

Ability: Overgrow
Terrain Ability: Ground

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Chikorita

You can't beat Chikorita for versatility. Reflect is a great defensive move, Poisonpowder is an effective antiboss tactic, and Synthesis is a solid healing move. Chikorita doesn't learn many direct attacks, so playing it effectively will require a bit of creativity.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Reflect + Poisonpowder PSY + PSN
Reflect will reduce incoming damage, buying you time while the poison eats away at foes.

Synthesis + Solarbeam GRS + GRS
The HP boost of Synthesis will help you survive Solarbeam's one-turn delay.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Charmander

Choose a partner with a wide variety of direct attack moves to take the offensive lead while Chikorita blocks enemy attacks with its effective Defensive moves.

What to expect as Cyndaquil

Cyndaquil offers strong Defense stats without sacrificing the Special Attack that powers its Fire-type moves. You won't learn the basic Fire-type move Ember until Level 12, but after that Cyndaquil will learn powerful attacks regularly.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Leer + Smokescreen NRM+NRM
 Striking at both Defense and Accuracy will take any boss down a notch.

Tackle + Ember NRM+FIRE
 Link these two low-power, high-PP moves to make a solid staple attack.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Pikachu
Type: ELC

A Grass-type partner is the best way to deal with the Pokémon that Fire can't beat. Pikachu is also worth considering, as its Paralyze-inflicting moves will add some versatility.

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Totodile

Totodile has the best defensive stats among the Water-type Pokémon. It learns a wide assortment of attacks, but relatively few of them are Water-type, limiting its offensive prowess early in the game. The ability to cross water terrain is a definite plus.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Leer + Scratch NRM + NRM
Reduce your foe's Defense before striking.

Scary Face + Bite WTR + DRK
Scary Face causes your foe to get fewer turns, and Bite's cringe effect could cost it its next turn.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Chikorita

Totodile's moves are solid but simple, so it can benefit from a versatile partner that can inflict status conditions as well as damage.

What to expect as Treecko

Treecko's series of HP-draining moves (Absorb, Mega Drain, and Giga Drain) allows it to KO foes while keeping itself at full health. However, bosses can exploit Treecko's weak Special Defense score to KO it with powerful special attacks.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Leer + Pursuit NRM + DRK
 Kick off every long fight by weakening your foe and setting Treecko up to reflect all incoming damage.

Absorb + Pound GRS + NRM
 Steal some life and pound away the rest.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Cyndaquil

TORCHIC

TYPE: FIRE

Ability: Blaze
Terrain Ability: Magma

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Torchic

Whereas the other Fire-types excel at raw power, Torchic's strength is its versatility. Its attacks may not be very powerful, but a wide array of move types can give Torchic an offensive edge. Torchic is a good choice for careful type-matchers.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Focus Energy + Scratch NRM + NRM
Scratch's power is effectively boosted by 50% when it follows Focus Energy.

Sand Attack + Ember GRD + FIRE
These two moves can strike diagonally, and they have similar PP scores.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Chikorita
Type: GRG

Chikorita pairs well with just about anyone. To complement Torchic's versatility, choose a Grass-type like Chikorita. Squirtle is a good choice if you'd rather add some raw power to your team.

MUDKIP

Terrain Ability: Water

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Mudkip

Mudkip grows into a Water-and-Ground-type when it evolves, and this destiny allows it to use Ground-type moves like Mud-Slap and learn the excellent TM Dig. Mudkip learns many good moves in the first 10 levels, but after that you'll need to rely largely on TMs and HMs.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Mud-Slap + Water Gun GRD + NRM

This is a pair of strong moves with similar PP amounts and the ability to strike diagonally.

Tackle + Whirlpool NRM + WTR

Link Whirlpool to any move for a bit more damage and a chance to immobilize the foe.

RECOMMENDED PARTNERS:

Torchic
Type: FIRE

Like Mudkip, Torchic evolves into a dual-type Pokémon, giving you access to four types of moves later in the game. If you prefer a more focused partner, Treecko is a good choice.

Terrain Ability: Ground

• The arrows represent each stat's growth rate. (See page 148 for details.)

What to expect as Skitty

Easily the strangest of the starters, Skitty can't do much damage until it reaches high levels. Instead, Skitty relies on condition-inflicting moves and its Infatuated-causing Cute Charm ability. Skitty is a good choice for players who are looking for something different.

RECOMMENDED LINK MOVES:

Tail Whip + Tackle NRM + NRM
These moves form a simple combo that lowers a foe's Defense before damaging it.

Attract + Sing NRM + NRM
Charm a foe or sing it to sleep; either way, you'll stop it in its tracks.

RESCUE-TEAM BASICS

Pokémon Mystery Dungeon stars all of the Pokémon you know and love, but has a radically different structure from previous games. Your rescue-team training begins here!

The Life of a Rescue-Team Leader

The goal of a rescue team is to help your fellow Pokémon, either by taking simple rescue jobs from friends and bulletin-board postings, or by pursuing a long-term quest to put an end to a recent spate of natural disasters. These jobs will take your team into the depths of nearly 50 different dungeons, where you'll recruit new friends, solve mysteries, and find hundreds of items. The diagram below shows what happens in a typical day, and the pages that follow discuss how to acquire, prepare for, and successfully complete rescue jobs.

Dungeon Missions

You can visit dungeons to accomplish storyline objectives, save Pokémon in optional rescue jobs, or simply hunt for items, Exp. Points, and new rescue-team recruits.

Team Base

This is the hero's home and base of operations. After completing any dungeon, you will return here to rest and begin a new day.

Check Your Mail

Check your mail every day so you can read the Pokémon News and rescue-job requests. Be sure to store the Pokémon News after you read it so you'll have space for more.

Q. What is a rescue team?

A. The world of Pokémon is full of perilous dungeons where innocent Pokémon can become trapped or KO'ed. When that happens, a call is sent out for a rescue team to save them, bring them an item, or escort a friend to them. Some rescue jobs are posted on the bulletin board outside of Pelipper Post Office, and others are mailed directly to rescue-team bases. There is a nearly infinite number of potential rescue jobs, so you'll never run out of things to do in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon.

Q. What are dungeons?

A. All of the action takes place in "dungeons" of between 3 and 99 floors. (The name is somewhat of a misnomer, as many are above ground or underwater.) The layout of dungeons is randomly generated, so each time you enter, the map will change! Placement of items and enemy Pokémon is also random, so everyone who plays will have a slightly different experience.

Q. How is combat different in this game?

A. Combat takes place in the same overhead perspective you use while exploring dungeons, and each Pokémon can now move freely on the battlefield. While Pokémon have the same moves they always had, those moves have new attributes, such as range and area of effect, that are very important. See page 35 to learn more.

Overworld Map

Leave town via the west exit to visit your teammates in their Friend Areas and give them gummies or add them to your party. Leave town via the south exit to travel to any unlocked dungeon.

Pokémon Square

Head into town to buy items and Friend Areas, link moves, bank extra cash, and put excess items into storage. You can also chat with other Pokémon to learn about new story developments.

Pelipper Post Office

Go to the post office to take rescue jobs off the bulletin board or fulfill rescue requests for your friends.

Q&A

Q. What happened to the Trainers?

A. You won't find any in this world! In Pokémon Mystery Dungeon you play as a Pokémon in a world of Pokémon. Your team will consist of the friends you make during your quest and the wild Pokémon you recruit along the way.

Q. How do I catch Pokémon?

A. You don't. Instead, you recruit wild Pokémon by defeating them in combat and impressing them with your strength. The higher-level you are, the easier this will be. You can recruit wild Pokémon only if you already own their Friend Area (see page 46) and have enough room for them in your current party.

Home Sweet Home

Each starting Pokémon has a unique base that will be renovated as your quest progresses, custom-built to match that Pokémon's preferred environment. Whenever you leave a dungeon after succeeding or failing at a job, you will return to your base automatically and be given an opportunity to save your game. Your HP and PP will be completely refilled, and all status conditions will be cleared. If you'd like to save again, simply approach your bed.

Special Deliveries

As long as your mailbox isn't full, Pelipper will visit each day to drop off rescue-job requests and new issues of Pokémon News. Check the mail each day and free up space by storing old issues of Pokémon News.

You may also select Job List to review the jobs you've accepted and select Take Job if you're ready to begin, Suspend if you want to put it off for another day, or Delete to cancel it entirely. You can also select PKMN News to read stored back issues of every rescue team's favorite newspaper.

Pokémon Square

Pokémon Square is the center of Pokémon civilization in this game. You'll want to visit before each job to catch up on the latest gossip, buy supplies and Friend Areas, store excess items, link moves, and deposit your extra cash. Turn to page 55 for full coverage of these resources.

GULPIN LINK SHOP

KECLEON SHOP

MAKUHITA DOJO

WIGGLYTUFF CLUB

KANGASKHAN STORAGE

The Makuhita Dojo is just south of Pokémon Square. When it opens, you can visit to train your Pokémon against certain types of foes. You'll find full coverage on page 57.

Buying Friend Areas from Wigglytuff is essential to recruiting new teammates. If you have extra money on hand, this should be the first place you visit!

Q. What are IQ and tactics for?

Q&A

A. In battle, you control only your party leader directly. All other Pokémon act independently, based on their personal IQ and the tactics you assign to them. IQ increases as Pokémon are fed gummies, leading them to learn basic strategic principles such as not using moves that are low on PP, or targeting weaker foes before targeting stronger ones. Tactics are the general orders you give each party member in combat, such as "Go after foes" or "Keep your distance." See page 42 for more information.

Q. How many Pokémon can I have in my party?

A. The maximum is four, but there are a few catches. First, you can enter most dungeons with only three Pokémon, so you'll need to recruit the fourth during the job. Second, you can have only six size points' worth of Pokémon in your party. Most Pokémon have a size of one, but there are a few larger Pokémon. So a team of one Groudon (four points) and one Salamence (two points) wouldn't leave room for other members.

Q. How do I change my rescue-team roster?

A. Until you complete the game's main storyline, you won't be able to remove your hero or partner from your party. To add a third Pokémon that you've already recruited, visit that Pokémon's Friend Area, speak to the Pokémon, and select Join Team. After completing the game, you will also gain the Make Leader option and will be able to put any recruit at the front of the pack. Note that your party members will return to their Friend Areas at the end of each day, so you must reassemble your party before every rescue job.

Q. Is type-matching still important?

A. Yes. The types interact the way they have in past games, but the effects have been slightly muted. For example, Fire-type attacks are still supereffective against Grass-type Pokémon, but instead of doing double damage, they now do one-and-a-half times the damage. See page 36 for details.

Q. How are the moves different in this game?

A. All the usual moves appear in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon, but those moves may be stronger or weaker than you remember. Now that range is a factor, some moves have the ability to hit targets across the room or affect a room full of enemies. Old-school Pokémon fans should take the time to reevaluate moves they've dismissed in the past—those moves may be much stronger now.

Looking for Work?

Pelipper Post Office is where you can receive SOS Mail from other players or send Thank-You Mail to the players who have kindly rescued you. It's also where you'll find the bulletin board, your main source of optional rescue jobs. Read each entry carefully and accept the jobs that look interesting and have lucrative rewards. You can accept eight jobs at once, and you should try to take as many jobs in any one area as you can. That way you can fulfill four or five jobs in a single trip and come home to a bevy of grateful clients.

RESCUE REQUESTS

THANK-YOU MAIL

BULLETIN BOARD

The Pelipper Post Office bulletin board is updated regularly, and old jobs will be replaced with newer and more-challenging ones as your rank rises and you unlock new dungeons. If you see a mission with a good reward, accept it even if you don't intend to do it right away. You can keep up to eight missions on your job list, and they won't go away until you delete them.

A Vast and Perilous World

The world outside of Pokémon Square contains a small region of tranquil Friend Areas surrounded by vast wildlands that contain nearly 50 different dungeons. To visit the Friend Areas, leave your team base via the west exit, where you'll be prompted to choose the friend you wish to visit. When you're ready to challenge a dungeon, leave your team base via the south exit; you'll be presented with a list of unlocked dungeons.

FRIEND AREAS

POKÉMON TOWN

DUNGEONS

You aren't allowed to explore the world freely. Instead, you'll need to unlock dungeons by beating other dungeons, acquiring certain Friend Areas, recruiting rare allies, or completing certain storyline-related rescue jobs. Once you've unlocked a dungeon, you can revisit it any time you want, although certain dungeons can be entered only by certain Pokémon types or Pokémon who know a particular HM move.

Into the Dungeon Depths

Entering a dungeon is a commitment, and you won't be allowed to leave until you succeed at your job or get KO'ed. (Withdrawing voluntarily is the same as a defeat, but an Escape Orb will allow you to leave early.) Before you visit each dungeon, make sure you have both accepted the job you want and selected Take Job in the Job List menu. You may also visit dungeons simply to explore and recruit, but if you do you won't be able to leave until you've completed the dungeon.

COMPLETE JOBS

RECRUIT POKÉMON

DEFEAT BOSSES

COLLECT ITEMS

In optional rescue jobs, your goal is to find a particular Pokémon on a specified floor. When you do, you'll be given the option of using your Rescue Team Badge to return to Pokémon Square in triumph. Opt to continue if you have other jobs to do or you just want to explore.

Q&A

Q. How is the item system different?

A. Your team's Toolbox (inventory) can hold 20 items at a time, while each Pokémon can hold a single item. The game features scores of new items, including seeds and orbs that have special effects on the battlefield, and damage-dealing projectiles that you can throw at foes. Since you will find dozens of items in every dungeon, inventory management is a crucial aspect of the game. You can't pick up new items if your inventory is full, so deposit unneeded items diligently at Kangaskhan Storage in Pokémon Square.

Q. What happened to the Pokémon Center?

A. The Pokémon Center does not exist in this game. You won't need its healing services, since all Pokémon return to full health whenever you return to your team base. The PC item storage has been replaced with Kangaskhan Storage, and you now read mail at Pelipper Post Office. It is not possible to trade Pokémon out of Pokémon Mystery Dungeon or challenge other players to team-vs.-team battles.

Q. So what multiplayer features are there?

A. Depending on which versions of Pokémon Mystery Dungeon you own, you and a friend may be able to trade items, send each other rescue jobs, find rare items with Tag mode and even appear in each others' games. Best of all, if your team is KO'ed on a rescue job, you can ask a friend's team to rescue you so you don't lose your items and money. See page 60 for all the details.

Q. How do I raise and evolve Pokémon?

A. Pokémon still level up by gaining Exp. Points in combat. You can also increase their stats with items such as Iron and the new gummies, which boost stats as well as IQ if they're fed to Pokémon who are in their Friend Areas. However, it is not possible to evolve any Pokémon until you've completed the game's main storyline. After that, Pokémon will be able to evolve at Luminous Cave in Pokémon Square. See page 45 for more information.

Q. Can I recruit all 386 known Pokémon?

A. Yes! It won't be easy, but if you acquire every Friend Area and evolve all of your Pokémon, you can acquire all 386 Pokémon in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon. There are five Pokémon that do not naturally appear in each version, but they can be recruited with a bit of help from a friend who has the other version. See "Wonder Mail" on page 60 to learn how to do this.

DUNGEON EXPLORATION

Wild Pokémon are only one of the perils you'll face in your dungeon forays. Brace yourself for deadly traps, impassable terrain, harsh weather, and a rumbling belly.

Taking Turns and Moving

At its core, Pokémon Mystery Dungeon is a turn-based RPG. Every time you take a step, use an item, or make an attack, you've taken a turn. Each of your friends gets to act next, then each of the floor's wild Pokémon. At the end of every turn the food in your belly decreases and you regain HP, but only in fractional amounts—you must take several turns before you see a change in your HP or belly.

Movement isn't just about getting around. Take advantage of the eight directions of movement when positioning yourself to target enemies.

The Benefits of Diagonal Movement

You generally want to move through dungeons as quickly as possible to keep your belly full and avoid unnecessary combat. Take advantage of your ability to move diagonally to clear floors quickly and efficiently.

6 Moves

9 Moves

If you are having trouble moving diagonally within a dungeon, hold down the R Button to restrict your movement to diagonal directions only. This will eliminate any possibility of accidentally pressing the wrong direction.

Fast Movement

If you want to zip through a floor you've already cleared or a long hallway, hold down the B Button when you press the Control Pad to move. You'll do a superfast dash in the direction you push, stopping automatically when you come within one square of an enemy, item, staircase, or hallway entrance. This is a great way to get through areas quickly, but it won't give you much time to prepare for enemy encounters.

Skipping Turns to Heal

Since you regain a lost hit point every few turns, you may be tempted to wander around just to regenerate health. There's no need to do this, since you can stand in one place and zip through turns any time you like by holding down the A and B Buttons. You'll gain health quickly, but time will go on, which means enemy Pokémon will keep moving. Time will return to normal speed as soon as any enemy enters the room.

Keeping Your Stomach Filled

Each turn you take will consume a bit of the food in your party leader's Belly. Additionally, every Pokémon consumes a bit of food when it uses a move (more if the move is linked) or performs other actions. When your Belly hits zero, you'll be weakened and you'll lose 1 HP every turn. Starving allies won't lose HP, but they won't be able to move, and can do only 1 point of damage. It's best to eat Apples to refill your Belly, but other items can do in a pinch.

A Bigger Belly

You can eat three sizes of Apple. Not only do Big Apples and Huge Apples fill you up more than the normal-size ones, but they can also increase the size of your Belly, boosting the amount of food it can hold by roughly 10%. However, this increase will last only until you leave the current dungeon.

Edible Items

Apples	Apples are the game's main source of food and come in various sizes.
Berries	Berries heal status conditions and fill Pokémon bellies slightly.
Seeds	Seeds strengthen or weaken Pokémon and fill their bellies slightly.
Drinks	Drinks like Calcium improve base stats and fill Pokémon bellies slightly.
Gummis	Gummis raise Pokémon IQ and fill their bellies slightly.

Moving Around as a Team

When your teammates are set to the "Let's go together" tactic, they'll attempt to follow in your exact footsteps. But getting multiple allies to step exactly where you want them to be can be tricky, especially when trying to maneuver them over items, into enemy range, or away from traps.

Independence

Even when teammates are told to follow you, they may get separated from the flock during combat or when stuck behind impassable terrain. They're not very good at finding their way back, so use your map to catch up with them, or use the stairs, which will make them rejoin you at the start of the next floor.

Open-Area Movement

When following their leader, teammates will stay where they are as long as they're no more than one space away from you. Note how in this example Magnemite does not move until you step two squares away.

Flip-Flop

Whenever you move into a space a teammate is occupying, you will swap places. This is a great way to pull a vulnerable ally out of combat, as Geodude does for Rattata in this example.

Specific Positioning

When you want to put an ally somewhere specific, like on this Wonder Tile, walls can get in the way. Move down to pull Totodile into the tile, switch places with Totodile, then with Magnemite. Now you're all cured!

Reading the Dungeon Map

You'll draw a map of each dungeon floor as you explore, recording not just the terrain but the exact positions of items, stairs, traps, and Wonder Tiles. The map also functions as a radar so you can keep track of your teammates and nearby foes.

MAP KEY:

Adjust Your Map and Data Options

In Blue Rescue Team, you can divide the map and team data between the two screens in six different ways. While in a dungeon, select Others from the main menu, then choose Game Options. Select Dungeon and experiment with the six display modes until you find the one you like.

The clear map display is a popular choice since it doesn't obstruct the action. But it can be hard to see in light-colored areas, so don't forget that you can switch to a shaded map at any time. Alternatively, you can press the Select Button to display only the map.

Tracking Lone Teammates

When your teammates split up, the default option is to switch the camera's focus to a Pokémon whenever it gets into combat. Switching back and forth between far-flung allies can be jarring, so you may want to select Self for Far-Off Pals in the Dungeon option screen. This will keep the camera on the leader at all times.

Dungeon Terrain

If you have the right ability, you can cross any type of terrain—even solid walls! Some Pokémon types have the ability to cross unusual terrain types, but any Pokémon that has a high enough IQ can learn how to cross any terrain with advanced All-Terrain Hiker and Super Mobile skills. However, crossing special terrain can be dangerous in a mixed-type party, since doing so will separate you from allies who lack the ability to cross that terrain type. In these situations, use your terrain ability only to run to stairs, grab items, or get the jump on an enemy. Note that if you try to return to ground terrain on a square where a friend is standing, that friend will be warped to a random spot in the dungeon.

GROUND

Ground terrain is the basic dungeon-floor surface that any Pokémon can travel on.

WATER

Water is the most common special terrain type, appearing in roughly half of all dungeons.

FLOAT

Float terrain has deep chasms that appear in certain dungeons. It is fairly rare.

MAGMA

The world's hot spots have dungeons that contain dangerous lava pits.

WALL

Walls look different in each dungeon. Break them if you can—some conceal rare items!

Pokémon Types

Typically, Water-types have the ability to cross water, and Fire-types have the ability to cross magma. Flying-types can soar over anything, even chasms, but be very careful about using them in magma stages, since the lava spurts will randomly cause the Burn condition to anyone flying overhead. Since there's no easy way to make Flying-type allies avoid flying over magma in a large dungeon, you may want to leave them at home.

Breaking Walls

There are several ways to break dungeon walls. The HM Rock Smash is one, but the best is the Super Mobile IQ skill that allows any Pokémon to punch through easily. Ghost-types can pass through walls, but it will take a toll on their bellies.

Terrain and the Map

The onscreen map will show only ground terrain surfaces, so water, magma, and float terrain will be indistinguishable from dungeon walls. You'll need to focus on the terrain around you if you want to find opportunities to take shortcuts or reach seemingly inaccessible areas.

Dungeon Tiles

In addition to five terrain types, you'll find three special types of tiles with unusual properties. Stairs appear in all dungeons, while Wonder Tiles and the shopkeeper's carpet are rare treats.

STAIRS

Locating the stairs is the main goal on each dungeon floor. Stand on the stairs and select Proceed to move to the next floor. All stairs are one-way, so there's no way to backtrack.

Kecleon Shops

Sometimes the Kecleon take their stock on the road and set up shop in dungeons, giving you a welcome opportunity to pick up needed items and sell extra stock. To make a purchase, take an item and step off of the carpet. Make sure you have the cash to pay for it, or you'll be branded a thief, and an army of Kecleon will appear to administer justice.

WONDER TILE

If a Pokémon has a yellow arrow over its head, it means a move or trap has lowered the Pokémon's stats. Have each affected Pokémon step on a Wonder Tile to return to normal.

CARPET

Carpet tiles compose the floor of Kecleon Shops. If you set an item on the carpet, Kecleon will buy it from you.

Dangerous Trap Tiles

The game's post-ending dungeons have scores of nasty traps that you won't see until you step on an otherwise-normal-looking square of terrain. You can reveal traps with certain held items and orbs, with IQ skills like Trap Seer, and by throwing items onto them or using basic attacks from adjacent squares.

Unless you've used a special item, you won't know where the traps are until you stumble onto them. Traps appear only in rooms, usually near items or stairs, but never in hallways.

Revealed traps can trigger multiple times, so make sure you don't lead a party member onto a trap after your leader triggers it. Review the basics of team movement on page 31.

CHESTNUT TRAP

Spiky Chestnut Traps do a flat 10 points of damage to any Pokémon who step on them.

EXPLOSION TRAP

When Explosion Traps blow up, they damage each Pokémon within two squares. To each ally it deals damage roughly equal to half of that ally's remaining HP. It deals 80 points of damage to wild Pokémon.

GUST TRAP

A Gust Trap will send you flying 10 squares in any direction. If you hit a wall or a Pokémon, you'll take a small amount of damage.

MUD TRAP

Mud Traps knock all of your basic stats (Attack, Defense, Special Attack, Special Defense) down by one level.

PITFALL TRAP

If your party leader steps on a Pitfall Trap, it will take five points of damage and fall to the next floor. If an ally steps on the trap, it will be removed from the dungeon entirely.

POISON TRAP

A Poison Trap will inflict the Poison condition on any Pokémon who steps on it.

POKÉMON TRAP

When you step on this trap, all unclaimed items in the current room turn into enemy Pokémon of the types that appear naturally on that floor.

PP-ZERO TRAP

When a Pokémon steps on a PP-Zero Trap, a random move in its move list will be reduced to 0 PP. Bring lots of extra Max Elixirs to dungeons where these are common.

SEAL TRAP

Seal Traps seal one of the Pokémon's known moves at random, preventing it from being used until you reach a new floor or use an item or ability to cure the condition.

SELFDESTRUCT TRAP

When Selfdestruct Traps blow up, they damage adjacent Pokémon. To each ally they deal damage roughly equal to half of that ally's remaining HP—40 points of damage to wild Pokémon.

SLOW TRAP

Slow Traps reduce a Pokémon's movement rate by 1, causing it to take turns less frequently than other Pokémon.

GRIMY TRAP

When you step on a Grimy Trap, an edible item in your inventory will be transformed into Grimy Food. You can eat Grimy Food, but it will give you negative status conditions, so eat it only near stairs.

SLUMBER TRAP

Any Pokémon who step on this trap will be afflicted with the Sleep condition.

SPIKED TILE

Spiked Tiles do a flat 20 points of damage to any Pokémon who step on them.

SPIN TRAP

Spin Traps inflict the Confuse condition. It's hard to avoid leading your allies onto the same trap when you're confused, so rest or use basic attacks until the condition wears off.

STICKY TRAP

Sticky Traps cover the Pokémon's held item or a toolbox item with gunk. You can not use or remove a sticky item. The item will return to normal if you use a Cleanse Orb or leave the dungeon.

SUMMON TRAP

A sweet aroma spreads, spawning between one and four enemy Pokémon (of the type that occur naturally on that floor) in the squares adjacent to the trap.

WARP TRAP

When you step on a Warp Trap, you'll be sent to a random location on the floor. Warp Traps can actually be useful when you're searching for the stairs.

Your Vision inside Dungeons

Some dungeons are darker than others, restricting your vision to a few squares. While you'll still be able to see terrain, the darkness prevents you from detecting other Pokémon until they wander into the light. This isn't much of an issue in rooms, where you can view the entire room and one square of connecting hallway in any lighting condition. But hallways can be extremely dangerous, since you won't be able to see your enemies coming. In the darkest lighting conditions, they won't be visible until they're a single square away!

Dark Lighting

ROOM

HALLWAY

In dark lighting, you can see foes two squares away in hallways, giving you a single turn to use thrown items or ranged moves before they're upon you.

Darkest Lighting

HALLWAY

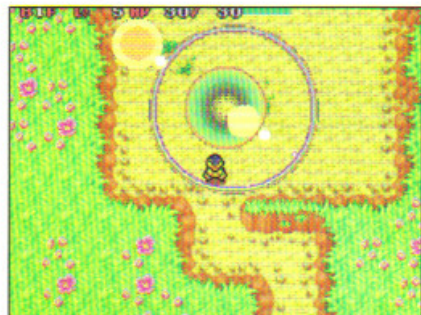

Your vision in rooms remains the same, but in the darkest lighting you'll be able to see only Pokémon who are immediately adjacent to you in hallways.

The Effects of Weather

Weather affects different Pokémon in different ways, empowering some while harming others. Most dungeons have Clear weather (which has no special effects), but some areas have special weather conditions that occur at random on a floor-by-floor basis. Within dungeons, you can check the weather at any time by pressing the X Button.

Sunny

Sunny weather gives Fire-type moves a 50% damage bonus, but it cripples Water-type moves by cutting their power in half.

Fog

Fog's thick haze cuts the efficacy of Electric-type moves by half. It provides no bonus to moves of any type.

Snow

Ice-type Pokémon love a good snowfall. It increases their movement rate, allowing them to move faster and act more often.

Weather Control

Certain moves, items, and Pokémon abilities can alter the weather, allowing wily strategists with themed parties to get a major advantage. (For example, you can use the Rain Dance move to boost a party full of Water-types.) You can prevent damage from weather effects with the Weather Band or Psyduck's Cloud Nine ability.

Hail

More weather only an Ice-type could love! Hailstorms deal five points of damage to all non-Ice-type Pokémon (including enemies) every 10 turns.

Sandstorm

Like Hail, Sandstorms deal five points of damage to all Pokémon every 10 turns. Rock-, Ground-, and Steel-types are immune to the damage.

Rain

Rain boosts Water-type moves by 50% while cutting the efficacy of Fire-type moves in half. The damp weather also prevents explosions from traps and moves like Selfdestruct.

Cloudy

Cloudy weather casts a pall over all special moves, reducing their damage by 25%. Only Normal-type moves deal damage normally.

DUNGEON COMBAT

Ranged attacks, linked moves, and a refined type-matching chart are only a few of the twists in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon's new battle system.

Pokémon Attack Range

In the past, moves were judged solely on their attack power and effect, but the new range factor has turned the system on its head. Moves that can hit multiple targets or attack from far away are incredibly valuable, and even the simple ability to cut corners is significant. Select Info on the Move menu to see each move's range.

FOE IN FRONT
 The Foe in Front range limits you to hitting adjacent foes only. You can strike diagonally, but you'll miss if you are even partially blocked by a wall.
CUTS CORNERS
 Moves that cut corners can hit diagonally even if partially blocked by a wall. These are very useful for getting the jump on foes in hallways.
STRAIGHT LINE
 Like thrown items, these long-range moves fly straight and can hit a target from up to 10 spaces away (including diagonals).
3 TILES DIAGONALLY AND IN FRONT
 Moves with this range are rare but can be devastating to foes in Monster Houses and Pokémon who attack as a group.

USER

Moves with this range affect only the Pokémon who use them, typically boosting their strength, recovering HP, or causing a positive status condition.

POKÉMON WITHIN X-TILE RANGE

Most of these moves hit all adjacent targets, but a few damage everyone within a two-square range. Note that some affect only enemies or allies.

ALL IN ROOM

These moves hit every target in a room and any targets on the nearest square of a connecting hallway. If used in a hallway, they hit targets within two squares. Note that some affect only enemies or only allies.

Affecting a Whole Dungeon Floor

A few moves can affect the entire floor! These include mass-healing moves like Morning Sun and Moonlight, weatherlike effects such as Mud Sport, and the occasional attack move like Teeter Dance.

Know Your Pokémon's Stats

Five simple stats determine how much damage your Pokémon can deal and how much it can endure. While stats may not be as memorable as flashy moves or abilities, they can be the difference between success and failure. View the summaries of an ally's stats before determining if the ally is worth using, and boost the stats when possible with gummies and items like Calcium and Zinc.

HP	When a Pokémon is damaged, it loses HP. When its HP runs out, it faints and can no longer be used.
Attack	The higher a Pokémon's Attack stat, the more damage it inflicts with physical attacks.
Defense	The higher a Pokémon's Defense stat, the less damage it suffers from physical attacks.
Special Attack	The higher a Pokémon's Special Attack stat, the more damage it inflicts with special attacks.
Special Defense	The higher a Pokémon's Special Defense stat, the less damage it suffers from special attacks.

To view the stats of your Pokémon, select Team, choose a Pokémon, and select Summary.

Pokémon Types and the New Modifiers

Each Pokémon has one or two types that determine what move types it specializes in and what move types it's vulnerable to. Pokémon veterans should be aware that the modifiers have changed significantly in Mystery Dungeon; the penalty for vulnerabilities has been particularly lessened, making defense-oriented Pokémon types like Steel and Dragon less valuable.

Physical Attacks vs. Special Attacks

You exploit weaknesses by using moves with an advantageous type. Moves can be divided into two categories: physical attacks that deal damage based on your Attack Score and the target's Defense score, and special attacks that deal damage based on the user's Special Attack score and the target's Special Defense score. Physical attack types are shown in black on the chart; special attacks appear in green.

Dual-Type Pokémon

What happens when you use a Bug-type move against a dual-type Pokémon like Grass-and-Poison-type Bulbasaur? Bug-types are strong vs. Grass but weak vs. Poison, and in the past the two effects would cancel each other out to do normal damage. But now the "weak vs." penalty is -10%, while the "strong vs." bonus is +50%, so the two average out to a damage bonus of +35%! (100% damage - 10% weak vs. penalty = 90% damage. 90% + 50% strong vs. bonus = 135% total bonus.)

Damage Multipliers

Despite the changes, type-matching is still far and away the most effective tactic you can use against foes. Here are a few examples:

- A Grass-type attack will deal 50% extra damage to a Rock-type Pokémon.
- A Grass-type attack will deal double damage to a Rock-and-Ground-type Pokémon.
- A Grass-type attack from a Grass-type Pokémon will deal 125% damage to a Rock-type Pokémon and 200% damage to a Rock-and-Ground-type Pokémon.
- If the user has the Type-Advantage Master IQ skill, a Grass-type attack has a 40% chance of scoring a critical hit against a Rock- or Rock-and-Ground-type Pokémon. (The usual rate is 12%.) A successful critical hit will deal an additional 50% damage.
- A Dark-type attack will deal 10% less damage when used against a Fighting-type Pokémon.
- A Ghost-type attack will deal 50% less damage to Normal-types.

Damage Multipliers
x1.5 (+50%)	Damage for + attacks
x1.5 (+50%)	Extra damage from randomly occurring critical hits
x1.5 (+50%)	Damage when attack type matches the attacking Pokémon's type
x0.9 (-10%)	Damage for - attacks
x0.5 (-50%)	Damage for = attacks

Every Pokémon Has Built-in Attacks

One new feature in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon is the basic attack. You can unleash this move at any time by pressing the A Button, and since it has no PP cost, you can use it as often as you like. It doesn't do much damage, but hey, it's free! You have one other built-in attack, which is called Struggle. You can use it only when all of your moves have zero PP. To unleash it, hold the L Button and press A. It will do heavy damage to its target but about 25% of the damage will be reflected back at you.

The major drawback to using basic attacks is that you earn far fewer Exp. Points than you would with other attacks. You need only to use a single move against an enemy Pokémon to earn the bonus Exp. Points, so always try to use at least one move against each enemy.

Move Statistics

Moves have their own set of properties and statistics, which you can view if you select Team, choose a Pokémon, and select Moves. You'll find a description of the move's effect, range, and type. However, not all stats appear on the Moves screen. Important stats like Basic Attack and Accuracy can be found on our moves list, which begins on page 136.

DESCRIPTION

When viewing descriptions in the Moves menu, you'll notice that some move descriptions have names of other moves or status conditions highlighted in blue. To get a definition of the highlighted term, press the A Button.

RANGE

You can learn about possible move ranges on page 35. In the Moves menu, pay close attention to whether area-effect moves may harm your allies. When a move says "All Pokémon" instead of "All foes," you run the risk of friendly-fire casualties.

BASIC ATTACK POWER (BA)

A move's Basic Attack Power determines the base amount of damage it inflicts. This number is then modified by the Pokémon's Attack or Special Attack (depending on the move's type) and type modifiers to determine the move's effectiveness. Generally, you should replace low-BA moves with high-BA moves whenever you have the opportunity.

ACCURACY (AC)

Accuracy determines the base chance that a move will hit its target. Odds of success may be altered by Pokémon abilities, held items, or status conditions.

POWER POINTS (PP)

PP reflects the number of times you can use each move. This is an especially important consideration for your lead Pokémon, who will use moves far more frequently than its friends will. Make sure your leader knows a few high-PP moves! The PP of all of your moves will be refilled whenever you leave a dungeon, are revived with a Reviver Seed, or drink a Max Elixir.

Learning and Managing Moves

Level Up

You'll gain most of your moves by leveling up. Generally speaking, Pokémon learn the same moves at the same levels that they have in past games. Evolving your Pokémon will cause them to learn new moves more slowly.

Move Limit

Each Pokémon can know only four moves at once. When you learn a fifth move, you'll be prompted to forget one of the five. If you later decide you want that move back, you can relearn it at the Gulpin Link Shop.

HMs and TMs

The other way to learn moves is from TMs and HMs. TMs are commonly found in dungeons or at the Kecleon Shop, and there's no limit to the number of times you can find or buy the same TM. You'll find HMs only in special dungeons after completing the game's storyline, and they can be used to teach any number of Pokémon the same move.

There is nothing stopping you from using TMs to learn superpowerful moves early in the game. You'll find some of the best TMs only after you've played for a few hours, although finding the right one for your Pokémon will take some serious luck. To give yourself an edge when starting out, ask a friend to trade you an extra TM. Experienced players are likely to have lots of extra TMs in storage.

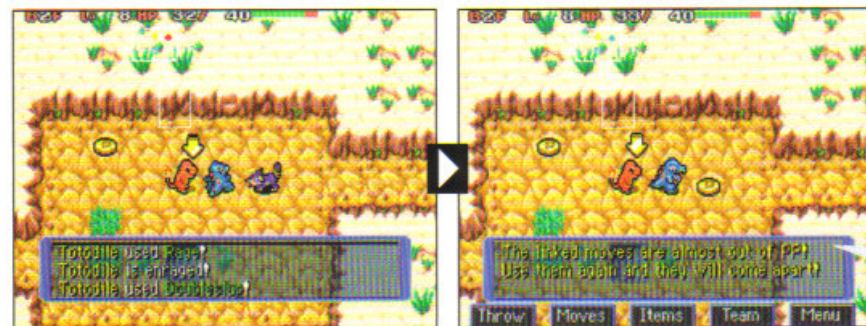

Recycling Used TMs

When you use a TM, it doesn't disappear. Instead, the item Used TM remains in your inventory. If you learn the Recycle move (available to Mr. Mime, Porygon, and Porygon2), you can use it to refresh all of your Used TMs, allowing you to use the same TMs over and over again! Note that you can't leave Used TMs in storage, but you can discard them in dungeons.

Linking Moves

A significant new feature in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon is the ability to link moves together. Linking moves connects a move in your move list to the move below it, allowing you to use both moves in a single turn. In fact, you can link all four moves in the list together if you want, although you'll run out of PP quickly this way (and certain moves cannot be linked at all). Linking moves is a great way to get some use out of moves that lower or raise stats, since it can be hard to justify spending a turn to use them in combat. For best results, link moves that have the same range and a similar number of PP. When linking moves for your friends, it's best to put an attack as the top move in the link, since the game's AI considers only the top move when choosing its action for the turn. If you begin with a stat-increasing move like Withdraw or Focus Energy, the AI will use that move outside of combat, wasting the PP of the attacks linked to it.

Watch Your PP

The major downside to linking moves is that using the linked move deducts PP from both moves, causing you to run out of PP twice as fast. If you use a linked move until one runs out of PP, the moves will break apart and you'll need to relink them later.

Leave the Linking to Gulpin

For a mere 150 Poké, Gulpin in Pokémon Square will link as many moves as you want for as many Pokémon as you want, provided they're in your party at the time. Gulpin will also allow those Pokémon to remember any moves they have learned naturally (by leveling up) and since forgotten.

You can also link moves by using Link Boxes, rare items that you'll find occasionally in dungeons. But Link Boxes allow you to link moves only for a single Pokémon, and don't let you remember lost moves. You just can't beat the service you get from Gulpin!

Status Conditions

Status conditions are both a major threat to your party and a significant weapon in your arsenal. Thanks to wide ranges that may affect multiple foes and the ability to link status-condition-inflicting moves so that they no longer take a turn to use, moves that cause offensive and defensive status conditions have never been stronger.

Most status conditions cause special icons to appear over the heads of afflicted Pokémon.

Condition	Effect on Afflicted Pokémon
Burn	Takes 5 points of damage every 20 turns
Confuse	Randomly changes direction before moving or attacking, possibly striking friends
Cringe	Can't attack or use moves or certain items for a turn
Frozen	Can't take any action and can take damage only from Fire-type moves
Infatuated	Can't take any action
Paralysis	Movement slowed and can't attack or use moves or certain items
Poison	Takes 4 points of damage every 10 turns and can't regenerate HP
Sleep	Can't take any action

The chart above shows the most common status conditions you'll encounter, but there are nearly 100 different status conditions in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon. You can see the full list, with treatment and prevention options, on page 143.

OFFENSE

HARMFUL MOVES

If you're in for a tough battle, inflicting status conditions is a great strategy. Immobilize your target with Sleep, Infatuated, or Paralysis, sap its strength with Poison or Cursed, and weaken its Defense or Special Defense to increase the damage it will take from your attacks.

HARMFUL ITEMS

You can throw seeds like the Stun Seed and Totter Seed at foes to inflict negative conditions. Orbs like the Petrify Orb, Slumber Orb, and Silence Orb can do all sorts of nasty stuff to your foes.

HARMFUL ABILITIES

Many Pokémon have abilities that can inflict status conditions on anyone who attacks them. Beware of Pokémon with Cute Charm, Effect Spore, Poison Point, or Static. Pokémon with the Synchronize ability can reflect status conditions dealt to them back to the user.

MOVES

OTHER USEFUL MOVES

Moves like Pursuit and Counter allow you to reflect damage back at your foes as you attack normally.

ITEMS

ABILITIES

DEFENSE

PROTECTIVE MOVES

Protect your Pokémon from negative status conditions with Safeguard or Magic Coat, and from damage with Light Screen or Reflect. Moves like Endure and Protect are better than ever, because the user can rely on its friends to take down foes while it soaks up enemy attacks.

PROTECTIVE ITEMS

Orbs like the Evasion Orb, Invisify Orb, and Rebound Orb can give your Pokémon defensive status conditions. Certain held items may apply positive conditions or prevent negative ones.

PROTECTIVE ABILITIES

Many Pokémon have abilities that prevent negative status conditions (Immunity, Insomnia, Limber) or minimize their effects (Early Bird, Shed Skin). Abilities like White Smoke and Clear Body prevent stat reductions.

IQ SKILLS

As their IQ rises, Pokémon will learn skills to minimize the effects of negative status conditions. Nontraitor will stop Confused Pokémon from attacking their friends, Nonsleeper will prevent the Sleep condition, and Self-Curer will allow the Pokémon to recover from any timed-duration status condition more quickly. When you're using status conditions offensively, Status Checker will make sure a Pokémon teammate does not try to inflict a condition on a Pokémon that already has that condition.

Analyzing Your Conditions

If you can't tell what bug your Pokémon has caught, open the Team menu, select the afflicted Pokémon, bring up its Summary screen, and press right to view the Status page. You can then select any status condition and press the A Button to bring up detailed information about the condition's effects and duration.

Curing Ailments

Once a Pokémon has been afflicted with a status condition, there are several ways to remove it.

Moves

A few moves, like Aromatherapy, Heal Bell, and Refresh, can be used to cure status conditions. These moves are as rare as they are valuable; take good care of the Pokémon that learn them!

Items

Berries can cure most common status conditions. You can either eat the berries when needed, or give them to Pokémon to hold so they'll trigger automatically. (To use them to cure a friend, throw them at that friend.) There are also bands, ribbons, and scarfs Pokémon can hold to prevent feared status conditions.

Wonder Tiles

When you step on a Wonder Tile, all of your boosted or lowered stats will return to normal.

Time

Most immobilizing status conditions clear up after a few turns. Sleep, Cursed, Frozen, and Infatuated typically fade within five turns, but Confused is a little bit nastier, lasting for up to 10 turns.

Stairs

Poison, Burn, and most stat-boosting or stat-lowering conditions won't fade over time. The only way to reset them without using a move or item is to head to the stairs—no status condition will carry over to another floor.

The Turn-Based Battle System

You'll be badly outnumbered during your dungeon forays, but you have one huge advantage: Your entire team gets to strike first in combat. This allows careful strategists to defeat their enemies without ever giving them a chance to fight back!

STEP 1:

OPEN WITH RANGED ATTACKS

With long-range attacks or thrown items, Pokémon can attack each other from up to 10 squares away. You can't see that far, but enemies within that distance may appear as red dots on your map. If you don't strike at the earliest opportunity, your enemy might!

STEP 2:

THE LEADER STRIKES FIRST

When your foes are within range of your standard attacks, the true battle begins. The player-controlled leader kicks off combat by taking a single action. Changing the direction the leader is facing and tweaking settings such as friends' moves, IQ skills, and tactics will not use up your turn, but the following actions will.

■ MOVE

You may move one square per turn, even diagonally. As a general rule you should never move toward a foe who is one square away, or you'll give it the opportunity to attack you on the same turn.

■ ATTACK

Use a basic attack or any move to damage your foe.

■ USE ITEM

The leader may use any item in the toolbox, but its friends may use only the items they're holding. To use an item (such as a berry) on a friend, you must face that friend and throw the item.

■ REST

Press A and B together to simply rest for the turn. This is a good move when there is one space between you and a foe, since it forces that foe to waste its turn approaching you if it doesn't have a ranged attack. However, moving sideways or diagonally to bring a friend into combat range is often a better use of your turn in this situation.

STEP 3:

EVERYONE GETS A TURN

Friends act next, but if they're using the "Let's go together" tactic and haven't been maneuvered onto the front lines, they may have nothing to do. Enemies act last, and will usually move closer if they have no ranged attacks.

STEP 4:

VICTORY

When someone from your team defeats a foe, everyone in the party will earn an equal amount of Exp. Points. If your leader landed the final blow, was adjacent to the target, and has the appropriate Friend Area, the defeated Pokémon may ask to join your rescue team.

Jumping the Gun

Teammates who have long-range attacks will often use them whenever there is a target in range. This is usually a good thing, but if you're fleeing or trying to avoid waking sleeping Pokémon, you may want to deselect your friends' long-range moves.

Speedy Pokémon

A Pokémon that has had its speed doubled by a move or item (like a Quick Seed) will get to act twice each turn. A Pokémon that has had its speed cut in half will get to act only every other turn.

Throwing Items

Special items like Gravelerocks, Sticks, and Iron Thorns deal heavy damage when thrown, allowing you to attack effectively at long range without using any moves. You can also give these items to allies—they'll throw them at foes if they have the Item Master IQ skill turned on. Some seeds will have special effects when thrown at other Pokémon.

Foes Respawn

You can battle enemies all day, but you'll never clear the floor. After enemies are defeated, new ones will appear. So don't dawdle after combat—get moving!

Aiming Your Attacks

While holding the Y Button you can use the Control Pad to rotate your character without moving. This will also make a series of colored titles appear, allowing you to tell exactly how far away each Pokémon is and if there is a target directly in your path. Check to see if an enemy is on a red tile before you throw an item or use a long-range attack.

Don't Hit Your Friends

You can't hit friends with close-range moves or basic attacks, but long-range attacks and thrown items will damage friends if they're in the way. However, items like Gravelerocks that fly in an arc will soar over friends and even walls to hit their targets.

If You're Defeated

When your leader faints in a dungeon and you don't have a Reviver Seed to bring it back, your mission will end in failure. You'll then lose all of your gold, all of your party's held items, and half of the items (chosen at random) in your toolbox. You'll awaken in your team base.

If your friends are KO'ed, they'll drop their held item and return to their Friend Area, unless they were recruited on the same job in which they (or you) were KO'ed. In that case, they'll be gone for good.

Call for Help

If you can't stand the thought of losing your progress and items, there is hope. You can send out a distress call to any friend who is capable of entering the same dungeon with his own game. If your pal can save you, you'll be restored to full health on the floor where you fainted. See page 60 for details.

Preparing Your Rescue Team

Early in the game, you'll have little freedom when it comes to crafting your team—you will always journey with your hero and your partner, with only the third slot available (sometimes) for a Pokémon of your choice. After you've beaten the game, however, you'll gain the ability to craft teams out of any of your recruits, with any leader you like. Read up on a job before you set off on a journey; the right members can spell the difference between success and failure. Consider these factors when drafting your roster:

■ TERRAIN ABILITIES

Many dungeons have some form of specialized terrain, like water or magma. In later dungeons you'll find items surrounded by specialized terrain, so a Pokémon that can cross that terrain is a must.

Supplies and Held Items

You'll find many items on the dungeon floor, but you won't necessarily find all of the items you need to survive. Fill your toolbox with staple supplies before every journey: Apples to refill your belly, berries to restore your health, Max Elixirs to recover lost PP, and Escape Orbs in case you need to get out in a hurry. Reviver Seeds and throwing items aren't a necessity, but they come in mighty handy.

■ POKÉMON TYPE

The Pokémon in many dungeons share a common type. Figure out what that type is for the current dungeon, and choose Pokémon whose moves have an advantage against it.

■ RECRUITMENT OPPORTUNITIES

If a dungeon is full of Pokémon you'd like to recruit, bring your highest-level Pokémon to serve as the leader (which will make recruiting easier) and leave plenty of open slots for new teammates.

■ DUNGEON SIZE

For long dungeons, choose high-level Pokémon with a lot of attack moves and plenty of PP. Smaller dungeons are better for Pokémon who you're trying to level up, or who have limited attack options.

■ JOB TYPE

Some rescue jobs involve escorting a low-level Pokémon through a difficult dungeon. In those cases, bring as many members as you can to deflect attacks away from your vulnerable client.

Size Considerations

At no point is your team allowed to have more than six size points' worth of Pokémon. Many of the game's strongest Pokémon have a size of four—those Pokémon will need to fly solo or with no more than a single size-one friend if they hope to recruit any wild Pokémon.

Don't forget about held items for you and your teammates. If you don't have anything specific to protect against, an Oran Berry is always a good choice. For dungeons in which a particular status condition is common, it's a good idea to outfit your Pokémon with the berry that cures the condition or, better yet, the scarf that prevents it entirely.

Fighting as a Team

The only Pokémon you can control directly is your team leader. All of your friends behave independently, but by assigning a tactic and setting up moves lists and IQ skills you can give them guidelines that affect their behavior.

Setting Moves

Your friends aren't always great at judging when to use a move, and may actually harm your party by going overboard with moves like Earthquake and Selfdestruct. Fortunately, you can enter your friends' moves screens and select or deselect any move they know. Pokémon will use only their selected (starred) moves.

Quick-Set Moves

You can set a single move for your leader. That allows you to use the move at any time without entering the menu screen, simply by holding the L Button and pressing A.

Tactics and IQ

The basic order you give your allies is called a tactic. Tactics range from pursuing foes aggressively to avoiding combat entirely (see page 42 for more). In combat you can change your Pokémon's tactic at any time, allowing you to pull wounded friends out of combat or direct a friend to wait at a certain spot to block incoming foes.

Adjust a Pokémon's IQ

A Pokémon's IQ consists of a set of tricks and skills it has learned to improve its behavior. You gain new skills as your IQ improves, but you can't use them all at once. Select the best IQ skills for each dungeon situation.

Healing Allies

It's important to keep track of your friends' hit points, since they won't alter their behavior without orders from you. To heal wounded allies, throw them Oran Berries, give them Heal Ribbons to hold, or rest by holding the A and B Buttons until they recover naturally. If you can't do any of these things in the heat of battle, change your allies' tactic to "Get away" and hope for the best.

Reviving Allies

When a friend is KO'ed, it will automatically help itself to a Reviver Seed in your toolbox. If you'd rather save your seeds than revive an expendable ally, turn off that friend's Item Master IQ skill.

Open-Room Combat

Fighting in open rooms will give you space to maneuver your friends onto the front lines. But just as these rooms allow your allies to gang up on foes, the reverse is also true. When you enter a room with multiple foes, stay near walls or hallways to make it difficult for multiple foes to surround a single ally.

Monster Houses are tough, but they do give you an opportunity to deal massive damage with moves and items that have a room-wide effect.

Monster Houses

Seemingly empty rooms that contain many items may be Monster Houses. When you enter these rooms, wild Pokémon will fall from the sky, leaving your leader facing difficult odds. If you intend to fight, your first priority should be to push farther inward, making an aggressive diagonal movement that will pull a friend into the room. Any friend who can't handle the heat should be assigned the "Wait there" tactic.

Hallway Combat

In hallways your leader will usually be the only Pokémon capable of attacking, but at least it will have only one foe at a time to worry about. Use aggressive moves against enemies who can inflict status conditions, because if the leader is afflicted, no one will be able to pick up the slack.

Switching Position

Although hallways limit you to one-on-one combat, they do make it easy to rearrange your team. If the friend behind you has more advantageous moves or you want to get your wounded leader off of the front lines, move into a friend's square to switch places.

Catching Your Foes Napping

You'll often encounter wild Pokémon that are sleeping peacefully in dungeon rooms. You can get the jump on them while they're dozing (use long-range moves, since they'll awaken when you approach them), but it's best to leave them be to avoid unnecessary combat and prevent a new foe from appearing.

Achieving Your Dungeon Goals

Once you enter a dungeon, you have three ways to get out with your inventory intact: finish a rescue job, complete the last floor of the dungeon, or use an Escape Orb. If you use any of these methods you'll be allowed to keep everything you've earned on your foray, including Poké, items, and new recruits.

■ BEATING THE DUNGEON

You'll usually be introduced to a new dungeon as part of a storyline quest. To advance the storyline and unlock future dungeons, you'll have no choice but to reach the last floor to witness an event or battle a difficult boss.

■ COMPLETING A RESCUE JOB

If you're on an optional rescue job, you'll be searching for a certain Pokémon on a specified floor. When you find it (look for the yellow dot of an ally on your map) you'll have the option of leaving with the client or continuing to explore.

Advanced Combat Tips

In the first several dungeons, concentrate on learning the basics of movement and combat. Once you've mastered the fundamentals, experiment with a few of the advanced combat strategies below.

Adjust Positions While You Brace for Enemies

Most wild Pokémon don't have access to ranged attacks, and it's always best to let such foes come to you so you can have the first attack. While you wait, adjust your team so that when your foe does arrive, it will be within range of two allies instead of one. In a team of two, use a diagonal backstep to put yourself in line with the friend behind you. In larger teams, move perpendicular to the approaching foe to pull forward a friend from the back row.

Tell Your Friends What Not to Do

While there is no way to directly order a friend to take a certain action, you can get the same results by forbidding it from doing anything else. When you want it to use a certain move, deselect all of its other moves and select the Exclusive Move-User IQ skill. If it lacks a usable item, it will have no other option!

Exploit the Special Properties of Throwing Items

Items like Gravelerocks, Sticks, and Iron Thorns can be useful in a number of surprising ways. Not only do they allow you to strike at distant foes, but you can use them as normal when you're confused or paralyzed and can take no other effective action. They deal fixed amounts of damage regardless of type, and even penetrate immunity abilities like Shedinja's Wonder Guard. Items that fly in an arc, like Gravelerocks and Geo Pebbles, can fly over allies and walls to hit targets, and can even hit Ghost-types that are imbedded within walls.

Defeat Tough Foes by Using Status Conditions

While most video games forbid players from using status conditions against strong foes like bosses, that isn't true of Pokémon Mystery Dungeon. You can bring down virtually any boss by using moves that cause Paralysis or other nasty effects—in fact, this is one of the strongest strategies you can use in boss fights.

Play Hot Potato with Bad Held Items

On your quest you'll find several held items that seem to have purely negative effects. You may be tempted to sell or discard them, but it's far more effective (and fun) to use them as weapons. If you throw an item to an enemy Pokémon that isn't holding an item, it will usually catch it (Pokémon may also pick up items that are placed in their paths). So if you toss a Warp Scarf at a foe, it will randomly warp every few turns and provide nonstop comedy as it struggles in vain to reach you. For an obscenely easy way to beat any boss who isn't holding an item, throw a Diet Ribbon—it will zero out the boss's Belly, making it immobile and incapable of doing more than one point of damage!

Pokémon News

If you leave space in your mailbox, you'll receive issues of the Pokémon News on a daily basis. Many issues contain gameplay tips and may remind you of important game strategies.

Quicksaves and Giving Up

If you can't complete a dungeon in one sitting, you can use the Quicksave option (in the Others menu) to save your position until the next time you play. If you're in over your head and don't have an Escape Orb, selecting Give Up will allow you to leave the dungeon, but at the cost of your held items, Poké, and half of your toolbox items.

TACTICS AND IQ

You can't directly control your party members in dungeon combat, but you can give them sage guidance with the new tactics and IQ systems.

Adjusting Your Tactics

Tactics are the basic orders that direct a friend's strategy. A friend will never disobey its tactic, no matter the situation. All Pokémon begin with "Let's go together," "Go after foes," and "Avoid the first hit," and will learn the other tactics as they gain levels, up to Level 40.

You can switch a friend's tactic at any time. The default "Let's go together" tactic is good for most situations, but you may want to switch to "Go after foes" for bosses or "Get away" if a friend is wounded, for example.

Tactic	Description	Learned at level
Let's go together	The Pokémon will try to stay with the leader.	1
Go the other way	The Pokémon will go off on its own, heedless of the leader.	25
Go after foes	The Pokémon will head straight toward any foe it spots.	1
Avoid the first hit	The Pokémon will try to avoid being attacked first. If a foe comes close, the Pokémon will attack.	1
Avoid trouble	The Pokémon will try to avoid foes if its HP is low.	35
Be patient	The Pokémon will stop moving if its HP is low.	40
Keep your distance	The Pokémon will try to keep its distance from foes while moving.	20
Wait there	The Pokémon will stop moving. (But it will continue to attack adjacent foes.)	15
Get away	The Pokémon will flee from others whether they are friendly or not. The Pokémon will not be able to use any items.	10

Pokémon IQ Skills

Each Pokémon's IQ scores gives it access to a variety of skills that improve its behavior. For example, an IQ skill can prevent a Pokémon from trying to use moves that are out of PP, or teach it to attack wounded foes first. Skills learned later will even give Pokémon new abilities, such as improving its critical-hit rate against foes who are weak to its type, and allowing it to cross terrain that would be an obstacle otherwise.

Learn New Skills as Your IQ Rises

The only way to raise a Pokémon's IQ is to feed it gummis. When a Pokémon eats enough gummis to go up an IQ level, it will gain a star in the IQ section of its summary screen and learn new IQ skills. All newly learned IQ skills default to being off, so adjust them before you head into combat.

Feed your best Pokémon (likely your hero or partner) gummis regularly. While IQ is important for everyone, having at least one Pokémon with an extremely high IQ will ultimately be more useful than having several Pokémon with average IQs.

Manage the IQs of your Pokémon carefully before you set out on an adventure. Use the charts on the next page to see which IQ skills fall into which categories, because it isn't always clear that when you turn on one skill, you may be turning off another.

Choosing the Best Options

A Pokémon cannot use all of its IQ skills at once, so as Pokémon learn new IQ skills you will be forced to choose between different skills within the same category. Before you set off on a mission, consider each Pokémon's role in your team and what you expect from the dungeon ahead, and adjust your skills accordingly.

LEADERSHIP SKILLS

Certain skills, like Energy Saver and House Avoider, are truly useful only for party leaders. Switch them on when you put a Pokémon at the head of the team, and replace them with more more generally useful skills if you switch leaders.

OFFENSIVE/DEFENSIVE SKILLS

Friends who are assigned offensive tactics should be given IQ skills to match, like Type-Advantage Master and Weak-Type Picker. Weaker Pokémon should protect themselves with Quick Dodger and Dedicated Traveler.

Eating and Feeding Gummis

You increase your Pokémon's IQ by feeding them gummis. Each type of Pokémon prefers a certain flavor of gummi, but any gummi will give any Pokémon at least a slight IQ boost. Some Pokémon gain more IQ from gummis than others do, so pay attention to your quick learners—they may have leadership potential!

When you give a gummi to a Pokémon in its Friend Area, it will often gain a small stat boost, especially from a favorite flavor. You can eat gummis in dungeons (and feed friends by throwing gummis at them), but Pokémon will not get the stat boost this way. Still, eating gummis on the go is better than wasting them because you lack toolbox space.

IQ Type Breakdown

All IQ skills fall into one of eight categories. You can use any number of basic skills at once, but in each of the other categories you can activate only a single skill at a time. The IQ level of each skill below shows how many IQ stars (out of a possible 12) are required to learn the skill.

LEARNING ORDER:

- | | | |
|------------------------|---------------------------|-----------------------|
| 1. ITEM CATCHER | 9. NONTRAITOR | 17. ENERGY SAVER |
| 2. COURSE CHECKER | 10. SELF-CURER | 18. LAVA EVADER |
| 3. DEDICATED TRAVELER | 11. QUICK DODGER | 19. ALL-TERRAIN HIKER |
| 4. ITEM MASTER | 12. TYPE-ADVANTAGE MASTER | 20. SURE-HIT ATTACKER |
| 5. EXCLUSIVE MOVE-USER | 13. WEAK-TYPE PICKER | 21. TRAP SEER |
| 6. PP CHECKER | 14. TRAP AVOIDER | 22. HOUSE AVOIDER |
| 7. EFFICIENCY EXPERT | 15. NONSLEEPER | 23. SUPER MOBILE |
| 8. STATUS CHECKER | 16. EXP. GO-GETTER | |

Basic Skills

Technique	IQ Level	Description
Item Catcher	-	The Pokémon can catch and hold a thrown item. It can't make a catch if it is already holding an item. It also can't catch seeds or drink items.
Course Checker	-	If the Pokémon has a foe targeted for a move or a thrown item, it will check first for walls and other Pokémon that may get in the way. It will stop if there is an obstacle.
Item Master	-	The Pokémon will use or throw its held item. (This skill also allows Pokémon to use Reviver Seeds from your toolbox.)
Status Checker	★ x 2	If the Pokémon's target has a status problem, the Pokémon will not use moves that cause the same status problem.
Nontraitor	★ x 2	If the Pokémon becomes Confused or is Cowering, its wildly thrown attacks will not hit friends.

Combat Skills

Technique	IQ Level	Description
Type-Advantage Master	★ x 4	The Pokémon's critical-hit rate is boosted when attacking foes who have a type disadvantage.
Quick Dodger	★ x 4	The Pokémon becomes better at evading attacks and moves.
Sure-Hit Attacker	★ x 9	The Pokémon's regular attacks never miss.

Move-Usage Skills

Technique	IQ Level	Description
Exclusive Move-User	-	The Pokémon will use only moves. It will not use its regular attack.
PP Checker	★ x 1	The Pokémon will stop using linked moves that are on the verge of delinking. It also stops using moves with no PP left.

Mobility Skills

Technique	IQ Level	Description
All-Terrain Hiker	★ x 8	The Pokémon gains the ability to walk on water, magma, and chasms.
Super Mobile	★ x MAX	The Pokémon gains the ability to walk on water, magma, and chasms. It can also dig its way through walls.

Tactical Skills

Technique	IQ Level	Description
Dedicated Traveler	-	The Pokémon will focus on traveling. It will use moves and items less often.
Efficiency Expert	★ x 2	When battling several foes, the Pokémon will first target Pokémon with the lowest HP.
Weak-Type Picker	★ x 4	When battling several foes, the Pokémon will first target Pokémon that have a type disadvantage.
Exp. Go-Getter	★ x 6	When battling several foes, the Pokémon will first target Pokémon that are worth the most Exp. Points.

Avoidance Skills

Technique	IQ Level	Description
Trap Avoider	★ x 4	The Pokémon often avoids stepping on visible traps.
House Avoider	★ x 11	The Pokémon avoids monster houses.

Constitution Skills

Technique	IQ Level	Description
Self-Curer	★ x 3	The Pokémon recovers more quickly from status problems.
Nonsleeper	★ x 5	The Pokémon resists sleep from traps and the moves of foes.
Energy Saver	★ x 6	The Pokémon's Belly empties more slowly.

Evasion Skills

Technique	IQ Level	Description
Lava Evader	★ x 7	The Pokémon will avoid fiery magma.
Trap Seer	★ x 10	If the Pokémon is on an undiscovered trap, upon taking a step it will make the trap visible without setting it off.

RECRUITMENT AND GROWTH

It's time to hit the dungeons and scout new members for your rescue team. The process of leveling up and evolving your team members may be familiar, but the recruiting process is all new.

Recruit a Pokémon to Your Team

A few Pokémon will join your rescue team as part of story events, but to build a diverse and powerful team, you'll need to recruit from the packs of wild Pokémon that attack your team in dungeons. While you can ultimately acquire all 386 Pokémon in this game, note that many can be acquired only through Evolution; rarely can you recruit evolved forms of Pokémon. Here are the requirements for recruitment:

1. A Place for It to Live

Everyone needs a place to live, so you can't recruit a Pokémon unless you have its Friend Area. Visit the Wigglytuff Club regularly and purchase Friend Areas as often as you can afford to. Check each stocked Friend Area's Info screen so you can buy the highest-occupancy ones first.

2. Space in Your Party

You can't recruit a Pokémon unless you have room in your party for it. To recruit most wild Pokémon, that simply means traveling with a party of three or fewer. But some large Pokémon take up more space and can be recruited only by a party with no more than two one-star-size members.

3. Victory against It

The final step is to impress wild Pokémon by defeating them in combat. To have a chance at recruiting a Pokémon, you'll need to make sure that your party leader (not a friend) scores the final blow and is directly adjacent to the target. You can't recruit from a distance!

Sweeten Your Chances

The greater the difference in levels between your leader and a Pokémon you defeat, the more likely you are to recruit it. You can further boost your odds of success by wearing a Friend Bow, a rare item that you can find in Mt. Faraway.

You can recruit nonlegendary Pokémon multiple times, which means you can collect several versions of a certain Pokémon or get all the Eevee Evolutions, for example. But each Friend Area does have a maximum capacity, and recruiting a new Pokémon may require releasing an old one. (There is enough space for at least one of each Pokémon, however.)

Raising Your New Pokémon

Since the Pokémon you'll recruit will almost always be at a lower level than your party leader, it may take some work to get them into fighting shape. You can strengthen them with certain items, and boost their stats and IQ by feeding them gummies in their Friend Areas, but nothing is a substitute for real combat experience.

■ RESCUE MISSIONS

Low-level Pokémon are an ideal choice for bulletin-board rescue jobs that take place in dungeons that were unlocked much earlier in the game. These jobs may have great rewards and the dungeons may contain useful items, so you can earn loot as you whip new recruits into shape.

■ DOJO TRAINING

The Makuhita Dojo allows Pokémon to earn Exp. Points quickly without taking any real risk. Send newbie Pokémon to a dojo full of the types it is strong against so it can succeed at defeating higher-level foes for greater amounts of experience.

All Pokémon Share Exp. Points

In previous games, Pokémon would need to actually participate to earn a full share of the Exp. Points won in combat. In Pokémon Mystery Dungeon, the Exp. Points are shared among the entire rescue team, so even a low-level Pokémon who flees all battles with the "Get away" tactic will receive an equal share of the winnings.

Stat-Raising Supplements

Gummies may provide a random stat boost, but the classic Pokémon mineral drinks can't be topped—they now boost stats by a fixed three points per swig! Ginseng and Citrus Berries can also grant significant boosts to your favorite Pokémon.

Zinc

Boosts a Pokémon's Special Defense score by three points.

Protein

Boosts a Pokémon's Attack score by three points.

Iron

Boosts a Pokémon's Defense score by three points.

Calcium

Boosts a Pokémon's Special Attack score by three points.

Sitrus Berry

Boosts a Pokémon's max HP by two points if eaten when at full HP.

Ginseng

Boosts the power of a single move of your choice by one or three points.

The New Pokémon Evolution Process

Pokémon can never Evolve during the game's main storyline, but when you've solved the mystery of your past and prevented a grave threat to the world, an area known as Luminous Cave will open in Pokémon Square. If any Pokémon enters the cave by itself, it can evolve if it meets all of the requirements. In other words, you will not be prompted to evolve; you must take the initiative to make it happen. While many Pokémon evolve as they did before, there are also several new ways to evolve familiar Pokémon.

Methods of Evolution

Check the Info page of a Pokémon's Summary screen to see if evolution is possible and if the Pokémon is ready for it. If you can't figure out how to evolve a particular Pokémon, refer to the Pokédex in this book. However, just because you can evolve a Pokémon doesn't mean that you should; there are both advantages and disadvantages to Evolution.

■ LEVEL EVOLUTION

Most Pokémon can evolve when they hit a certain level. At that time, all you need to do is send the Pokémon alone into Luminous Cave.

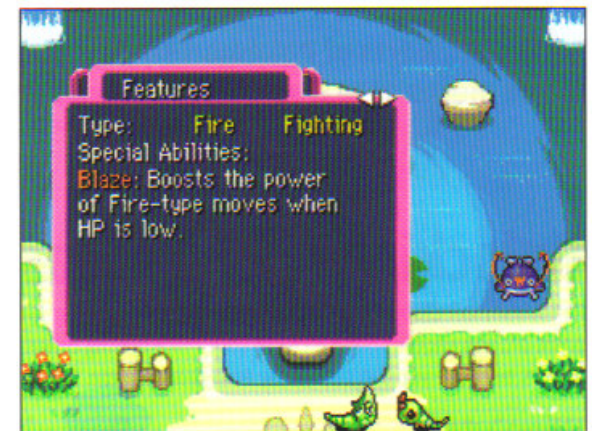

■ ITEM EVOLUTION

To Evolve a Pokémon that requires an Evolution item, give that item to the voice in Luminous Cave. (All Evolution items can be found in the extra dungeons.) Evolution items also provide a method for evolving Pokémon who formerly needed to be traded (you now use the Link Cable item) or evolved based on beauty (you'll need the Beauty Scarf item).

■ IQ EVOLUTION

Pokémon that formerly evolved based on their Friendship level now evolve based on IQ. Togepi, Chansey, and Pichu, for example, will now need minimum IQs of four to six stars to evolve.

Evolving New Types

Many Pokémon, including starters Torchic and Mudkip, gain a new type when they evolve. While this has been a mixed blessing in the past, the small team sizes in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon make having a variety of types in a single Pokémon very valuable.

EVOLUTION PROS

■ GAIN A STAT BOOST

When Pokémon evolve they gain more HP and get an across-the-board increase to their basic stats.

■ LEARN EXCLUSIVE MOVES

Evolved Pokémon, especially ones that gain a second type, can often learn powerful new moves that they could never learn in their unevolved forms.

■ OTHER POSSIBLE ADVANTAGES

Evolved Pokémon may gain a second type, allowing them to do more damage with moves of that type. They may also learn a more powerful ability (Shedinja's Wonder Guard, for example) or gain the ability to cross different types of terrain.

EVOLUTION CONS

■ GAIN LEVELS MORE SLOWLY

The rate at which Pokémon gain levels varies from Pokémon to Pokémon, but typically, evolved forms require more Exp. Points to level up.

■ LEARN MOVES MORE SLOWLY

Evolved Pokémon typically learn new moves at higher levels than they would in their unevolved forms. They may also miss out on moves that only their unevolved forms can learn.

■ OTHER POSSIBLE DISADVANTAGES

In some situations, gaining a second type may be a disadvantage. And a few Pokémon (like Wailmer) grow in size when they evolve, making it harder to fit them into parties.

Trading and Version-Exclusive Pokémon

You can't directly trade Pokémon with friends who are playing Pokémon Mystery Dungeon, but players of the Blue Rescue Team version can send a "helper Pokémon" to friends that they save in a Friend Rescue job. You may also trade passwords to unlock Pokémon from the version you're not playing.

How Trade-Based Evolutions Work

Traditionally, some Pokémon evolve when traded. That is no longer possible, but you can now evolve those Pokémon by taking them to Luminous Cave and giving the voice a Link Cable. You may then provide a second Evolution item.

Recruiting Pokémon from Other Versions of the Game

Ten Pokémon are exclusive to either the Red Rescue Team or Blue Rescue Team version of the game. See "Wonder Mail" on page 60 to learn how a friend can let you recruit Pokémon that wouldn't appear in your version otherwise.

FRIEND AREAS

On the outskirts of Pokémon Square are 57 Friend Areas. The sooner you acquire these prime pieces of real estate, the sooner you can recruit the Pokémon who live there.

Unlocking Friend Areas

The Wigglytuff Club will open early in the game, and Wigglytuff will give a few free Friend Areas to your rescue team. From that point on, you should spend most of your Poké buying other Friend Areas, lest a good recruitment opportunity slip through your fingers because you can't offer the Pokémon a home. However, not all Friend Areas can be purchased.

Wigglytuff Club

The Wigglytuff Club sells most of the game's Friend Areas. Check back after you beat the game—you'll find lots of new stock available, but the second wave of Friend Areas won't come cheap.

Recruiting Bosses

Certain boss Pokémon live in highly specialized environments that cannot be purchased. Fortunately, these Pokémon will give you free access to their Friend Areas when you manage to recruit them.

Rescue-Job Rewards

Check the rescue job requests sent to your mailbox and posted on the Pelipper Post Office bulletin board—some have an exclusive Friend Area as a reward. Don't miss an opportunity!

Wigglytuff Club

The Wigglytuff Club is in Pokémon Square. Wigglytuff is both a merchant and a leading authority on Friend Areas, and it can give you extensive information before you buy.

Managing Your Teammates

After you purchase a Friend Area you can visit it to check up on the Pokémon who live there, feed them gummis, and add them to your team or send them packing. Simply leave your team base to the west (left) to make a list of your friends appear. Select a name on the list to travel to its Friend Area automatically. You can then pull up the list again or roam freely among your Friend Areas. The possible Friend Area commands are listed to the right.

Making a Pokémon the Leader

After you beat the game, you will be able to put any of your friends in charge of a rescue team. To do so, visit your chosen Pokémon, select Join Team, and then select Make Leader. You will control that Pokémon directly on your next dungeon foray.

■ JOIN TEAM / STAND BY / MAKE LEADER

Select Join Team to add a friend to your roster, and Stand By to remove it from the roster and send it back to its Friend Area. Remember that most dungeons have a three-Pokémon limit. See the Making a Pokémon the Leader box for details on that option.

■ GIVE GUMMI

Giving gummis to your Pokémon while they're in their Friend Areas will boost their IQ and maybe raise a stat as well!

■ GIVE

Give your friend any item from your inventory to hold. If it already has an item, that item will return to your toolbox.

■ TAKE

Take an item from your Pokémon so you can store it or give it to another Pokémon.

■ SAY FAREWELL

"Say Farewell" to a Pokémon to kick it out of its Friend Area permanently and remove it from your rescue team.

■ SUMMARY

Check a friend's type, size, stats, held item, IQ, ability (with description), Evolution status, and history.

■ MOVES

Check a Pokémon's moves list to see if it's up to the challenge ahead.

■ CHECK IQ

View a list of your friend's known IQ skills. You can switch them on and off here so you won't have to do it in a dungeon.

Team Discussions

While on a dungeon mission, you can chat with your companions whenever you like. To speak to them, aim in their direction and press the A Button. Instead of attacking, you'll ask how they're doing.

Each Pokémon has a variety of things it can say, depending on how healthy it is. If it's wounded or near fainting, it will let you know!

Friend Area Details

The following pages list the game's Friend Areas in alphabetical order. Each entry includes information on how to unlock the Friend Area, who lives there, and its cost (if applicable).

Friends of a Feather

Each Friend Area typically appeals to Pokémon who share a certain type. If you plan on going recruiting in an underwater dungeon, increase your recruitment odds by purchasing water-themed areas like Bountiful Sea.

Ask Wigglytuff's Advice

If you're wondering what Friend Area a specific Pokémon lives in, Wigglytuff will be happy to help. You can ask it about any Pokémon you've encountered, and it will tell you what Friend Area the Pokémon calls home. If Wigglytuff comments that the Friend Area is not in stock, there's a good chance it will be later.

When Wigglytuff Doesn't Know

If Wigglytuff admits it can't get a specific Pokémon's Friend Area or is stumped by your question, you'll need to get the Friend Area through other means, such as recruiting a boss or earning it as a rescue-job reward.

ITEMS AND ITEM USE

There's no point hoarding items on your dungeon forays, since you'll find more items than you can possibly hold. Use them freely to defeat foes, heal friends, and fill your belly.

Basic Dungeon Items

Most of the items that you'll find on your journey can be used only within dungeons, and will disappear after a single use. Dungeon items include food to fill your belly, berries to heal wounds, seeds that may help or harm, and orbs that do all sorts of zany things.

Food Items

Whenever your leader moves or uses a move, it will consume a bit of the food in its Belly. If the Belly hits zero, the Pokémon's attack strength will drop and it will lose HP every turn. Eat food (mostly Apples) whenever your Belly gets low. Certain food items may even increase the amount your Belly can hold.

Berries

All berries have restorative properties, recovering lost HP or curing conditions like Paralysis, Confused, and Poison. When you give berries to a Pokémon to hold, the Pokémon will use them automatically when its HP gets low or it gets hit with the relevant status condition.

Weapons

Items like Gravelerocks, Sticks, and Iron Thorns can be thrown at foes to deal damage from long range. Most ignore the target's type and some do fixed amounts of damage regardless of the situation. These items come in large quantities but only take a single toolbox slot.

Orbs

Orbs have all sorts of wacky effects when used. They may stun all foes in a room, change the weather, make the user invisible, or warp your team back to its team base. If used in the right situation, orb effects will always be to your team's advantage.

Seeds

Helpful seeds can revive a fainted Pokémon, make a Pokémon breathe fire, or even boost a Pokémon's max HP, while harmful seeds can cause Sleep or Confused or completely drain a Pokémon's Belly. Eat the good ones and throw the bad ones at your foes!

Drinks

The most common drink you'll find is the Max Elixir. This beverage refills the lost PP of all of a Pokémon's moves, and is absolutely essential in long dungeons. Buy every Max Elixir you see and bring a few on each of your dungeon forays in case you don't find any on the ground.

Other Items

Poké

Poké is the currency of Pokémon Square and is accepted in all shops.

Link Boxes

Link Boxes allow a single Pokémon to reorder, link, and delink any of its moves in the middle of a dungeon foray. Link Boxes disappear after one use.

Evolution Items

Evolution items are among the rarest dungeon treasures. These items must be taken to Luminous Cave to evolve certain Pokémon. The most common Evolution item is the Link Cable, which is needed for any Pokémon that traditionally evolves via trading.

Pokémon Enhancement Items

TMs & HMs

You can teach new moves to Pokémon with TMs and HMs, which appear as blue and gold discs, respectively. You can use each TM disc only once (unless you can use the Recycle move to revive it), but you can find and purchase copies of the same TM multiple times. You can use HMs any number of times, and to enter certain dungeons you will need to bring a Pokémon that knows the HM's move, or bring the HM itself in your toolbox.

Stat-Enhancement Drinks

Other drinks are rare, but no less valuable. When consumed, Iron, Protein, Zinc, and Calcium will permanently boost one of a Pokémon's base stats by three points. Such drinks are among the game's rarest items.

Held Items

Items like ribbons, bands, and scarfs give a boost to the Pokémon that holds them—quicker healing, boosted stats, or immunity to a status condition, for example. Some, like the Friend Bow or X-Ray Specs, are effective only when held by the party leader.

Gummies

Pokémon love to eat gummies. These strange foods boost a Pokémon's IQ and can even boost their stats if eaten in a Friend Area. Each Pokémon type has a favorite flavor that gives it an extra boost, so check the description on each gummi to see which Pokémon it will help the most.

Keys and Key Items

Certain dungeons have key items that trigger events within the dungeon, such as the Buried Relic's Music Box or the Wish Cave's Wish Stone. You will also find literal Keys, which are used to unlock treasure rooms (any key will fit any lock) and are used in several different dungeons.

Collecting Items

The three standard ways to get items are to find them in dungeons, purchase them from Kecleon Shops, and earn them as prizes from rescue jobs.

Random Dungeon Finds

When generating each floor and placing items randomly, each dungeon draws from a different list of items. For example, TMs may be common in one dungeon, rare in another, and not appear at all in a third. As you play, take note of which items appear commonly in which dungeons so you'll know where to go to seek particular items.

Trawl Orbs

When exploring dungeons, you'll often find the stairs immediately. If you use a Trawl Orb in such situations, you can pull all of a floor's items directly to your team. You can then take the stairs and know that you didn't miss a thing.

Pokémon Square

A Kecleon Shop in Pokémon Square sells many useful items. Speak to the Kecleon on the left to buy staples like berries, Apples, and Max Elixirs, and speak to the Kecleon on the right to buy more-exotic items, like orbs and TMs. The shop stock changes daily, so visit often.

Stealing from Kecleon

Certain dungeons host random Kecleon Shops, where all of the shop's stock appears on special carpet tiles. If you try to steal items by taking them without paying, you'll be banned from using Escape Orbs, and be assaulted by an endless stream of high-level Kecleon that will make reaching the stairs extremely difficult. If you want to steal the loot, use an Escape Orb after you take all the items but before you step off the carpet, or make your way to the stairs and then use a Trawl Orb to pull all the shop stock to you.

The Basics of Item Management

You'll have different commands for managing and using your inventory when you're in Pokémon Square, a Friend Area, or a dungeon. Here are the basic methods of using, exchanging, and disposing of items.

Use an Item

Some items can be used only in dungeons, while a few (like HMs) can be used only outside of dungeons. If an item can be used in your current location, the Use option will appear when you select it from an item menu.

■ EAT OR INGEST AN ITEM

When selecting food, berries, and drinks, the Use option is replaced by Eat or Ingest. This should remind you that the item will affect only your leader.

Throw an Item

In a dungeon, you can throw any items. This is obviously most useful for offensive items like Gravelerocks and Hunger Seeds, but you can throw any item to deal one point of damage or to simply get it out of your toolbox.

Throwing Items at Friends

If you throw a consumable item like an Oran Berry, Max Elixir, or gummi at a friend, the friend will consume that item on contact. If you throw a nonconsumable item like a ribbon at a friend who has the Item Master IQ skill, it will catch and hold it. But if it's already holding an item, the item you throw will deal one point of damage and be destroyed on contact.

Trash an Item

Outside of dungeons, you can "Trash" any item in your inventory to get rid of it permanently. If the item has any value, however, you'd be better off selling it at the Kecleon Shop.

Place an Item

You can't select Trash for items in dungeons, but you can throw them wildly or select Place to set that item on the ground. If you place an item in an enemy's path, the enemy may pick it up and use it.

Using Items on the Ground

You can't pick up the items you step on if your toolbox is full, but you can still interact with them by choosing "Ground" from the main menu. The Switch command will let you swap that item with an item in your toolbox, the Throw command will let you hurl it as if you were holding it, and the Use or Eat command will let you consume it right off the floor.

Give an Item to a Friend

Each Pokémon can hold one item that does not count toward your 20-item toolbox. You can transfer an item to a Pokémon with the Give command, or take it back by pressing left or right on the item list until you find that Pokémon's inventory, then selecting the Take command.

Friend Area Item Use

Outside of dungeons you can use the Give and Take commands only by selecting a Pokémon in the Team menu or by visiting it in its Friend Area. Visiting a Pokémon in its Friend Area will also allow you to feed it gummies for the maximum possible effect. Friend Area item options are listed below.

■ GIVE GUMMI

You can feed Pokémon gummies in dungeons, but Pokémon will get a stat boost from gummies only when you use the Give Gummi command in their Friend Areas.

■ GIVE

While you're speaking to a Pokémon in its Friend Area, you can give the Pokémon an item to hold.

■ TAKE

If you want to reclaim a Pokémon's held item, you can do so by visiting it at its Friend Area. There's no need to add the Pokémon to your team first.

Managing Your Toolbox

Each Pokémon rescue team gets a toolbox as part of its welcome kit. Since the size of your toolbox can never be expanded and you'll find hundreds of items in large dungeons, it is important to manage your inventory very carefully.

Drop off Items with Kangaskhan

It's a good idea to visit Kangaskhan Storage before every dungeon foray, even if your inventory contains only a single unneeded item. Make a habit of dropping off everything you won't need and resupplying yourself with whatever recovery items you were forced to use in the previous dungeon.

Use Seeds and Orbs with Abandon

Your toolbox will fill up fast in dungeons where seeds and orbs are common. You can't take them all home with you, so use them regularly to keep open slots in your toolbox. Using a Petrify Orb to stun only a single foe may feel like a waste, but it's better than not using it at all.

Space in Your Toolbox is Limited to 20 Items

Your toolbox has only 20 item slots, so you'll need to make the most out of them. Conserve space by bringing only one type of projectile (if you find more, they'll be stored in the same slot rather than taking up a new slot), bringing Huge Apples instead of multiple smaller Apples, and leaving extra recovery items at home.

Equip Yourself and Your Team with Items

Don't forget that every Pokémon on your team can hold a single item. Even if the item has no effect when held, like an orb or TM, you can pass it off to new recruits or friends who have already eaten their berries, just to make use of the extra inventory space.

Use and Eat Items off the Ground

When your toolbox is completely full, you'll often see berries, orbs, and seeds that aren't worth freeing up an inventory slot for. If the item has any small positive effect, like filling your belly slightly, use the Ground menu to eat or use the item right off the ground.

Losing Items in Dungeons

Don't get too attached to the items you find or buy, since there are plenty of ways that you could lose them on your travels. Many lost items can even be used against you, since your foes share the ability to use and hold items.

Fainting in a Dungeon

If your leader faints in a dungeon, you'll lose all of your team's held items and half of your toolbox items, chosen at random. You may be tempted to reset, but consider all the Exp. Points you've gained before you reach for the switch.

Call for Help

There is one way to get your items back if you faint: send a distress call to a friend and wait for your pal to save you. See page 60 for details.

Enemies Stealing Items

Enemy moves like Knock Off can knock a held item out of a Pokémon's hands, while moves like Thief can steal it and put it into the attacker's inventory. Hunt down these enemies and knock them out to get your items back.

Enemies Finding Items

Enemies will pick up items they step on, allowing them to snatch valuable treasures before you even see them. Whenever this happens, a message will appear telling you what foe found what item. If it's worth retrieving, hunt down every Pokémon of the offending species to reclaim what should be yours.

Enemies Catching Items

When you throw items like Gravelerocks and harmful seeds, there's a chance your target will catch the item instead of being damaged by it. That foe can then use the item against you and your team.

Items You Want to Lose

Of course, not every loss is a tragedy. As you travel, your inventory may fill up with useless items like Used TMs (useless if you don't have the Recycle move, that is) and the Plain Seeds that are left behind when a Reviver Seed is used. Toss these to save space.

Sticky Items

When a Pokémon steps on a Sticky Trap its held item or a random toolbox item will get coated with goo. Sticky items have an X by their name and cannot be used. When held items become sticky, they lose their effects and cannot be removed or replaced.

FIXING STICKY ITEMS

There are only two ways to clean up sticky items. One is to use a Cleanse Orb, which will remove the stickiness from all held and toolbox items. The other method is simply to carry the sticky item out of the dungeon with you.

POKÉMON SQUARE

Pokémon Square is the hub of your adventure. You will return here at the end of every mission to save your game, visit shops, look for work, and chat with the townsfolk.

Pokémon Square Locations

The businesses in Pokémon Town will be shuttered at the start of the game, but all will open their doors within the first few hours of play. One of the most important areas in Pokémon Square is the humble tiled plaza at its center, where Pokémon meet to discuss interesting rumors and the recent developments in their world.

Your Team Base

Your hero begins each new day inside your rescue team's base, and on most days you'll find your partner waiting just outside. Resources include the bed where you can save your game at any time, and the mailbox where you'll find a steady supply of news and job offers.

Customize Your Pad

The status of your rescue team will quickly outgrow your humble dwelling. Fortunately, you can renovate your base as your quest continues, ultimately transforming its exterior into the shape of your hero's head. You can also redesign your team flag and acquire decorative statues by completing special rescue jobs, clearing the Mauhita Dojo, or attaining the Lucario rank (see page 59).

■ UPGRADE YOUR TEAM BASE

The Punish Bad Mankey quest is the first step on the road to a complete team-base renovation. See page 77 for more details, or see the final results for each Pokémon in the Starting Pokémon section (pages 11-26).

■ REDESIGN YOUR TEAM FLAG

If you can rescue Smeargle from Howling Forest (see page 78) it will thank you by redesigning your flag whenever you ask. Smeargle can ultimately design 15 different flags.

Kecleon Shop and Kecleon Wares

The Kecleon Brothers each sell different items from the same storefront. The green brother sells basic staples, including Apples, seeds, throwing items, and some held items. The purple brother stocks TMs and orbs. The shop stock changes regularly, and you should stop by to check it out every day. Even if you aren't looking for anything specific, you don't want to miss a chance at an invaluable item like a Reviver Seed or Joy Seed.

Kecleon Shops in Dungeons

The Kecleon Shop is a "nationwide chain" that includes several small shops located in dungeons. These shops sell everything from basic staples to rare held items, and offer an invaluable opportunity to sell excess inventory during a quest. However, the shopkeepers are very strict about shoplifting, so don't pick up anything you can't pay for.

Felicity Bank

When your leader faints in a dungeon, all the Poké you have on hand will be wiped out. That's why you should visit Felicity Bank after completing the day's shopping to deposit your remaining Poké. Try to keep at least a few thousand Poké in the bank for when a treasure pops up at the Kecleon Shop.

Whiscash Pond

Whiscash is among the oldest and wisest residents of Pokémon Square. When you can't figure out what to do next, pay Whiscash a visit—it may be able to point you in the right direction.

Evolve Pokémon in Luminous Cave

After you beat the game, a strange pit will appear on the island in Whiscash Pond. That pit leads to Luminous Cave, where you can evolve eligible Pokémon.

Kangaskhan Storage

You can hold only 20 unique items in your toolbox, but there's no limit to the number of items Kangaskhan will allow you to store for free. Pay Kangaskhan a visit before every mission to unload excess inventory and pick up the gear you'll need on your next job.

Selecting Multiple Items

You can transfer large numbers of items to or from your storage by moving the cursor to each item and pressing the L or R Button to highlight it. When you're done, select a highlighted item and press the A Button to execute the transfer.

Gulpin Link Shop

For a flat fee of 150 Poké, Gulpin will allow you to link any number of moves for any member of your party. Just put the moves in order (by holding the R Button and pressing up or down), and select Link to bind a move to the move beneath it.

Remembering Lost Moves

Without charging an additional fee, Gulpin can allow any Pokémon to replace a known move with a move it forgot when it leveled up. Whenever you recruit a new Pokémon that has a full move list, bring it to Gulpin to see what moves it may have forgotten.

Pelipper Post Office

The Pelipper Post Office allows Pokémon in different worlds to communicate with each other. It's here that you can receive the SOS Mail that marks the beginning of a Friend Rescue mission (see page 60), and send or receive Thank-You Mail and A-OK Mail. The bulletin board outside is a great place to look for rescue jobs.

Bulletin Board

The bulletin board is updated with new rescue requests on a daily basis. The rescue-job parameters are generated randomly, so some jobs may offer great rewards for simple tasks!

Makuhita Dojo

You'll find the Makuhita Dojo south of Pokémon Square. There you can train your Pokémon in mazes that consist of two levels of standard combat and a third level in which your team will square off against an enemy team. All of the mazes have a theme based on a Pokémon type, so you'll know exactly what you're getting into when you step inside.

In the Training Grounds

You can earn Exp. Points in the Makuhita Dojo, but you won't find any items, and recruiting is strictly forbidden. The mazes are short, so you shouldn't need to worry about running out of PP or food.

Rewards

Makuhita will reward diligent trainers with bottles of Ginseng. You'll get one bottle for beating all 17 mazes in the first three waves and an additional bottle for beating each "team" maze in the final wave. That's five bottles in all!

Unlocking More Training Courses

The Makuhita Dojo opens with six simple mazes, and new ones are added as the game's storyline progresses. The final wave of new mazes will be unlocked after you beat the game.

A Special Reward for Clearing the Dojo

If you complete all 21 standard dojo mazes (exempting the "extra maze" that requires both versions of the game), Makuhita will place a statue of an as-yet-undiscovered Pokémon outside your team base.

The Training Courses

The key to beating each training course is to consult the type-matching chart on page 36 and make a party of Pokémon that are super effective against each maze's type. If your Pokémon have a type advantage, you can run Pokémon that are much lower-level than the Pokémon in the dojo, earning relatively large amounts of Exp. Points and leveling up quickly. The mazes are presented in the order in which they appear in the menu, not the order in which they're unlocked.

Normal Maze

Most Pokémon should worry about Raticate's Hyper Fang move, but the bigger concern for Fighting-types is Farfetch'd's Flying-type Peck attack. In the boss room, concentrate on Furret, as its Fury Swipes move makes it the biggest threat.

Grass Maze

Your foes' strategy is to paralyze your Pokémon or put them to sleep, then slowly drain their health. Bring a large party and give everyone offensive tactics so they can come to the defense of any Pokémon that is disabled by such trickery.

Electrike will attempt to paralyze all comers with the Thunder Wave move and its own Static ability. Protect yourself with a Persim Band or use long-ranged moves and items so it can't get close enough to try.

Ice Maze

Most of your foes use Normal-type attacks, with Snorunt's Powder Snow as a notable exception. Powder Snow will hit everyone on your team, so in the boss fight you'll want to eliminate Snorunt as quickly as possible.

Fighting Maze

Your Flying- and Psychic-types will be unstoppable here, but you won't be able to exploit that weakness easily until you've beaten the game. Concentrate on eliminating Hitmonlee with thrown items and ranged attacks, as it is by far the greatest threat.

Ground Maze

The damage dealt by Diglett's Magnitude move varies randomly, and an unlucky break can leave your party obliterated. Give your party members aggressive tactics so they'll fan out and KO the Diglett pair before they can harm the leader.

Psychic Maze

Wobbuffet's assortment of defensive moves makes this maze a true puzzle. If Wobbuffet uses Mirror Coat, use physical attacks. If it uses Counter, use special attacks. If it uses Destiny Bond, you have no choice but to avoid combat until the Destiny Bond effect fades.

Boss Battle

202 Wobbuffet (x3)

TYPE: PSY
LEVEL: 30 HP: 100

Poison Maze

It's hard to avoid getting Poisoned here, as both Nidoran have the Poison Point ability that can inflict the condition on attackers. Use Pecha items to counteract the poison or high-HP Pokémon who can finish the maze before the poison brings them down.

Ghost Maze

The Ghost-type ability to pass through walls makes this one of the toughest mazes. Bring plenty of Gravelerocks, as they can fly over walls (and even into walls) to damage Gastly. If you catch Gastly in the open, use special attacks instead of Normal-type ones.

Boss Battle

92 Gastly (x3)

TYPE: GHO-PSN

Dragon Maze

Dragon-types are worth a lot of Exp. Points, making this a great place for even experienced Pokémon to level up. If you can't exploit their Ice-type weakness, at least refrain from using Water-, Fire-, Grass-, and Electric-type attacks, which they're resistant to.

Dark Maze

Poochyena flee when their HP gets low, so use Gravelerocks or ranged attacks to hit them as they run, and claim your Exp. Points. Beware of Murkrow's Pursuit move; if you can't deal enough damage to KO it, throw an item instead of attacking.

Steel Maze

This is a good place to bring new Fire-, Fighting-, Water-, or Electric-type recruits for training. When battling Beldum, try to KO it with a single attack, or it may KO itself with recoil from the Take Down move and deprive you of the Exp. Points.

Team Shifty

Lower floors hold only low-level Nuzleaf, so this maze doesn't truly begin until the boss fight. Shiftry is the big threat, as its Nature Power move will cause Paralysis. Make sure everyone in your party can attack independently to keep the battle going.

Visiting Teams

To open the final training ground you must be playing the Blue Rescue Team version (DS) and have a friend with the Red Rescue Team version (GBA). Insert your friend's Red Rescue Team game into the DS's GBA-Pak slot. Start your game and choose Receive Team from the opening menu. Your friend's active team will become the bosses in a new dojo maze!

The first two floors will be populated by low-level Pokémon like Pidgey and Rattata.

On the final floor, you'll face off against your friend's Pokémon, which will now be controlled by the computer.

RESCUE-TEAM COMMUNITY

Being a rescue-team leader is a responsibility as well as a privilege. When stranded in a dungeon, friends and strangers alike may call for your help. Don't let them down!

Rescue Team Jobs

Random rescue requests will appear in your mailbox and on the post office bulletin board. While these quests are almost always optional, it's important to do as many as you can to raise your rescue team's rank, earn rewards, and level up your Pokémon. Many storyline events take several days to unfold, and there is no better way to spend the days between events than attempting optional rescue jobs.

Pelipper Missions and the Bulletin Board

When selecting rescue jobs, consult both your mailbox and the post office bulletin board. If you find a job that looks promising, accept any other jobs that take place in the same area so you can kill two (or more) birds with one stone. If no other jobs are available in the same dungeon, you may want to leave the job in your job list and check back later.

Reading Rescue Requests

Some jobs offer great rewards for little effort, while others will require more effort for lesser prizes.

OBJECTIVE

Some jobs require you to escort a weak Pokémon or bring a Pokémon a valuable item. These jobs are hard but do not necessarily offer proportionate rewards.

LOCATION

When possible, select jobs that take place in areas that have good items or recruitment opportunities.

DIFFICULTY

Mission difficulty is ranked E-D-C-B-A-S-★, with ★ being the hardest. The higher the difficulty, the more Rescue Team Points you will receive.

REWARD

This is the most important part! Be sure to leap at jobs that offer Friend Areas as rewards.

Managing Your Job List

Once you accept a job, it goes to your job list, which is accessible via the main menu. To begin a job, you must select it from your job list and choose Take Job. If you've lost interest, delete it to make space for other jobs.

Rescue-Team Rank

Whenever you complete a rescue job, you'll be awarded Rescue Team Points based on the job's difficulty. As you reach higher ranks, new types of jobs (such as escort missions and item-fetch quests) will begin to appear.

NORMAL RANK

0-49 Rescue Team Points

BRONZE RANK

50-499 Rescue Team Points

SILVER RANK

500-1,499 Rescue Team Points

GOLD RANK

1,500-2,999 Rescue Team Points

PLATINUM RANK

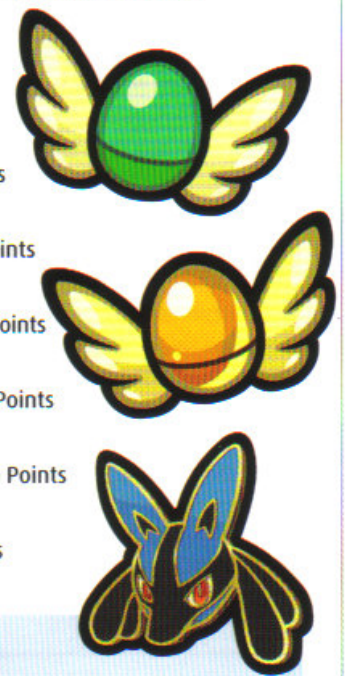

3,000-7,499 Rescue Team Points

DIAMOND RANK

7,500-14,999 Rescue Team Points

LUCARIO RANK

15,000 Rescue Team Points

Special Statue Rewards

If you happen to complete the right rescue job, you may find one of these special statues in front of your team base. Don't miss a chance at these rare rewards!

Lucario Statue

Once you reach the highest rank, you'll find a statue of Lucario in front of your rescue-team base. Who might this mysterious Pokémon be?

Complete the Adventure Log

The adventure logs in the opening menu record your many achievements in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon. You'll earn many of the entries as you progress through the game's story, but later achievements will require recruiting boss Pokémon and even-more-challenging tasks. Making all 386 Pokémon a party leader for at least one dungeon foray? That could take some effort. The full list of entries can be found to the right.

ADVENTURE LOG 1

- Reached the Hill of the Ancients.

Friend Rescue

If your leader faints in a dungeon, you can send a distress call to a friend either wirelessly, through a Wonder Mail password, or via the DS Dual Slot function. The friend that takes the job can then enter the dungeon where you collapsed, and battle to your position to provide aid. Instead of losing your Poké and items, your team will be revived at full health.

CLIENT TEAM

■ SEND A DISTRESS CALL

When your team is defeated you'll be given the option to send a distress call. If you choose to do so, you'll return to the opening menu. Select the Friend Rescue option, choose Get Help, and select Send SOS Mail. Confirm the details of where your party was knocked out, then choose a method by which to send your plea for help.

■ RECEIVE A-OK MAIL

Receive the A-OK Mail then select Revive Team from the opening menu. You will find yourself on the floor where you fainted, but you'll have full health and maybe a new Pokémon on your team.

■ SEND A THANK-YOU

The next time you visit town, show your gratitude by sending your friend a Thank-You Mail from the Pelipper Post Office. You can attach one item from your inventory as a reward.

SOS

A-OK

THANK-YOU

RESCUE TEAM

■ RECEIVE A DISTRESS CALL

In the opening menu under Friend Rescue (and then Go Rescue), or at the Pelipper Post Office, select Receive SOS Mail. Prepare your team, then choose Leave for Rescue and select your friend's SOS Mail.

■ RESCUE THE CLIENT TEAM

Enter the dungeon where your friend fainted and reach his position, which is marked with a red flag. This flag will always be in a Monster House, so be prepared!

■ SEND A-OK

After you rescue your friend's team, collect a reward of an item and some Rescue Team Points at the Pelipper Post Office, and send an A-OK Mail to your friend. If you are communicating wirelessly you can attach a Helper Pokémon to the mail. Your friend will gain the Pokémon as a recruit, but you will not lose it.

■ RECEIVE THANK-YOU MAIL

When you open the Thank-You Mail from your friend, you'll receive more Rescue Team Points, as well as any item that was included in the message. If you do a lot of rescues, be sure to delete your old Thank-You and SOS Mails so you'll have room for more later.

Trade Items

Players with the Blue Rescue Team version of the game can exchange items from their Kangaskhan Storage by selecting Trade Items on the opening menu.

This feature is available only when both players are playing Blue Rescue Team.

Receive Teams

Use the Nintendo DS Dual Slot function to transfer the team from a Red Rescue Team game into the Makuhita Dojo of a Blue Rescue Team player. (See page 58.)

Wonder Mail

Wonder Mail allows players to share rescue jobs with each other. Each rescue job posting has a password, which another player can input via the opening menu's Wonder Mail option. If you find a job that has great rewards, use this function to let a friend do the job too.

Write down the password and give it to a friend. That friend can input the password into his game, and that rescue job will appear in the mailbox outside your friend's team base.

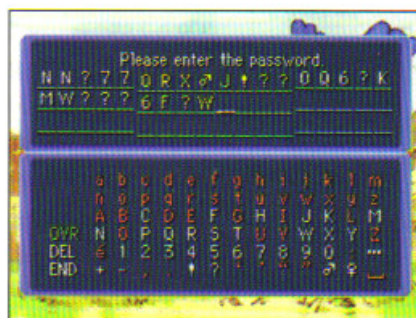

Recruit Missing Pokémon

Each version of Pokémon Mystery Dungeon has five Pokémon that are exclusive to that version. If you see a job posting in which one of the exclusive Pokémon is named in the client or objective field, send it to friends who are playing the other version to let that Pokémon appear in your friends' version of the game!

Wireless vs. Password Communication

Blue Rescue Team players can do all of their communication wirelessly, but they may wish to use password-based Wonder Mail to request help from friends over the phone or via e-mail. (Red Rescue Team players have no other choice.) Blue Rescue Team players can also save time by using the DS stylus to input the passwords they receive.

Helper Pokémon

When players are communicating wirelessly, they'll have the option of adding a Helper Pokémon to their A-OK Mail so that Pokémon can help the client through the rest of the dungeon. However, you can receive a Helper Pokémon only if you have an open slot in your party. Note that the game will not transfer the held items of Helper Pokémon.

Unknown Dungeons

When you don't intend to play for a while, select the Unknown Dungeon option on the opening menu and close your DS (without turning off the power). Your game will enter Unknown Dungeon mode, and if there is another player in Unknown Dungeon mode within wireless range, your Pokémon will ostensibly go off on adventures together. If this happens, when you next open your DS you'll receive a rare item that your Pokémon found on its journey!

STORY MODE

Your adventure in the world of Pokémon begins when your hero and its partner form a rescue team.

STORY MODE CHECKLIST

Establish a rescue team, unlock the first series of dungeons, and solve the mystery of how you became a Pokémon.

Your Adventure Begins

After answering a few personality questions and choosing a partner, you'll awaken in an unfamiliar body and in an unfamiliar land. The world of Pokémon is in crisis—are you the solution? Or the cause?

TINY WOODS

P. 64

- Fight through three floors to reach Caterpie and escort it home.
- Visit your new team base, where you can save your game.
- Check your mail for a rescue team kit that includes a Toolbox, a Team Badge, and some useful advice. Your first job is to rescue Magnemite in Thunderwave Cave.

THUNDERWAVE CAVE

P. 64

- Fight through five floors to rescue the two Magnemite.
- Take a tour of Pokémon Square, where most shops have now opened. Complete at least two jobs found on the Pelipper Post Office bulletin board.
- When you awaken the day after completing the second job, Dugtrio will visit your team base and ask you to save Diglett in Mt. Steel.

MT. STEEL

P. 65

- Fight to the top of Mt. Steel and defeat Skarmory to save Diglett.
- Visit the Wigglytuff Club to receive a few free Friend Areas. One is Power Plant, which will allow Magnemite to join you.
- Speak to Alakazam and other Pokémon in Pokémon Square. Learn about the Makuhita Dojo.
- Complete at least three rescue jobs.
- Gengar's team will appear and steal all of your mail.
- Complete at least two additional rescue jobs.
- Caterpie will visit your team base and offer a rescue job in Sinister Woods.

SINISTER WOODS

P. 66

- Clear 12 floors then battle Gengar's Team Meanies to rescue Metapod.
- Visit Pokémon Town Square and witness the commotion involving Shiftry's team.
- When Shiftry fails to return from a rescue job, Jumpluff will visit your team base and ask your team to investigate the Silent Chasm.

SILENT CHASM

P. 67

- Battle through nine floors to save Jumpluff. But you'll be too late to save Shiftry—you must follow Zapdos to Mt. Thunder first.

MT. THUNDER AND MT. THUNDER PEAK

P. 67-68

- Fight through 10 floors of Mt. Thunder to reach Mt. Thunder Peak, where you can save your game.
- Clear two floors of Mt. Thunder Peak and battle the legendary Zapdos to save Shiftry.
- Confer with your partner at the team base and agree to seek out Xatu at the Hill of the Ancients.

GREAT CANYON

P. 69

- Fight through 12 floors to reach the Hill of the Ancients, where Xatu lives. Learn how the disasters may be related to you.
- Speak to Whiscash in the lake north of Pokémon Square.
- The next day, visit Pokémon Square again and witness the event involving Gengar and Alakazam.
- The next morning, prepare for your long journey. When you're ready to leave, tell your partner.

LAPIS CAVE

P. 70

- Flee through 14 floors of Lapis Cave to escape your pursuers.

ROCK PATH (optional)

P. 71

- Visit the short Rock Path area to earn Exp. Points and find basic items.

MT. BLAZE AND MT. BLAZE PEAK

P. 71-72

- Fight through 12 floors of Mt. Blaze to reach Mt. Blaze Peak, where you can save your game.
- Clear two floors of Mt. Blaze Peak and battle the legendary Moltres to win passage to the Frosty Forest.

SNOW PATH (optional)

P. 73

- Visit the short Snow Path area to earn Exp. Points and find basic items.

FROSTY FOREST AND FROSTY GROTTO

P. 73-74

- Fight through nine floors of Frosty Forest to reach Frosty Grotto, where you can save your game.
- Clear four floors of Frosty Grotto, and battle the legendary Articuno. Convinced that you are on the same side, Absol will join your rescue team.
- Gardevoir will appear outside of the dungeon and tell you that Ninetales can be found at the nearby Mt. Freeze.

MT. FREEZE AND MT. FREEZE PEAK

P. 75-76

- Fight through 15 floors of Mt. Freeze to reach Mt. Freeze Peak, where you can save your game.
- Clear four floors of Mt. Freeze Peak. At the end you will be attacked by Alakazam's team, but saved by Ninetales, who will clear your name.
- Return to Pokémon Square and the life of a rescue team leader. Complete at least three rescue jobs.
- The next day, Wynaut and Wobbuffet will visit your team base. After speaking with them, accept the Punish Bad Mankey! quest from the bulletin board.

UPROAR FOREST

P. 77

- Fight through nine floors to reach the Mankey gang. Search for Chestnuts on the ninth floor.
- Hire the Mankey gang to renovate your team base. They'll finish the job in exchange for three Chestnuts.
- Check your mail and the bulletin board for quests that give Friend Areas as a reward. Complete a quest to receive the Sky High Plain area.

- After completing the Friend Area quest and finishing your team base, check the post office bulletin Board. Accept the Smeargle's Desperate Plea rescue job to unlock Howling Forest.

MAGMA CAVERN AND MAGMA CAVERN PIT

P. 79-80

- Fight through 23 floors of Magma Cavern to reach Magma Cavern Pit, where you can save your game.

- Rescue Alakazam's team in Magma Cavern Pit, and battle Groudon to stop the earthquakes.
- Return to Pokémon Square, where you will be contacted telepathically by Xatu. Tell your partner when you're ready to travel to the Sky Tower.

- After a late-night visit from Gengar, Gardevoir will appear to explain your destiny. In the morning you will be able to travel to Sky Tower.

HOWLING FOREST

P. 78

- Complete the 14 floors of Howling Forest to save Smeargle. Smeargle will then join your rescue team.

- Complete at least four rescue jobs.
- After the earthquake, visit Pokémon Square and watch as Blastoise assembles a team to save Alakazam.
- Complete at least two more rescue jobs.

- After waking to another earthquake, return to Pokémon Square to hear Blastoise's report. Agree to take on the task, and tell your partner when you're ready. You will then be able to travel to Magma Cavern.

SKY TOWER AND SKY TOWER SUMMIT

P. 81-82

- Select Sky Tower from the dungeon list to travel to the Hill of the Ancients, where Xatu and Alakazam will teleport your team into the Sky Tower.

- Fight through 25 floors of Sky Tower to reach Sky Tower Summit, where you can save your game.
- Complete the eight floors of Sky Tower Summit, then prove your mettle by defeating Rayquaza in a battle that will decide the fate of the world.

Reading the Walk-Through Pages

Each dungeon in the game has one walk-through section. Refer to each dungeon's section to see a list of which Pokémon appear there, descriptions of the items that can be found inside, and tips on how to unlock the dungeon and survive its perils.

Strategy Points

Each page's strategy is broken into three sections. The Job Description section summarizes your mission. The Preparation section tells you how to unlock the dungeon and provides advice about which friends and items you should bring. The Dungeon section offers tips for completing the dungeon safely.

Area Introduction

Each area begins with the name of your destination dungeon and a brief description of your mission. For more details on how to unlock the area, read the Preparation section of the strategy text.

Terrain

The Terrain box lists any special terrain (such as water or magma) that you may find within the dungeon, plus the dungeon's number of floors and the maximum number of Pokémon you can bring into the dungeon.

Items Lists

The Items to Bring box lists a few common items that you should bring into the dungeon. The Items to Look For box contains information on which items may appear randomly within the dungeon.

Events

Some dungeons end with a boss battle, but others end with an event scene in which friendly Pokémon give you advice or provide other support. When you see a blue box, you know that a friend awaits you at the end of the dungeon.

Pokémon Charts

The green arrow boxes indicate which Pokémon appear on which floors of each dungeon. Select a floor number on the left side of the chart, then follow its line to the right. If it intersects with a box, that Pokémon will likely appear on that floor.

Notable Pokémon

Certain Pokémon appear only in either the Red Rescue Team or Blue Rescue Team version of the game. Notes like this one tell you which Pokémon will appear in your version. Additionally, these boxes provide extra information about certain Pokémon.

Boss Battles

Each boss battle is covered in a red box that contains detailed strategy, the boss's Pokédex number, and stats for all of the participants. Before you enter a dungeon that holds a boss, make sure you have the friends and items you'll need to beat it!

TINY WOODS

You awaken in a different world, in a different body. No time for questions—Caterpie needs your help!

TERRAIN:

ITEMS TO BRING:

You don't have the option to bring anything into this dungeon.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

The only items available in this dungeon are life-recovering Oran Berries, poison-curing Pecha Berries, and Poké coins.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Caterpie has fallen into an underground fissure. You and your partner must save it.

PREPARATION:

There's no time for preparation, so you'll have to jump right in.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

The Pokémon in this dungeon are low-level and don't use many advanced moves, so you can afford to take your time and experiment with the battle system. You can't recruit any Pokémon here, so focus on battling foes, exploring the area, and gathering items. At this point, you and your partner can each hold only one item; so if you're lucky enough to find a berry you'll equip it automatically. If you find another, lead your partner to it.

Most of the Pokémon in this dungeon use only the basic Tackle move, so type-matching isn't much of a concern. The only real threat in the lower floors is Sunkern, which can damage Water-type Pokémon with its Absorb move. On the last floor (B3F), rare Exeggcute Pokémon may use the sleep-inducing Hypnosis move. Try to position your team so your partner can attack if your hero is caught napping.

ITEMS TO BRING:

- ORAN BERRY
- PECHA BERRY
- RAWST BERRY

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

In addition to Oran Berries, and Pecha Berries, you'll find paralysis-healing Cheri Berries, Blast Seeds, Sleep Seeds, and Gravelerocks can be used against particularly difficult foes, and Apples will fill your belly if you get hungry.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Separate the two Magnemite that have been fused together at the bottom of Thunderwave Cave.

PREPARATION:

Check your mailbox after Pelipper visits; you'll find your first request. When you accept the job you'll head to the dungeon automatically, with the berries you received from Butterfree already in your Toolbox.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

Opponents in this dungeon will use moves like Growl to lower your stats. The effect won't fade until you use a staircase or step on a Wonder Tile. Electric-type Pokémon abound here, but Water-types needn't worry, since they rarely use Electric-type moves. Unlike in Tiny Woods, you can recruit opponent Pokémon here, but not until you've bought Friend Areas later in the game.

"Set" Gravelerocks in the Item menu so you can throw them at distant foes merely by pressing the L and R Buttons. Gravelerocks let you get in early hits at distant foes or finish off cowardly Pokémon like Poochyena that flee when their HP gets low.

FLOOR

In the Red Rescue Team version of the game, you'll encounter Plusle in this dungeon. In Blue Rescue Team, you'll encounter Minun instead.

MT. STEEL

Complete a bulletin board job, then scale Mt. Steel to free Diglett from Skarmory's clutches.

ITEMS TO BRING:

- APPLE
- BLAST SEED
- ORAN BERRY
- REVIVER SEED

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

IQ-boosting gummies are among the most-precious items in the game, and you can find Orange Gummies and White Gummies in Mt. Steel. You'll also find the first orbs—Escape Orbs are particularly common (and useful). Max Elixirs are equally valuable, but much rarer.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

After completing some bulletin board jobs, rescue Diglett by scaling Mt. Steel and defeating Skarmory.

PREPARATION:

Your mailbox is empty, so you'll have to do a bit of legwork. Visit the Pelipper Post Office, where you can select missions from the bulletin board. To earn multiple rewards, accept all the missions for a given dungeon and try to complete them all in one trip.

Before you depart, visit the shops at Pokémon Square. Link your stat-lowering moves to attack moves at the Link Shop, store your extra items at Kangaskhan Storage, and deposit your cash at Felicity Bank for safekeeping. Bring only a few items (see our suggestions in the Items to Bring list) and leave the rest so you'll have plenty of inventory space. Be sure to open the Job List menu and select Take Job on your job(s), before you head south from your team base to your chosen dungeon. Once there, complete the job(s) by locating your target Pokémon and speaking to it with the A Button.

After you complete two jobs, Dugtrio will appear with a new mission. Before you depart, visit Kangaskhan Storage to pick up Blast Seeds, an Apple, and a Reviver Seed if you've left them there. Otherwise, get them from a Kecleon Shop.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

The largely Rock-type Pokémon in this dungeon use a lot of Defense-boosting moves like Harden and Defense Curl. If you can't beat them before they beef up, remember that Gravelerocks do a fixed 20 points of damage and won't be affected by high Defense scores. The Wigglytuff Club isn't open yet, so you can't do any recruiting on your first visit. But if you return after buying the Mt. Deepgreen Friend Area, you may be able to recruit a Geodude.

The enemies get harder once you reach the fifth floor, so don't use up your special moves on the first few floors. Get an early jump on distant foes by throwing the plentiful Gravelerocks to help conserve your PP. A tough boss fight awaits on 9F, so heal up with an Oran Berry or by holding the A and B Buttons before you take the 8F stairs.

You begin all boss battles one space away from your foe, so you can get in the first hit by throwing a Gravelerock while Skarmory comes toward you. Fire- and Electric-type moves work well, but if you don't know any, try using Blast Seeds for a burst of flame.

SINISTER WOODS

Bolster your ranks with wild Pokémon before you race Gengar's rescue team to a stranded Metapod.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
13

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- APPLE
- BLAST SEED
- CHERI BERRY
- ESCAPE ORB
- PECHA SCARF

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

A wide variety of gummies appear here, making this a great area for gummi hunting. Max Elixirs and Reviver Seeds are rare but valuable treats, and Oran Berries and Apples shouldn't be hard to find.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Get to Metapod before Gengar and its rescue team do, or Caterpie's family will have to cough up their exorbitant fee.

PREPARATION:

The first order of business is to acquire Friend Areas so you can begin recruiting enemy Pokémon. When you visit the Friend Area shop in Pokémon Square, Wigglytuff will give you three freebies (including Power Plant, which will allow Magnemite to join your team). If you have extra money on hand, buy as many other Friend Areas as you can. Then, after witnessing the events in the square, talk to all the Pokémon in town (including the Caterpie in the area north of the square), pay a visit to Makuhita Dojo to the south, and complete at least three bulletin board jobs to trigger the next event.

The following morning you'll have a visit from Gengar before Pelipper brings a random rescue quest straight to your mailbox. Complete two more jobs, then Caterpie will appear with a mission to Sinister Woods. If you want to take Magnemite along, pay it a visit in the Power Plant Friend Area and add the Pokémon to your team.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

There are Grass-type Pokémon that will use the Grass-type Absorb and Leech Life moves, so keep your Water-type Pokémon at full health and off the front lines, if possible. On the first few floors, foes like Sudowoodo, Cascoon, and Silcoon will stand motionless, allowing you to move around them and avoid combat. The Pokémon on later floors are much more aggressive, and the status conditions they can inflict lead to some dangerous situations. Use Gravelerocks and ranged moves like Quick Attack to take out threats like Exeggutor and Shroomish early.

Shroomish's Stun Spore attack can paralyze a character for multiple turns, setting up the victim for damaging attacks from other Pokémon. Equip your leader with a Cheri Berry to cure the condition automatically.

! TEAM MEANIES

It's rescue team versus rescue team on the final floor of Sinister Woods! Gengar is your priority target, since its Curse can do a lot of damage. Gengar is very resistant to Normal-type attacks, so use attacks of other types (Ground-, Psychic-, and Dark-type moves are ideal, but fairly rare at this point in the game). If you don't have any effective moves, you can always rely on fixed-damage items like Gravelerocks and Blast Seeds. To make sure your party members are using the best possible moves, go into their moves lists and deselect every move except for the ones that will do the most damage.

Shiftry hasn't returned from his rescue job—investigate and pick up a few great prizes on the way.

TERRAIN:

ITEMS TO BRING:

- APPLE
- BLAST SEED
- PECHA BERRY
- PECHA SCARF

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Though they're rare, you can find the first permanent held items here: the valuable stat-boosting Power Band and Special Band. You can also find a variety of gummies, the usual assortment of berries and orbs, and the occasional Max Elixir.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Go to Silent Chasm to save Jumpluff and see what happened to Shiftry's team.

PREPARATION:

Equip your lead Pokémon with a Pecha Scarf to protect against the Poison condition, and bring a few Pecha Berries for the team. Take Magnemite along so you can put its Steel-type Poison immunity to good use.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

Absorb-using and Poison-spewing Gloom is a major threat here, especially to Water- and Grass-types, so don't be afraid to eat a Blast Seed for a quick win. If you get poisoned and don't have a Pecha Berry, make a run for the staircase—the condition will be erased at the start of the next floor. Upper floors feature wet terrain that Water- and Flying-types can cross, but don't let it split up your team; abandoned allies could be wiped out by high-level foes.

Things get tougher in this dungeon, as foes begin using Fire-, Water-, Grass-, and Poison-type special attacks. When facing a bad type matchup, don't be afraid to hide behind a more effective ally.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Rare but spectacular TMs like Dig, Toxic, Giga Drain, Bullet Seed, Shadow Ball, and Aerial Ace are the highlight of this dungeon. You can also find Gold Ribbons (which can be sold for 2,000 Poké) and Link Boxes that let you link moves on the go.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Follow Zapdos to Mt. Thunder to free Shiftry from its clutches.

PREPARATION:

Zapdos is a Level-25 Pokémon with 300 hit points, so you would be wise to buff up your team by doing rescue jobs from the bulletin board until you've risen to at least Level 15. If possible, try to recruit a Ground-type like Geodude in Mt. Steel (note that this requires the Mt. Deepgreen Friend Area).

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

This dungeon is rife with Electric-type Pokémon, many of which use attacks that paralyze their foes. If you see a Beedrill, destroy it from a distance: its Fury Attack can be instantly fatal if it hits five times in succession. Bring an Escape Orb and use it if you get in over your head or find a rare TM you don't want to lose.

ITEMS
TO BRING:

You don't have the option to access Kangaskhan Storage before this dungeon.

ITEMS
TO LOOK FOR:

Oran Berries, Blast Seeds, and Max Elixirs appear frequently, giving you one last chance to gear up before the boss. Gummis (particularly Electric-type-boosting Yellow Gummis) are extremely common, so scour this small dungeon carefully.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Defeat Zapdos to rescue a captive Shiftry.

PREPARATION:

After completing the 10th floor of Mt. Thunder you'll have an opportunity to save at the Kangaskhan statue. Your HP and PP will be refilled before you enter the peak, which features only two floors of combat before you reach Zapdos's perch.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

Gather all the gummis you can on the first two floors of the dungeon, then heal up and equip your best held items (bands and Oran Berries) before you take the second staircase.

Paralysis prevents you from attacking or using special moves, but it can't stop you from throwing items like Gravelerocks. If possible, step back to put an unparalyzed partner on the front line, and throw rocks from the back row until the effect fades.

145 ZAPDOS

If you're a Grass-type (vulnerable to Peck) or pure Water-type (vulnerable to Electric-type moves), this is going to be an especially tough fight. Fall back and use Gravelerocks or long-range moves while your partners do the heavy lifting. Ground- and Rock-type moves like Mud Sport work great, and moves that lower stats, like Leer, are unusually effective in this long brawl.

FLOORS:
12

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- BLAST SEED
- CHERI BERRIES
- ESCAPE ORB
- ORAN BERRY
- PECHA BERRIES

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

This dungeon is one of the best places to pick up extra Power Bands and Special Bands, which will become increasingly valuable as you recruit more friends. You can also find random gummies and TMs, as well as handy Link Boxes and Max Elixirs.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Fight your way through the Great Canyon to speak to Xatu at the Hill of the Ancients.

PREPARATION:

You may want to revisit an old area in hopes of recruiting a Fire-, Flying-, or Poison-type ally that can make things easier. Blast Seeds are another way to give your team a bit of firepower, so you might as well empty your stores and use them while they still make a difference. Bring a few Cheri and Pecha Berries to deal with moves like Stun Spore and Poison Sting.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

The enemies in the first part of the Great Canyon are primarily Grass-types and Flying-types. Moves like Leech Seed and Mega Drain will make life tough on Water-types like Squirtle, Mudkip, and Totodile, so they should focus on ranged and physical attacks or simply avoid difficult foes such as Breloom and Cacturne. Things will get easier for the Water-types in the second part of the dungeon, since there are no Grass-types past the eighth floor.

Both Murkrow and Doduo know the Pursuit move, which allows them to counter all of your attacks for equal amounts of damage. When you see the blue shield icon over an enemy's head, strike only with long-range attacks and thrown items (which can't be countered) until you can get your target into KO range.

178 XATU

Xatu will give up its secrets without a fight, although it may require some tickling. Its hints are vague, but they do imply that there's a connection between the recent spate of natural disasters and your mysterious transformation. Unfortunately, a lurking Gengar will overhear the whole thing, and it's a safe bet that Gengar isn't there to offer moral support. Head back to town and speak with the residents of Pokémon Square before you plot your next move.

ITEMS TO BRING:

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Explore every floor of the cave thoroughly to turn up some rare items including TMs, gummies, Pecha Scarfs, Stamina Bands, Power Bands, and Gold Ribbons. Staple items like Apples, berries, and Gravelerocks are fairly plentiful.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Lapis Cave is the first in a series of areas you'll have to run through to escape other rescue teams. Your only objective is to get out alive.

PREPARATION:

After speaking to Xatu, you'll return to Pokémon Square just in time to catch the tail end of Lombre's conversation. Follow up by heading north to speak to Whiscash, who will tell you the entire sordid story. That night, a strange dream will give you a disturbing surprise, but it's nothing compared to what awaits you in Pokémon Square. Gengar has turned the town against you, and even Alakazam is ready to join the mob! Alakazam may not be willing to give you the benefit of the doubt, but it will grant you a full day's head start.

The next morning, tell your partner you're "not set" if you have business in Town Square. Everyone's half-asleep, but all the businesses are open, allowing you to link moves, buy items, and access your storage. Bring all the staples: Apples, Oran Berries, a Max Elixir, and either Pecha Berries or a Pecha Scarf. Don't bother trying to visit friends—this quest is for you and your partner alone. You won't be able to do any new recruiting at any time while you're on the run.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

The first nine floors of this dungeon are fairly small and populated by only a few enemies. Nearly all of them are capable of using either Grass-type Absorb or Bug-type Leech Life to drain your HP, so be very careful if you're a Water-type or Grass-type, respectively. Don't forget that you can hold down A and B simultaneously to wait and restore your health, a move that shouldn't be overly risky in this sparsely populated dungeon.

Things get trickier on the 10th floor, where Tangela can pull off a devastating Sleep Powder/Absorb combo to wipe you out of the game. There's no good solution to Sleep-inducing moves at this point, so save your Gravelerocks, Blast Seeds, and ranged attacks for Tangela. An equipped Oran Berry will give you a fighting chance at survival.

Before you set off on your journey, stock up on items at the shop as the rest of the town sleeps. Although this will be your last chance for a while to visit the Kecleon Shop, you will have access to your inventory at various points in your journey, and most staple items can be found along the way.

The Nidorina and Nidorino in this cave all have the Poison Point ability, which may inflict the Poison condition on anyone who attacks directly. Protect yourself with a Pecha Scarf if you can, but don't worry if you've lost it—on Lapis Cave's small floors you're never far from a staircase.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Big Apples (which completely fill you up) are plentiful here. You can also find basic items like Gravelerocks, berries, and the occasional Max Elixir. There are no valuable items, but you may find a rare Trawl Orb or Scanner Orb.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

You can visit this small dungeon as often as you like to gain Exp. Points or gather basic items.

PREPARATION:

Your partner will give you the option of entering the Rock Path if you get KO'ed in Lapis Cave. You will also be able to visit the Rock Path before you enter Mt. Blaze.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

This is a fairly easy dungeon, but the enemies provide plenty of Exp. Points. Since the Rock Path has only four levels, you can use your most-powerful moves with abandon.

Before entering the Rock Path, drop off nearly all of your items at the Kangaskhan statue. All you need is a few anti-poison items, since poisonous Zubat, Nidorina, and Nidorino are plentiful. Of course, you can always take your chances and simply make a run for the stairs.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Gummis are very abundant here, and come in a wide variety of flavors. You're likely to find many Red Gummis, Orange Gummis, Pink Gummis, Brown Gummis, Grey Gummis, Black Gummis, and Silver Gummis. Keep an eye out for TMs as well.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Flee your pursuers while surviving assaults from formidable Fire-type Pokémon.

PREPARATION:

Save at the Kangaskhan statue and visit the Rock Path if you're running low on basic items. Fire-type Pokémon abound in Mt. Blaze, so Rawst Berries will finally come in handy. Don't dump your Pecha gear, though, since Magby and Slugma love to use the Poison-inflicting Smog move. If you don't have a lot of cash for shops, bring a high-value item (like a TM or a Gold Ribbon) from storage.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

You'll begin encountering magma terrain on the fourth floor. Fire- and Flying-types can cross it freely, but it's not a good idea to separate from your partner unless you're making a run for the stairs. Most of your foes can walk on lava, so keep an eye out for ambushes.

Mt. Blaze is home to the first in-dungeon shops, which may begin appearing after 3F. In the shops, you can buy items and even sell excess inventory by using the Place command to drop them on an empty square. If you don't have cash or high-value items on hand, you're welcome to try stealing, but don't chance it if you haven't saved recently. The Kecleon don't treat shoplifters kindly.

ITEMS TO BRING:

You don't have the option to access Kangaskhan Storage before this dungeon.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

You'll find plenty of Red Gummies here, so Fire-types should scour the area. You can also find plenty of Poké.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Fight your way to the peak and battle Moltres.

■ PREPARATION:

You can save your game after the 12th floor of Mt. Blaze, but this Kangaskhan statue won't let you access your inventory. Travel conservatively through the two floors of the peak so you'll still have Oran Berries and plenty of PP for the boss.

■ INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

There are only two Pokémon in the peak area: Arcanine and Fearow. If one of your Pokémon is a Fire-type, deselect your Fire-type moves—they'll only boost Arcanine's power, thanks to its Flash Fire ability. Fearow's Fury Attack is the biggest threat here, so keep your HP up and destroy Fearow from a distance if possible.

Arcanine's Roar move will knock you backward, either into your partner (taking HP from both of you), or into a wall. Make your way back into combat range quickly so your partner isn't stranded.

146 MOLTRES

This is a tough fight for Grass-types, since Moltres's best Fire- and Flying-type moves may KO you instantly. If you've wisely chosen a Fire-, Electric-, or Water-type partner, back up a square and edit your partner's moves so it'll be using its best attack exclusively. Help out by using ranged attacks or throwing items like Sleep Seeds and Gravelerocks. If it's your partner that has the mismatched type, give it an Oran Berry and protect it as best you can.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

The Snow Path has the same assortment of basic items like Gravelerocks and berries you found on the Rock Path, although you'll now have to content yourself with regular Apples instead of Big Apples.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Like the Rock Path near Mt. Blaze, the Snow Path gives players a chance to find staple items and gather Exp. Points in a fairly easy optional dungeon.

■ PREPARATION:

Save your game and access your storage at the Kangaskhan statue. From there you can choose to visit the Snow Path or move directly to Frosty Forest.

■ INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

Although this dungeon is short, the Pokémon inside aren't total pushovers. Furret can deal some serious damage with Fury Swipes if it scores all five hits, and Pineco's Selfdestruct is a major threat.

Pineco's Selfdestruct will deal heavy damage to everyone around it, including Pineco itself (but it won't necessarily be KO'ed). This blast is so powerful it will even destroy dungeon walls! If a Pineco is approaching, make sure everyone in your party is at or near full health.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Chase down the mysterious Absol in Frosty Forest.

■ PREPARATION:

You don't need to worry about status conditions in this dungeon, so you can free up a lot of space and focus your preparation on the Articuno battle ahead. Blast Seeds are effective against Ice-types, and Oran Berries are always handy. There are Kecleon Shops here, which often sell valuable Reviver Seeds, so bring plenty of cash or valuable items.

■ INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

Oddly, Ice-type Pokémon don't rule the forest. Rock- and Ground-types are just as common, so Water- and Grass-type moves are effective throughout the dungeon.

In its true form, Ditto has only the Transform move that allows it to become a copy of another Pokémon who appears on the floor. Ditto is much easier to defeat when it's in its natural state, so if you catch one napping, try to KO it with a long-range move before it can morph into something tougher.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Most of the great held items in Frosty Forest are gone, but your odds of finding Clear Gummies and Blue Gummies have risen. Occasional Reviver Seeds and Max Elixirs will help you defeat Articuno.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Fight your way deep into the forest and battle Articuno.

PREPARATION:

You'll have to fight through four floors this time, so do your preboss prep on 4F.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

The snowy weather boosts Ice-type Pokémon, but you won't find any in this dungeon. Instead, Frosty Grotto is four straight floors of Ground-and-Rock-type Rhyhorn and Steel-and-Psychic Metang. Save plenty of PP and resources for Articuno, but take out as many of the Rhyhorn and Metang as possible to put yourself up a level or two first.

Metang attacks primarily with the Take Down move, which deals 9 HP to Metang regardless of the amount the move deals to you. If you're low on PP, use regular attacks and let Metang KO itself gradually.

144 ARTICUNO

Articuno's Mist move will prevent any moves that might lower its stats, negating a common and effective boss strategy. You can still set up a long-term advantage with status conditions like Poison or damage-bouncing moves like Pursuit, however. The Ice-type Powder Snow attack can be instantly fatal to Grass-types, but hiding won't help—it can hit you anywhere in the room. If you're vulnerable, focus your efforts on taking out Articuno quickly.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

At Gardevoir's request, fight your way up Mt. Freeze to speak with Ninetales.

PREPARATION:

Absol has joined your quest, giving you a long-awaited third team member. Absol's moves are on the weak side, but the excellent Dark-type Bite move is on the way at level 21. If you have a Link Box, bring it along, wait for Absol to learn Bite (replace Taunt), and then link Bite, Leer, and Scratch (in that order) into one mighty supermove. Make sure you give Absol an Oran Berry or Power Band as well. Apples are getting rarer, so bring a few along or equip yourself with a Stamina Band to alleviate your hunger pangs. Bring a Max Elixir too—this is a long dungeon, and Vigoroth's Encore move can wreak havoc on your PP. Note that you will have the option of visiting the Snow Path again before challenging Mt. Freeze.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

This dungeon has 15 large floors, so getting through it will test your party's endurance. None of the enemies are particularly difficult, but they can wear you down if you don't battle efficiently. Use thrown items such as the new Iron Thorns effectively, and make sure your party members have their best attacks at the ready. Your foes use plenty of moves that cause the Sleep condition or restrict your actions, so you'll often need to rely on your friends to finish fights or protect the group against attackers coming from behind.

Watch out for Vigoroth and Slaking's Encore move, which forces you to repeat your last move for the next three to six turns. Also, be wary of using linked moves with low PP, or you could be forced to use them until they come apart.

The Iron Thorn is a new throwing item. It deals a solid 30 points of damage, but unlike a Gravelerock, it can fly only in a straight line. That means you can't throw Iron Thorns over walls or party members, so switch back to the Gravelerocks if you're ever caught in the back row—your friends will thank you for it.

MT. FREEZE PEAK

Are you really the human in Whiscash's tale? Learn the truth straight from the source—Ninetales itself.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
5

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

You don't have the option to access Kangaskhan Storage before this dungeon.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

As is typical of peak dungeons, the most common prizes are gummies, which can be found in a wide variety of colors. You can also pick up occasional Reviver Seeds and Max Elixirs.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Speak with Ninetales to learn the truth about Gardevoir and the Ninetales curse.

■ PREPARATION:

Save your game at the Kangaskhan statue, where your PP will be refilled for free. There's no boss to worry about, so use your Fire-, Fighting-, Rock-, and Steel-type special moves aggressively against the four straight floors of Glalie Pokémon.

■ IN THE DUNGEON:

Glalie doesn't have Articuno's high Special Attack score, so its Powder Snow won't be able to do significant amounts of damage, even to Grass-types. But it does have a chance of freezing its targets, which could set them up for several unopposed strikes. Blast Seeds come in doubly handy here: You can use them to toast Glalie or to defrost frozen allies.

Glalie uses the move Double Team often, giving it a significant Evasion boost. Target it from afar before it can approach you, or cancel its boost with Haze or Foresight. If you're having trouble hitting a boosted Glalie at close range, maneuver your team so everyone can take a swing at it. Eventually you'll crack it!

38 NINETALES

Alakazam's team has caught you, and they can't be talked out of their mission. Just when it looks like you'll have a triple boss brawl on your hands, Ninetales appears to break up the fight. Not only is Ninetales friendly, but it has important information for you—you're not the human in the legend, and the calamities have nothing to do with you. That's a relief, but it still doesn't explain who you are and what you're doing here. At least you've won the trust of Alakazam's team, and can now continue your quest with all the residents of Pokémon Square behind you.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

This dungeon is full of Green and Grass Gummies, so you'll be able to fill up your storage in anticipation of future Bug- and Grass-types. Besides the gummies, all you'll find are Apples, berries, and the ultravaluable Chestnuts (B9F only).

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Calm down the Mankey gang that has been wreaking havoc in Uproar Forest.

PREPARATION:

Your days as a fugitive are over, and you can now return to your rescue-team duties. Avail yourself of the resources in Pokémon Square, and accept some jobs from either the bulletin board or your mailbox. Keep an eye out for jobs that have exclusive Friend Areas as a reward—one will pop up soon.

After you've completed at least three rescue jobs, you'll have another dream about Gardevoir. In the morning, you'll be approached by Wynaut and Wobuffet, who have posted the Punish Bad Mankey! job on the bulletin board. When you accept it, you'll unlock the new Uproar Forest area. Before you visit, grab a Pokémon with good Fire-, Flying-, Ice-, Poison-, or Bug-type moves, any of which will be extremely effective against the Grass-types in Uproar Forest.

IN THE DUNGEON:

Uproar Forest gets a lot of strange weather, from hail to sandstorms. Both will damage your party continuously, but only enough to negate your natural healing abilities. The bad weather affects your foes as well, so if you can tolerate the damaging conditions, you'll be able to gain lots of Exp. Points easily by KO'ing severely wounded foes.

The most dangerous wild Pokémon is Venonat, who can use the Supersonic and Disable moves to cause Confuse and Paralyze conditions, either of which could leave you severely disabled in a monster room. Scour B9F carefully for Chestnuts before you take the stairs to the 10th floor, where the Mankey gang awaits. Chestnuts appear only on B9F, and usually only once per visit.

56 MANKEY GANG

The Mankey gang members are no tougher than regular Mankey Pokémon, and they start far enough away that you can KO them with ranged attacks before they can get close enough to unleash their Fighting-type moves. Once defeated, the Mankey gang will come to work on your base, doing renovations in exchange for Chestnuts. You'll need to give them three Chestnuts to complete the job.

This dungeon is the first that contains Monster Houses, where lots of enemy Pokémon drop in from the ceiling and surround your party. Use moves that can damage multiple foes if you have them, and try to push your way in from the entrances so your party members can fight as well. Watch out for Seedot here; they may have the Earthquake move.

HOWLING FOREST

FLOORS:

TEAM MAX:

ITEMS TO BRING:

- APPLES
- GRAVELEROCKS
- IRON THORN
- MAX ELIXIR
- ORAN BERRIES

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

There are lots of new orbs, seeds, and berries on this floor, but many, like Trapburst Orbs, aren't worth using yet. The best prizes are TMs, which now include some of the game's strongest moves. Flamethrower, Earthquake, Psychic, and Solarbeam are highlights.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Rescue Smeargle, who is lost in Howling Forest.

■ PREPARATION:

There are several tasks to pursue after the Mankey gang begins renovations on your base. You can revisit Upoar Forest to get the final Chestnut, or scour the usual places for rescue quests with Friend Areas as a reward. After you've completed the renovations and won the Sky Blue Plains Friend Area (Smeargle's home), you'll find the Smeargle's Desperate Plea job on the bulletin board. Accept it to unlock the Howling Forest dungeon.

This dungeon gets a lot of strange weather that will empower certain Pokémon types. Snow is pretty common, so you may want to bring an Ice-type ally. Bring more Apples than you usually do, since they are very rare here.

■ IN THE DUNGEON:

The first eight floors of this dungeon are fairly easy, but you'll be facing the much tougher evolved forms of the same Pokémon from 9F on. Save plenty of PP for the tougher floors, and don't let your HP drop far! Psychic-type Spoink and Grumpig are among the most dangerous foes, as both can deal Psychic-type damage at long range with the Psywave move. That's reason enough to leave any Fighting- or Poison-type allies at home.

Loudred's Upoar move will give all of the floor's wild Pokémon the Sleepless condition. Sleep Seeds are usually a good weapon to have in Monster Houses, but if you see the yellow eye icons over your foes' heads, don't bother using the seeds.

235 SMEARGLE

You'll find Smeargle on the 15th floor of Howling Forest, and it will join your party thereafter. You can then visit Smeargle at its Sky Blue Plains Friend Area, where you can either ask it to redesign your flag or invite it to join your party. If you commission a redesign, Smeargle will come up with something and have it waiting the next time you return from a quest.

MAGMA CAVERN

ITEMS TO BRING:

- HUGE APPLE
- IRON THORN
- MAX ELIXIR
- ORAN BERRY
- PECHA SCARF
- RAWST BERRY
- REVIVER SEED
- SPECIAL BAND

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

This dungeon won't occupy your inventory space with a lot of junk. Besides ever-useful throwing items (including new Silver Spikes), you'll mostly find high-quality TMs and held items like Heal Ribbons, Stamina Bands, and X-Ray Specs. Link Boxes are also fairly common.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Rescue Alakazam's team and silence Groudon in the depths of Magma Cavern.

PREPARATION:

After you complete at least four more rescue jobs, you'll be awakened by another earthquake. Visit Pokémon Square, where Shiftry has called a town meeting to discuss Alakazam's fate. There's no place for you on the rescue team . . . yet. Complete two more rescue jobs, then return to Pokémon Square and listen to Blastoise's report. If you think you're up to the task, raise your hand and volunteer for the toughest rescue job yet. You'll spend one more night in town before you can depart for Magma Cavern, and even then you'll be free to pursue other jobs first.

Your party members' levels should be in the mid 20s, although Electric-type and Normal-type heroes may need to be at slightly higher levels. If your hero isn't a Water- or Grass-type, bring a friend who is; you'll be facing primarily Rock- and Ground-type Pokémon. Fire-types are strong too, since Poison- and Steel-type foes are fairly common.

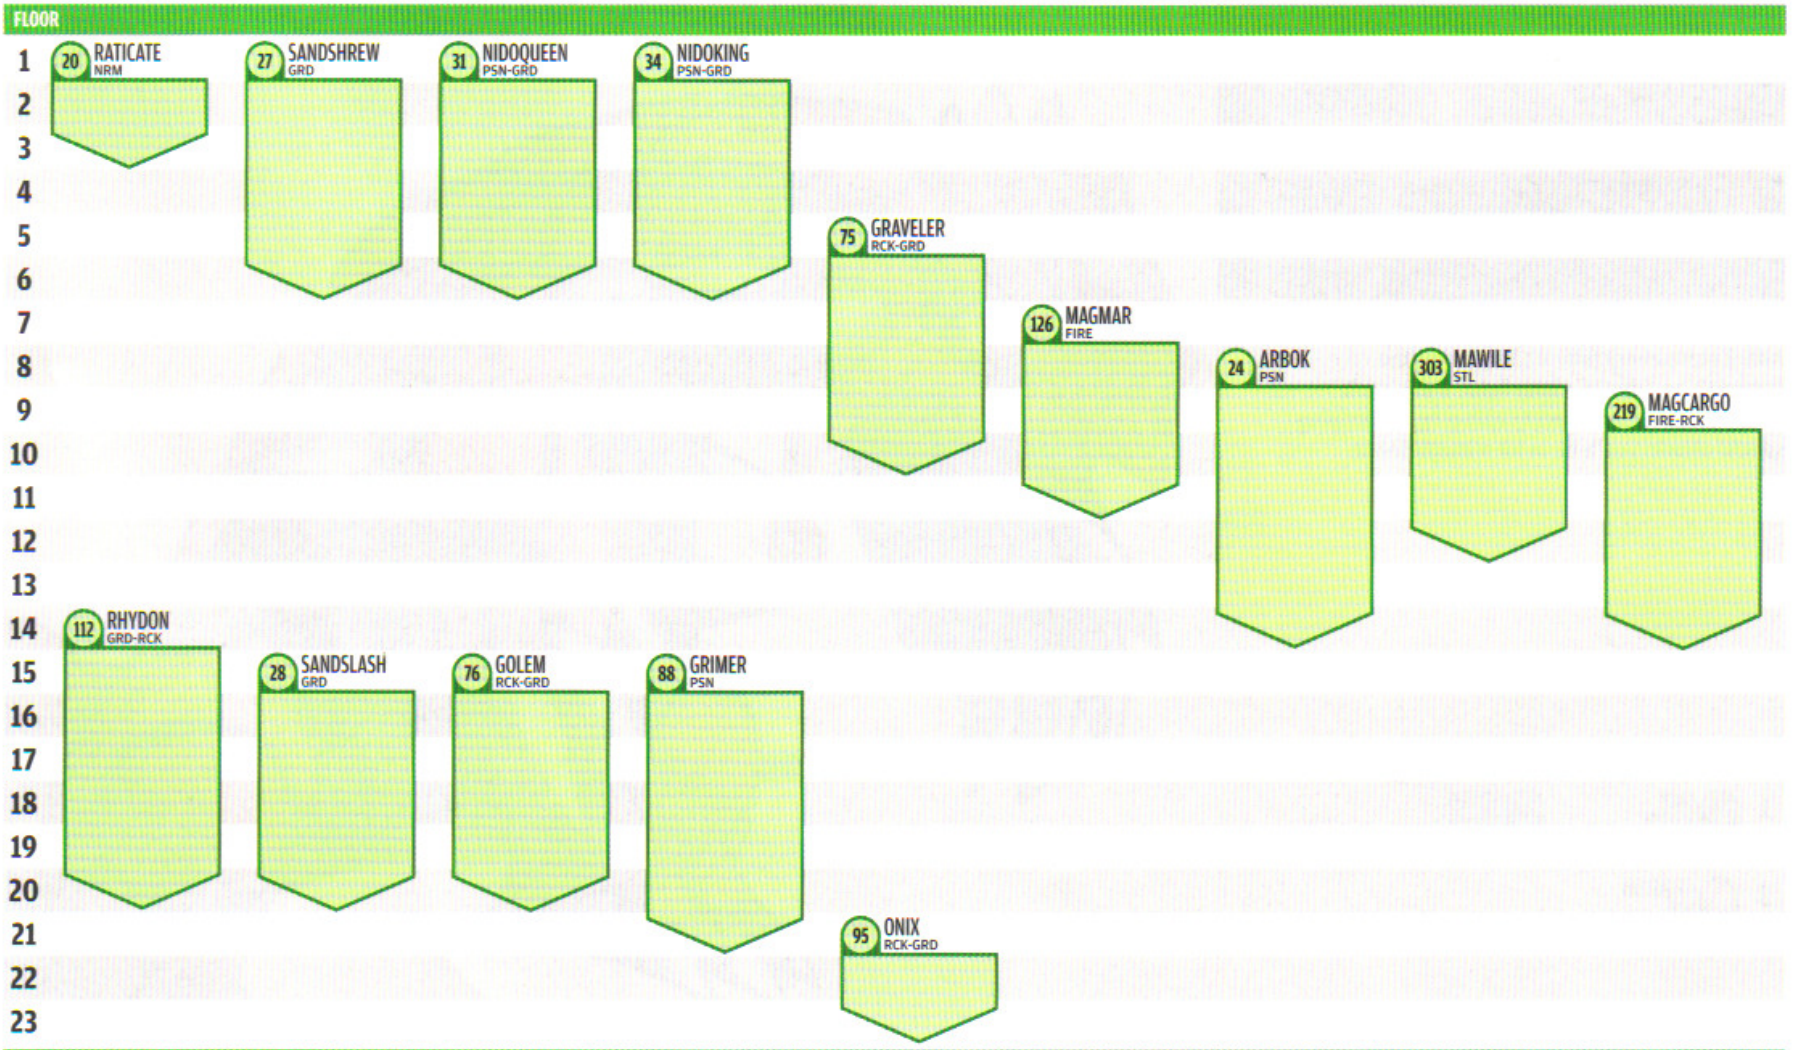

You'll have to survive 24 floors before you can challenge Groudon, which makes this your longest trip yet. Apples are extremely rare and recovery items like berries and Max Elixirs are nonexistent (except in Kecleon Shops), so you'll need to bring a lot of them with you. Eat gummis as you find them to save inventory space.

IN THE DUNGEON:

The first eight floors are heavy on Rock- and Ground-types, but the poison tips of Nidoqueen and Nidoking may be the biggest threat—wear a Pecha Scarf until B6F if you have one. Fire-types begin to appear around B8F, and you'll also begin to see magma on the ground, so watch out for ambushes. Rock-and-Ground-types reemerge on the final eight floors, especially B22F and B23F, where you'll encounter nothing but Onix. Type-trumping special attacks are an absolute must against these deadly, high-Defense foes. Ranged attacks like Bubble, Bubblebeam, and Bullet Seed are ideal, since Onix often hang back and strike from afar with the Dragonbreath move.

You'll face multiple Monster Houses in Magma Cavern, all stocked with foes that are much tougher than usual. Moves that can hit multiple targets (like Thunderbolt, Bullet Seed, and Bonemerang) are absolutely fantastic in these situations, as are defensive moves like Protect and Pursuit. When your friends can handle the nearby targets, use Silver Spikes to get an early shot at distant foes.

ITEMS TO BRING:

You don't have the option to access Kangaskhan Storage before this dungeon.

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

The only items you'll find lying around are scattered Poké. Everything else is hidden inside the walls, so you'll need Super Mobile (the ultimate IQ skill) or a Mobile Orb to get at them.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Battle the awakened Groudon and save Alakazam's team.

■ PREPARATION:

Save your game at the Kangaskhan statue and breathe a sigh of relief that your HP and PP have been refilled completely. There is only one floor of enemies between you and Groudon, so you don't have far to travel. Although the dungeon has three floors, you'll encounter only a quick scripted event on level 2F.

■ IN THE DUNGEON:

Onix and Steelix are both dangerous, but they are worth buckets of Exp. Points. After you locate the staircase, you may still want to hang out and battle them just to level up, but keep an eye on your PP to make sure you have enough juice left over for Groudon. Water-, Fighting-, and Ground-type moves are utterly fantastic versus either Onix or Steelix, and should result in an instant KO. (Grass-type moves are really effective only against Onix. Onix and Steelix look very similar, so check the text box so you know who you're fighting!) If you don't have any moves that will give you an edge against these foes, a quick run for the stairs is your best bet.

The Rage skill allows Onix or Steelix to boost its Attack score every time it's hit, giving the Pokémon an edge in a long fight. If you can't beat your adversary quickly with a type-trumping special attack, you'll be in for a tough battle.

383 GROUDON

Groudon is a tough cookie, but you have several advantages. It begins the fight several squares away, giving you plenty of time to do heavy damage with long-range moves like Bubble or Bullet Seed, or at least to throw several Silver Spikes. Many of its early moves will lower your stats or change the weather, giving you a few free turns to use effective Water-, Grass-, and Ice-type special attacks.

- X-RAY SPECS

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Sky Tower is a dreamland for item hunters, featuring large quantities of held items like X-Ray Specs, Stamina Bands, Detect Bands, and Persim Bands, any of which will be useful immediately. Link Boxes and gummies are plentiful, and you'll find a few TMs as well.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Convince Rayquaza to stop the shooting star and save the world.

PREPARATION:

After beating Groudon, you'll return to a hero's welcome. But the party won't last long—a new threat is imminent, and yours is the only team that's up to the challenge. Hit the stores and storage, being sure to bring plenty of Reviver Seeds, Huge Apples, and Max Elixirs for the ultimate challenge. Gravelerocks may seem obsolete, but bring a few—unlike Iron Thorns and Silver Spikes, Gravelerocks can hit Ghost-type enemies within walls. Special items like X-Ray Specs, Heal Ribbons, and Persim Bands come in handy, but leave plenty of inventory space for the excellent items you'll find.

IN THE DUNGEON:

The first part of Sky Tower is full of Ghost-type Pokémon who can travel within the walls. If they're in a wall, your moves won't be able to hit them, but they'll still be able to attack you! Fortunately, items that are thrown in an arc (like Gravelerocks) can still hit them, and are powerful enough to KO weak Ghost-types like the Bug-and-Ghost-type Shedinja easily. Try to defeat the Ghost-types early, or they'll steal all your PP with the Spite move. Another popular move is Selfdestruct (used by Forretress and Koffing), which can take off 50 or more HP consistently. Confuse effects are common, so put on a Persim Band when facing multiple foes.

This dungeon is full of great items, but they often come at a price. Use your X-Ray Specs to reveal a floor's items, and be wary of approaching rooms that contain three or more items, a tip-off that it's a Monster House. If you decide to go for the items, put on a Persim Band before you step inside. Confuse effects are common, and can prove fatal when you're surrounded.

ITEMS
TO LOOK FOR:

Sky Tower Summit has most of the same great held items and TMs as Sky Tower, but they appear less frequently. You'll find mostly Poké.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

The only way to convince Rayquaza to help you is to defeat it in combat.

PREPARATION:

Be sure to save at the Kangaskhan statue, since you're going to have a difficult team reaching Rayquaza with your supplies intact. Wear a Persim Band to protect yourself from the Confuse-inflicting moves of Metagross and Aerodactyl.

IN THE DUNGEON:

Most of the Sky Tower Summit floors have a similar layout, with a circular central hallway and dozens of little rooms branching out. You'll need to do a lot of searching to find the stairs, and the constant enemy attacks will take their toll. Quality items appear much less frequently than they did in Sky Tower, so there isn't much point exploring—it's best to take the stairs as soon as you spot them.

384 RAYQUAZA

Rayquaza has a lot of HP and a combination of types that is hard to exploit. If you're lucky enough to have access to Ice-type moves, you'll be in for an easy victory, but otherwise you'll need to prepare for a long fight. Set up effects that protect your party, reflect damage, and weaken Rayquaza. Status conditions like Paralyze work too, but they won't last long—the incredible Speed boost provided by Rayquaza's Dragon Dance will allow it to recover quickly.

EXTRA DUNGEONS

Continue your career as a rescue team leader in the game's challenging post-ending dungeons.

EXTRA-DUNGEON FLOW CHART

After the main storyline is over, there's a lot left to do. Unlocking the remaining 24 dungeons may not be easy, but it will surely be rewarding.

Additional Dungeons

You can reach these eight dungeons only by using certain HMs or acquiring certain Friend Areas. They have no connection to any story subplot, and can be visited at any time after you meet the entry requirements. These dungeons have no specific goals but do contain rare Evolution items and recruitable Pokémon.

EXTRA-DUNGEON EVENTS

You must complete a series of nine unrelated quests to unlock the majority of the extra dungeons.

EVENT 1 Tales of the Stormy Sea

When you load your game after watching the ending, your new quest will begin with an event at Whiscash Pond. Learn about the Evolution process, then head to the dungeon exit. Your partner will explain how to change leaders; you can then switch leaders and tell your partner to leave the party, allowing you to evolve any Pokémon who is ready.

Next talk to Medicham, who is hanging around near the team base. Visit Lombre in Pokémon Square to hear its side of the story, then follow up with Whiscash. Whiscash will give you the Dive HM, which will allow you to enter Stormy Sea. Whiscash will also unlock the Solar Cave area, where you can find other HMs and a replacement copy of the Dive HM in case you need it.

EVENT 2 Buried Relic Discovered

A few days after completing the Stormy Sea dungeon, you'll find an article titled "Buried Relic Discovered!" in your mailbox. Talk to Shiftry in Pokémon Square. It will tell you all you need to know to reach the Buried Relic dungeon, which also contains several HMs—but enter only if you have several extra Keys on hand. Buried Relic is also home to Mew, who may appear between levels 38 and 98 if you have the Music Box in your toolbox (see p. 90).

EVENT 3 Robbery in Progress

To trigger this event you'll need to have purchased the Southern Island Friend Area from Wigglytuff (at 9,500 Poké, it's the priciest one) and retrieved the Surf HM from Solar Cave. On the first day after both conditions are met, you'll be awakened by a commotion outside your base, told about a high-profile robbery, and given access to the Northern Range area. After you complete that dungeon, you'll speak to Latios in Pokémon Square to learn how to reach Pitfall Valley. You'll speak to Latios again after completing that dungeon to receive the quest's ultimate reward. You will also unlock Purity Forest and Joyous Tower.

EVENT 4 The Guardian of the Sea

It will take a fair amount of legwork to trigger Event 4. In addition to completing the Pitfall Valley dungeon (Event 3), you'll need to return to Mt. Thunder, Mt. Blaze, and Frosty Forest to recruit Zapdos, Moltres, and Articuno respectively (see the box below for tips on how to recruit the Legendary Pokémon). When you've completed all the tasks, speak with Alakazam in Pokémon Square—it will ask you to visit the Legendary Island Friend Area and investigate a colossal tornado. Visit any of the three Legendary birds to receive the Vortex Stone, the key to the Silver Trench area. You must recruit Lugia at the end of the Silver Trench to trigger Event 5.

How to Recruit a Boss

You need to fight through an entire dungeon simply to get a chance at recruiting the Legendary birds, so double-check that you're doing everything right.

- Your party needs to have room for a 4-star-size Pokémon. That means you can use either two 1-star Pokémon or a single 2-star Pokémon (you can see their size on the Summary screen). If you're using a larger party, enter the Team menu and use the Farewell command to send extra teammates home before you fight the boss.
- Level up! The higher your leader's level, the better your odds.
- Your leader must strike the final blow in the boss fight and be adjacent to the Pokémon you're trying to recruit.
- A bit of good news: You won't need (and can't get) the bosses' Friend Area in advance. When you recruit Zapdos, Moltres, or Articuno, it'll give you its Friend Area.
- Get the Friend Bow to increase your odds of success (see p. 104).
- Persistence is key. You can do everything right and still fail. Buck up and try again!

EVENT 5 Otherworldly Pokémon

After recruiting Lugia in Silver Trench, you'll return to your team base to find Xatu waiting. Clearly it has something important to say . . . or maybe not. Fortunately, Blastoise will come wandering by with some actual info: It has discovered Meteor Cave, a new dungeon created when Rayquaza destroyed the falling star. According to Blastoise, the area is crawling with Pokémon that resemble nothing anyone has seen before.

Recruitment

To recruit Lugia, follow the tips for recruiting the three Legendary birds in Event 4.

EVENT 6 The Mirage Pokémon

Visit Pokémon Square sometime after completing Solar Cave—you'll witness an event in which Spinda stumbles into town. Take Spinda to your base, where it will tell you a legend about a mirage Pokémon and give you the Clear Wing item (note that it will not appear in your toolbox). After Spinda leaves, bring the Clear Wing to Xatu at its home in the Hill of the Ancients, which you can reach by clearing the Great Canyon dungeon. Xatu will tell you about an island known as the Three Fields and unlock the Fiery Field area. Complete that to unlock the Lightning Field, and complete the Lightning Field to unlock the Northwind Field. When you've conquered all three fields, you'll gain access to Mt. Faraway. Don't forget to return to town and talk to Spinda after you've completed Mt. Faraway.

EVENT 7 Created for Battle

After completing Event 6 and recruiting Ho-Oh from Mt. Faraway, you'll awaken to an event in which Blastoise and Charizard are attacked while exploring a newly discovered cave. Later they'll return to town to report their failure and confirm the rumor of a super-powerful lab-created Pokémon who was bred only to fight. Sound familiar? Longtime Pokémon fans should have a pretty good idea what to expect at the end of the 99th floor of the newly unlocked Western Cave.

Recruitment

To recruit Ho-Oh, follow the tips for recruiting the three legendary birds in Event 4.

EVENT 8 Where Wishes Come True

There are two prerequisites to trigger Event 8. First, you must have earned the Sky Blue Plains Friend Area as a reward for a random bulletin-board quest. Second, you must have completed both Northern Range and Pitfall Valley in Event 3. After fulfilling both tasks, wait a day then visit Whiscash Pond, where you'll see Medicham and Ekans planning something sneaky. They'll run off when you join in the conversation, but they'll be back for a chat on the next day. On the third day you'll find only Ekans near Whiscash Pond, and on the fourth day Ekans will have moved to the bulletin board by the Pelipper Post Office. Talk to Ekans one last time; it will direct you to a bulletin-board posting from a stranded Medicham. Accept the job to unlock the Wish Cave dungeon.

EVENT 9 The Curse of Ninetales

To begin this event, you must first rescue Medicham from Wish Cave (see Event 8). Then visit the post office bulletin-board area and speak with Medicham and Ekans, who will ask about Gengar. Wait a day, then locate the pair again in Pokémon Square. They'll mention that Gengar went to Mt. Freeze, but don't try to track it down there yet. Instead, go about your normal business and wait for Gengar to pay a visit to your team base the next morning.

On the third day of the quest, Gengar will appear at your base and ask for help. Agree to escort it to Mt. Freeze even if you don't plan to do so immediately—Gengar will wait at the Mt. Freeze entrance until you're ready to take on the job.

Mt. Freeze isn't any tougher than it used to be, but it's still harsh enough to present a threat to a Level-15 Gengar. Lead Gengar up 15 floors to the top, then through five floors of Mt. Freeze Peak. Ninetales will grant Gengar an audience and give it a 9-Tail Crest that unlocks Murky Cave.

Once again, Gengar will turn to your team for an escort. Agree to help—you'll find Gengar waiting outside Murky Cave. See p. 115 for details on how to clear Murky Cave.

After you've completed Murky Cave, Gengar will visit your team base to thank you and give you the invaluable Mobile Scarf. The next day you can recruit Gardevoir in Pokémon Square.

EXTRA-DUNGEON BASICS

The ability to take full control of your party roster opens up a whole new layer of strategy. You'll need to use it—the jobs ahead only get tougher.

After Story Mode

You're now free to evolve your Pokémon, compose new rescue teams without your hero or partner, and pursue many new subplots that lead to several extra dungeons. The Wigglytuff Club has been restocked with scores of new Friend Areas, and you can backtrack to old areas to recruit bosses and rare wild Pokémon.

Choosing a Leader

When talking to a Pokémon in its Friend Area, you can now use the Make Leader command to put it at the head of the roster. Many of the new dungeons allow you to switch leaders on the fly by selecting a friend, and choosing Leader in the Team menu.

Evolving Your Pokémon

The first event after you've completed the game takes place near Whiscash Pond, where Luminous Cave reopens to allow Pokémon to evolve. Pokémon can evolve only if they're alone, so put the Pokémon you want to evolve in charge and tell everyone else to stand by. Some Pokémon require items to evolve, and those items can be found in the dungeons to come. See page 45 to read more about Evolution.

Team Management

Changing leaders isn't just a great way to have fun with the moves and abilities of other Pokémon—it's also a key strategy for beating some of the difficult dungeons ahead and obtaining some very important items.

Changing Leaders

Switching leaders on the fly allows you to exploit all sorts of new strategies. For example, you can override your party members manually to maneuver them away from traps they're about to blunder into, or take control to lead them back to the flock when they get separated. Additionally, you can switch to a new leader when the current one starts to get hungry (but not when it's losing HP—then it's too late). By switching out every hungry Pokémon in turn you won't need to bring as much food.

Crossing Terrain with Your Leader

Bring teammates with the ability to cross a wide variety of terrain, and switch between them as needed. Crossing terrain isn't just for shortcuts anymore—you'll now encounter great items that are surrounded by moats or sealed behind thick walls. Not every dungeon allows you to switch, so begin stockpiling gummis to teach your best Pokémon the Super Mobile IQ skill. Consider this a long-term goal; learning Super Mobile may require hundreds of gummis.

Pokémon Prep

In the difficult dungeons to come, it's all the more important that you enter each dungeon with the right Pokémon and the right supplies. Spend some time leveling up with rescue jobs so you'll have the strength and tactics necessary to survive.

New Tactics for New Challenges

As your Pokémon reach higher levels they'll learn a few helpful new tactics. If you're trying to catch up with a Pokémon, or want to use it to cover you while you flee from battle, the Wait There command (learned at Level 15) is handy. Another tactic, Avoid Trouble (learned at Level 35) instructs your Pokémon to avoid combat only when they're low on health, which should keep them from wasting your Reviver Seeds.

Boost Your IQ to New Heights

Now that you'll begin encountering traps with alarming regularity, boosting your IQ is a top priority. Trap Avoider (at four-star IQ) is a key move that prevents allies from stepping on exposed traps, and Self-Curer (at three-star IQ) will help them recover quickly from the effects. In long dungeons, the six-star Energy Saver is a good choice for your leader, especially if the dungeon rules prevent you from bringing items or switching leaders. In the long run, aim to learn Trap Seer (nine stars) and Super Mobile (at max) for your best Pokémon. Note that gummis aren't as common in the new dungeons as they were in some of the late Story-mode dungeons, so you may need to backtrack to find them.

Special Items

You now have access to many powerful items, but you're still limited to the same few inventory slots. Manage your inventory carefully!

Advanced Held Items

It's time to put the berries aside and make sure every Pokémon has a held item that boosts its most important stat. But the leader won't have that luxury—held items like the X-Ray Specs (which reveal items and enemy locations), Tight Belt (which prevents your belly from shrinking), and Friend Bow (which increases your odds of recruiting wild Pokémon) are important tools for achieving your post-ending goals of finding key items, clearing 99-floor dungeons, and recruiting new members.

Permanent Stat-Boosters

Work hard to find items that will permanently boost the stats of important Pokémon. In addition to the classic stat-boosters like Calcium (which boosts Special Attack), Iron (which boosts Defense), Protein (which boosts Attack), and Zinc (which boost Special Defense), you can find Citrus Berries that raise your Max HP if eaten when your HP is full. Seek out Ginseng, a common reward for completing advanced Makuhita Dojo levels, to boost the power of your best moves permanently.

Keys

Keys are now some of the most important items you can find in dungeons. Many of the dungeons to come have fixed items—excellent treasures like HMs, Evolution items, and extremely powerful held items that are sealed behind locked doors. You won't always find Keys near the locks, so scour the few dungeons where Keys randomly appear and save extra Keys in storage. The walk-through that follows will tell you where to find them and when you'll need them.

STORMY SEA

With a little help from Whiscash, you can now dive into the Stormy Sea and battle the mighty Kyogre.

TEAM MAX:

ITEMS TO BRING:

- DIVE HM
- ESCAPE ORB
- HEAL SEED
- HUGE APPLE
- MAX ELIXIR
- ORAN BERRY
- REVIVER SEED

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Oran Berries, Max Elixirs, and gummies of all flavors are common in this dungeon. You'll also find great held items like the Scope Lens and X-Ray Specs, as well as detrimental ones like the Patsy Band and Warp Scarf. Read an item's info before you equip it!

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

The lord of the sea has awakened! Defeat Kyogre and try to recruit it.

■ PREPARATION:

Complete Event 1, Tales of the Stormy Sea (see page 86), to unlock the Stormy Sea and receive the Dive HM. You'll need either to use that HM to teach a party member Dive (which typically only Water-types can learn) or to have the HM in your toolbox when you enter the dungeon. Bring along a Water-type Pokémon, as well as your best Electric- and Grass-type members to battle the dungeon's endless parade of Water-type foes.

■ IN THE DUNGEON:

Your Water-types will be effective against the many Rock-types that are vulnerable to Water-type attacks. You'll also begin to encounter groups of treasures that are surrounded by a deep moat that only a Water- or Flying-type Pokémon can cross. Remember that you can make the Water-type your leader at any time to get the loot.

You'll encounter lots of weird status conditions here and in the dungeons to come. Stockpile gummies and give them to your best Pokémon so they can learn the Self-curer IQ skill. That will let them recover from any status condition more quickly.

382 KYOGRE

Kyogre is a snap if you have a good Electric- or Grass-type attacker. The true challenge is in recruiting it; before the fight, say "Farewell" to all but two-stars'-size worth of party members and make your strongest fighter the leader so it can deliver the final blow. With a bit of luck, Kyogre will hand over the Seafloor Cave Friend Area and join your team.

BURIED RELIC

There's a lot happening in this vast dungeon: three bosses, four HMs, and maybe even a visit from Mew.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
99

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS
TO BRING:

- ESCAPE ORB
- FRIEND BOW
- HEAL SEED
- HUGE APPLES
- KEYS
- MAX ELIXIRS
- ORAN BERRY
- REVIVER SEED

ITEMS
TO LOOK FOR:

Common items like Apples and Oran Berries are welcome finds in a 99-floor dungeon, but Sitrus Berries are better still, since they increase your max HP when eaten on a full stomach. If you use the Rock Smash HM, you may find rare TMs and drinks like Iron by smashing walls.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Explore a newly discovered dungeon to find exclusive HMs and Pokémon.

PREPARATION:

You'll get mail about the Buried Relic a few days after completing the Stormy Sea, and Shiftry in Pokémon Square will unlock it for you. But don't rush in yet; there are several things you need to bring with you to get the most out of this dungeon. If you want to get the TMs, you'll need to bring some of the Keys that appear randomly (but rarely) in Solar Cave, Western Cave, and Desert Region. If catching Mew is your plan, buy the Final Island Friend Area first. Whatever your goal, bring lots of Huge Apples, Max Elixirs, and Reviver Seeds. An Escape Orb is a must, since there's no real reason to complete the dungeon. Take what you want and warp out.

IN THE DUNGEON:

You'll face enemies of all types, and although they're not likely to be tougher than you, they have the advantage in numbers. Beware of Monster Houses and traps, particularly Pitfall Traps—it won't be a problem if the leader triggers them, but they're fatal to your friends.

The TMs are in treasure rooms on fixed floors. B45F holds the Rock Smash HM, but you'll need a Key to get it. The Strength HM on B60F is surrounded by rock, but since you can't learn Rock Smash from within a dungeon, you'll need to come back later, use a Mobile Orb, or switch to a Ghost-type. On B70F you'll find the Flash HM in a locked, indestructible treasure room, and on B80F you'll need a Key, the ability to smash or pass through walls, and the ability to cross water terrain to get the Cut HM.

You'll battle boss Regirock on B15F, Regice on B25F, and Registeel on B35F. Each will drop an item when beaten, and when you collect all three items they'll combine to form a Music Box. If you use the Music Box it will be destroyed, so simply keep it in your toolbox as you wander the dungeon. These bosses are tough, specializing in Defense-boosting moves and Selfdestruct attacks, so save your best items and attacks for them.

151 MEW

As long as you have the Music Box in your toolbox, there's a very small chance Mew will appear between levels 36 and 98, and a decent chance it will pop up between levels 94 and 98. Mew may be in disguise (it has the Transform move) so defeat every enemy you can! If you beat Mew and have the Final Island Friend Area, it may offer to join you.

SOLAR CAVE

Exclusive HMs and evolution items make this Psychic-type-infested cave a must-visit area.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
20

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- CLEANSE ORB
- HUGE APPLE
- KEYS
- MAX ELIXIR
- ORAN BERRY
- X-RAY SPECS

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Keys are the most important random items, since this dungeon contains two locked treasure rooms. Sun Stones and Moon Stones appear here regularly, allowing you to evolve certain Pokémon. Besides that, expect to find lots of unusual orbs and the occasional held item or TM.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Retrieve Waterfall, Surf, and Dive HMs, as well as Link Cable Evolution items.

■ PREPARATION:

You'll gain access to Solar Cave when you unlock Stormy Sea, and you can visit it anytime thereafter. Every single Pokémon you'll encounter here is a Psychic-type, so make a party out of Bug-, Ghost-, or Dark-type Pokémon with levels that are at least in the mid 20s, or out of any Pokémon with good Dark-type moves like Bite. Once again you'll want Water- or Flying-types, since certain treasures are surrounded by moats. Seriously consider bringing X-Ray Specs for your leader—they won't show you where the treasure rooms are, but they will make items such as Keys show up on your map.

■ IN THE DUNGEON:

Two of this dungeon's three fixed prizes are stuck behind locked doors, which makes Keys far and away the most important items you can find. Use your X-Ray Specs and check out every blue item dot, but be forewarned that even then there's no guarantee you'll find any. If you come up empty, try again or make a point of returning after you acquire some in a later dungeon. The enemies shouldn't be too tough if you have the right types on your team, but beware of Claydol that Selfdestruct when approached.

You'll find the first locked treasure room on B10F—it will contain the Dive HM if you've lost it, or a Link Cable if you haven't. The locked room in B15F always holds the Waterfall HM. The Surf HM is on B20F, and although no Key is required, it is surrounded by water terrain.

NORTHERN RANGE

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

The Northern Range isn't a good place to hunt for items, since good stuff like held items and TMs (the usual assortment) appear only rarely. Instead, you'll find plenty of seeds and orbs, so stock up on Reviver Seeds, Heal Seeds, and Trawl Orbs. Kecleon Shops also appear.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Reclaim the items that were stolen from the Kecleon Shop.

PREPARATION:

Your Pokémon should have levels in the low-to-mid 30s before you challenge this dungeon, but you can get away with being a bit lower-level if you can put together a party of good Electric-, Ice-, or Rock-type Pokémon. Except Seviper, every wild Pokémon in this dungeon flies, so Electric-, Ice-, or Rock-type moves will be consistently powerful.

IN THE DUNGEON:

The Beautifly on the first six floors are among the toughest foes in this dungeon, thanks to the incredible Silver Wind move. This Bug-type attack damages everyone in the room heavily while potentially boosting the user's stats, and Beautifly can use it several times before you can get within range to use standard attacks. Leave Dark-, Psychic-, and Grass-type Pokémon at home and choose a leader with a good long-range attack to take Beautifly down from afar. In later levels, the main threat is Togetic, who knows many moves with random effects. You never know when Ancientpower or Metronome will unleash a devastating blow.

LVL: 30

Latios uses a lot of defensive moves and basic attacks that aren't much of a threat. Aim for a quick victory with Dark-, Bug, or Ice-type moves before Latios can use Protect to drag out the battle. Don't worry about trying to recruit it, since it won't be possible at this point in the game.

ITEMS
TO LOOK FOR:

Pitfall Valley features the exact same assortment of items as Northern Range, and in the exact same frequencies. Keep your eyes open for held items, TMs, and useful orbs and berries, but don't let the slim pickings distract you from your quest.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Traverse Pitfall Valley and use your Teleport Gem to save a wounded Latias.

■ PREPARATION:

Pitfall Valley is no more difficult than Northern Range was, and continues that dungeon's Flying-type theme. Whatever party you used to clear Northern Range will surely be able to handle this extremely similar area. The only difference this time is a heavier emphasis on moves and traps that inflict status conditions like Confuse and Sleep, so now might be a good time to raid your storage and hand out the gummies in hopes that your troops will learn skills like Nonsleeper and Trap Avoider. Remember that you'll need to switch on IQ skills manually before they'll take effect.

■ IN THE DUNGEON:

Butterfree, Masquerain, Skiploom, and Aerodactyl are all capable of inflicting nasty status conditions, so eliminate them from afar if possible. You'll notice enemies are beginning to travel in larger groups, so if a move or trap stuns you, attackers may overwhelm you quickly. Keep your party together so you'll have allies to protect you if your leader catches something nasty. Remember that you can always switch leadership if your friends don't seem capable of handling the responsibility themselves.

Latias and Latias have no money to repay your kindness, so they'll offer to reward you the only way they can—by joining your rescue team. Note that Latias is a Level-30 two-star-size Pokémon, while Latias is a Level-28 one-star-size Pokémon.

- PETRIFY ORB
- REVIVER SEED

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

You'll find the usual TMs and held items here, but don't waste space on anything you won't use. Supplies like seeds and Max Elixirs stop coming after B20F, and the Blue Gummies and Grimy Food stop at B30F. Fortunately, orbs and throwing items can be found on all 99 floors.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Travel to Silver Trench to recruit Lugia.

PREPARATION:

You'll need to recruit Zapdos, Moltres, and Articuno, then complete Event 4 to unlock Silver Trench. Load up your toolbox with staples before you set off on your journey; this dungeon will tear into your supplies like no other. Not only do you have to contend with 99 floors, but an endless stream of Sludge Traps and Sticky Traps will ruin your items one by one just as PP-Zero Traps make Max Elixirs all the more necessary. Because of that, it's best not to challenge this dungeon until you have a Pokémon with the Trap Seer IQ skill to lead your force. If you're going to try anyway, bring plenty of Reviver Seeds, Cleanse Orbs, and Max Elixirs. Bring a Water-type Pokémon (with Electric- and Grass-type backup) and either teach it the Dive HM or bring the HM along. Confuse-inflicting moves are common, so Persim Bands are a good accessory choice.

IN THE DUNGEON:

The Pokémon in this dungeon start out easy, but you'll be dealing with fully evolved Pokémon with levels in the 35-40 range by the end. There aren't enough Max Elixirs to compensate for the PP-Zero Traps, so throw items and use basic attacks whenever you can get away with it. Recruit wild Pokémon as you travel, use up their best moves, and set them free. (You can't keep them anyway, if you hope to recruit four-star-size Lugia.) All you'll find to eat here is Grimy Food, but don't worry about it; just eat it when you're near the stairs so the resulting status conditions will be cleared immediately. The food stops coming after B30F, so bring plenty to spare.

Silver Trench features both random Monster Houses and fixed monster houses that take up the entirety of B35F, B55F, and B75F. Bring Petrify, Slumber, or Totter Orbs along with you so you can set one off and run for the stairs on the nightmarish floors.

After all you've gone through, you don't want to blow your chance to recruit Lugia, so say farewell to all but two one-star-size Pokémon. For an easy fight, try to paralyze Lugia before it can use Safeguard, but don't despair if you fail at that and all of your best moves are out of PP. Lugia's only offensive move is the fairly weak Gust, so it will mostly rely on weak basic attacks.

METEOR CAVE

Blastoise was right—the Pokémon in Meteor Cave are like nothing you’ve ever seen before.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
20

TEAM MAX:
1

ITEMS TO BRING:

- REVIVER SEEDS
- TIGHT BELT
- X-RAY SPECS

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

There are no items in Meteor Cave, only Poké. The lack of booty is all the more reason to hang out and let Deoxys come to you.

JOB DESCRIPTION:
Defeat Deoxys in the strange cave that was unlocked in Event 5.

PREPARATION:
You’re allowed to bring only one Pokémon and no more than three items (plus a held item) into Meteor Cave. Ideally, your Pokémon should be a level-40-plus Dark-type that knows several Dark-type attacks and the Trap Seer IQ skill, but a level-50-plus Pokémon with strong attacks is a solid plan B. You’ll have both belly and PP issues in this dungeon, so the bulk of your four-item inventory should be filled with the only thing that cures both: Reviver Seeds. You may also want to bring a Tight Belt for your Belly, or X-Ray Specs to track Deoxys’s movements.

IN THE DUNGEON:
Each of the 20 floors contains a single, semitransparent Deoxys in one of three forms. From left to right, the three forms are Speed, Attack, and Defense. Speed can attack twice per turn, but both it and Attack will crumble under a good Dark-type Bite. Save your best moves for the Defense form; if the fight is allowed to run long, it will boost its defensive stats to the point where your moves become completely ineffective.

X-Ray Specs will allow you to find Deoxys without a lot of searching, but it’s hard to justify using an inventory slot. Instead, find the metal plate that marks the stairs and rest (hold A and B) until Deoxys comes to you. Beat Deoxys to open the stairs.

386 DEOXYS (normal forme)

On the 20th floor you’ll finally face Deoxys in its powerful (but recruitable) normal forme. Unless you have access to the Haze move, you’ll have to strike hard and fast with your best Dark-type moves to outrace the Defense and Special Defense boosts Deoxys will earn by using Cosmic Power repeatedly.

FIERY FIELD

This field of magma is the first destination in the four-part Mirage Pokémon quest.

TERRAIN:
MAGMA

FLOORS:
30

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- CLEANSE ORB
- HUGE APPLE
- MAX ELIXIR
- ORAN BERRY
- RAINY ORBS
- REVIVER SEED

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

You can find a wide variety of seeds, orbs, and held items here, including the new Joy Ribbon. You may also find rare stat-boosting Zinc, Iron, Protein, and Calcium drinks. On the 29th floor you'll find only one item: Fire Stones. If you need one for evolution, this is the place to come.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Defeat Entei to transform the Clear Wing into the Red Wing.

PREPARATION:

To reach the Three Fields you'll need the Surf HM from level B20F of Solar Cave, and to have activated Event 6 (see p.87). You can bring it in your toolbox, but you might as well have one of your Water-types learn it, since it will be very powerful against the Fire-type Pokémon here. The wild Pokémon range from Level 30 to 40, but since nearly all are Fire-type, a Water-themed party can claim victory at a much lower level. Bring extra food and Max Elixirs (or a few Cleanse Orbs), as you'll encounter plenty of Sludge and Sticky Traps.

IN THE DUNGEON:

You'll encounter Fire-type-boosting sunny weather on floors that end with a multiple of 5, so use Rain Dance or a Rainy Orb on those floors, or make a quick dash for the stairs. If you or your allies use moves that inflict status conditions, deselect them when the Machoke begin to appear on level 18, or you'll risk triggering their Attack-doubling Guts ability.

If you have a non-Fire-type Pokémon that can cross magma (such as Flying- and certain Ghost- or Psychic-types), leave it at home! This dungeon is full of narrow passages over magma pools, and flying or floating non-Fire-type Pokémon will burn themselves constantly.

244 ENTEI

TYPE:
FIRE

LVL: 45
HP: 600

Entei is quick and aggressive, but the Water-, Rock-, and Ground-type Pokémon that got you this far will make short work of it. Blast it with Bubble then finish the job with a few uses of Surf or Dig. Entei will reward your effort by transforming the Clear Wing into the Red Wing and unlocking Lightning Field.

LIGHTNING FIELD

The Mirage Pokémon quest continues in the lightning-ravaged field where Raikou makes its home.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
30

TEAM MAX:
3

- ITEMS TO BRING:
- CHERI BERRY
 - HUGE APPLE
 - MAX ELIXIR
 - ORAN BERRY
 - PERSIM BERRY
 - REVIVER SEED

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Sitrus Berries, Protein, and the like are scattered across the dungeon floors, and more exotic items (rare orbs, gummies, and Ginseng) can be found within the walls if you have Super Mobile or a Mobile Orb, or want to use Rock Smash a lot. Thunderstones are everywhere on 29F.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Defeat Raikou to transform the Red Wing into the Sunset Wing.

■ PREPARATION:

Once again you'll need to Surf your way to the Three Fields. Obviously Water-types won't be as useful in this Electric-type playground as they were in the last dungeon, so you may want to bring the Surf HM and leave the surfer at home. (Ground- and Grass-types are a far better choice for this dungeon.) You'll face a lot of Paralyze and Confuse effects here, so pull the Cheri and Persim Berries out of storage, and try to fill your roster with Pokémon that know the Self-Curer IQ skill.

■ IN THE DUNGEON:

You'll face a flurry of Sonic Boom moves here, and even Pokémon who lack ranged attacks will compensate by grabbing the many Gravelerocks and Sticks found here and throwing them with abandon. Use ranged attacks to take out the would-be snipers before they can pick off your weak members. Save some long-range PP for the Electrode, however, as they'll use Explosion as soon as they can get within range.

243 RAIKOU

TYPE: ELECTRIC

LVL: 45

HP: 650

Rock- and Ground-type Pokémon will dominate here, provided you can keep them from being paralyzed. If you lack good type-trump moves, use a Stun Seed or Electric-type moves of your own to paralyze Raikou.

NORTHWIND FIELD

The third and final of the Three Fields is a wet and icy wasteland ruled by the mighty Suicune.

TERRAIN:

FLOORS:
30

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- CLEANSE ORB
- HEAL SEED
- HUGE APPLE
- MAX ELIXIR
- ORAN BERRY
- REVIVER SEED

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

This dungeon has the same assortment of items as in the previous two fields, including the rare gummis and orbs sealed in the walls. Two differences: Key-holders can grab a Lunar Ribbon on 20F, and anyone can find several Water Stones on 29F.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Defeat Suicune to transform the Sunset Wing into the Rainbow Wing.

PREPARATION:

Ice seems to be the theme here, but you'll face more Water-types than Ice-types. Go ahead and bring back your surfer, as plenty of rain falls here and it can benefit you too—just don't target Politoed and Poliwrath foes with any Water-type moves, or you'll end up restoring their lost HP. Leave the Water-type enemies to the Electric- and Grass-type friends that should compose the bulk of your team.

There is a single locked treasure room on 20F, but unless you're specifically trying to evolve Eevee into Umbreon, the Lunar Ribbon isn't worth spending a Key on.

IN THE DUNGEON:

You will encounter a lot of Sleep-inflicting moves and Slumber Traps here, so turn on your team members' Nonsleeper IQ skills. That will help a lot, but it won't stop Delcatty's Infatuated-causing moves and abilities. Use ranged attacks and special moves to keep Delcatty at bay.

There's no way to get into the treasure room on 20F without a Key, and there's no way to find a Key within this dungeon. Fortunately, the Lunar Ribbon inside is of limited use to most teams—its only function is to evolve Eevee into Umbreon.

245 SUICUNE

TYPE:

LVL: 45

HP: 650

Don't enter the 30th floor with a leader that's weak to Water-type attacks, or you'll allow Suicune to score a turn-one KO with a rain-empowered Bubblebeam. Blast Suicune with Electric- and Grass-type attacks until it agrees to upgrade your Clear Wing to its final form and unlock this quest's final destination, Mt. Faraway.

MT. FARAWAY

Mt. Faraway is home to both the rumored Mirage Pokémon and the rare and valuable Friend Bow.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
40

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- CLEANSE ORB
- HUGE APPLES
- KEY
- MAX ELIXIR
- POKÉ
- REVIVER SEED
- TRAWL ORB
- X-RAY SPECS

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

You may find a few basic seeds and berries on Mt. Faraway, and an occasional TM in a Monster House, but other than that you'll find only Poké. There's nothing wrong with that—you can use it to buy items like Calcium, Protein, and Zinc at this dungeon's Kecleon Shops.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Recruit Ho-Oh to prove its existence to Spinda and unlock Western Cave.

PREPARATION:

You'll definitely want to bring a Key with you this time, as the Friend Bow locked away in 30F will make all Pokémon easier to recruit, including this dungeon's difficult boss. Since Mt. Faraway contains almost nothing except Poké (although monster houses may hold other items as rewards), you can fill nearly your entire inventory with supplies. Bring plenty of Poké too, since you can buy stat-boosting items in Kecleon Shops. If you don't have a lot of cash, bring Trawl Orbs and use them at the stairs to rob the shop blind, or take all the loot on the carpet and use an Escape Orb to flee before you step off the carpet and Kecleon asks you to pay.

IN THE DUNGEON:

Considering all the trouble it took to unlock this dungeon, you'd expect it to be a bit tougher. The mostly Level-20-to-30 Pokémon on the first 30 floors shouldn't be much of a challenge to teams that conquered the Three Fields, but there are a few serious threats on the last 10 floors. Glalie is at Level 45 and can seriously damage your party with Hail or Powder Snow, while Dugtrio like to sneak up and use Magnitude, a move that may randomly devastate your entire party. Parasect and Weezing aren't too much of a threat solo, but the status conditions they can inflict can set you up for a beating, especially if you're inside a Monster House (they're extremely common on the 14th and 29th floors).

This is the one and only place in the game where you can find the Friend Bow, a held item that you can give to your leader to increase your odds of recruiting wild Pokémon. Remember to equip it before you battle Ho-Oh!

250 HO-OH

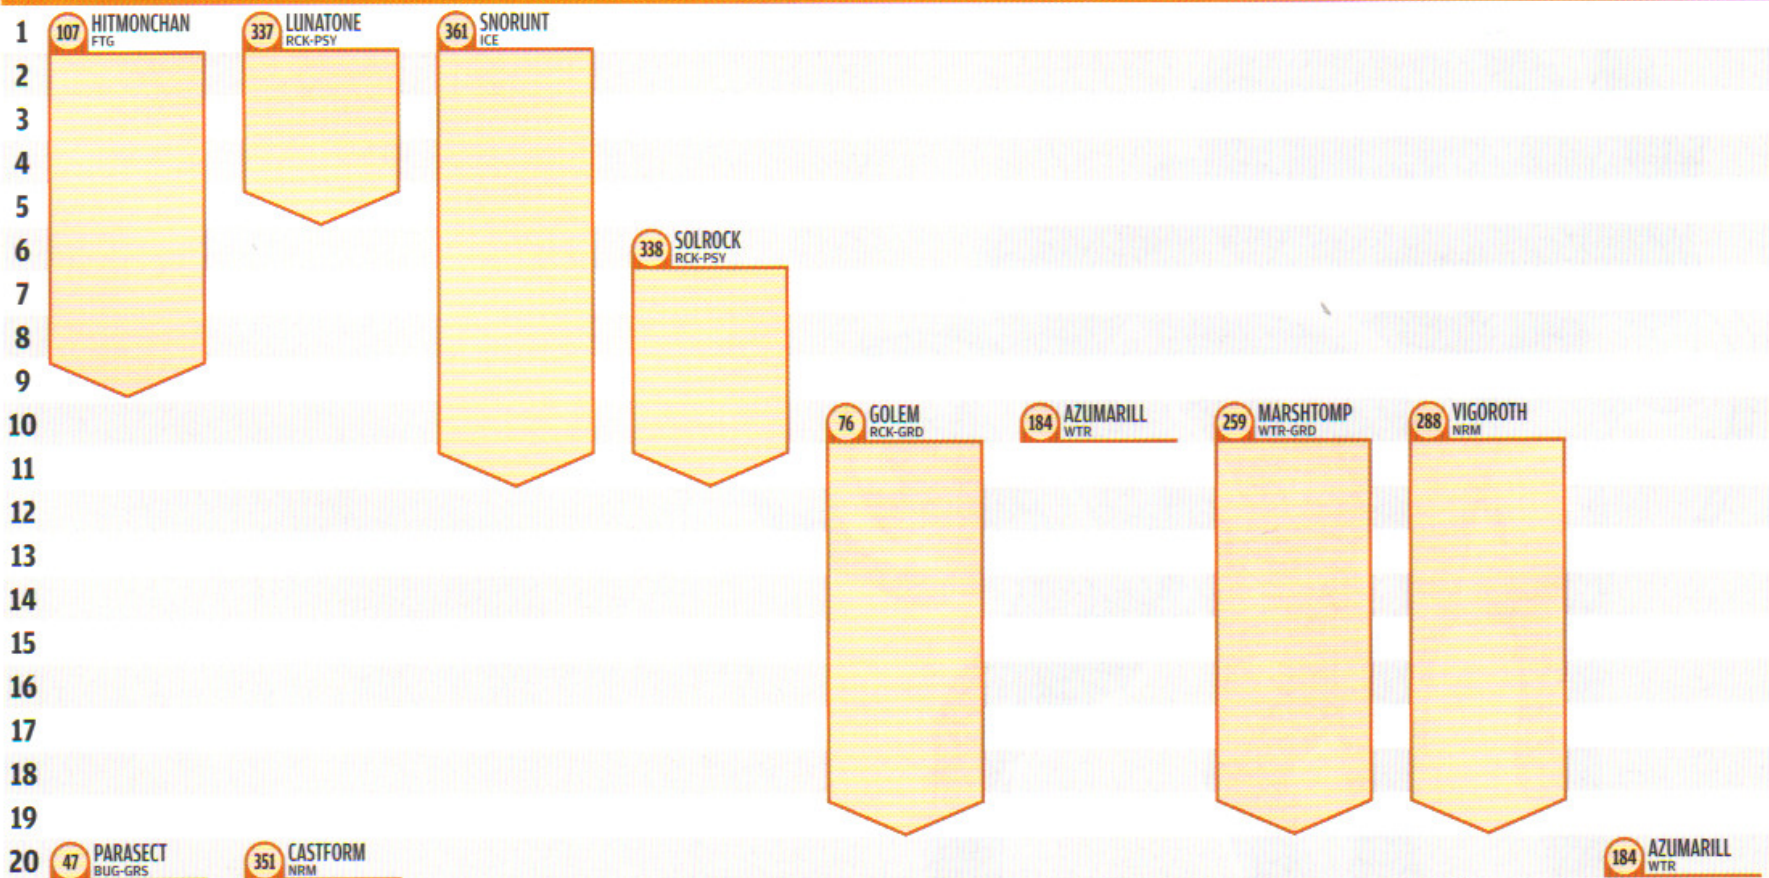

TYPE:
FIRE-FLY

LVL: 50
HP: 800

Be sure to quaff a Max Elixir before you face off with Ho-Oh; its Pressure ability will quickly drain the PP of your best moves. Water- and Rock-type attackers are best, since they have both advantageous moves and partial resistance to Ho-Oh's powerful Fire Blast. Dismiss everyone else to get your party down to a size of two stars or less, and don't forget to equip your Friend Bow!

WESTERN CAVE

Mewtwo is tough, but nowhere near as tough as the 99 grueling floors you'll have to cross to reach it.

TERRAIN:

ITEMS TO BRING:

- CLEANSE ORB
- HEAL SEED
- HUGE APPLES
- MAX ELIXIRS
- POKÉ
- REVIVER SEEDS
- TIGHT BELT
- X-RAY SPECS

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

The items you'll find here are mostly berries, seeds, Max Elixirs, and drinks like Protein and Calcium. The stat boosters are more common here than anywhere else, as are Keys. Rare Kecleon Shops sell gummies and Reviver Seeds, so bring a few Poké.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Explore a newly discovered cave in search of a rumored Pokémon.

PREPARATION:

You'll need to recruit Ho-Oh to open this cave, but you shouldn't enter until you have the Cryptic Cave Friend Area. Mewtwo is the big draw here, and you wouldn't want to get all the way to it only to realize you can't actually recruit it! There is a wide variety of Pokémon in Western Cave, so bring your most versatile and highest-level teammates. If you can't field a team of three Pokémon that are Level 45 or higher, you may not be ready for this dungeon yet. Consider your toolbox carefully: This is a very long dungeon and there are no basic supplies to find. Fill up your toolbox with food, Max Elixirs, and Reviver Seeds. Bring X-Ray Specs for your leader and equip a Weather Band for an ally.

IN THE DUNGEON:

The first 50 floors are fairly easy, but the difficulty climbs rapidly after that. Floors 51 to 60 are constantly swept by sandstorms, so put on a Weather Band if you can. By floor 61, the levels will be getting larger, preventing quick progress. Monster Houses are common, so be wary whenever your X-Ray Specs reveal three or more treasures in a single room; it will nearly always be a trap. Speaking of traps, expect to encounter a lot of them, and unless everyone knows the Trap Avoider IQ skill, you'll need to maneuver carefully to avoid triggering them repeatedly with your allies. You won't find any food, but the berries and stat-boosting drinks will fill your belly a bit. Consume every one that you find.

There is one treasure room on B59F, but the item it contains (a Beauty Scarf, needed to evolve Feebas) isn't nearly as precious as the dozens of Keys you can find in the dungeon. Open up plenty of inventory slots so you can take at least a half-dozen Keys with you.

150 MEWTWO

For all the buildup, Mewtwo isn't so tough. It knows primarily defensive moves and will boost its stats and use Haze while you chomp away with Dark-type moves like Bite. You need only one empty slot to recruit Mewtwo, so dismiss someone before the fight.

WATERFALL POND

Use your Waterfall HM to enter this bountiful pond where many rare Pokémon make their home.

TERRAIN:
GROUND

FLOORS:
19

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- APPLE
- MAX ELIXIR
- REVIVER SEED
- ORAN BERRY
- WATERFALL HM

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Staple items like Oran Berries, Heal Seeds, and Max Elixirs are common here. Outside of that, all you'll find is Geo Pebbles (a new type of projectile) and Poké.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

There is no particular goal here, but this is a good place to recruit rare Pokémon.

PREPARATION:

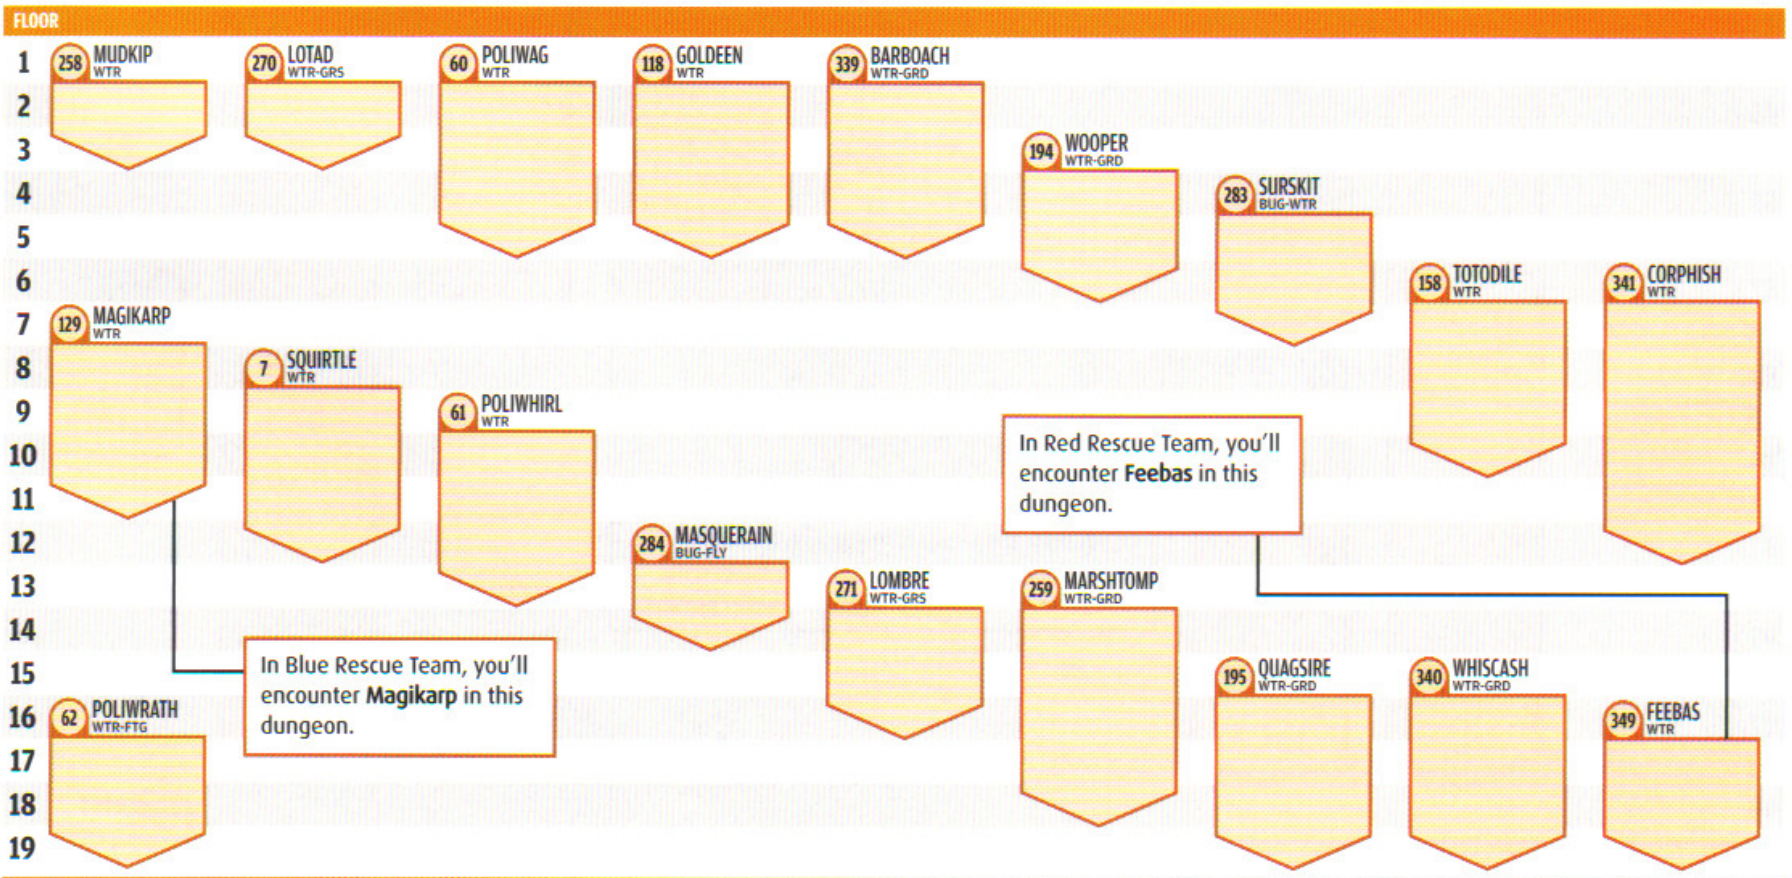

Gaining access to Waterfall Pond will take a bit of effort, but once you're inside you'll find it to be one of the easiest extra dungeons and an ideal location for raising weak Pokémon. To get in, find a Key in Solar Cave or Western Cave and take it to B15F of Solar Cave, where you can unlock a treasure room to earn the Waterfall HM. Teach that move to a party member or bring the HM with you when you enter.

IN THE DUNGEON:

Grass- and Electric-type Pokémon will enjoy continuous success here, although your Water-type Pokémon may be stymied by the ability of Wooper, Quagsire, and the Poli-Pokémon to absorb Water-type moves. Keep an eye out for Geo Pebbles, a slightly more powerful version of Gravelerocks that appears in large quantities only in this dungeon. The recruitment opportunities include a pair of game-version-exclusive Pokémon (Magikarp for Red Rescue Team and Feebas for Blue Rescue Team) that can be found nowhere else.

In case your party is short on good Water-type Pokémon, you'll find plenty in Waterfall Pond, and they'll all be at low enough levels to make recruitment easy. Among the best are potential starters Squirtle and Mudkip, and the Grass-and-Water-type Lotad. Red Rescue Team players can recruit a Magikarp, and Blue Rescue Team players can recruit a Feebas, both of which have very formidable evolved forms.

GRAND SEA

Dive deeper into the ocean to collect a pair of rare evolution items and other great treasures.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
30

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- DIVE HM
- HUGE APPLE
- MAX ELIXIR
- REVIVER SEED
- X-RAY SPECS

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

You can find a lot of rare orbs and seeds here, including fun One-Room Orbs and useful antiboss weapons like Totter Seeds and Slumber Seeds. You can also find a few TMs and held items (including Exp.-boosting Joy Ribbons). Don't miss the evolution items on floors B15F and B25F.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Retrieve two rare Evolution items and possibly a rare Pokémon.

PREPARATION:

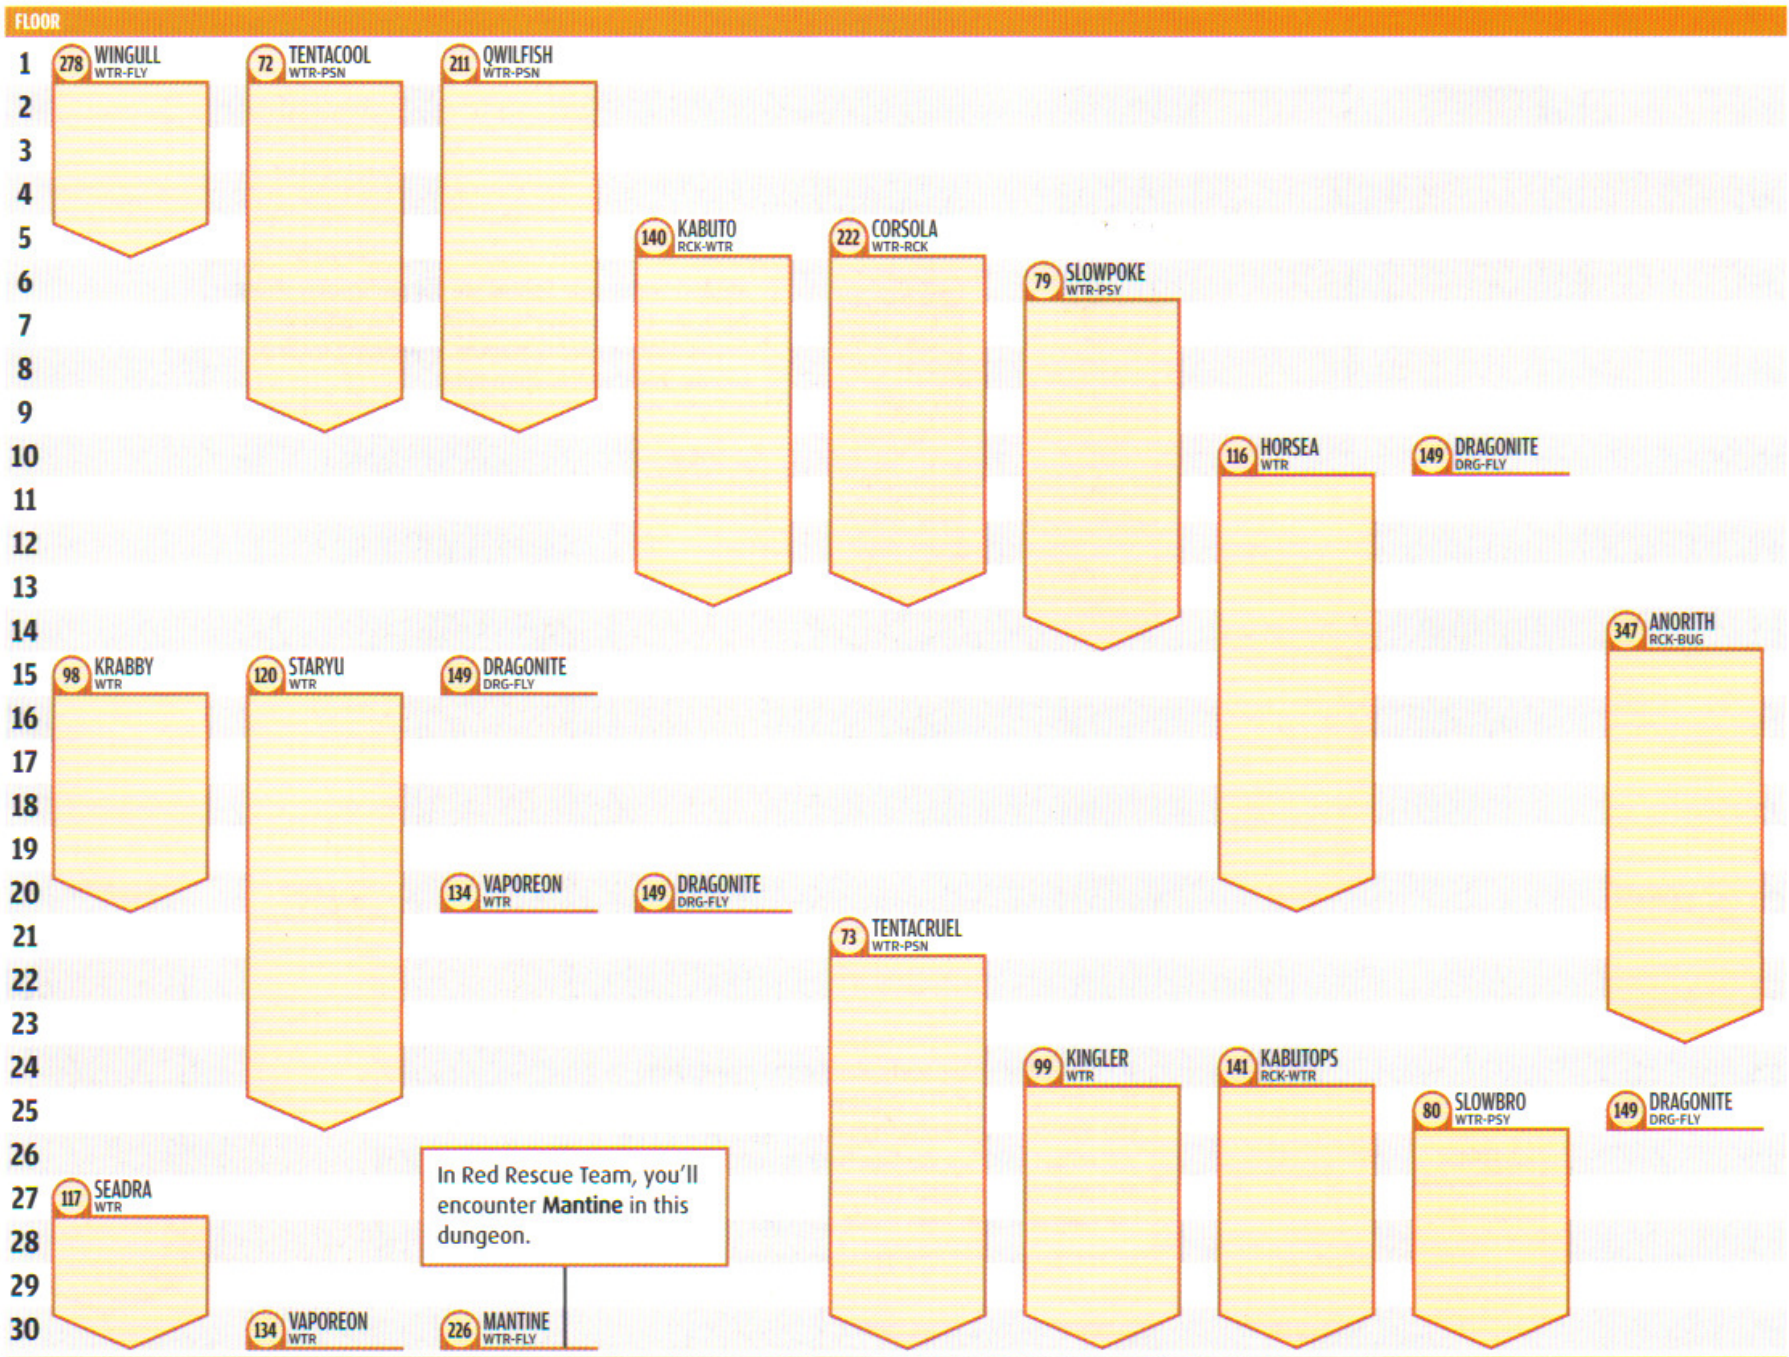

To enter this dungeon you'll need to purchase the Serene Sea Friend Area and have either a Pokémon with the Dive skill or the Dive HM itself (found on B10F of Solar Cave). Bring a Pokémon that can cross water terrain so you can retrieve this dungeon's two prizes, and Electric- and Grass-type allies to provide security.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

Dragonite appears occasionally on floors B5F, B10F, B15F, and B25F, and its Dragon Rage ability (which deals a flat 65 points of damage) can be a threat. There's no boss, but Red Rescue Team players can try to capture a rare Mantine on the final floor. Mantine is a two-star-size Pokémon, so if you have a four-star Pokémon in the group, you'll need to send it home.

There are two Evolution items in this dungeon: the Deepseascale on B15F and the Deepseatooth on B25F. They can be used (along with a Link Cable) to evolve Clamperl into Gorebyss and Huntail, respectively. If you need a Link Cable, come back after claiming the Deepsea items.

FAR-OFF SEA

A pair of TMs that teach brand-new moves are the big prizes in this 75-floor underwater trench.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
75

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- CLEANSE ORB
- HEAL SEED
- HUGE APPLE
- KEY
- MAX ELIXIR
- ORAN BERRY
- REVIVER SEED
- STAMINA BAND

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

This is a good place to search for held items, as rare gear like Tight Belts and Joy Ribbons appear fairly frequently. After B51F you may stumble upon Clamperl evolution items Deepseatooth and Deepseascale, and ever-welcome Keys.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Retrieve two new TMs from treasure rooms and recruit rare Pokémon.

PREPARATION:

Far-Off Sea has the same Serene Sea Friend Area and Dive HM prerequisites as Grand Sea. Electric-type Pokémon make the best allies this time, since you'll run into a lot of Ice-type moves that will heavily damage the Grass-type Pokémon that are usually so good underwater. Double up on the Huge Apples or bring a held item like the Stamina Band or Tight Belt—there is not a scrap of food to be found here.

IN THE DUNGEON:

If you're playing the Blue Rescue Team version of the game you'll find the ever-useful Lapras prowling between B45F and B50F. If you're not, you'll still find plenty of promising recruits, like Spheal and Clamperl. Beware of Monster Houses that appear on B14F, B29F, B46F, and B64F, often in the first room of the floor!

You'll find a treasure room that holds the Wide Slash TM on B50F, and another that holds the Vacuum-Cut TM on B72F. Keys don't begin appearing until B51F, after the first treasure room, so bring at least one with you.

Ice-and-Water-type Spheal are not particularly strong here, but they're easy to recruit and can ultimately be evolved into a mighty Walrein. If you can't catch a Lapras, this is a nice alternative.

Carvanha don't have particularly great moves, but their Rough Skin ability is extraordinarily powerful; if you damage a Carvanha from an adjacent position, it will reflect half that damage back to you. If you can't KO Carvanha in a single type-trumping special attack, use ranged moves from a safe distance.

Walrein know the Ice Ball move. It isn't very accurate, but it will hit continually until it misses, increasing in power with each strike. An unlucky break can spell doom, especially to a Grass-, Ground-, Flying-, or Dragon-type Pokémon.

WISH CAVE

This bizarre dungeon reduces your entire party to Level 1, but offers great rewards in return.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
99

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- ESCAPE ORB
- GRAVELEROCK
- HUGE APPLE
- JOY RIBBON
- LINK BOX
- REVIVER SEED
- TM
- WISH STONE

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Oran Berries, Blast Seeds, and Huge Apples are common, as are throwing items of all types. You'll also find a wide variety of seeds and orbs, many of the game's best offensive TMs, and nearly any held item except for the Joy Ribbon, which, ironically, would help the most.

■ JOB DESCRIPTION:

Rescue Medicham from Wish Cave, then return to meet Jirachi.

■ PREPARATION:

At the start of this dungeon your rescue team will be reduced to Level-1 Pokémon with only their starting moves and a 1-point IQ. (The effect isn't permanent, and everyone will return to their previous condition when you leave.) For the strongest possible party, bring fully evolved three-stage Pokémon, since they will have higher stats than most other Pokémon and a good selection of moves at Level 1. Charizard, Salamence, Walrein, Raichu, Poliwrath, and Vileplume are standouts. Whatever roster you choose, bring an Escape Orb so you can warp out and try again if your Pokémon turn out to have bad moves at Level 1. You can bring extra TMs to improve your move selection, but don't use anything extremely precious since your Pokémon will forget the moves at the end of the dungeon.

You can't bring Poké, so bring a high-value item or two to sell for money at the shops. Joy Ribbons are a good way to level up quickly, but don't waste your Joy Seeds in an area where the effects won't be permanent. Don't forget the Gravelerocks—remember how good those were at Level 1? You can find Link Boxes inside Wish Cave, but if you have extras, you should bring one to use right off the bat. Also bring plenty of Reviver Seeds and a few Max Elixirs, but don't worry about food; you'll find plenty inside.

■ IN THE DUNGEON:

After rescuing Medicham at B20F, your party will warp out and your stats will be reset to normal. That task isn't overly tough, but completing all 99 floors to reach Jirachi is. If you intend to do so, follow the advice above and make an effort to clear out nearly every floor in the cave, as that's the only way to level up enough to complete the upper floors. Not every enemy is worth fighting, however; foes like Machop and Skarmory on the early floors and Kadabra and Voltorb on the later floors are best avoided.

You are here on a rescue mission, so your first foray will end at 20F when you reach Medicham (you can't recruit it). If you choose to challenge Wish Cave again, bring the Wish Stone Medicham gave you. But don't despair if you lose it; you can always find a replacement on B50F (no Key required). If you still have the first Wish Stone, you'll get a Link Cable instead.

Jirachi Wish List

When you defeat Jirachi and fail (or refuse) to recruit it, it will offer you one of the five wishes detailed below.

Wishes

Lots of Money	Jirachi offers piles of cash, usually between 10,000 and 18,000 Poké.
Lots of Items	The room fills up with items that appear randomly in Wish Cave.
A Friend Area	Jirachi will buy you an as-yet-unpurchased Friend Area from the Wigglytuff Club.
More Strength	The room fills up with Joy Seeds and stat-boosting drinks.
Something Good!	The next day, Jirachi will either raise your rescue-team rank to the next level, or give you an as-yet-unrecruited nonboss Pokémon. If you don't have that Pokémon's Friend Area, Jirachi will throw that in too.

385 JIRACHI

TYPE:
STL-PSY
LVL: 40
HP: 350

Defeating Jirachi won't be much of a challenge. If you still have the Wish Stone on you, your reward for victory will be a single wish. Note that if you recruit Jirachi (which requires the Mt. Moonview Friend Area) you won't get to make a wish.

MURKY CAVE

The final chapter in the tale of Gardevoir and the Ninetales curse will be written in Murky Cave.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
19

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- GRAVELEROCK
- HUGE APPLE
- MAX ELIXIR
- PETRIFY ORB
- REVIVER SEED
- STAMINA BAND

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

The only item you'll find in the Murky Cave is Poké, although you may find other prizes in Monster Houses.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Escort Gengar to Murky Cave and free Gardevoir from its curse.

PREPARATION:

With all the work it's taken to reach this point, there's no doubt that your team is up to the challenge of Murky Cave. Gengar, however, is not. At only Level 15, Gengar is unlikely to survive more than a turn or two of combat, so you'll want to bring plenty of Reviver Seeds to protect it. Ghost-type allies that can protect Gengar within walls make for good companions, as do Pokémon with room-wide attacks like Heat Wave and Vacuum-Cut. Bring plenty of Gravelerocks or Geo Pebbles, both to throw at Ghost-types within walls and to KO Shedinja.

IN THE DUNGEON:

The only item that appears naturally here is Poké, so if you see a TM or held item it means you're about to enter a Monster House, and should look for a different route. Also watch very carefully for Pitfall Traps, because if Gengar steps on one, you'll fail the quest instantly!

Even after you rescue Medicham, there are several steps involved in triggering the event in which Gengar asks for your help. See Event 9 on page 87 for a detailed summary of how to bring Gengar back into your life.

Protecting Gengar is priority one. Focus on finding the stairs, but don't try to evade any foes, lest they slip behind you to get at Gengar. Many of your foes can pass through walls, so fight them with Gravelerocks and your own Ghost-types.

After you complete the 19 floors of Murky Cave, Gengar will reach the room with Gardevoir's remains. An unseen spirit will take Gengar to task for its crimes, and your team leader will be called as the only witness. If you answer truthfully about Gengar's sketchy past and dubious intentions, everything will work out and you'll be rewarded with the Mobile Scarf. The Mobile Scarf gives it holder the ability to pass through walls or over any terrain.

PURITY FOREST

To recruit Celebi, a single Pokémon must start at Level 1 with no items and conquer 99 floors.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
99

TEAM MAX:
1

ITEMS TO BRING:

• NO ITEMS ALLOWED

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

You'll find most of the game's random items here, with the exception of gummis. Virtually every held item is in the mix, as are most useful TMs. Apples (or at least Grimy Food) are plentiful, and you'll find more weird orbs than you know what to do with. Use them with abandon!

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Reach the 99th floor and recruit Celebi.

PREPARATION:

You'll have to do this quest solo (even recruitment is impossible), and if you dare to bring any Poké or items, even a held item, they will be destroyed upon entry to the forest. Therefore, the only real preparation is to choose your Pokémon. As with Wish Cave, we suggest the third Evolution of a three-stage Pokémon. Charizard is a particularly good choice, since its Heat Wave move can clear a Monster House in a single blast.

IN THE DUNGEON:

If you explore each floor thoroughly, claiming every item and defeating every foe, you'll gain enough Exp. Points to survive and find an adequate supply of Apples, throwing items, and berries. Max Elixirs are slightly less common, so rely on basic attacks when you can, and replace spent weaker moves with TMs when necessary. When filtering your inventory to make space, hold onto the highest-value items so you can sell them at Kecleon Shops. If you see a Reviver Seed on the carpet, do whatever it takes to get it—they don't appear naturally in the forest.

With only one character, there's always the possibility of a fluke KO. The biggest threats are Pokémon who inflict status conditions, so use ranged items and moves to KO charmers like the various forms of Clefable and Illumise, as well as any Grass- or Bug-type foe. (Electric-types may cause Paralyze, but at least you can still throw items.) Equally dangerous are Pokémon who use multihit moves like Fury Attack. Culprits include Beedrill, Fearow, Doduo, Swablu, and Hitmonchan.

There is a possibility of running into a Monster House on any floor, but floors 29F, 46F, 64F, and 86F are particularly dangerous. Fortunately, Kecleon Shops are common, and sell not just simple supplies but Joy Seeds, held items, and TMs as well. Even if the stock doesn't contain anything good, sell off all your unneeded items so you'll have cash on hand when the good stuff does appear. Shops are especially common on floors 7F, 23F, 38F, 55F, and 75F, so don't exit those floors without a thorough search.

251 CELEBI

It's The Time Travel Pokémon Debut!

You'll find Celebi waiting on the 99th floor. There's no boss fight this time—Celebi will simply ask if you would like to recruit it, and if you agree, it will hand over the Healing Forest Friend Area and join your team. If only the other 98 floors were as easy!

In Red Rescue Team, you'll encounter Plusle in this dungeon. In Blue Rescue Team, you'll encounter Minun instead.

JOYOUS TOWER

You won't find anything at the top of this difficult tower, but you may spot a Chansey on your way up.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
99

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- CLEANSE ORB
- ESCAPE ORB
- FRIEND BOW
- JOY RIBBON
- LINK BOX
- MAX ELIXIRS
- REVIVER SEED
- X-RAY SPECS

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

You don't need to worry much about food and projectile weapons; Big Apples and throwing items are common here. In addition to the usual stock, Kecleon Shops may sell Joy Seeds, Joy Ribbons, and even an occasional Friend Bow.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

You have no specific goal here, but you can recruit several rare Pokémon.

PREPARATION:

This is yet another dungeon that reduces your heroes to Level 1 and drains your gold upon entry. However, there are no restrictions on the size of your party or the items you can bring with you.

IN THE DUNGEON:

This dungeon is the only place you'll encounter Chansey and its evolved form, Blissey, both of which are hard to find but fairly easy to recruit. Chansey lurks on 50F, 60F, and 77F, while Blissey can be spotted on 88F. To recruit these rare Pokémon, wear a Friend Bow, hang out on the floors where they appear, and make sure you have the Sky Blue Plains Friend Area. If you recruit one of the Pokémon, you may want to flee with an Escape Orb to ensure your new recruit's safety.

At this point you should have a good idea how to proceed in dungeons that reduce you to Level 1. Since your goal this time is recruitment, you may want to use the Joy Seeds you can find and buy (in Kecleon Shops) to level up your lead Pokémon. Do so only immediately after you level up naturally; that way you won't waste any Exp. Points. Go ahead and use the stat-boosting drinks on your leader if you begin running out of toolbox space, but don't waste them on allies, since you'll probably want to send the allies home early to make space for valuable new recruits.

In Red Rescue Team, you'll encounter Porygon2 in this dungeon.

DESERT REGION

Dropped Keys and Kecleon-sold gummis are among the highlights of this sandstorm-swept area.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- BIG APPLE
- CLEANSE ORB
- GRAVELEROCK
- ORAN BERRY
- PECHA BERRY
- POKÉ
- REVIVER SEED
- WEATHER BAND

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Fundamental held items like Power Bands, Stamina Bands, and Heal Ribbons are very common finds here, as are many TMs. Take such items even when you don't need them so you can sell them at the Kecleon Shops and buy lots of Gold Gummis and Silver Gummis.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

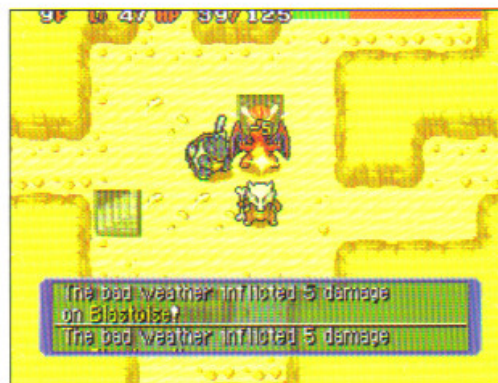

You have no specific objective in this dungeon.

PREPARATION:

You'll unlock this dungeon when you purchase the pricey Furnace Desert Friend Area from the Wigglytuff Club. At only 20 floors, it won't require a lot of preparation, but you should give some thought to the weather conditions. Ground-, Rock-, and Steel-type Pokémon will be immune to the sandstorms, but everyone else you bring should protect themselves with a Weather Band. Bring several Gravelerocks as well so you can easily KO the Shedinja on the early floors.

IN THE DUNGEON:

The sandstorms aren't painful until they're combined with Poison from attacks like Sandshrew's Poison Sting. Then you'll effectively be taking triple damage as Poison both injures you and turns off your natural regeneration abilities.

The sandstorms will hurt them, but Water- and Grass-type Pokémon are so effective in the Desert Region that you'll want to bring one along. Protect it with a Weather Band if you have one.

Keys appear only on the 19th and 20th floors. Expect to find only one Key on average each time you visit.

DARKNIGHT RELIC

Don't let the floor count fool you—15 floors of Ghost-types can be murder on an unprepared rescue team.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
15

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- ESCAPE ORB
- GRAVELEROCK
- HUGE APPLE
- MOBILE SCARF
- ORAN BERRY
- REVIVER SEED
- STAMINA BAND

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

If you go pounding through the walls in this dungeon you can find all sorts of exotic TMs, including such rarities as Overheat, Bulk Up, Iron Tail, Water Pulse, and Skill Swap, as well as several uncommon orbs. Outside of the walls you'll find mostly throwing items and seeds.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

You have no specific objective in this dungeon.

PREPARATION:

You'll need to purchase the Secretive Forest Friend Area to unlock Darknight Relic, but you shouldn't attempt the dungeon until you have a Mobile Scarf, the Super Mobile ability, or a good Ghost-type Pokémon to lead your team. Enemy Pokémon will attack constantly from within walls. Since passing through walls drains your belly quickly, bring lots of food. Load up on Gravelerocks too, since they can hit foes anywhere.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

Since the Ghost-type is super effective against other Ghost-types, the Ghost-type Pokémon you bring in will be in constant peril. If you've come to recruit, use an Escape Orb to warp out when you find your quarry. If you've come to conquer, bring lots of Reviver Seeds to keep your Ghost-types alive (or rather, undead).

This dungeon is full of long hallways, and the minimal light conditions won't allow you to see your foes until they're upon you. If you can't pass through walls, you won't be able to hit them back.

B3F, B5F, B7F, B9F, B12F, and B15F all contain items that are hidden deep within walls. Use the Super Mobile ability or a Mobile Orb to devastate entire floors in your search for rare TMs.

UNOWN RELIC

Unless you're a poor speller, you've probably already guessed what you'll find in Unown Relic.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
11

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- APPLE
- CLEANSE ORB
- FRIEND BOW
- MAX ELIXIR

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

This is a good place to stock up on generally useful items like Oran Berries, Heal Seeds, Quick Seeds, Escape Orbs, and Max Elixirs. Poké is by far the most common find.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

You have no specific objective in this dungeon.

PREPARATION:

You'll gain access to Unown Relic when you purchase both Aged Chamber Friend Areas. The dungeon doesn't offer much in the way of treasure, so the only reason to visit is to recruit Unown. They're easy to beat (all are at Level 20 and know only the Hidden Power move), and the dungeon has only 11 floors, so you won't need to bring many supplies. A Friend Bow will come in handy, however.

IN THE DUNGEON:

Collecting Unown can be tricky; it isn't always apparent which letter is associated with each Unown (the letter does not appear in its name). Use the chart below to figure it out by the process of elimination. Getting every Unown will be tough, since they can be tricky to recruit.

Bring only your single highest-level Pokémon to Unown Relic so you'll have room for new recruits and have the greatest chance of recruitment success. If you aren't sure what letters you're missing, go to the Aged Chamber Friend Areas and use the Info command—the ones you've caught will appear in blue.

WYVERN HILL

Claim the Fly HM and a few rare evolution items from this heavily defended dragon roost.

TERRAIN:
WATER

FLOORS:
30

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- CLEANSE ORB
- ESCAPE ORB
- HEAL SEED
- HUGE APPLE
- KEYS
- MAX ELIXIR
- REVIVER SEED
- TRAP SCARF

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

Throwing items and Poké make up the bulk of this dungeon's items, but you can find decent TMs and held items at times. Dragon Scales appear randomly on the last two floors, and can be used to evolve Seadra into Kingdra.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Claim the Fly HM, which will allow you to return to Sky Tower.

PREPARATION:

To unlock Wyvern Hill you'll need to receive the Dragon Cave Friend Area as a reward for a random rescue job. Ice-types make the best team members here, and non-Dragon-type Pokémon with Dragon-type moves will also be very effective. Moves like Dragon Rage present a risk to even high-level Pokémon, so bring plenty of Reviver Seeds. Both the Sun Ribbon and the Fly HM are locked in treasure rooms, so bring a pair of Keys.

IN THE DUNGEON:

As if dragons weren't trouble enough, you'll have to contend with tons of annoying traps and random weather conditions on every fourth floor. The Dratini-Dragonair-Dragonite family is the biggest threat here, since all three can use Dragon Rage to deal a flat 65 damage to an adjacent target. Use moves like Ice Beam and Powder Snow to KO them from afar.

Only those striving to evolve Eevee into Espeon should bother with the Sun Ribbon on 20F. But everyone should try to get the Fly HM on 30F: It will allow you to return to Sky Tower. There you can fill your toolbox with gummies and recruit the mighty Rayquaza.

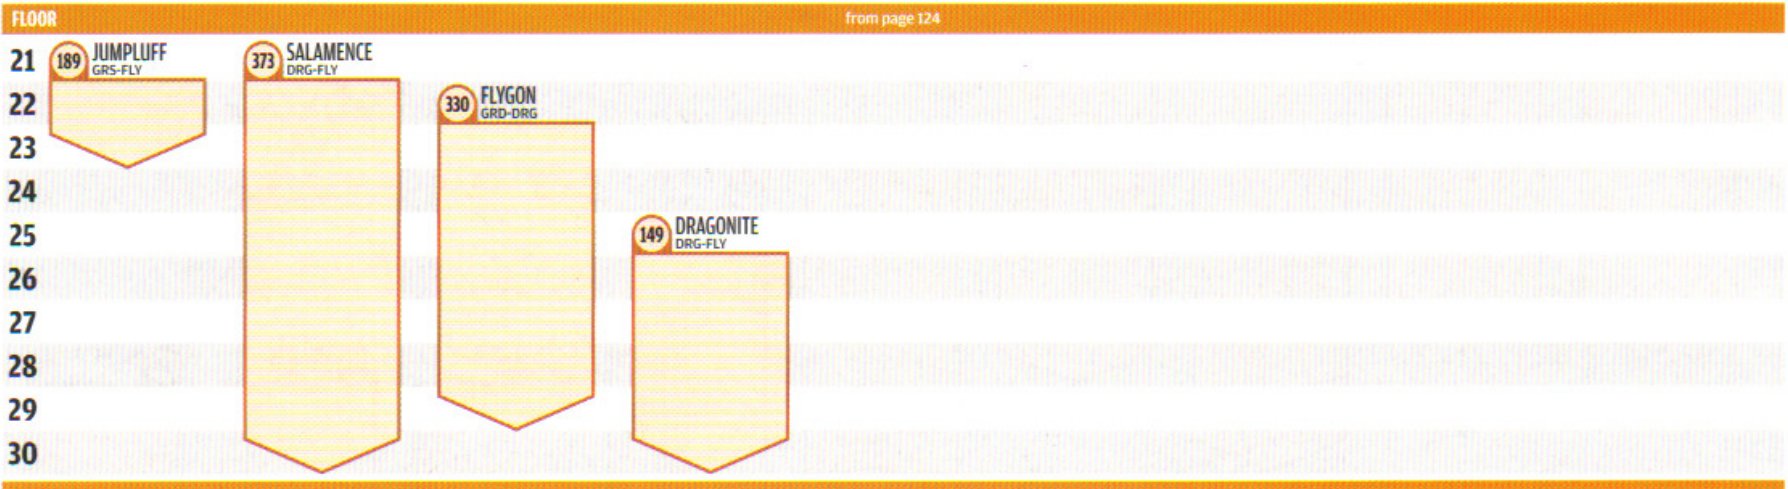

The Kecleon Shops in Wyvern Hill sell a few staple items like Max Elixirs, but specialize in scarves and ribbons. You won't find anything particularly rare, but the Kecleon Shops are a good place to buy defensive items for new recruits.

SOUTHERN CAVERN

This is a long, hard slog through a trap-strewn cave, but treasures await those who persevere.

TERRAIN:
GROUND

FLOORS:
50

TEAM MAX:
3

ITEMS TO BRING:

- CLEANSE ORB
- ESCAPE ORB
- HEAL SEED
- HUGE APPLES
- MAX ELIXIRS
- REVIVER SEED
- STAMINA BAND
- TRAP SCARF

ITEMS TO LOOK FOR:

If you're searching for common but powerful TMs like Giga Drain, Ice Beam, Toxic, and Psychic, this is one of the best places to look. Food is less common and Max Elixirs are nonexistent, but you can expect to find plenty of Oran Berries, Heal Seeds, and orbs of many varieties.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

You have no specific objective in this dungeon.

PREPARATION:

To unlock Southern Cavern you'll need to receive the Boulder Cave Friend Area as a reward for a random rescue job. The dungeon is quite tough, but your foes are almost entirely Ground- and/or Rock-type Pokémon, allowing your Water- and Grass-type Pokémon to wreak havoc. Don't bother leaving space in your roster for new recruits, since good recruitment opportunities are rare; early levels have only very common Pokémon and later levels are full of evolved forms that can't be recruited. Do bring plenty of Huge Apples and Max Elixirs (which never appear here), as well as a few Cleanse Orbs to protect your inventory from Sticky Traps.

INSIDE THE DUNGEON:

This dungeon's biggest threats are Selfdestruct Traps and area-effect moves like Magnitude. If all your Pokémon can take care of themselves, use the Go the Other Way tactic to fan out, preventing those moves from devastating the entire party. You'll also find the stairs more quickly this way.

Traps are very common in Southern Cavern, and the PP-Zero Traps are particularly devastating since there are no Max Elixirs to be found. You may want to hold off on visiting this dungeon until you have a Pokémon with the Trap Seer IQ skill or a Trap Scarf item.

The big prize at the end of Southern Cavern is the Metal Coat, which appears randomly but very frequently on B49F and B50F. Hang out until you can grab two, because you'll need Metal Coats to evolve both Onix (into Steelix) and Scyther (into Scizor).

GAME DATA

Here you'll find a complete list of the items, moves, abilities, and status conditions in the game.

POKÉMON ITEMS

You can acquire items by finding them randomly in dungeons, purchasing them in Pokémon Square, or as rewards for completing missions. Your inventory capacity is limited—spend time planning out which items you think you'll need before every trip into a dungeon.

Held Items

ITEM	DESCRIPTION
Alert Specs	A held item that prevents the Pokémon from having its held item snatched away or swatted down.
Beauty Scarf	A fashionable accessory for dressing up. It enables Feebas to evolve into Milotic.
Bounce Band	A held item that makes thrown items bounce off the Pokémon.
Curve Band	A held item that makes thrown items bounce off walls and fly sideways. It has no effect if the Pokémon's status is Pierce or if a rock is thrown.
Def. Scarf	A held item that boosts the Pokémon's Defense.
Detect Band	A held item that boosts the Pokémon's Evasion.
Diet Ribbon	A held item that changes the Pokémon's status to Hungry Pal and prevents its Belly from filling. If the team leader is holding it, its Belly will empty faster.
Dodge Scarf	A held item that prevents any thrown item from hitting the Pokémon.
Friend Bow	When held by the team leader, this item makes it easier to recruit defeated Pokémon to the rescue team.
Goggle Specs	A held item that improves the Pokémon's vision. It reveals hidden traps and invisible Pokémon.
Gold Ribbon	An item that has no effect even if it is held by a Pokémon. It can be sold for a good price.
Heal Ribbon	A held item that speeds up the Pokémon's natural HP regeneration. The Pokémon's Belly will empty faster, however.
Insomniscope	A held item that prevents the Pokémon from going to sleep, napping, having a nightmare, or yawning.
Joy Ribbon	A held item that earns the Pokémon Exp. Points when taking damage.
Lockon Specs	A held item that raises the accuracy of items thrown at foes by the Pokémon.
Mobile Scarf	A held item that enables the Pokémon to move and attack through walls and on magma, etc. The Pokémon's Belly will empty faster while traveling through walls, however.
Munch Belt	A held item that slightly boosts the Pokémon's Attack and Special Attack. However, it also makes the Pokémon's Belly empty faster.
No-Aim Scope	A held item that causes items thrown by the Pokémon to fly wildly in any direction.
No-Stick Cap	A held item that prevents the Pokémon's items from becoming sticky and gummed up.
Pass Scarf	A held item that can enable the Pokémon to pass off the effects of attacks and certain kinds of hostile moves to a Pokémon next to it. However, it also makes the Pokémon's Belly deplete.
Patsy Band	A held item that boosts the Pokémon's chances of taking critical hits from enemy moves and attacks.
Pecha Scarf	A held item that prevents the Pokémon from being Poisoned or Badly Poisoned.
Persim Band	A held item that prevents the Pokémon from becoming Confused.
Pierce Band	A held item that makes the Pokémon's thrown items Pierce other Pokémon, walls, and obstacles without ever stopping.
Plain Ribbon	An item that has no effect, even if it is held by a Pokémon.
Power Band	A held item that boosts the Pokémon's Attack.
Racket Band	A held item that helps awaken hostile sleeping Pokémon. It works only against Pokémon that were asleep from the start.
Scope Lens	A held item that boosts the Pokémon's critical-hit rate for moves and attacks.
Sneak Scarf	A held item that prevents the Pokémon from awakening sleeping foes. It works against foes that are asleep to begin with only.
Special Band	A held item that boosts the Pokémon's Special Attack.
Stamina Band	A held item that slows how quickly the Pokémon's Belly empties.
Tight Belt	A held item that prevents the Pokémon's Belly from depleting each turn.
Trap Scarf	A held item that prevents traps from going off if the Pokémon steps on them.
Twist Band	A held item that prevents the Pokémon's Attack and Special Attack from going down.
Warp Scarf	A held item that occasionally warps the Pokémon to another place on the same floor.
Weather Band	A held item that prevents the Pokémon from feeling the effects of the weather.
Whiff Specs	A held item that prevents items thrown by the Pokémon from hitting another Pokémon.
X-Ray Specs	A held item that enables the Pokémon to see the locations of items and foes.
Zinc Band	A held item that boosts the Pokémon's Special Defense.

Food

ITEM	DESCRIPTION
Apple	A food item that somewhat fills the Pokémon's Belly. Eating this when its Belly is full will slightly enlarge its Belly size.
Banana	A rare food item that somewhat fills the Pokémon's Belly. Eating this when its Belly is full will slightly enlarge its Belly size. It is occasionally found inside walls.
Big Apple	A food item that amply fills the Pokémon's Belly. Eating this when its Belly is full will slightly enlarge its Belly size.
Chestnut	A food item that somewhat fills the Pokémon's Belly. Mankey love to eat this.
Grimy Food	A food item that somewhat fills the Pokémon's Belly. However, it will cause a variety of status problems.
Huge Apple	A food item that completely fills the Pokémon's Belly. It also enlarges the Belly size.

Drinks

ITEM	DESCRIPTION
Calcium	A drink that boosts the Pokémon's Special Attack. It also slightly fills the Pokémon's Belly.
Ginseng	A drink that boosts the power of the Pokémon's set move. It may not have any effect on certain kinds of moves. It also slightly fills the Pokémon's Belly.
Iron	A drink that boosts the Pokémon's Defense. It also slightly fills the Pokémon's Belly.
Max Elixir	A drink that completely restores the PP of all the Pokémon's moves. It also slightly fills the Pokémon's Belly.

BATTLE MOVES

BA = BASIC ATTACK POWER

The BA of a move may vary based on a Pokémon's type or level. SP means the move has a unique effect; HP means it is a healing move.

AC = MOVE ACCURACY

The basic percentage chance a move will strike its target. AC does not include when a move's accuracy is changed by another move. NM means the move will never miss.

PP = POWER POINTS

PP represents the number of times a Pokémon can use a move before it must be replenished.

RANGE

The effective distance and direction of a move.

- PHYSICAL ATTACKS
- SPECIAL ATTACKS

CAUSE: Yawn PREVENT: Insomniscope, Insomnia ability, Vital Spirit ability, Nonsleeper IQ skill, Nightmare, Safeguard, Sleep, Napping or Sleepless condition

The Pokémon becomes drowsy and falls asleep after several turns.

POKÉDEX

Complete details of all the Pokémon you can find in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon.

Reading the Pokédex

The Pokédex is a remarkable collection of information about every Pokémon that you'll encounter. Use it often to get the most from the members of your rescue team.

POKÉDEX NUMBER AND NAME:

Every Pokémon has a corresponding number for quick reference. Pokémon veterans will recognize the Pokémon numbering system as the National Pokédex system from previous games.

IMPROVEMENT RATE:

Each Pokémon's relative statistics are represented on a scale from one to four, with one being the lowest and four being the highest compared to other Pokémon. In this example, Charmander's best stats are Attack, Defense, and Special Defense, while its HP and Special Attack are not quite as stellar. Note that Speed is not measured—all Pokémon move at the same rate in Pokémon Mystery Dungeon.

FRIEND AREAS AND LIKELIHOOD OF JOINING:

Before a Pokémon can join your party, it must have a compatible Friend Area where it can stay. Also, some Pokémon are more inclined to join you than others—likelihood is rated from Very Likely to Very Unlikely. If a Pokémon cannot be obtained, likelihood will be Never.

VITAL INFORMATION:

A Pokémon's type is most important aspect of Pokémon combat. Additionally, Pokémon also have one or two abilities that come into play—for example, Charmander's Blaze ability will increase the effectiveness of Fire-type moves when Charmander's HP dips below 1/3 of its maximum. All Pokémon can traverse a normal dungeon floor, as well as one other type of terrain, indicated by its terrain ability. The size of your team depends on your maximum allowed number of Pokémon (indicated by the Team Max number in each mission walk-through), as well as the individual Pokémon's sizes (shown here).

LEVEL-UP MOVES:

Pokémon learn moves automatically when they reach certain levels. Moves listed in green are special moves—the strength of their effects depends on a Pokémon's Special Attack and Special Defense.

HOW TO GET POKÉMON:

There are several ways to have Pokémon join your party. You can befriend the Pokémon by encountering them on specific levels of certain dungeons. Some Pokémon will join you if you're at a certain level or have a Friend Bow, which increases your chance of having a Pokémon join you. Many Pokémon can be obtained only by catching their pre-evolved form and evolving it.
